We struggled with one very important job: getting the egg dying equipment. We put off getting it until the last minute and then you couldn't find it anywhere in the local area. We did find a set of food coloring. Late Saturday evening we had to cook the eggs while encountering a few technical difficulties. The girls did the job of coloring a few dozen eggs on Sunday morning before we left for church. We knew we needed to get there a little early because of an extra large crowd at church with out-of-town family members and many of the college kids attending. Claire was acolyte and had to be there early. Among some of the out-of-towners were Ann and Pat McLister and three children, and Barry Glotfelty, Frederick. Delbert Lechliter joined his mother, Thelma, and Bob Brenneman was almost back to his regular "Mountain Man" form after a recent hip replacement surgery. It was good to see Leslie, Kandi, and Lea home for Easter.

I heard that Jim Glotfelty is recovering nicely from a broken arm he sustained after a recent encounter with a young bull calf, who resented the maintenance work that Jimmy was doing with him. And yes, their sheep did their job for a good Easter by dropping some new, adorable lambs.

ELKS DONATE TO SENIOR CENTER - A gift of $200 worth of Bingo accessories, including cards and markers, were recently donated to the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, by the Oakland Elks Lodge. Representing the lodge members, Joe Matthiesen presented the gift to center manager Liz Edgar.

4-H Club News

COUNTRY KIDS
by Sarah Rexroad, reporter

Plans for family ice skating were made at the regular meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club on March 17. The club met at the Cumberland YMCA on March 22.

Jeremy Bernard led the pledges and Andrew Harvey reported on the club hoagie sale.

Sarah Rexroad gave a report on County Public Speaking. The following members will compete at the Regional Public Speaking on April 18 in Hagerstown: Ashley Tuck and Bret DeWitt, junior radio spot; Sarah Rexroad, junior prepared speech; Sarah Pysell, intermediate prepared speech; John Donaldson, senior prepared speech; Catherine Donaldson, senior radio spot; and Jennifer Barnard, senior extemporaneous speech.

Members interested in sewing class were reminded to turn in the form in the "Party Line."

Members worked on their rockets after the business was concluded.

Demonstrations were given by Sarah Pysell on how to make a sheep blanket, Casey Hughes on sewing a vest, and Sharon Harvey on parts of a steer.

Demonstrations will be given by Arthur Pysell, Sarah Rexroad, and Brigette Lennox at the April meeting, which will be held April 21 at the Deer Park Community Building.

Charles Dickey Celebrates 90th

Charles Dickey, Friendsville, celebrated his 90th birthday on April 3. A surprise party at his home was held in his honor.

Friends and family members joined together to honor him during the festivities, which had been planned by his son and daughter-in-law, Barry and Akita Dickey.

Charles's sister-in-law Edie came into town to take part in the celebration. Among others attending the party were Jim and Dot Spear, Ed Reed, and Sue Gatto. Everyone brought gifts and good wishes to the guest of honor.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Thirteen couples applied for their marriage licenses this week, according to David Martin, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court.

Jason Rodney Chambers, 22, and Ruth Ann Hunt, 16, both of Morgantown, W.Va.

Michael Charles Falkenstein, 34, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Tammy Lou Kelly, 36, Albright, W.Va.

Michael Wayne Rodeheaver, 27, and Renee Ann Sherrard, 28, both of Oakland.

Michael Allen Slayton, 30, and Ann Marie Warnick, 25, both of Salisbury, Pa.

Larry Ernest Thomas Jr., 19, and Laura Lee Poling, 20, both of Oakland.

Chad Ryan DeWitt, 23, and Jessica Lynn Hoffman, 19, both of Oakland.

Carlton Ellsworth Heyser Jr., 43, and Andrea Toshiko Slavin, 22, both of Silver Spring.

Henning M. Pangels, 34, and Erin D. Snyder, 31, both of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Brynt Lee Sines, 25, Amherst, Ohio, and Tammy Lynn Eisentrout, 22, Oakland.

Louis Kukurugya, 45, Smock, Pa., and Lyudmila Klimenko 40, Moscow, Russia.

James Milton Reckart, 44, and Catherine Patricia Herman, 40, both of Oakland.

Elwood Charles Bowser, 66, Accident, and Eleanor Audrey Bowser, 65, Baltimore, former husband and wife.

Ricky Ray Lambert, 37, and Kimberly Ann Leash, 29, both of Elkins, W.Va.

Nestor-DeBerry Couple Announce Wedding Plans

Cheryl D. Nestor and Charles B. DeBerry, together with their parents, announce their engagement and coming marriage.

Cheryl is the daughter of Allen Ford and Eleanor Nestor, Hendricks, W.Va., and the granddaughter of Maxine and the late Harry Harper, Hendricks, and Bliss and the late Lecy Nestor, St. George, W.Va.

Charles is the son of William "Ben" and Donna DeBerry, Oakland, and grandson of William and Maxine DeBerry, Oakland, and Wilbur and Hilda Bowser, Bittinger.

Cheryl was recently hired at Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va., as the Tech Prep/School-To-Work coordinator for the Potomac Highlands Consortium. Charles is the agricultural mechanics and engineering instructor at the Mineral County Vocational-Technical Center. The couple plan to make their home near Keyser.

The wedding will be held Saturday, April 25, 4 p.m., at St. John's United Methodist Church, Parsons, W.Va. The Reverend Dr. Robert Klein will officiate. A reception will be held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. All family and friends are welcome.

NEWEST ARRIVALS

The births of two infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

Scott and Regina Crews Green, Oakland, became the parents of a daughter, Ashley Nicole, on Wednesday, April 8. The maternal grandparents are Ken and Joyce Crews, and the paternal grandparents are Ron and Ada Green, all of Oakland.

A daughter was born April 9 to Terry and Angela L. Virts Park.

Senior Center Sponsoring Trip To Annapolis

Garrett County senior citizens (55+) will be traveling to Annapolis on Wednesday, May 13, via Motorcoach for a dedication ceremony honoring the "Works by Older Marylanders" art exhibit, and in celebration of Older Americans' Month.

The dedication ceremony will begin at noon in the State House Lobby, followed by an open house reception with light refreshments at Government House until 2 p.m. In addition to the Works by Older Marylanders exhibit at the State House, Botanical Delights, a traveling exhibition from the Walters Art Gallery, and Imperial Treasures, an exhibition of 87 porcelain Fabergé eggs, will also be on display at Government House during the reception.

After the reception, the Garrett County group will take the historical tour of the Naval Academy, which is expected to last 1 hour and 15 minutes. The motorcoach will stop at Park 'n Dine for dinner on the return trip.

The group will leave Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, at 6 a.m. Stops will be made at the Old Mill Restaurant, Friendsville, 6:30 a.m., Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 7 a.m., and Grantsville Senior Center, 7:30 a.m. A breakfast buffet, compliments of the Maryland Office on Aging, has been arranged at Shoney's in Frederick at 9:30 a.m.

The cost of the trip is $28 per person, which includes transportation and the tour of the Naval Academy. Each individual will pay for his or her own dinner at Park 'n Dine, where selections are priced from $7 to $9 per person.

The deadline for the $28 trip fee is Tuesday, April 21, 4:30 p.m. The fee is non-refundable after that date unless the space can be filled. Interested persons are asked to contact Community Action's Area Agency on Aging, 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 140. A minimum of 42 persons is required for the trip.

Baptist Church Slates Service For Ordination

Pleasant View Baptist Church will hold an ordination service Sunday, April 19, 6:30 p.m. for Wally Weeks and Donnie Mason.

Weeks has served as associate pastor of Pleasant View since February 1997. Prior to this, he was active for many year in a leadership capacity.

Mason, a 1990 graduate of Southern High School, and a former member of Pleasant View, is currently associate pastor at New Hope Community Church.

Speakers for the event will be Pastor Kenny Heath, director of missions for the Western Baptist Association, and Ron Willoughby, senior pastor of New Hope Community Church.

Refreshments and fellowship will follow the service. Everyone is invited to attend. Pleasant View Baptist Church is located two miles south of Oakland on Route 219.

"Mom, is my shirt finished yet? It looks finished. I'm late! I need it now…please?"

"Not quite yet. I need to repair the hem or the cloth will ravel. I'll be done soon."

As we begin our day we can never anticipate what lies ahead that might frazzle our nerves. Yet, there is something we can do when we rise and throughout the day. We can pray. Prayer smooths out the rough edges to give us peace and confidence. This comes from a close relationship with our Heavenly Father.

Worship God at your chosen house of worship each week and pray regularly each day. A day hemmed with prayer rarely ravels.

These Firms invite you to a House of Worship each week

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

CHECK THE EXPIRATION DATE!
April 19, 1998

Background Scripture:
John 6:1-59
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 55:1-11

Thirty-one years ago I purchased and read a remarkable book, Twelve Baskets Full, by Margaret T. Applegarth. Essentially it is book of unique and profound story-meditations based upon the account of Jesus feeding the 5,000. Few books have excited and inspired me as this book, the obvious intention of which is to help us see deeply beyond the raw details of the story.

This whole sixth chapter of John is written to help us look to the deeper and abiding meanings lurking below the surface of the obvious. We know the facts. Jesus and his disciples are beside the Sea of Galilee where they have been hunted down by a large multitude of people who have witnessed or heard about Jesus' signs. But these people will be hungry, and neither Jesus nor his little band have the bread to feed them or the money to buy it.

Then Jesus performs another sign: using a lad's five barley loaves and two fish, Jesus is able to feed the whole crowd of 5,000 people. And even more significantly, when all have eaten their fill, there are enough fragments left over to fill twelve baskets. I find it significant that this is the only so-called "miracle" (Jesus called them 'signs') to appear in all four gospels.

A GREATER 'SIGN'

Despite the spectacular nature of this "sign," the deeper significance is an even greater 'sign' and 'miracle.' If the evangelists were simply telling us that Jesus had the power to feed 5,000 people with five barley loaves and two fish, that's pretty impressive—but I'm not sure what it has to do with me and my life. The real meaning is so much more spectacular and mind-boggling than the mere multiplication of matter. Although that is quite a feat, it deserves the rank of "mere" beside the real meaning.

The next day people, finding him and his disciples gone, get into boats to find him on the other side of the lake. Puzzled, they want to know: "Rabbi, when did you come here?" (They really meant "How?" not "When?"). But, as he so often does, Jesus ignores the superficial level of their question and cuts to the heart of the matter: "Truly, truly I say to you, you seek me, not because you saw signs, but because you ate your fill of the loaves" (6:25,26).

This response by Jesus always puzzled me, because it seemed to me that they followed him to the other side precisely because they did see his 'signs.' But today it occurred to me for the first time that he is really saying that, although they saw the signs they didn't really see that toward which the signs were pointing. These people had seen only the multiplication of loaves and fishes. The multiplication was only the medium, not the message.

NO EXPIRATION DATE

Then Jesus proceeds to what they had apparently missed: "Do not labor for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to eternal life..." (6:27). We are no less blind than they were, for we too labor for food which perishes, instead of that which nourishes us to eternal life. So, the first thing Jesus says to them and us is that there is a bread, a source of nourishment that, unlike the things of this world, does not perish.

Jesus is not just talking about bread or even food in general here, but all material things. No matter how wonderful they may taste or feel, they are fleeting in their satisfaction and sustenance. If you look carefully there is an expiration date on each one of them! Again and again they need to be replenished. "Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and they died" (6:49). So it is with the things we buy to eat and drink, the playthings we get to amuse ourselves, the objects we accumulate to persuade ourselves that we are getting somewhere in life.

Not only is there a bread which does not perish, Jesus tells them: "I am the bread of life...if anyone eats of this, he will live forever..." (6:48,51). You and I know today that Jesus was speaking figuratively about himself, but many who heard him were outraged to hear him say that they must "eat" this "bread." They could not stretch their minds to think of anything except the blatantly material which could not satisfy them or sustain them. But they could not be induced to look at the spiritual behind the material.

So, whatever it is that you desire and set your heart on, check the expiration label before you spend too much for it. There is only one reality that has no expiration date: eternal life with Christ.

Local Student Initiated Into Honor Society

Juli Savage, McHenry, was one of 51 Susquehanna University freshmen initiated into the Alpha Lambda Delta national academic honor society.

Alpha Lambda Delta was established in 1924 at the University of Illinois to recognize first semester students who have achieved a grade point average of B+ or better. The society provides leadership development conferences and several fellowship awards to its members for graduate or professional study.

The Susquehanna University Chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta is under the advisement of Dr. James Blessing and Dean Dorothy Anderson, and led by sophomore president Nicole Anderson of Portage.

Savage is also a member of the Student Alumni Association and America Reads! volunteer project. A business major and graduate of Northern Garrett High School, she is the daughter of Michael and Terry Savage.

Susquehanna University is located in Selinsgrove, Pa.

Delmar Sliger, Worthy Patron, called the meeting to order, and Worthy Matron Lois Evans opened with a reading, "God's Flower." She then greeted Mildred Martin, a General Grand Chapter Appointment and Past Grand Matron of Maryland; Isabel Moses and Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturers of Maryland; Alice Barnard and Ada Kimble, Past Matrons of other chapters; officers and members of Oakland Chapter, and brothers holding Masonic honors, Theodore Raynovich, Reaford Purbaugh, and Delmar Sliger.

The altar was draped for Minnie Wolfe, Tom Moran, and Edward Daniels, Past Grand Patron of Maryland. Mildred Martin installed Juanita Bosley as secretary, Wilda Hile as conductress, and Phyllis Winkelvoss as Electa.

Signs and passes were reviewed under the direction of Sliger and Wilda Hile.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 21. Grand Sessions will be held April 26-29 at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Hagerstown. Ms. Evans closed with a reading titled "Easter." Refreshments were served by Pauline Faucett and Eleanor Teats.

MAD HATTERS MEET - Representatives of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women attended a Western Regional "Mad Hatters" Membership Drive and Social recently. More than 30 women from Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties gathered at the home of Margaret Morgan in Burkittsville. The members modeled their "mad hats" and enjoyed a luncheon, sponsored by the Middletown Valley Republican Club. Kelly Kout, first vice president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, was the speaker. Garrett County was represented by Nita Roberts Joanne Glotfelty, Arzella Parsons, Bea Crosco, Leona Beckman, Barbara Hornyak, Ruth Umbel, and Patricia Vetter-Light.

Organ And Tissue Donor Awareness Week Proclaimed

The governor has proclaimed the week of April 19-25 as "Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week" in Maryland. Governor Parris N. Glendening issued the proclamation to the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland, Baltimore.

The Transplant Resource Center of Maryland is the not-for-profit health service provider of organs and tissues to the citizens of Maryland. Incorporated in 1990, TRC provides human organ and tissue recovery services, hospital donor-program development to more than 40 hospitals, and community education in most Maryland counties.

The proclamation reads in part "...the greatest gift is the gift of life, and the caring individuals who have donated their tissues and organs so that others may benefit should be known to us all as 'Heroes for Life'.... We are proud to encourage others to follow their example to help meet the needs of the nearly 2,000 Marylanders who are presently on waiting lists for tissue and organ transplants.

"Throughout Maryland, the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland remains dedicated to improving the quality of life of transplant candidates, recipients, and their families by providing a support system, disseminating information, and promoting increased public awareness about the vital importance of organ donation and transplantation."

Both Governor Glendening and Secretary of State John T. Willis signed the proclamation, dated April 19.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has designated the TRC as the federally certified organ procurement agency for most of the state, with the exception of Charles, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties. In addition, the state of Maryland has designated TRC as a licensed tissue bank. The TRC's responsibilities include evaluating the medical suitability of potential donors, offering families the option of organ and tissue donation and supporting their wishes, managing the clinical needs of organ donors and coordinating and participating in the surgical recovery of their organs and tissues, and processing allograft skin, distributing organs and tissues for transplantation and research, as well as increasing donor awareness and participation throughout its designated territories.

For further information, persons may contact the Transplant Resource Center of Maryland at 410-242-7000 or 800-641-HERO (4376). TRC is on the world wide web at www.mdtransplant.org.

Several Students Complete Career Planning Class

The New Horizons/New Dimensions programs of Garrett Community College recently completed the second in its spring series of five-week, 10-session career planning classes taught by Mary Kirkland, intake/counselor specialist with the New Horizons Program of GCC. The class included learning about job hunt strategies, getting to know oneself, what self-esteem means to a non-traditional student returning to classes or to the work world, ways to build self-esteem, what stress is and how to handle it, combining working with family obligations, time and budget management, résumé writing, and job interview techniques.

Several interest tests were administered to participants to determine their career interests. These tests included the Career Assessment Inventory (CAI), the Holland Code Self-Directed Search, and the GATB (General Aptitude Test Battery).

The recent group of students attending the class included: Eileen Andreis, Kimberly Armstrong, Cynthia Clark, Yvonne Cuppett, Michelle Flores, Melissa Harvey, Annette Keller, and Patricia Stillwagon.

The next Career Planning class is scheduled to begin next Monday, April 20, at Garrett Community College, McHenry campus. Anyone interested in enrolling in the Career Planning class should call New Horizons weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3102 for complete information. "The class is a great beginning for a support group and has proven beneficial for re-entry individuals to make career decisions and to enter training in their areas of interest," stated Barbara Frey, program director for New Horizons and New Dimensions.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10% of the total budget for New Horizons. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources, Community Services Administration, Office of Transitional Services Division, in the amount of $14,998.00.

CREATING MINIATURE MILITARY MEMORABILIA - During the last two months visitors to Oakland have been able to see the results of the painstaking work of Capt. Rick Wakefield (Ret.), Maryland National Guard, pictured above. Displayed in a window on Second Street are some of Wakefield's aircraft models and other military memorabilia. His first model, 14 years ago, was a gift from his wife. Since building that Gen. Patton tank, Wakefield has put together models of everything from modern jets to jeeps and guard posts. He even puts together the tiny figures seen in the display. Wakefield said he really enjoys this hobby, though it is slow and tedious work. He researches most of the pieces he assembles, so he considers each one a learning experience. He recommends this hobby, requiring skill, patience, and concentration, to people of all ages.

State Jobless Rate Unchanged; County's Higher

Maryland's unemployment rate in February was 5.2 percent, unchanged from January. Post-holiday layoffs in retail establishments and seasonal reductions in construction were offset by recalls in manufacturing and education. When seasonally adjusted, Maryland's unemployment rate dropped slightly from 4.8 percent in January to 4.7 percent in February.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate increased from 15.6 percent in January to 16.2 percent in February. The county's rate for February of last year was 15.8 percent.

"Although the state's unemployment rate remained the same in February, it is lower than it was in February of 1997," said Eugene A. Conti Jr., secretary of the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR). "It is good news also that Maryland's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate dropped, and records reflect unprecedented high levels of employment the first two months of this year. Additionally, we are optimistic that the mild winter weather may help moderate seasonal employment reductions in certain industries, which could favorably influence employment opportunities as spring approaches."

Across the state, local unemployment trends were mixed in February. Local unemployment rates included levels as low as 2.4 percent in Howard County, 2.6 percent in Montgomery County, 3.6 percent in Charles County, and 4.0 percent in Anne Arundel County. Only Worcester County's rate of 18.4 percent was higher than Garrett County's.

The exodus of seasonal workers in February caused both the labor force and employment levels to decline. Employment dropped by just over 4,720 people to 2,616,483; however, the withdrawal of workers from the job market held down the increase in unemployment by just 1,077 people. Even with this increase, the unemployment rate held steady over the month. In February 1997, nearly 152,500 people were unemployed, resulting in a 5.5 percent unemployment rate.

Recall activity boosted employment in a number of industries during February, including educational services, manufacturing and state/local government. These upturns were supplemented by hiring in trucking, business services, eating and drinking establishments, health services, and engineering/management firms.

BOOKS AND BREAKFAST FEED LITTLE MINDS - The children at the Accident Head Start center recently spent time learning about the importance of a nutritious breakfast. Parents were invited to join the children at school to eat breakfast and listen to a story. The theme for the week was Books and Breakfast Feed Your Mind. The children took a trip to the Olde Flour Shoppe Bakery in Accident and bought bread for their snack. Each child was also given a cookie. Other activities included making fruit salad, tasting cheese, and popping popcorn. A special guest to the center was Hanna Ford of WFRB radio station. She came and read a story to the children. Pictured above, the children at the center enjoy listening to the story of the Run-Away Pancake.

Garrett Students Named As Tandy Tech. Scholars

Six Garrett County students were among those named when the Tandy Technology Scholars awards were announced recently. In its ninth year, this national program, established by the Tandy Corporation, honors students and teachers for their work in math and science.

Eric S. Neubert, Northern High School, and Rishi Billo Bhatnagar, Southern High School, were nominated by their schools as outstanding math/science/computer science students. They will receive certificates from Tandy and will have the opportunity to compete for one of 100 scholarships for $1,000.

The academic top two of graduating seniors were also recognized by Tandy. Those in Garrett County who will be receiving certificates of merit are David M. Butler and Eric S. Neubert, NHS, and Jason A. Bernard, Rishi B. Bhatnagar, Brittney L. Decker, and Julie E. Glotfelty, SHS.

The Tandy Technology Scholars program is administered by Texas Christian University.

GCC Holds Employer Round Table For Ex-B&L Workers

An employer round table was held recently at Garrett Community College (GCC) for students who will be completing the Computer Applications Certificate program this semester. Organized by Julie Yoder of the Job Placement office, the round table presented representatives from six area businesses who discussed job opportunities, desired credentials, and other qualifications they seek in prospective employees.

Round table participants were Jeff Ashby of Financial Computer Support Inc.; Jo Donaldson, The Data Entry Co. Inc.; Lisa Jenkins, Micro Integration; Dennis League, Context Information Systems Ltd.; Lucia Ayers, Garrett Information Systems; and Karen Irwin, UNITEL.

Students who attended the round table were former employees of Bausch and Lomb, most of whom will be graduating in May. According to Joan Crawford, who has been the academic advisor for most of these students, the round table discussion was planned to help them get an idea of the job opportunities in the area.

"We now know that there are jobs out there for people who have appropriate training," Crawford said. "These students were once part of an exceptional work force at Bausch and Lomb. They are committed and dependable and they have worked hard to complete this college program that has trained them for new careers in the business world. They will be good employees in the future."

Crawford also expressed her appreciation to the business representatives who participated in the round table. Additional employer round tables will be held for students completing other programs.

Mary Immaculate College President To Speak At FSU

In honor of Frostburg State University's centennial year, Sister Angela Bugler, president of Mary Immaculate College of the University of Limerick in Ireland, will visit the FSU campus and present a special lecture at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 28, in the Pealer Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center. Sr. Angela, who will be visiting the campus to participate in FSU centennial events, will discuss trends in education and how Ireland is being influenced by the "new" Europe.

Mary Immaculate College has been FSU's "sister" institution for the past decade, participating in an educational exchange program. Over 230 FSU students and 10 faculty members have studied and worked at Sr. Angela's college, which is also celebrating its centennial birthday in 1998.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

RED HOUSE
by Marcella Moreland, reporter

The profit made at the spaghetti dinner held was the topic of the April meeting. Rachel Skipper and Sarah Brenneman, cloverbuds, led pledges for their demonstration for the 32 members and 19 guests present.

There were two new members attending, Corey and Trevor Stonesifer.

Stacey Holler, Zachary Rhodes, and Frank Andersen attended dog obedience classes. Eleven adults and Frank, G.W. Beckman, Lori Evans, Ryan, Matthew, and Justin Fitzwater, Aliza, Eli and Levi Green, Amanda Hinebaugh, Adam and Travis Sanders, and B.J. Upole attended the livestock meeting at the college. Our club will be in charge of the food set-up at the Achievement Program. It was voted on to pay for the flowers at the church this month.

A senior member committee was selected to work on a light project sometime before the fair. Those selected were Frank, G.W., Alan Warsaw, Marcella, Tara and Amanda Hinebaugh, Angie Beckman, Lori, and Stacey.

Daniel Skipper reported on his winnings at the public speaking contest. An update was given by Lori and Amy on the workshop that will be held at the weigh-in on Friday evening.

The meeting was adjourned by Stephanie Brenneman.

SNOWY CREEK
by Shelby Glover, reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club members met on March 29 to stain or paint their birdhouse or birdfeeder projects that they built at the March 12 meeting. The booth committee also met that day and started construction, which includes a theme of conservation.

The regular meeting for April was also held that day. The meeting was originally scheduled for April, but was canceled because of Easter activities. Nineteen members were present.

Mitchell Guard and Lincoln Lowdermilk led the pledges. The club has voted to enter a float in the Old Pike's Day festival, held in Addison, Pa., on May 16. Charlotte Smearman will oversee the construction of the float. There are eight members on the float committee and they will be meeting on April 20 at 5:30 p.m.

For anyone doing the Broiler Project, the chicks will be arriving on April 22.

The 4-H Achievement Program was held at Southern High School on Saturday, April 4. Members from Snowy Creek who attended were: Morgan and Randi Rodeheaver, Jeremiah, Michael, and Mitchell Guard; Stacey, Shelby, and Drew Glover; David, Henry, and Cindy Smearman; Jennifer Lowdermilk, and Mark, Michael, and Molly Wolf. Each member received an envelope filled with items such as pins and patches for completion of projects and for finishing their record books for 1997. Jeremiah Guard also received a trophy for overall best record book of 1997.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 14 at 7 p.m.

We're changing the very way cars are made. The all-new Dodge Intrepid is the world's first car designed, assembled and proven in a virtual world of mathematical precision. A world where thousands of designs are evaluated before final choices are made. Where computers ensure that every virtual part mates precisely with every other virtual part. Where a design is proven in virtual road tests, dynamometer tests and even crash tests before the first prototype is made.
So when that first Intrepid prototype was ready for testing and evaluation in the real world, it was already virtually perfect. Car and Driver apparently agrees. They've included Dodge Intrepid on their 1998 "10Best" list.

COVER STORY

There is still plenty of fuel left in Dallas saga

By Glenn Teichman
©TVData Features Syndicate

Larry Hagman

He is currently giving John Travolta a run for his money in the film Primary Colors, but on Friday, April 24, Larry Hagman returns as the man you love to hate in CBS' Dallas: War of the Ewings.

In this second reunion movie, J.R. (Hagman) is again up to his old tricks. Having gained control of rival company Weststar in last year's TV movie, he now sets his sights on retaking his beloved Ewing Oil.

"It was a lot of fun returning to the characters," Hagman says. "It's like family (working with this cast)."

Also returning are Patrick Duffy as Bobby, Linda Gray as Sue Ellen and George Kennedy as Carter McKay. Sorely missed in War is J.R.'s archrival, Cliff Barnes (Ken Kercheval). Making up for his absence is the return of J.R. and Bobby's half brother, Ray Krebbs (Steve Kanaly).

With Ray back in town, the Ewing clan is in full force, and every Dallas fan knows that putting the three Ewing boys together can only lead to trouble.

"Well, Ray's a real cowboy," Hagman says. "Bobby and J.R. are really more businessmen." And Hagman adds that J.R. would love to get reckless Ray out of his way.

War opens with a scene sure to delight longtime fans (no hints here), and it is just one of the many nods to the successful old series. But the movie, while nostalgic, still moves the story of the Ewings forward and does so with great zest.

Bobby and Sue Ellen are now in control of Ewing Oil and are preparing to ally themselves with Carter in an effort to become No. 1 in the oil industry. The current leader is J.R.'s Weststar, but he wants to regain control of his daddy's company.

So he begins to play his brother and ex-wife against each other, trying to find a way to get Bobby to leave the oil business. J.R. also is looking to close a deal on a prime piece of oil real estate: Ray's ranch.

Unfortunately, J.R. has a couple of problems: 1) Someone is trying to kill him, and 2) Ray unexpectedly returns to Texas.

Plotted much tighter than a typical Dallas episode, War of the Ewings is a lot of fun. There also is no denying that the series' influence on American culture is still strong. "The show airs on TNN three times a day," Hagman notes.

During its original 13-year run, Dallas often rode high in the ratings. The series ended with a whimper, however, despite the fact that a gunshot rang out in the final moments of the last episode.

But this movie, like the previous one, brings back to life the enthusiasm and vibrancy of the series' heyday. And it is great to see Hagman back, having a grand old time playing J.R.

Certainly the eldest Ewing boy already holds a place in popular culture; War reminds us why. When J.R. says, "Well, a conscience is a lot of trouble. It's like a boat or airplane. If you ever feel you need one, rent it," viewers cannot help but like him -- or is that hate him?

Either way, there is a lot to like about this movie.

James Read

Q: I heard long ago that John Jakes' book Heaven & Hell would be made into a miniseries like the first two, books I and II of North & South. When will we see this new production? I'd hate to miss it. –S. Stephens via e-mail.

A: In a word, oops. Heaven and Hell: North and South, Part III premiered on ABC on Feb. 27, 1994. The cast included Kyle Chandler, James Read, Lesley-Anne Down, Terri Garber, Genie Francis and Jonathan Frakes.

Q: My favorite TV show is Buffy the Vampire Slayer on The WB Network. What can you tell me about Seth Green, who plays Oz? –Buffy freak in Brockville, Ontario, Canada.

A: Green, 24, decided at age 6 that he wanted to be an actor when appearing in a summer camp production of Hello, Dolly! Evidently he knew what he was doing, because the Philadelphia native is quickly becoming one of the hottest actors in Hollywood, and his new status as a regular on one of the hippest television shows around will not cool him off.

Since making his movie debut in The Hotel New Hampshire, Green has appeared in such films as Radio Days, My Stepmother Is an Alien, the TV movie adaptation of Stephen King's It and, most memorably, as Dr. Evil's son, Scott, in Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery. He has three films set for release this year: The Attic Expeditions, Can't Hardly Wait and Enemy of the State.

His pre-Buffy TV series roles include David in Good & Evil, Harry Byrd in Byrds of Paradise and David Silver in Temporarily Yours. He also has guest starred on The X-Files, The Drew Carey Show and Mad About You.

Q: What are the words the Wicked Witch's guards chant in The Wizard of Oz? A friend insists they are saying, "All we are we owe her." Will the movie air again this year? –Melody T., Charlotte, N.C.

A: A terrific Website called "Wendy's Wonderful Wizard of Oz" includes the complete screenplay for the 1939 movie. According to that, the Winkie guards are simply chanting, "Ooo-eeeee-hoo! Yooo-ho! Ooo-eeeee-hoo! Yooo-ho!" (as spelled in the screenplay).

The Wizard of Oz returns Friday, May 8, on CBS.

Q: Why do they keep moving around Nothing Sacred, the best show on TV? How about a reliable day and time? –M. Fulcher, Hyannis, Mass.

A: I am afraid it is too late. Despite widespread critical acclaim, the show is not expected to return.

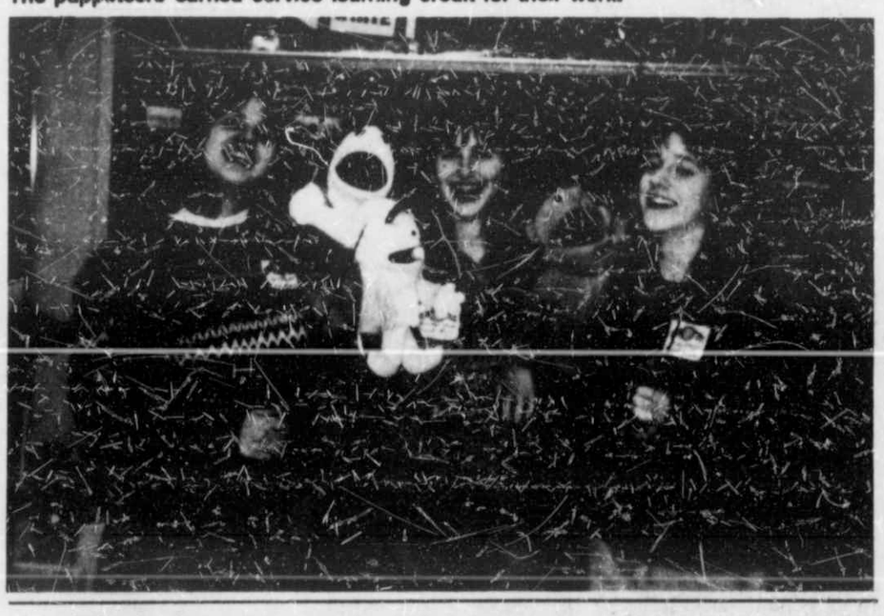
GETTING READY FOR SCHOOL - The Accident School Readiness Fair recently provided children and parents with some insights into life as a student. The goal of the fair coordinators was to help families understand more about the elementary school curriculum. "We really want to promote the idea of such a fair so that parents learn more about developmental levels and school expectations," said principal Sandy Nesline. Staff members, students from Frostburg State University, and high school students volunteered their time to participate in the event. "One hundred five people attended the fair, and we feel it was a great success," said Joyce Miller, fair coordinator. In the photo above left, Cindy Kolbe, first grade teacher, entertained the children with story-telling. DNR ranger Eric Savage, above right, taught the "stop, drop, and roll" strategy to aspiring kindergartners, left to right, Kasey Fratz, Abby Schmuck, and Caitlin Fratz. Below, puppet performances presented by, left to right, Valerie Bender, Heather Miller, and Janelle Bender were enjoyed by preschoolers and their parents. The puppeteers earned service learning credit for their work.



Meet Garrett County's NEW TEACHERS

Among the new staff members this year at the Garrett County Board of Education are guidance counselors Cynthia Glass and Keith Cain. Both have prior work experience in this field. Beverly Serpone, a veteran guidance counselor in the school system, serves as mentor to both Cain and Glass.

Glass earned an AA degree at Allegany College in mental health technology and a BS degree in early childhood/elementary education at Frostburg State University, and recently completed her master's degree in guidance and counseling at FSU.

She worked four years as a part-time employee for Allegany County Board of Education and the YMCA, Cumberland. Glass also served as a counselor at New Dominion School, Oldtown, where she worked with high-risk adolescents. She completed her teaching internships at St. John Newman School and Cresaptown Elementary.

Glass said she has found this year to be very rewarding. She said she finds that this job is helping her to realize her goal: to make a difference in a student's life. She also spoke of her appreciation for the support that Serpone has given her. Glass also said she was thankful to her supervisor, Wilda Massi, for her help. "I feel respected here," she said.

Cain earned a degree in accounting at FSU prior to working for three years as a staff accountant for Computer Sciences Corporation in Falls Church, Va. He later returned to his native Allegany County, where he worked as a substitute and home teacher for the Allegany County Board of Education. Most recently he taught at the Alternative High School in Allegany County.

Cain completed his internship in guidance and counseling at Southern High School prior to being employed full time as a counselor. His master's degree in guidance and counseling is from FSU.

Cain said he has found that teaching this year has been a learning experience for him. "Mrs. Serpone has provided great support for me. I appreciate the manner in which I have been accepted here," he said.

Both Cain and Glass reside in Cumberland.

Handbell Choirs To Offer Concert

The tri-state region's combined Handbell Choirs will present Bellfest '98, a free concert to be held Saturday, April 25, in the Allegany High School gymnasium. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Nancy Powell, the concert is sponsored by the Cumberland Music and Arts Club and funded in part by the Allegany Arts Council.

A free-will offering will be taken at the concert to benefit the music scholarship fund.

Schumanns To Be Portrayed In FSU Performance

Clara and Robert Schumann will be brought to life when Frostburg State University's Chamberlain Trio performs at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 26, in the Pealer Recital Hall of the FSU Performing Arts Center. This special music performance is one of the events scheduled for FSU's centennial celebration.

Before several of the Schumanns' compositions are performed by the trio and other guest artists, the two 19th century composers will be remembered by FSU professors Drs. Joy Kroeger-Mappes and Keith Schlegel. Kroager-Mappes and Schlegel will read selected letters from the Schumanns' correspondence, as well as passages from the mutual diary that the composers kept during their marriage.

The Chamberlain Trio—Dr. Ellen Grolman Schlegel, Dr. Joan DeVee Dixon, and Gloria Stearns—will perform Clara Schumann's Piano Trio in G minor, Opus 17, (1846) which was considered one of her best works.

Violinist and violist Stanley and Swana Chepaitis will join the Chamberlain Trio to present Robert Schumann's piano quintet, written in 1842.

For more information on this event, persons may call the FSU Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

African Drum, Dance Ensemble To Perform At FSU

The sounds of African music will resonate on the Frostburg State University campus at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 22, when the West Virginia University African Drum and Dance Ensemble performs in the Pealer Recital Hall.

The WVU African ensemble, founded by and under the direction of Paschal Yao Younge of Ghana, strives to create opportunities for students to experience the diverse cultural heritage of Africa through drum, voice, and dance, a spokesperson said. The WVU African Ensemble emphasizes the performance of African dances as they occur in their authentic settings, as well as a new theatrical context that highlights and clarifies the essential patterns of the dances without destroying their basic movement and style. The ensemble has a large repertoire of musical styles, ranging from work-based dances to ritualistic ones representative of East, West, Central, and South African countries.

Paschal Yao Younge came to WVU from the University of Ghana, where he was principal instructor at the Music Department of the School of Performing Arts. Since 1993, he has served as the head of the African Music Studies Program and founder and artistic director of the WVU African Drum and Dance Ensemble.

This event, sponsored by the Center for International Education and the FSU Performing Arts Center, is the first of a series of "Sounds of the World" concerts. This concert is free and open to the public. Tickets are available at the Lane Center Information Desk Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. or by calling 301-687-4411.

CORRECTED GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE
The County Commissioners of Garrett County propose to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1998, the estimated assessable base will increase by 2% from $760,904,103 to $775,965,348.
2. If Garrett County maintains the current tax rate of $2.59 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 2%, resulting in $390,087 of new property tax revenues.
3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $2.54, the constant yield tax rate.
4. The County is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The County proposes to adopt a tax rate of $2.59 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 2% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $390,087 in additional property tax revenues.

The public hearing on the proposed property tax increase that was originally scheduled for 11:00 a.m. on April 21, 1998, has been re-scheduled for 11:00 a.m. on April 28, 1998, at the County Commissioners' Meeting Room, County Courthouse, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-8970 for further information.

Flowery Vale Dance To Feature Music Of "The 1940s"

The swinging sounds of '40s and '50s-era music will be featured at "A Spring Affair," a dance for adults age 50 and older, slated for Saturday, May 2, from 7 to 10 p.m., at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident. Music for the dance will be provided by "The 1940s," a western Maryland combo.

The 1940s is led by big-band singer Ann Reed and guitarist Bill Smouse, both of whom recently moved to western Maryland from Baltimore. Reed began singing as a teen, entertaining at Officers, NCO and USO clubs. Over her career she has appeared in night clubs and lounges in the Baltimore and Annapolis area, and for an extended period she sang with a big band at Herrington Harbor.

Smouse, a Cumberland native, studied guitar with Mel Stewart of Stewart's Music House. Prior to moving to Baltimore he frequently played in area VFWs, fraternal lodges, and American Legion posts. While in Baltimore, Smouse appeared in many lounges and hotels, including the Sheraton Belvedere, the Lord Baltimore, and the Emerson Hotel.

Pianist Bill VanDyke, a professional musician from Anne Arundel County, trumpet player Frank Wilborn, a retired member of the Army Field Band, and bassist John Close of Cumberland round out The 1940s combo.

Arrangements have been made for a professional photographer to be on hand to capture the special evening on film, and guests may purchase a memento of the evening at a reasonable cost. Corsages will also be available for purchase for that "special" someone.

The cost for the dance, which includes hors d'oeuvres and alcohol-free libations, is $15 for singles and $30 per couple. Tickets must be purchased in advance by Friday, April 24, and are available at Community Action's Area Agency on Aging Office, and the Flowery Vale, Mary Browning, and Grantsville senior centers. For further information interested persons may call 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403 ext. 140.

MEMBERS INSTALLED - Three new members were installed in the Oakland/Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club during its March meeting. Pharmacists Again Rated Number One

Among professional people, pharmacists are still number one. That is the result of a new CNN/USA Today/Gallup Poll conducted to determine the highest rated profession based on honesty and ethical standards. Of the 26 professions evaluated, pharmacists ranked at the top of the list for the ninth straight time. The first poll was conducted in 1988. Sixty-nine percent of individuals polled in 1997 rated pharmacists with a score of "high" or "very high" when asked about honesty and ethical standards. This was the highest percentage ever recorded for any profession since polling began.

The latest poll confirms a continuing confidence that patients have in pharmacists. One of the perceptions that many people have of their pharmacist is that of public service. Many pharmacists provide services that consumers cannot find elsewhere—from what to do about a symptom or potentially more serious health problem, to assistance on local school science projects. Pharmacists are trained as scientists and health care providers. Many now receive training at the doctoral level, and some go on to specialize in one or more areas of health care delivery.

Cancer Society's Relay For Life Slated May 29-30

The Allegany/Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society is planning its biggest event of the year, the annual Relay for Life, a 24-hour event that raises funds for the ACS while raising awareness that cancer can be defeated. During 24 hours on May 29-30, teams of volunteers from all over the region will take turns walking, jogging, rollerblading, or wheelchairing around the track at Beall High School in Frostburg, relay style. While not on the track, team members will camp out around the track, where there will be a variety of activities, from gourmet cooking to country line dancing, to midnight-movie watching.

Teams will come from local businesses, churches, hospitals, and families. Before the event, team members will collect donations to sponsor their efforts, and the money raised will help fund ACS's education, patient services, and research. This year's relay sponsors are Carl Belt Inc. and AES Warrior Run.

One part of the Relay for Life is the honoring of cancer survivors. The first and last lap of the relay are walked by survivors, and there will be a Friday afternoon reception sponsored by OptionCare and a Saturday afternoon picnic sponsored by the Western Maryland Health System, especially for survivors. There will also be a luminary ceremony at sundown on Friday, to honor present and former cancer patients.

Last year 19 teams with over 200 individuals participated. This year more teams are anticipated, and anyone from Allegany, Garrett, Mineral, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, and Pendleton counties is invited to participate. A team captains' organizational meeting will be held at the American Cancer Society office at 111 South George Street in Cumberland on Tuesday, April 21, at 5:30 p.m. Anyone who was a team captain last year or who would like to organize a new team this year is urged to attend. Persons may call Kevin Tephabock at the American Cancer Society office at 301-722-2145 for more information.

FSU Schedules Founder's Day Celebration

Frostburg State University will pay tribute to its 100 years of history with a special Founders' Day celebration on Sunday, April 26, at 1 p.m. in the FSU Physical Education Center Main Arena.

"This event, held as part of the ongoing Centennial Celebration, will honor all those past and present who have helped FSU become what it is today," said Gary Love, FSU director of planned giving and liaison for Centennial Special Events.

The keynote speaker for this event will be Dr. Catherine Gira, president of FSU. Others offering greetings in recognition of the centennial will be guest speakers Lance Billingsley (master of ceremonies), chairman of the University of Maryland System Board of Regents; Casper Taylor, speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; John Hafer, Maryland Senate; Dr. Patricia Florestano, secretary of the Maryland Higher Education Commission; Roscoe Bartlett, U.S. House of Delegates; John Bambacus, mayor of Frostburg; Bernard Loar, president of the Allegany County commissioners; Edward Athey, mayor of Cumberland; and Sister Angela Bugler, president of Mary Immaculate College, Ireland.

Additional seated guests include Betty Workman, Maryland Delegate; George Edwards, Maryland Delegate; Allegany County commissioners; and past presidents of Frostburg State College, Nelson Guild and John Morey.

Music for the celebration will be provided by the FSU Collegium Musicum and the FSU Wind Ensemble, under the direction of FSU associate professor of music Dr. Karen Soderberg and FSU instructor Mark Aldrich, respectively.

This event is free and open to the public. A reception will follow in the FSU Lane Center Multi-use Room.

For further information, persons may contact 301-687-4708.

FSU Slates Convocation, Groundbreaking

Frostburg State University will hold its annual convocation in honor of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. at 11 a.m. on Monday, April 27. This event, featuring guest speaker Major F. Riddick Jr., chief of staff to Maryland Governor Parris Glendening, will take place in the Pealer Recital Hall of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

The convocation will last approximately one hour, followed by a break for lunch. At 1:30 p.m., the university, in partnership with the A Star! in Western Maryland AmeriCorps project, will hold a groundbreaking ceremony for the new Martin Luther King Reflection and Education Inclusive Outdoor Recreational Area, located in the campus arboretum.

The new reflection area, funded through a grant from the Corporation for National Service and dedicated to the teachings of King, will offer a place for contemplation as well as outdoor education.

Guest speaker Major F. Riddick was appointed in 1995 to the Glendening administration. He is responsible for the implementation of the governor's priority policies and programs and works closely with the deputy chiefs of staff and the department secretaries. Riddick currently serves as the acting chair of the Information Technology (IT) board.

Prior to his appointment in the Glendening administration, Riddick spent 16 years serving the Prince George's County government in various capacities.

Musical performances at the convocation will be conducted by the FSU Chorale, which will present the selections "Set Down Servant" and "Elijah Rock." The FSU Gospel Voices will also perform.

This event is free and open to the public. For information, persons may contact the FSU Office of the Provost at 301-687-4211. Organizers encourage early arrival on the day of the event to ensure seating.

Antiques

Collectors are now buying all types of baseball-related collectibles. While many serious collectors have saved baseball cards since they first appeared in tobacco packs in the late 1870s, it was not until the late 1980s that many other baseball collectibles gained widespread appeal.

Until recently, relatively few collectors had been saving and buying old pennants, ticket stubs, yearbooks, programs, figurines and magazine advertisements and posters featuring players. Other collectors want baseball mitts, balls, bats and game-worn uniforms. Autographs are another specialty.

When a stadium is remodeled or torn down, collectors buy the seats, bleacher signs, lockers, ticket turnstiles and even pieces of a wall, bricks from a facade or chunks of artificial turf.

There now are thousands of sports collectibles shows across the country each year, as well as many auctions featuring baseball memorabilia.

New collectors should be careful. Many "game worn" uniforms are new fakes designed to fool the novice. Autographs on balls, mitts, bats and cards have been forged.

Even some authentic autographs are worth little, because the player signed so many items.

Players are paid to appear at card shows and sign autographs. Some sign hundreds of special balls to be sold on television or in gift shops at high prices.

If you want such a memento of your favorite team or player, buy it, but we suggest that you don't consider it an investment. Many of the newer pieces being sold might never increase in value.

Q. I have a children's tea set that is marked "Leuchtenburg, Germany" and has a drawing of a castle tower. It's pink and white with pictures of boys playing soccer. The set includes a teapot, creamer, sugar bowl and cover, four cups and saucers. What's it worth?

A. "Leuchtenburg, Germany" and castle is the trademark for C.A. Lehmann & Son of Kahla, Germany.

Your set was made around 1910. A complete set in excellent condition is worth about $500.

NELLIE BLY: MOTHER OF INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING

In 1887, Elizabeth Jane Cochran — pen name Nellie Bly — went undercover to expose the brutal conditions at Blackwell's Island female insane asylum. Committed through feigned histrionics and sprung 10 days later by her editors, she wrote a scathing piece that lead to asylum reform — and to a new kind of female reporter.

By chance, she had responded to an article in the Pittsburgh Dispatch declaring that women should stay home. What, she wrote, should women who had to support themselves do? The letter was so well done, the editor offered Elizabeth a job — and a pen name from a Stephen Foster song.

Frustrated at the "ladylike" topics she was assigned, Nellie landed the asylum assignment at New York World, which made her name. After that, she went undercover and wrote expose after expose. As described in April's Biography magazine, her gripping, first-person chronicles made Nellie one of the most powerful, well-paid reporters in the country. In 1889, she circled the globe via ship and train in 72 days, breaking the record of Jules Vernes' fictional hero in "Around the World in 80 Days," submitting reports throughout.

At 31, she eloped with Robert Livingston Seaman, a 70-year-old millionaire. When Seaman died nine years later, Nellie had been named president of his ironworks, which soon went bankrupt due to embezzlement. Heading to Europe in search of a loan, she was mid-Atlantic when World War I broke out, and immediately became the only female war correspondent.

Post-war, she returned home and joined the Evening Journal. She began using her column to help people in distress. Her chief joy was finding homes for orphans, usually bypassing the agencies and courts. At 57, Nellie's overworked body gave out. The New York World's obituary called her "the best reporter in America."

SHS Selects Students Of The Month

The faculty at Southern High School recently announced the Students of the Month for March. They are: Jennifer Sanders, Michelle Teter, Ashley Reese, Kenny Myers, Brianne Meyers, and Stephanie Forman.

Jennifer Sanders was chosen as the mathematics student of the month. A sophomore, she is the daughter of Dennis and Linda Sanders of Oakland. A member of the marching, concert, and stage bands, Sanders also plays on the varsity softball team. She has been a recipient of a Who's Who Among American High School Students award, a USAA National English award, a USAA National Science Merit award and the National History and Government awards. She is also a distinguished honor roll and honor roll student. Sanders is a member of the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, where she is acting president of the youth group, a member of the adult and youth choirs, and assistant pianist for Sunday school and church services. After graduation she intends to major in computers and minor in music at college.

Senior Michelle Teter was the social studies student of the month. The daughter of Dave and Maggie Teter of Loch Lynn, she has been a member of the volleyball, basketball, and track teams. Teter has also been editor of the school newspaper, a student council representative, fall homecoming queen, and a member of the prom planning committee. She has received the Minds in Motion award and has been a Who's Who nominee. Teter participated in the French exchange program as a host. She attends Fairview Church of the Brethren and works at the Lakeside Creamery. After graduation she plans to attend Frostburg State University with a possible major in sociology.

The foreign language student of the month was Ashley Reese. A junior, she is the daughter of Paul and Kathy Reese of Oakland. She is involved with softball and the National Honor Society, and has received the Minds in Motion award. Reese attends Terra Alta Church of the Nazarene and volunteers for the Service Club Basketball League. Upon graduation she would like to attend the University of Maryland College Park and major in chemistry.

Kenny Myers, a senior, was recognized as vocational student of the month. He is the son of Charles and Barbara Myers of Oakland. He has been on the varsity football team and co-captain of VICA. He also helps with the Service Club Basketball League. Upon graduating, Myers is planning to attend DeVry Institute.

Brianne Meyers was the English student of the month. The sophomore is the daughter of Jackie and Kim Meyers of Oakland. She has received various awards, including the Presidential Academic Fitness award, Success in School award, and DARE award, the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution award, the Minds in Motion award, and the National History and Government awards. Meyers has also been named to the honor roll, distinguished honor roll, and Who's Who. Meyers is a member of Brenda's Body Shop and has performed in the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's productions of "The Wizard of Oz" and "Movie Magic." Her future goals include law school and a career in corporate law.

Sophomore Stephanie Forman was the science student of the month. The daughter of John and Joyce Forman of Oakland, she has been named to the honor roll and Who's Who, and has received the Minds in Motion award. She is a student council representative, and is a member of the volleyball team, the School improvement Team, the superintendent's Advisory Committee on Education, and the Garrett County Association of Student Councils. She also attends St. Peter's Catholic Church of Oakland. Her future goals include pursuing a career in medical technology.

Training Course For Lifeguard Instructors Set

An American Red Cross lifeguard instructors course will be taught at Frostburg State University on April 27, 28, 29, and 30, and May 4 and 5 from 3 to 6 p.m. at the FSU pool.

Prerequisites are: students must have a current lifeguard certificate, be at least 17 years old, and pass two pre-course exams and a skill scenario.

Anyone interested in attending should contact the Activities for Life office at FSU at 301-687-7934. The deadline for registration is April 20.

Tillman To Talk Of Helping Thai Orphans, Lepers

Missionary Tommy Tillman will speak and present slides on his work among the lepers and orphans of Thailand. Grace Bible Church, Grantsville, will host the three-day meeting at which Tillman will be the featured speaker. This forum will take place April 20-22 at 7 p.m. each evening.

The work performed in Thailand by Tillman has included ministering to those afflicted with leprosy and running the only orphanage in the country. His work among the Thai people is supported by the ministry of Harbor Evangelism.

Grace Bible Church is located on Dung Hill Road, 5.5 miles south of Grantsville, off Route 495. For more information, persons may contact Pastor Larry Glotfelty at 301-746-8635.

Sand Spring To Host Bake Sale, Flea Market

Sand Spring Church of God will host a bake sale, flea market, and bazaar on May 2 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

The event will feature crafts, food, pies, cakes, and new and used items. For those who would like to participate in the sale, tables will available to rent for use that day.

Sand Spring Church is located on Fearer Road, off Route 42, between Friendsville and Markleysburg, Pa. For further information, persons may call 301-746-5340 or 301-746-5150.

Local Students Invited To Name Earth Satellite

Students in grades 8 through 12 are invited to name the first Earth Observing System satellite, which will be launched from California later this year, and the winner of the contest will receive an all-expenses-paid trip to California to watch the launching.

The satellite will have a polar orbit and will collect data intended to help scientists better understand the climate and environment. Students are asked to select a name — a person, place, or thing that represents an understanding of the world — and write a 300-word essay explaining why that should be the name of the satellite.

Jeff Sincell, an electrical engineer and a native of Mtn. Lake Park, is a member of the design and construction team for the satellite, which is being built by Lockheed Martin Corporation. Sincell, a graduate of Southern High School and West Virginia University, was also one of the designers of the Mars Global Surveyor, which is presently in orbit around Mars and continues to transmit information about that planet's weather and topography back to earth.

The winner of the contest will receive transportation, hotel accommodations, and meals to attend the launching, and his/her school will receive $3,000 worth of computer equipment that will provide direct access to information transmitted by the satellite once in orbit.

Entries must include the student's name and address, and the deadline for receiving entries is 5 p.m. EDT on May 29. Entries can be sent to EOS-AM, American Geophysical Union, 2000 Florida Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20009, or can be sent electronically via an entry form on the World Wide Web site at www.agu.org.

Students who want to learn about the satellite before they attempt to write their contest essays are encouraged to go on-line to the EOS-AM website at eos-am.gsfc.nasa.gov.

League To Host Edwards, Hafer

DEL. GEORGE EDWARDS

SEN. JOHN HAFER

The public is reminded that Delegate George C. Edwards and Senator John J. Hafer will be the guest speakers at the 28th annual meeting of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County (LWVGC) this Saturday, April 18, at Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. Delegate Edwards and Senator Hafer will give a legislative wrap-up of the 1998 Maryland General Assembly.

"This will be one of the first opportunities to hear Sen. Hafer and Del. Edwards review this year's state legislative session since it just ended on Monday," a spokesperson for the league pointed out.

Lunch will begin at 12:30 p.m., then at approximately 1:30 p.m., Edwards and Hafer will speak. A brief question-and-answer period will follow. As time allows, others who wish to speak may have a chance to do so.

"In the past, we have always invited other officials and agency representatives to give a progress report on activities related to county interests," the spokesperson said, "but last year the entire duration of our annual meeting ran on too late in the afternoon. We always enjoy hearing from everyone—we feel this is an important service the league provides to its members and the public. Nonetheless, this year we want to conduct the entire meeting in a more timely manner.

"Remember, the League of Women Voters will hold its yearly picnic in August with public officials, agency representatives, and, of course, candidates for office. This time, everyone will have a chance to address the audience as they wish," the spokesperson continued.

Finally, the LWVGC will hold its annual business meeting. Major items on the agenda include the election of officers and adoption of program items for 1998-99.

The public is welcome to attend any or all of the afternoon's proceedings. Those coming for lunch are asked to RSVP Ginny Grove, LWVGC president, at 301-334-8269 or e-mail at ggrove@gcnet.net by today, April 16. Reservations for lunch must be honored. The cost is $8.25 each, gratuities included.

GCC Slates Open House To Mark Secretaries Day

Next week is Secretaries Week, and it will be noted by an open house at Garrett Community College (GCC) on Secretaries Day, Wednesday, April 22, from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The theme of the open house is "Step Into the Future," and secretaries, managers, high school students and other interested people are invited to the school's Technology Center to find out what is happening in office technology, the new Medical Language Specialist (MLS) program, desktop publishing, and in web site usage.

The open house is designed to be hands-on and interactive. In the MLS room of the Tech Center participants can get hands-on experience with medical transcription and e-mail. In the interactive video room participants will be able to see and hear about Garrett County web sites. In addition, office technology students will provide desktop publishing activities, tips, and displays of their work. Games, typing contests, and door prize drawings are also being planned.

PLANNING TO "STEP INTO THE FUTURE," several Garrett Community College (GCC) students and staffers make preparations for the upcoming open house marking Secretaries Day, Wednesday, April 22, from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the GCC's Tech Center. From left to right are students in the Medical Language Specialist (MLS) program Kim Glotfelty, Jenny White, Chris Johnson, Naomi McKenzie, MLS lead instructor Debbie Bishop, and associate professor of office technology Tammy Manthos. Activities will include e-mail, web sites, desktop publishing, and a typing contest.

The entire public is invited to come for part or all of these Secretaries Day activities, which are being planned and coordinated by GCC students in the MLS and office technology programs. For more information about this free event interested persons may call Tammy Manthos at 301-387-3015.

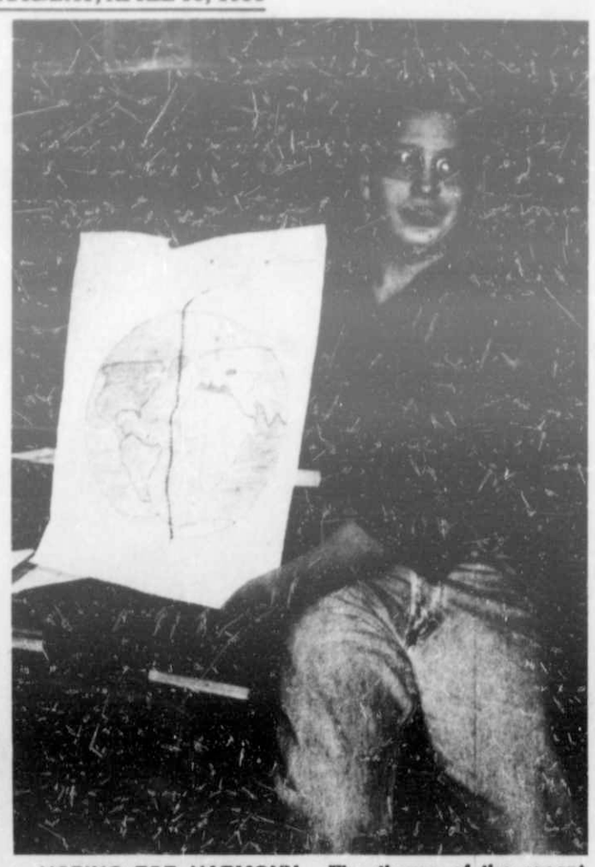
Glotfelty To Lead Revival Services At Pine Grove

Revival services will be held at 7 p.m. each evening next week at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren, Monday through Friday, April 20-24. Local evangelist Ross Glotfelty will be preaching at each service and will be joined by various musical groups presenting special singing.

Pastor Glotfelty dates his conversion to his calling during a Youth for Christ Rally at Garrett Community College in January 1974. Presently a second-grade teacher at Friendsville Elementary School, Glotfelty ministers in word and song at various churches. He is also the volunteer chaplain for the Mountaineer Challenge Academy at Camp Dawson, Kingwood, W.Va. The Academy gives 16-to-18-year-olds the opportunity to establish physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual balance to their lives. A number of cadets have said they "have committed their lives to Jesus Christ" as a result of their participation in the academy.



HOPING FOR HARMONY - The theme of the recent Lions International Peace poster contest was "A World In Harmony." Brian Oester, a seventh grade student at Northern Middle School, was awarded first prize by the Grantsville Lioness Club for his entry in the competition. Carolyn Tice, teacher at the middle school, encouraged her students to participate in this event. Brian depicted a globe, a needle, and thread. "My idea was stitching the world back together," he explained. For his efforts he received a $50 savings bond. "It was the first time I ever entered a poster contest," he smiled.

Pastor Owen Preston and the congregation of Pine Grove Church of the Brethren invite all interested persons in the tri-state area to join in these special services.

Crellin Church Members Staging Musical Drama

Members of the Crellin Assembly of God Church are currently rehearsing to perform a musical drama titled "Jesus, We Crown You With Thorns." Shows are scheduled for Sunday, April 26, and Monday, April 27, at 7 p.m.

The musical was created, written, and produced by Lanny Wolfe, and arranged and orchestrated by Don Marsh. "The musical is a celebration of praise and worship to the victorious Christ," a church spokesperson said.

The adult choir, under the direction of Mary Glotfelty, will be featured. Soloists will be Steve Lewis, Brittney Decker, Linda DeWitt, Lloyd Decker, Tim Miller, Erica Lewis, Sharon Decker, and Christy Decker.

Narrators will be Brenda Thomas, Stanley DeWitt, Steve Lewis, Brittney Decker, Mary Sisler, Nancy DeWitt, Harriet Cannon, Joseph Snodgrass, Lloyd Decker, Tim Miller, Melissa Soult, Karen DeWitt, and Mary Glotfelty.

The drama will be directed by Tim Miller. Bob Murphy will portray Christ, and Fran Martin will portray the mother of Jesus. Numerous church members will portray the disciples, soldiers, and townspeople.

The church is located at 2254 Hutton Road (Route 39). Pastor David Snodgrass said that everyone is invited to attend.

Northern High Students Of The Month Selected

The Northern High School Student Council and American Trust Bank recently announced the students of the month for January. The students are Greg Speicher, Josh Hook, Jason Younkin, and Jeremy McKenzie.

Greg Speicher, a freshman at Northern, is the son of Barb and Harv Speicher of Accident. He is a member of Northern's basketball, baseball, and golf teams and has been honored with several team awards. Greg also participates in the Youth Dribblers Club.

Josh Hook, a sophomore, is the son of Jim and Pam Hook of Friendsville. He is a member of the junior varsity baseball team and the Hot Stove Baseball League. Josh also participates in Northern's marching band and is an active member of the Rush Baptist Youth Group.

Jason Younkin, a junior, is the son of Wilbur and Bonnie Younkin of Accident. He enjoys camping, fishing, and working on cars, and attends the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, where he is actively involved in the youth group. Along with being the January Student of the Month, Jason has received numerous other honors, including the Success in School and Who's Who Among American High School Students awards.

Jeremy McKenzie, a senior, resides with Paul and Shirley McKenzie of Lonaconing. He is a member of the Northern cross-country and track teams and participates in the masonry unit of Northern's VICA program. Jeremy enjoys hunting and gun collecting and was a 1998 Cumberland Times Student Athlete of the Month for Northern High School.

Receives Award For Achievement

The U.S. Achievement Academy has announced that Sheena Murphy, Oakland, has been named a national award winner in the category of history and government for her outstanding academic achievement in that area. The academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Miss Murphy, a student at Southern High School and the daughter of Dennis and Renota Murphy, Oakland, was nominated for the award by David Beard, history teacher. Her name will appear in the academy's yearbook.

Selection of U.S. Achievement Academy awards is based upon such criteria as a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, citizenship, and attitude, plus a recommendation from a teacher, coach, counselor, or other school official.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on April 7.

The study theme, "Rejecting the Cornerstone," was led by Leota Baker, and the emphasis was on consideration of the meaning of Jesus' rejection, death, and resurrection as recorded in the Gospel of Luke.

A canticle and the hymn "O Jesus, Blessed Lord" were read in unison.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Thank-you notes received from the following were read: Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Box Elder, Mont.; Pendleton Nursing Home, Franklin, W.Va.; and The Lutheran Home, Kane, Pa.

Announcement was made concerning the spring meeting of the Monongahela Valley/Mt. Cluster Women of the ELCA, to be held April 18. The meeting is being held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Clarksburg, W.Va., and the theme will be "Sharing and Caring." Practical items are to be taken as a donation to Clarksburg Mission, a local food kitchen.

The quarterly offering was sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry, and an offering has been sent to the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., for the "Friends of the Seminary" appeal.

Meetings were canceled during February and March. However, various projects were completed. A package of baby quilts was sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Box Elder, Mont., for that church's layette ministry on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation. Lap robes and chair pads were made and sent to Pendleton Nursing Home, Franklin, W.Va. Invalid gowns were made from men's shirts and sent with items of clothing to The Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa. Canceled postage stamps were collected and sent to the stamp club at The National Lutheran Home in Rockville for sale to collector agencies.

Old Salisbury Fire House First Site Of Pancake Dinners

It was 1952 when the Salisbury Lions Club members decided to serve pancakes, buckwheat cakes, and smoked sausage to those who came to visit the maple sugar camps of Somerset County, Pennsylvania, for the Maple Festival. The site selected for this first dinner was the old Salisbury fire hall, located in the center of town.

The recorded history of the Salisbury pancake/buckwheat cake dinners includes references to visitors from many miles away, explained Robert C. Durst, treasurer of the Lions Club. "We served the Baltimore and Ohio excursion trains from Baltimore, with the B&O Chorus as guests. They were traveling by rail from Baltimore to the West Salisbury station," Durst said.

Visitors to the camps and the dinners came from other cities as well. "Excursion buses from Pittsburgh Port Authority, the White Hall School District students, and visitors to the area from a distance of 150 miles all came," he added.

When the Salisbury Municipal Building was completed in 1979, the Lions began serving their Maple Festival meals from the dining room in the building. The location has changed in the last 48 years, but not the quality of the meal, Durst said. "We continue to serve those famous old-fashioned buckwheat cakes," he said.

Money collected during the event is used for various causes. "Our club supports the sight projects of Lions District 14-M and local projects and sight needs," he stated.

AUCTION TO BENEFIT GCMH — The Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop at Garrett County Memorial Hospital is currently conducting a silent auction for seven available Princess Diana Beanie Babies on display in the gift shop. According to Denise Shay, manager and buyer for the gift shop, bids will be accepted until Friday, April 24, at 9:30 a.m. Bids can be made at the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop, located in the main lobby area at Garrett Memorial, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Phone bids will not be accepted. All proceeds raised from the auction will benefit the hospital. "Beanie Babies are among the hottest collector items today and are very difficult to find due to the high demand," stated an auxiliary spokesperson, who added that the Princess Diana model, depicted in the form of a purple teddy bear, is the most difficult to obtain and has been seen for sale in gift shops throughout the country as well as through the Internet for up to several hundred dollars. Pictured above in the gift shop with the Diana Beanie Babies are Ms. Shay, left, and gift shop volunteer Betty Croston.

Discussion Meet Topics Announced For YF&R Contest

Young farmers and ranchers may want to begin preparing for the American Farm Bureau Federation's Discussion Meet. The Discussion Meet is a contest sponsored by the AFBF Young Farmers and Ranchers for men and women under age 35.

Beginning at the local Farm Bureau annual meetings later this year, participants compete in the contests and are judged on their knowledge of the topics and ability to communicate. County winners advance to the state meets and state winners to the national level. All the state finalists will compete at the AFBF annual meeting in Albuquerque in January 1999.

Here are this year's Discussion Meet topics:

1. Is agriculture experiencing a polarization of its population? Is it becoming "small farm vs. large farm"?

• What, if any, are the ramifications of small farms getting smaller and large farms getting larger?

• What role have corporate contracts played in this trend? What are the advantages and disadvantages of such contracts?

• Can the mid-size farm exist? If so, what incentives need to be in place to insure that the mid-size farm survives?

2. Discuss the use of cloning in agriculture.

• How has cloning been used successfully in the past?

• What are the advantages and disadvantages to an expanded use of cloning in agriculture?

• Can effective and realistic restrictions be placed on cloning practices? If so, what are they? How does one police and enforce such restrictions? Who is responsible for this enforcement? What should the penalties be?

• Overall, will a continued and expanded use of cloning improve American agriculture's ability to compete in a world market?

3. Can production agriculture survive the threat of urban sprawl?

• Do land-use plans really protect agriculture? If so, can such plans effectively harmonize a rural lifestyle with a sprawling urban community?

• Can any farmer afford urban sprawl? (i.e., increased school levies, property taxes and inflated property prices.)

• How should private property rights be balanced with the interest of the agricultural community in preserving farm and ranch land?

4. What the impact is of the changing demographics of American agriculture on the role of Farm Bureau relative to:

• Farm Bureau serving as the voice of agriculture; and

• Farm Bureau serving as a grassroots organization.

Farming In Maryland.....

Maryland Egg Production Reported By MDA

Maryland laying flocks produced 70 million eggs during February 1998, of which 63 million were table eggs and 7 million were hatching egg. The average rate of lay was 72.6%. The average number of layers on hand during February was 3,442,000. On March 1, 12% of layers in Maryland were being molted and 44% of all layers had been through a molt.

U.S. egg production totaled 6.07 billion during February 1998, up 3% from the 59.0 billion produced in 1997. Production included 5.12 billion table eggs and 950 million hatching-type eggs. Hatching eggs included 893 million from broiler-type flocks and 57.0 from egg-type flocks. The total number of layers during February averaged 312 million, up 3% from the average for February 1997. February egg production per layer was 19.5 eggs, compared to 19.4 a year earlier. On March 1, 4.4% of the layers in the U.S. were being molted and 21.2% of the rest had been through a molt.

U.S. Hog Inventory Up Eight Percent

U.S. inventory of all hogs and pigs on March 1, 1998, was 60.1 million head. This was 8% above March 1997, but 1% below Dec. 1, 1997. Breeding inventory, at 6.99 million head, was up 2% from March 1, 1997, and unchanged from Dec. 1, 1997. Market hog inventory, at 53.1 million head, was 8% above last year, but 2% below last quarter.

The December 1997-February 1998 U.S. pig crop, at 25.2 million head, was 8% more than 1997 and 9% more than 1996. Sows farrowing during this period totaled 2.90 million head, 7% above last year.

U.S. hog producers intend to have 3.04 million sows farrow during the March-May 1998 quarter, 3% above the actual farrowings during the same period in both 1997 and 1996. Intended farrowings for June-August 1998, at 3.00 million sows, are 1% above the same period last year and 9% above 1996.

The total number of hogs under contract, owned by operations with over 5,000 head, but raised by contractees, accounted for 26% of the total U.S. hog inventory.

All inventory and pig crop estimates for 1997 were reviewed using final pig crop, official slaughter, import, and export data in U.S. level balance sheets. Based on the findings of this review, the Sept. 1, 1997, inventory was revised up 1.3% and the Dec. 1, 1997, inventory up 1.7%. The 1997 June-August pig crop was revised up 2.3%.

Hired Workers & Wages 6% Above A Year Ago

There were 802,000 hired workers on the nation's farms and ranches during the week of January 11-17, 1998, up 6% from a year ago. There were 661,000 workers hired directly by farm operators. Agricultural service employees on farms and ranches made up the remaining 141,000 workers. Migrant workers accounted for 7.3% of the hired workforce, compared to 9.5% last year.

Farm operators paid their hired workers an average wage of $7.61 per hour during the January 1998 survey week, up 41 cents from a year earlier. Field workers received an average of $6.99 per hour, up 39 cents. Livestock workers earned $6.97 per hour compared with $6.52 a year earlier.

Soyfoods Directory Available To Interested Dieters

April is Soyfoods Month, and while most Americans realize they should increase their soy intake, few are sure exactly how. Soybean farmers aim to change that.

The U.S. 1998 Soyfoods Directory, chock-full of soyfoods facts, recipes, and sources, can help. Produced through the soybean checkoff, a farmer-funded program that funds soybean research, marketing and education, the directory is available by calling 1-800-TALK-SOY.

The directory also lists web sites such as www.soyfoods.com, where visitors can explore even more soy-related information and recipes. While soy is an ingredient in many foods already on our pantry shelves, Americans need to make a more concerted effort to eat at least a serving a day of soyfoods, experts say.

Changing shopping habits to include items such as soy oil, soy milk and tofu is the first step. These items are readily available at most supermarkets and can fit easily into recipes most Americans already know by heart.

Soy oil, which is typically labeled "vegetable oil," is odorless and tasteless and allows the flavor of fried foods to shine through. And, with a high smoking point, soy oil can fry foods at hotter temperatures without filling the kitchen with smoke.

Soy milk, which is available plain or flavored, can be poured over the morning cereal or substituted for dairy in most recipes. Often sold in aseptic containers, unopened soy milk lasts for months at room temperature and is good to have in the pantry for those times when the milk runs out. Opened soy milk containers should be refrigerated and used within a week.

Tofu—perhaps the most maligned soyfood for its bland taste and creamy texture—is actually quite versatile for those same reasons. Tofu packs great nutritional value into small servings and, because it's mildly flavored, can be used as a substitute for similar foods, such as cottage cheese, ricotta, or sour cream, which have less favorable nutritional profiles. Depending on your tastes, try substituting half or more of sour cream in your favorite dip recipe with tofu for a guilt free chip dip.

The soybean checkoff is administered in Maryland by the Maryland Soybean Board. Under the congressionally mandated program, farmers contribute 50 cents of every $100 of their soybean sales to fund research, education and market development projects in their home states, in the nation and across the globe.

Small Grains Maturing Ahead Of Schedule

Small grains are maturing ahead of schedule as 10% of the winter wheat and barley crops have headed, compared to zero percent for the five year average. Winter wheat condition was reported as 2% very poor, 5% poor, 12% fair, 63% good and 18% excellent. Barley condition was 1% very poor, 1% poor, 9% fair, 73% good and 16% excellent. Rye condition was 2% very poor, 2% poor, 13% fair, 72% good and 11% excellent. Field corn planting made a slight increase of four points from last week but was behind the previous year.

Potato planting made a sharp increase as 80% has been planted. Potato planting was a little behind the previous year average of 89% but well ahead of the five year average of 41%. Green pea planting continued to make progress from last week but was behind the previous year average and five-year average. Tomato, cantaloupe and watermelon planting began this last week as 5% of both crops have been reported as planted.

Pasture condition was 1% very poor, 3% poor, 11% fair, 67 percent good and 18% excellent. Hay supplies were rated as 25% very short, 37% short, 37% adequate, and 1% surplus. Apples and peaches that have bloomed continued to run ahead of the five-year average. Strawberries were blooming right o schedule as compared to the five-year average but behind the previous year.

Topsoil moisture was 68% adequate and 32% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 71% adequate and 29% surplus. There was an average of 3.9 days suitable for fieldwork for the week ending on April 12.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended April 12, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the five-year average, in that order, was:

Planting progress: field corn 6, 2, 7, 3; potatoes 80, 21, 89, 41; sweet corn 11, 2, 8, 6; green peas 30, 27, 60, 41; tomatoes 10, 0, 3, 1; cantaloupe 5, 0, 0, 0; watermelons 5, 0, 0, 0. Fruit crops blooming: apples 44, 14, 31, 10; peaches 76, 32, 40, 21; strawberries 13, 8, 22, and 14.

Feeder Pig Sale Planned By GCC AG Club

The Garrett Community College Agriculture Club is sponsoring the Third Annual Feeder Pig Sale April 24 at the Garrett County Fair Grounds at 6:30 p.m. This year's sale will feature around 60 feeder pigs weighing about 30-50 pounds.

Consigning pigs to this year's sale are Homer Slabaugh from Oakland; Steve Ernst from Clear-spring; and the University of Maryland.

All the pigs are from certified pseudorabies-free herds and Dr. Jim Fearer with the Maryland Department of Agriculture will be on hand to handle interstate shipping certificates.

The GCC Agriculture Club hopes this sale will give local 4-H and FFA members a convenient way to purchase their feeder pigs for this year's fair. Anyone with questions may call Willie Lantz at 301-387-3021.

Farmers Receive Mixed Prices

Prices received by local farm operators were mixed but mostly down. Wheat, corn, soybeans and hay prices were down, barley up, and oats unchanged. Livestock prices were also mixed, with hogs, chickens and beef cattle up, while calves and milk were down, and broilers were up.

Local Girl Attends National "Make It Yourself With Wool" Contest

by Bernice Kepple

In this busy world, our time is so valuable that everything we do must serve as many purposes as possible. Sarah Pysell believes this adage and proved it by making her 4-H sewing project serve many purposes for her this past year.

Sarah, who lives near Deer Park, is the 14-year-old daughter of Darvin and Louise Pysell. She is a member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, and has carried the sewing project for five years. Because sheep and market lambs are also 4-H projects Sarah carries, she has a special interest in wool and decided to use that as the fabric for her 1997 sewing project, a fully-lined coat.

"Sarah used her sewing project coat in the Garrett County Fair Fashion Review, indoor entries, and in the Sheep Lead Contest all prior to entering the Make It Yourself With Wool Contest," said Alice Hevner, Garrett County Extension agent for 4-H and youth. "This contest is not a 4-H activity, it's a national contest, and it shows how Sarah tied two of her 4-H activities (sheep and sewing projects) together as kind of a 'blended project' and used the outfit she made for a number of events."

With her completed coat, Sarah won a blue ribbon and Best of Show at the 1997 Garrett County Fair, as well as Grand Champion for Lead Line, where the 4-H member leads his or her 4-H lamb or sheep while wearing the woolen outfit that member made.

Because Sarah's coat was made from fabric that was at least 60 percent wool, she was eligible to enter the Regional Make It Yourself With Wool Contest in Preston County, W.Va. Country Kids 4-H Club leader Debbie Barnard says that entering that contest is kind of a club tradition. Her daughter Jennifer won the regional contest and went on to the national contest in Las Angeles, Calif., one year, and Sandy DeWitt won the regional contest in the adult division one year. "This is something our kids can do, especially if they're making a wool outfit anyway," she said.

"Sarah, who has been sewing since she was 9 or 10, is a valuable member of our club. She serves as treasurer and is also a junior leader this year. She is always willing to help do anything, does it very willingly all of the time, and I was glad to see her advance to the national contest," she added.

Pat Pinnell, the West Virginia director of the Regional Make It Yourself With Wool Contest for the last seven years, said that Sarah was "one of the most excited young ladies ever to be taken to the national contest."

There are four categories in the contest: Pre-teen for ages 12 and under; Junior for ages 13-16; Senior for ages 17-24; and Adult for ages 25 and over. All entries must be made from loomed, knitted or felted fabric or yarn of 100 percent wool or a minimum of 60 percent wool and not more than 40 percent synthetic fibers. Each contestant's fabric is professionally tested to ensure a 60 percent wool content.

Sarah's coat won first place in the regional contest and she went on to the national contest in Reno, Nev. this January. The contest was Jan. 20 to 24, and Pinnell with Sarah in tow left Tuesday and came back on Sunday. "This was my first plane flight," Sarah said, "and I enjoyed it very much!"

Pinnell said that Sarah considered the trip a real learning opportunity. "She wasn't a child who would be disappointed if she didn't win. She wanted to go, to take it all in and learn. She had such a good attitude and such enthusiasm. She had never flown before and had the opportunity to be in a large airport. It was just a great learning experience for her."

"The trip was a lot of fun," Sarah said. "I met a lot of people and saw a lot of different clothing styles." She competed against 30 teens in her category, and the total number of competitors were 62 girls and one boy.

Pinnell said Sarah thoroughly enjoyed meeting all the girls and came back with ideas she could incorporate into her future projects and share with other club members. "Sarah is a real ambassador for sewing and the wool industry," she said. Pinnell explained that not every person can sew with wool. "It's very expensive fabric, and people don't often sew with wool because of this expense. It is especially hard to give a young person a piece of wool fabric to learn with because of the cost," she added.

Sarah didn't place in the top 13 at the national contest in Reno, but she did win a three-yard piece of 100 percent Pendelton woolen material, her all-expense-paid trip to Reno, a sewing manual, and lots of modeling tips and many new friends.

Pinnell explained that the all-expense-paid trip to the national contest is for teen competitors only—the pre-teens do not go to national, and adults do not go to national. She said there is room for a lot of participation at the regional level, and she'd like to see more young people get involved. This year's regional contest will be held on October 3, and the national contest will be held in Denver, Colo., in January 1999. She invites anyone interested in the contest to call her at 304-457-1103.

Sarah's mother Louise said that in an effort to get other community organizations involved she was able to encourage the Deer Park Sportmen's Club to donate $100 toward Sarah's trip expenses.

While in Reno, Sarah was able to enjoy some sightseeing in the Serra Nevada Mountains and the location where the TV show Bonanza was filmed. She saw a Brenda Lee concert, and was driven just far enough into California to say she was there. (Sarah says, "Don't buy gas in California. It's $3 a gallon!") She also had the opportunity to work with a professional choreographer while all the contestants practiced doing a routine in high heels.

Sarah carries a number of other 4-H projects such as market beef, swine, lamb, breeding sheep, crafts and hobbies, sewing, fashion review, food and nutrition, public speaking and quiz bowl. She is a member of the teen council and is a Teen Challenge member. As an eighth-grade student at Southern Middle School, she works with the Service Learning Scrapbook. She and her brother Arthur raise 22 sheep, 32 lambs, 2 steers, 2 pigs and a cat on the family farm.

The experience made such an impact on Sarah that she has made definite plans to compete again next year. "I want to go to Colorado!" she said.

Maryland Wool Production Up Two Percent

Wool production for Maryland during 1997 totaled 165,000 pounds, up 2% from the 1996 production of 161,000 pounds. An increase of 1,000 head shorn more than offset the 0.1 pound reduction in fleece weight. Sheep shorn for wool at 25,000 head increased 1,000 head and the average fleece weight was 6.6 pounds. The 1997 wool price increased 19 cents from last year's 49 cents per pound. The value of Maryland's 1997 wool production was $112,000, an increase of 42% from the $79,000 for the 1997 wool value.

Shorn wool production in the United States during 1997 was 53.9 million pounds, down 5% from 1996. Sheep and lambs shorn totaled 7.03 million head, a decrease of 3% from 1996. The average price paid for wool sold in 1997 was $0.84 per pound for a total value of $45.2 million, up 14% from $39.7 million in 1996.

ATTENTION VETERANS

Do you belong to the American Legion?

PROCTOR KILDOW POST 071 NEEDS YOU AND YOU NEED PROCTOR KILDOW POST 071

We are now actively recruiting new members in an effort to become a "THREE STAR" Post. This means we must exceed our previous year's membership.

Recently we recruited veterans who had never belonged to The American Legion before, because they had never been asked.

Since it is impossible to contact all veterans individually, we are using this ad to ask every eligible veteran to join Post 071. All that is needed to qualify is your discharge from the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, showing honorable service during one of the following periods:

WORLD WAR I
April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918

WORLD WAR II
December 7, 1941, to December 31, 1946

KOREAN WAR
June 25, 1950, to January 31, 1955

VIETNAM WAR
February 28, 1961 to May 7, 1975

LEBANON AND GRENADA
August 24, 1982 to July 31, 1984

PANAMA
December 20, 1989 to January 31, 1990

PERSIAN GULF
August 2, 1990, to cessation of hostilities as determined by the United States Government. (That date has not yet been determined.)

Annual dues are only $20 and this includes the price of subscription to the American Legion magazine, which is published monthly and carries great articles of interest to veterans and their families.

Your membership entitles you to many other great benefits. Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m.

Update on Late Blight on Tomatoes

Last season late blight wiped out most of the tomatoes in our area. Quadris 2F is a new fungicide labeled for tomatoes for control of late and early blight, leaf spots, alternaria, anthracnose, and soil rots. According to Dr. Kate Everts, plant pathologist, University of Maryland, Quadris 2F is very effective for control of late blight. Quadris is only labeled to be applied in rotational spray treatments with Bravo, Manzate 200 (mancozeb) or Terranil 6L. Sequential applications of Quadris should be avoided to delay disease resistance development. Quadris labels for other vegetable crops are still pending. Remember that late blight is a prevention problem; therefore, spray must be applied every seven days from transplanting.

Requirements for Advertising and Selling Organic Crops

More growers are becoming more interested in organic crop production. To advertise and sell organic labeled food products in Maryland a grower must be certified organic and participate in the Maryland Organic Certification Program. If you are interested in becoming a certified organic grower, contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture at 410-841-5770.

Pests Favored by the Mild Winter

This past winter has been one of the warmest on record, especially the months of January and February, and many of you are wondering how this weather will affect pests. Generally speaking, those insects that overwinter as immature or adults in above-ground protected areas will be favored, especially if they are not the cold-hardy type and normally suffer high levels of mortality during the winter. Those insects that may be active earlier and at higher than normal levels include flea beetles, cucumber beetles, certain species of aphids, leafhoppers and cutworms. Also, slugs have been active throughout the winter and lots of overwintered eggs could be present in many fields this spring when corn is planted. On the other hand, mild winter conditions also favor many beneficial insects such as lady beetles, predacious bugs, etc. Although average temperatures were higher than normal, the past winter was very wet and soils were saturated for extended periods of time. This condition can be detrimental to those insects that overwinter as larvae or pupae in the soil or on the soil surface. Water-logged soils will eventually asphyxiate insect stages or expose them to fungal diseases in wet soils during the winter. Insects such as the corn earworm overwinter in pupal cells and usually experience high mortality if the ground is saturated. Even the hardy Colorado Potato Beetles are subject to fungal diseases in wet soils during the winter. So, in summary, the mild winter may be a blessing for certain pests, but not others. Also, experience tells us that the spring weather conditions, especially during May when insects are emerging and laying eggs, are just as important and can completely nullify an unusually high overwintered population of a pest.

Family Activity Contest for Youth

The Parent Network announces a Family Activity contest for Garrett County area youth. The purpose of the contest is to promote positive parenting practices, and parent-child interaction. Individuals in grades 9 - 12 and/or youth clubs, groups, and organizations are asked to design a parenting activity and to submit a budget for up to $1,000 to implement their program. Prizes will be awarded to the top three contestants.

Contestants are asked to design a program or activity for a group of families addressing one or more of the following areas: promote positive family interaction; promote warmth, acceptance, respect and security within families; promote parental leadership; and encourage parents to be positive role models.

Funding can be used to pay for parenting program materials, instructor stipends, child care, transportation, refreshments, advertising, printing and postage, etc. Funding in the past for adult recipients has been provided for an Internet class for parents and children; a weekend family retreat for a church group; a parenting support group for families of children with ADD; and a Safety Safari Workshop.

Please contact the Office for Children, Youth and Families, 301-334-1189, for an application. Also, members of the Parent Network are available to speak to area youth groups, clubs and organizations to explain the Mini Grant program and to offer technical assistance with the grant application.

The Family Activity contest for youth is made possible through a Maryland Child Abuse Trust Fund grant that was awarded to the Garrett County Local Management Board. The purpose of the grant, the Personal Safety Initiative, is to prevent child abuse through a wide range of community activities.

The deadline for applications is May 15, 1998.

Soy Diesel Ketch "Beyond" Heads For Puerto Rico

by Susanne Hammond, Maryland Soybean Board

Anyone who has ever experienced a house fire can understand the damage from even the smallest fire is multiplied tenfold by the damage from smoke and water.

Just imagine if nearly half of your house was smoldering or aflame—and your "home" was a boat.

That's about the situation Jim MacNeil and Rebecca Payne found Sept. 27 in the sleepy Dominican port of Luperon when they returned home from dinner in town to find a yowling cat and a cabin full of menacing black smoke on their 41-foot ketch, Beyond.

The Maryland sailors have been cruising on Beyond since November 1996 in a combination pleasure tour of the Caribbean and promotional project for soybean-based biodiesel fuel. The Maryland Soybean Board, which administers soybean checkoff funds, and NOPEC Corp., a Lakeland, Fla.-based biodiesel manufacturer, are co-sponsoring the promotion.

It may be that biodiesel helped save the boat. While no one knows for sure exactly what happened, it is thought that a lightning strike sent a powerful charge down the mast, blasting the electrical system and starting a smoldering fire in the port side. The proximity of the fire to the boat's fuel tanks threatened an explosion—150 gallons of diesel would have spelled the end of Beyond for good. But one of biodiesel's advantages for boaters is reduced volatility. It is combustible, not flammable, and the recommended 20 percent mix of biodiesel with petrodiesel in the tanks certainly raised the fuel's flashpoint and may have prevented an explosion.

Fellow sailors and locals raced to the rescue the night of the fire, eventually abandoning fire extinguishers in favor of a massive water pump and virtually flooding the boat to quench the fire.

In the wee hours of the morning, an exhausted Jim and Rebecca were pulled off Beyond and given sanctuary for the remainder of the night. Other sailors stood guard against flareups or looters. The next day, MacNeil returned to his "home" of nine years, a graceful CT ketch more than 20 years old which he had lovingly restored.

"The salvage effort was difficult. I was not sure where to start," MacNeil says. "There was wreckage all over the deck. Broken glass was strewn throughout the cabin. A book had floated into a mound of soggy catfood. A computer lay on its side, draining saltwater. Next to it lay the television, face down in a puddle. Navigational electronics and radios were melted and charred, barely recognizable. A few "wireless" microphones hung in the nav station, their cables melted or burned away."

He felt as you might imagine: "When allowed to pause long enough to consider my predicament, I found myself paralyzed, depressed, and indecisive," he explains. And, while he had scrimped and saved for years to take this cruise, it occurred to him that this might be the end. Payne, on the other hand, was not ready to give up. "All you need, Boy, is a radio, a depth sounder, and a way to get weather, and we're going to keep on sailing!" she told him.

As word spread throughout the anchorage, help began arriving. John Womack of Kismet from Houston, Texas, had been through a fire before and knew what to do. It would be a massive undertaking, removing everything that could be unbolted, unscrewed, or dismounted from the boat, thoroughly scrubbing it all and only then replacing the contents. Don Chatman of the Mary Margaret from Cleveland, Ohio, arranged slip space at nearby Marina Puerto Blanco, free of charge thanks to the kind owner, Lenin Hernandez.

Next, despite MacNeil's reluctance to move the boat, it was up-anchor and away under tow to the marina. There, an army of volunteers took over, as if "they knew the plan before I did," MacNeil recounts. "There were people all over my boat, removing doors, books, clothing, shelves, and carrying the entire contents of my boat down the dock, where another crew was waiting with buckets and cleaning agents. "Books were gone through page by page. Pots and pans were scrubbed. Tools were wiped dry and sprayed with oil. Charts were cleaned and hung on the laundry line. Saltwater-laden seat cushions were put in tubs of clean water and stomped, like grapes, until clean. We hosed the boat from the top down, scrubbing everything. The soot, smoke stains, dry chemical residue, and 'high tide mark' inside the cabin began to disappear."

To keep MacNeil from dwelling on the misfortune, Payne, Chatman, and Gerry DeVane of Grayling from Boca Raton, Fla., kept him focused on tasks. Still a little cloudy, he found himself sawing out burned joinery, grinding away charred fiberglass, painting away burn marks and, at one point, bypassing the toasted alternator by rigging a system to charge Beyond's batteries, using different wattage light bulbs to control the alternator's field voltage and rate of charge. By mid-January, after a holiday trip home to find electronics and visit friends and family, MacNeil and Payne were refreshed and closer than ever to getting back under sail.

This tiny anchorage, on the north coast of the Dominican Republic, will never be forgotten. Certainly not because of the fire, but just as certainly so for the outpouring of support from the gracious locals who saved the boat from destruction and then unselfishly volunteered the time and resources for repairs, and similarly from the fellow sailors from ports of call all over the United States who helped two Maryland sailors and their cat pick up, clean up, and start again.

MacNeil is, just as certainly, changed forever, but his infectious good humor remains intact. Since the fire, he and Payne have become good friends with a local colmado owner, Thomas. The friendship started when MacNeil became addicted to Cafe Fela's light, coconutty cake, sold by the slice from the wooden counter of the lime green shack on the corner that slouches, like every shack in Luperon, in a laid-back fashion so typical of island life and in clear defiance of architecture and physics. The friendship cemented when they realized Thomas' son helped them restore the boat in the weeks following the fire.

"While I am getting excited about moving on," MacNeil says, "I will miss this place, where you can buy chicken with the feet still attached, at a tiny colmado made of sticks and branches, while Fernando (a Dominican singing sensation) and merenge blares from four-foot-high speakers, causing my helps to gyrate uncontrollably as I drink a one-peso bag of water. The Dominican Republic has exceeded the wildest expectations I ever could have imagined."

Next stop for the biodiesel adventurers will be Puerto Rico.

Philadelphia druggist Robert M. Green accidentally invented the ice cream soda in 1874 when he dropped a scoop os ice cream into a glass of soda water.

Milk is the most important food source of calcium, providing around 300 mg per one-cup serving. Milk's importance rests on the fact that it lends itself to daily consumption. The body's need for calcium is ongoing -- not only during growing years when bones are forming, but throughout life to help keep bones solid and strong.

Spring Dinner Set At TA FUMC

The United Methodist Women's organization of the Terra Alta First United Methodist Church is hosting a spring dinner from 5 until 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 30, in the church's fellowship hall.

The menu includes turkey, ham, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, green beans, corn, Jell-O salad, dessert, and beverage. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children.

The public is welcome to attend.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

RAMP DINNER AT MT. GROVE

A ramp dinner will be served from noon until 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 19, at the Mt. Grove Memorial Building. Adults' dinners will be $5, and those for children 6-12 years will cost $2.50. Proceeds go toward maintenance of building and grounds.

SMORGASBORD

The annual spring smorgasbord is set for Saturday, April 18, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Dinners will be served from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. and donations are $6.00 for adults and $3 for children 6-12. The Loyalty Sunday School Class is sponsor of this annual event.

AVFD RAMP DINNER

An annual ramp dinner sponsored by the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will be served at the fire hall on April 26, beginning at noon. Adult dinner donations are $5, and children under 12 years will pay $2.50.

J.A.M. CONCERT

This Saturday evening, April 18, the J.A.M. (Jesus and Me) gospel group will present a concert of country, bluegrass, rhythm and blues, contemporary, and southern gospel music at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Horse Shoe Run, at 7 p.m. The group will also be present for the Sunday morning worship service at Maple Grove at 10:30 a.m. Everyone is invited to come to either or both services.

AUTHORS AT AURORA

Marc Harshman, a nationally known author of children's books, will be present for the April 23 PTO meeting at Aurora School. Raised in Indiana, Harshman has lived his adult life in West Virginia where he taught fifth and sixth grades at Sand Hill School, a 1995 School of Excellence, and one of the last three-room country schools.

He authored Only One, a Reading Rainbow selection, and The Storm, his latest title, is a Junior Library Guild selection. Harshman also has awards from Smithsonian, Children's Book Council, and was a 1995 Parent's Choice Award recipient. He holds degrees from Bethany College, Yale University, and the University of Pittsburgh. He was named WV English Teacher of the Year in 1995.

Also present will be Phyliss Ferguson from Washington state. She is a classroom teacher, recording artist, author, and mother, and she has also been in Preston County recently. Learning disabled as a child, she believes that "people who read succeed."

The time of the meeting will be from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. at the Aurora School. There will be refreshments and prizes. All are welcome to attend.

MT. TOP CRUISERS

The Mountaintop Cruisers plan to meet this Saturday, April 18, at the Farmer's Wildlife Club for an afternoon of fun beginning at 2:30 p.m. There will be games, door prizes, cake walks, 50-50 drawings and practice judging.

Supper begins at 5:30 p.m., with the club providing hamburgers, hot dogs, and buns. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish, eating utensils, and non-alcoholic beverages.

A business meeting will follow supper at 7 p.m. New members may join at this time. The Farmer's Wildlife Club is located past the Coastal mill at Horse Shoe Run, just off Rt. 24.

QUILTING

Quilting has resumed at the Union Ambulance Squad Hall and quilters will be welcomed on Tuesday morning at 9 a.m., Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m., or on Wednesday at 1 p.m. The quilt now in the frames is one being prepared for raffle.

FELLOWSHIP DAY

The Church Women United will meet for May Fellowship Day celebration at the Stemple Ridge Church on May 1. The covered dish luncheon is at noon, with the host church providing bread, beverage, and tableware. The program is at 1 p.m. on the theme "Widening Our Circle of Hospitality," and the group welcomes everyone to either or both services — hospitality is a practice. An offering for Fellowship of the Least Coin, a "penny a pray," for women in other lands will be accepted.

KNOTTS-WINTER RECEPTION SET

Following the private wedding of Grace Knotts of Crellin to Gerald Winter of Fairmont on April 25, their children invite all friends and relatives to a reception in the couple's honor to be held on Sunday, April 26, at 2 p.m., at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. They request that there be no gifts.

AURORA PIONEERS

Kaylen Fike, reporter for the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club, announces that the club is selling coupon books with $35 in coupons for $5 to benefit a fund to build handicapped accessible bathhouse additions at the Preston County 4-H Camp. Most of these coupons are for eating establishments.

The Aurora Pioneers held their April 5 meeting in the home of Stacy Fint, with Kendra Durst leading the opening song, "Alive, Alert, Awake, Enthusiastic." The American pledge was led by Meghan Durst, with Scott Kelly leading the 4-H pledge. Devotions were presented by Tina Fint, reading "Matical Town of Upside Town", Kimberly Fike reading a passage from Matthew 7, and Rebecca Fint, who read "Snowball."

A report from County 4-H Day resulted in Rebecca Fint and Travis Mersing both winning blue ribbons with their visual presentations. Both will now participate in State 4-H Days in June. Nicole Brittner also received a blue ribbon for her visual presentation, and Kimberly Fike, a blue ribbon in public speaking.

A letter of thanks from the Rape and Domestic Violence organization was read, thanking the club for its recent donation, and special recognition was received from Barry's Office Supply.

Members of the committee to plan for 4-H Field Day will meet April 19 to make plans for the June 13 county event. Teen leaders will meet the same day to clean first the Beachy Cemetery, then the Trotter Park. Anyone interested in attending the 4-H Forestry Camp is instructed to contact the county extension office for an application.

Events announced were an IFYE program on May 11, Relay for Life at Firemen's Field on June 20, and 4-H Day at Kennywood is June 29 and cost is $12.50 per person.

Project talks were given by Kimberly Fike on Teen Leadership; by Travis Mersing on "How to Train a Perfect Pooch"; Rebecca Fint on "How to Prepare a Teen Leader Scrapbook"; and by Meghan Kelly, "How to Make Dessert Pizza."

A tip from Shannon Burner concerned using dryer lint, which is to be placed into a mesh bag along with pieces of string or ribbon and hung outdoors for birds to use in making nests.

The game "Ronald Fonald" was used to close the meeting.

BIRTHDAYS

Two Eglon men are celebrating birthdays this week. Artenis Harsh will observe his 89th birthday on April 16, and cards may be addressed to P.O. Box 95, Eglon, WV 26716. Homer Fike observes his 97th birthday on April 17, and his address is P.O. Box 44 at Eglon.

EGLON HOMEMAKERS

Eglon Homemakers met Tuesday, April 7 in the home of Lectie Bonner. Avenell Parsons, Sandra Hauser and Mary Rembold provided a luncheon. Following that, a short business meeting preceded the afternoon's funtime. Roll call was answered with remembrance of a special Easter. Nina Layman used the Upper Room for her devotions about friendship. May 5 is the date of the next meeting, with guest Opal Myers bringing the study. The business session ended with a reading of Bible School Bloopers taken from the Farm Show paper, relating children's statements from vacation Bible schools. The hostesses provided candy eggs to be decorated, and hard-boiled eggs to be colored and decorated. In addition to those already named, others present were Rebecca Teets, Linda Lewis and Caitlin Norwish, and Jean Winters.

CHANGE NOTED

The May Fellowship Day celebration on May 1 will he held in the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building, rather than the Stemple Ridge Church, because of the remodeling in progress at Stemple Ridge. Stemple Ridge will remain as the host for the day in the celebration of "Widening Our Circle of Hospitality."

YOUTH LEAGUE SPONSORS GAMES

On April 24 there will be two games played at the Aurora School gym, one at 6 p.m. between the Farmers and Loggers, and the other at 7 p.m. between the Mt. Grove VFD and the Aurora VFD. On Saturday evening, April 25, the basketball begins at 5 p.m., with the Friday losers playing at 6 p.m., and the women's game 7 p.m. The Friday night winners mix it up to determine the champions.

Adult admission is $1 and students pay 50 cents. Proceeds go to the youth league. There will be refreshments for sale also.

PERSONAL MENTION

Doris Denison of North Palm Beach, Fla., visited last Wednesday to Monday with her mother, Maxine Hauser, Aurora. They had Easter dinner with Kitty Myers, where the other guests were Wicky and Jodi Myers and their two sons, Ricky and Kelly Myers, and Don Beckman. On Sunday evening they went to the home of Scott and Dean Sisler, where all of the family had a picnic.

Izetta Martin accompanied Louella Fike on a Sunday visit to Belington with Mrs. Fike's son, Norman Fike, and friend Carolyn. Norman's daughter, Becky Fike, Terra Alta, has been spending the Easter vacation with her father.

Wilma Jenkins returned last week to her home in Aurora from Garrett Memorial Hospital.

John Shillingburg of Aurora was a recent surgical patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Easter guests of Terry, Jackie, and Jonathon Blamble and Shelly Smith, Aurora, were Hazel and Irma Blamble, Everett and Shirley Blamble, Sandra Amos and children, Martha Cramer, Jack Shaffer, Brittany Rosenburger, George and Donna Landis and five children, Francis and Chuck McCarty and seven children, Adam Blamble, and Stephanie and Dave Hardesty.

Sunday holiday guests of Maynard and Bonnylin Lantz, Aurora, were their children: Kirk, Anita, Ben, and Becky Lantz, and Mark, Chris, Bethany, Josh, and Jordan Lantz, all Aurora; and Charlie, Julie, and Ryan Adams, and Sherrie and Scott Weeks, all Oakland. Brian and Jeremy Lantz are both employed in Statesville, N.C., and unable to be home this week.

Theta Roth Maxey underwent surgery at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and her son, Robert Maxey of Clinton, Md., his wife Ruth, and daughter Karen were all here during the time of her surgery and homecoming for recuperation. They also all visited with Ruth's parents, Charles and Audra Teets, her sister and brother-in-law, Ellen and Marvin Harsh, and her brother Curt, who resides with his parents near Eglon.

Keith and Delores Douglas returned to Aurora last week from a vacation in Hawaii. Mrs. Douglas reportedly became ill while there and is still recuperating. They were accompanied in Hawaii by their daughter and son-in-law, Lisa and David Smith, Cleveland, OH.

Ruth Teets was able to return last Wednesday to her Eglon home from Ruby Memorial Hospital. Accompanying her son, Bradley Teets, on his visit was Bradley's wife Robin. They took their father, Roscoe Teets, to Morgantown the day of their visit.

Jerry, Barbara, and Devin Hauser of Cash Valley, and Terry, Jill, and Andrew Hauser of Eglon were recent visitors with Alan and Mary Teets at Springfield, Va.

Visiting at Easter with Terry, Jill, and Andrew Hauser were her parents, Sam Masters and Patricia Masters of Organ Cave, and her sisters, Stephanie Masters of Newport News, Va., and Nancy, Michael and Silas Wade of Summersville.

Nicole Teets and her brother, Nathan Teets, Greensboro, N.C., are visiting with their parents, Leland and Sandy Teets, at Eglon and with their other local relatives.

Harold Lewis of Terra Alta and Elbert "Al" Lewis of Aurora visited in Atlanta, Ga., with Lynn and Charlene Woodall.

Easter Sunday dinner guests in the home of Jessie Winters, Eglon were Neil and Bonnie Winters, Hutton; Kevin Winters and friend Carrie, Scott Winters, and Henry, Kim, Kaylie and Brittany Hostutler, all Oakland; David, Lois, and Aaron Layman, Eglon; Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora; Larry, Rhonda and Ryan Channel, and Christopher Channel, all Hutton; and a friend, Missy Skipper, Aurora.

Eileen Rembold of Pittsburgh was an Easter weekend visitor at Eglon and Horse Shoe Run with her son and family, Bruce, Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold, and her sister and brother-in-law, Wilma Mae and David Teets, Horse Shoe Run.

Paul Stemple of Aurora went to Wilkins to spend Easter with his son Steve.

Easter Sunday dinner guests of Wilda Stemple at Aurora were all of her children: Eugene, Linda, Adam, and Travis Wilt, Rowlesburg; Beverly Whetstone of Arthur; Tom, Kathy, Jeff, and Jennifer Barr, St. George; Dan, Martha, Rachel, and Joshua Poling of Parsons; and Steven and Rose Wilt, Jeanette, Shannon and Stormie of Eglon.

Iris Myers of Aurora was an Easter weekend visitor in Marlinton with her son and family, Charlie and Diane Myers, and children.

Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis of Eglon spent Thursday to Monday in Virginia Beach, Va., visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Julie and Gary Baker. Staying at their home this weekend was another daughter, Emily Lewis of South Charleston, who also visited with her grandparents and aunt and uncle.

Visiting with Ron and Avenell Parsons on Saturday evening were Carlton and Jean Skipper of Kingwood, their son, Brent Skipper, and his two sons, Brandon and Brady. Sunday visitors there were Bill, Sandra, Wade, Joe, and Beth Hauser, Chad Bishop, Gary, Fran, Jason and Lauren Roth, Elizabeth Loughrie, and Bruce, Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold.

Coldwell Banker Agency Welcomes Brenneman-Roby

Lana Brenneman-Roby has affiliated with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty as an associate broker, according to Robert Huebner, broker and co-owner of the agency. "We are delighted that Lana has chosen to join our company," stated Huebner. "She has demonstrated absolute professionalism throughout her career, joined with a deep level of personal concern for her clients and customers, which are characteristics that we value highly."

Roby was licensed as a real estate salesperson in 1985. She has been recognized for real estate sales and listing achievement every year since 1988, and was the top sales agent in her office in 1996 and 1997. In 1997 she completed licensing and testing requirements to upgrade her Maryland salespersons license to associate broker. She has been an active member of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, serving as treasurer and on the Membership, Program, and Professional Standards committees.

When asked what characterizes her approach to the real estate business, Roby responded, "I tell my listing clients that I am willing to go beyond average service, to do whatever it takes (within legal bounds of course) to get their property sold. I'm interested in offering the best service available, so that we can have a life-long real estate relationship. I am also able to offer the services of my husband Larry, who works as my unlicensed assistant. With two of us in the office I can focus my attention on my customers and clients without being spread thin."

Roby has taken many courses of study, in addition to the normally required real estate continuing education credits, in order to improve her business skills. These classes include "Teamwork, Personality Insights, and Building Relationships" with Robert A. Rohm, Ph.D., "Goal Setting and Time Management for the 90s" with Zig Ziglar, the Dale Carnegie Course in Effective Speaking and Human Relations, and Floyd Wickman's Star Development Program, an intensive 13-week course in real estate skills development.

Roby has been active in various organizations within the community, including Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, where she is a member and church council representative. She collects and recycles aluminum can tabs for donation to needy and charitable causes. She is a co-owner, with her husband Larry, of "Rent-A-Chef," a food service business. Her interests include music, meeting people, travel, photography, reading, swimming, dancing, and interior decorating. She lives with her husband on Mosser Road in McHenry.

Roby can be reached at Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, located in the McHenry Plaza on Garrett Highway, in McHenry.

DISSECTING PIG LUNGS was a learning exercise in the fifth grade health studies class at Accident Elementary School. Directing the experiment was school nurse Sharon Bogard. The students identified the different parts of the lungs and traced the passage of air through the respiratory system. Wearing protective gloves, they cut into the lungs with scissors and located trachea, lobes, bronchi, and bronchioles. The students were able to use straws to inflate the lung sections in order to visualize the expansion and contraction.

Bloodmobile Nets 42 Units During Friday Collection

The American Red Cross bloodmobile welcomed donors last Friday at the fire hall in Friendsville and, according to Esther Benedict, coordinator, collected 42 units of blood.

There was one first-time donor, and the following reached gallon milestones: Harvey Kolb, Barry Frazee, Dennis Niner, and Wendy Frantz, one gallon; Kelli Bittinger, two gallons; and David Higdon, seven gallons.

Volunteers assisting with the visit, besides Mrs. Benedict, were Kay Perry, Jason Perry, Josy Fike, and Belinda Benedict.

Services Info Available For Crime Victims

Information on services and assistance for victims of violent crime will be available at the Town Hall, Grantsville, Friday, April 17, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Representatives from the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center, the Garrett County Department of Social Services, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, the Office of Parole and Probation, and the State's Attorney's Office will be in the town office to talk with anyone who is interested in getting information or discussing problems resulting from violent crimes.

Organized by Carolyn Hegeman, the victim/witness coordinator for the State's Attorney's Office, this outreach effort offers support and information to any member of the community who would like to learn more about responding to violence against persons.

Violent crimes may be perpetrated by relatives or some other person within the household, as well as committed by strangers. Persons who suspect that someone they know may be subject to violent treatment are also welcome to stop by and pickup information on behalf of others.

This monthly program is sponsored by the HotSpot Community Outreach.

In Memory Of Ellis "Chop" Cogley
on April 17

Another year has come and gone.
My, how time does fly.
I think of all that we have missed,
and then I ask God, "Why?"
I miss your laughter, your zest for life,
our long talks on the phone.
Sometimes I pretend you still call,
although I talk alone.
And when it's time to hang up, our talk is through,
I still can hear you say, "I love you, Mom."
"I know, Son, cause I love you too."
You're in the garden of memories now,
a place of rest and peace.
The precious memories you left me will never, ever cease.

Forever loved and missed.

NEWS from
THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

SAFE DEBRIS BURNING

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forest Service, in cooperation with the Garrett County Health Department and the Garrett County Emergency Management Office, would like to remind people that spring is traditionally a time of high forest fire danger in Maryland. Garrett County Emergency Management received 37 natural fuels or woods fire calls in 1997. These fires burned 15 acres.

Typically, spring is the time of the year when many property owners are conducting outdoor burning of leaves and other debris. Unfortunately, many people do not burn safely, resulting in wildfires. Sixty-five percent of the natural fuels fires in Garrett County were caused by unsafe debris burning, and 55 percent of these fires occurred on Thursday or Friday.

In order to prevent wildfires from occurring and causing destruction to private homes and woodlands, the state of Maryland has established open-air burning regulations. These regulations apply to activities in woodlands and within 200 feet of woodlands, or activities adjacent to or within an area where flammable materials could ignite and carry fire to woodlands. These regulations are:

1) A natural or constructed fire break at least 10 feet wide must completely surround the material to be burned.

2) Adequate personnel and equipment must be present to prevent the fire from escaping.

3) At least one responsible person must remain at the burning location until the last spark is out.

4) Permissible burning hours are between 5 p.m. and 1 a.m.

5) All open-air burning requires a permit from the Garrett County Health Department. Open-air burning prior to 4 p.m. also requires a burning permit from DNR.

Open-air burning of any type not in accordance with these regulations is subject to citations and fines ranging from $70 to $260.

Landowners interested in conducting open-air burning are encouraged to burn after 5 p.m. when a burning permit from the DNR Forest Service is not required, and the air is generally moister and calmer, reducing the chances of the fire escaping.

If a landowner wishes to burn before 5 p.m., the Garrett County Health Department and the Maryland DNR Forest Service have entered into a cooperative agreement to issue a combined burning permit. The landowner should contact the Forest Service office at Mt. Nebo Monday - Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; telephone number 301-334-3296. Landowners are encouraged to contact the office several days before they plan on burning to arrange a site visit with one of the forest rangers.

Prior to doing any open-air burning, the landowner should contact Garrett County Emergency Management at 301-334-1929 to let them know about the controlled burning. This reduces the chances of the local volunteer fire departments being dispatched on false alarms.

When conducting open-air burning, it is the landowner's responsibility to make sure the fire doesn't escape, and to make sure the fire is out before leaving it.

THE HUNT WAS ON! It was a beautiful, sunny day as the Northern High School Childcare I students took children from the Accident Head Start center in search of Easter eggs. The "wascally wabbit" had hidden brightly colored eggs, which were found in short order by the excited little searchers. The youngsters wore the rabbit ear hats the students had made for the event. Teacher Barbara Law provided class time for her students to plan games, stories, and activities, and to color and hide eggs. In the photo above NHS students Pebbies Perez, Jenny Wilburn, Michele Miller, and Samantha Fike led the Head Start children out to begin to hunt. Below, Amanda Garlitz helps the children play a game after the hunt.

Maryland Observes Archeology Month

Maryland archeologists and enthusiasts are celebrating the sixth annual Archeology Month this April with special lectures, tours, workshops, and opportunities to participate in archeological digs around the state. As a co-sponsor of Maryland Archeology Month, the Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) invites the public to join in these events and to explore diverse perspectives on 12,000 years of Maryland history and prehistory.

There are approximately 50 events scheduled during April. All are open to the public and most are free of charge. Topics include African-American Archeology, Underwater Archeology, and the Prehistory of the Eastern Shore. A detailed list of Maryland Archeology Month activities and an Archeology Month poster are available free of charge from the Department of Housing and Community Development's Office of Archeology by calling 410-514-7661. The calendar of events is also available via the World Wide Web on the Maryland Historical Trust's home page at: http://www2.ari.net/mdshpo.

Maryland Archeology Month is a cooperative project of the Archeological Society of Maryland Inc., the Council for Maryland Archeology Inc., the Maryland Historical Trust Office of Archeology, and the SHA's Archeology Group, which plays an important role in evaluating proposed projects' impact on archeological resources and then working with highway planners and engineers to avoid or minimize damage to Maryland's archeological heritage. SHA's archeologists are sensitive to conserving archeological resources as well as SHA's mission of providing mobility on a safe, well-maintained, and attractive highway system.

A STAR! in Western Maryland is looking for new Members!

The A STAR! program is looking for new Members to join our team starting September 1998. All positions are contingent upon funding. Members will be required to have a background check prior to beginning service. The AmeriCorps program in this area is administered by the Western Maryland Alliance for Service, a partnership formed by Frostburg State University and local community service agencies. The local program, A STAR!, is committed to providing direct service to people and hopes to serve as a shining example of just how much we can "Get Things Done" when communities pull together.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

What could I receive in exchange for my service?
In exchange for one year of service, you would receive a living allowance averaging $8,340 per year, health care, child care (if eligible), and an education award of $4,725 at the completion of one year of service.

Am I eligible to join AmeriCorps?
Members range from all ages, backgrounds, etc. AmeriCorps will look like Americans! You must be 17 years or older; a U.S. citizen or legal resident; a high school graduate or be willing to complete GED requirements.

For more information call 301-687-7599 or the individual agency you wish to receive additional information. Applications can be picked up at the FSU Information Desk, Lane Center, or Room 212, Lane Center, and the agencies listed. Applications will be reviewed until positions are filled. All positions are contingent upon grant funding. FSU and the Western Maryland Alliance for Service are AA/EEO employers.

National Dean's List Honors Umbel

Nancy Umbel, Friendsville, was recently selected for the honorary award recognition of having her biography published in The National Dean's List, 1997-98. This is the 21st annual edition of the publication, which also offers scholarships.

Those selected to be included in the book become eligible to compete for a $1,000 scholarship. This year the publishers have earmarked $50,000 to be awarded in the competition.

Students whose names appear in the publication have been selected by college deans or comparable faculty representatives. Recommendation is based on the student's academic achievement.

Special Series Set At Springs Church

Members of the Springs Mennonite Church, Springs, Pa., are launching a 50-day spiritual adventure titled "Untapped Miracles for Tapped Out Christians: Spectacular Energy Sources for the Body of Christ."

The adventure, a spiritual growth series, will run from Sunday, April 19, through June 7.

Presented by Mainstay Church Resources, the new publishing outreach of The Chapel Ministries, the adventure is used by thousands of North American congregations each year, according to Pastor Stephen J. Heatwole, who invites all to participate.

Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday worship service at 10:30 a.m. at the 1686 Springs Road location. Interested persons may also call the church office at 814-662-4201 for additional information about the series.

QUILTERS BUSY STITCHING - These ladies are working on a Nine Patch Quilt which will be raffled on May 8, in time for Mother's Day. The quilters are, left to right, Virginia Upole, Mabel Cassidy, and Betty Beitzel. The raffle will be held at the Mary Browning Senior Center of Community Action in Oakland. Proceeds will benefit senior activities.

Painting Class Registration Info Released

Local senior citizens who plan to participate in the Painting for Seniors classes being offered in Grantsville and Accident by Garrett Community College are reminded of registration times and locations.

Those planning to attend the Grantsville class should register at the Grantsville Senior Center on April 23 for the April 24 class. Those planning to attend the Accident class on April 27 may register the morning of the class at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, or persons may register before that time at the McHenry campus of GCC.

For more information, persons may telephone Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304.

GCC To Offer Advanced Cake Decorating Course

An advanced cake decorating course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. Students will continue to improve their knowledge of cakes, frostings, and special techniques for decorating cakes more professionally in this advanced offering. The class will begin on May 6 and end on May 27. This class will be held at the Oakland Center each Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon.

For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304.

Civic Club Sets Lunch Program At Will O' The Wisp

The monthly luncheon meeting and program of the Civic Club of Oakland will be held on Tuesday, April 28, beginning with a noon lunch at Will O' the Wisp restaurant. A speaker program featuring Catherine Skaggs, a senior investigator with the Maryland Commission on Human Relations, will follow the meal at 1 p.m.

Skaggs will speak about the Commission on Human Relations and its jurisdiction, Civil Rights Act Title VII, the Americans with Disabilities Act, age discrimination, equal pay, what constitutes sexual harassment, and the legal liabilities surrounding these issues.

Reservations for the meal are required, at a cost of $7.25 per person, and may be obtained by calling 301-387-8541 or 301-334-2180 by Friday, April 24. Reservations are not required for Skaggs's presentation, which is free. The public is invited to all or part of the events.

New Pick-Up Times Set For Area Mail Collection Boxes

The Oakland Post Office has changed the mail pick-up times for some of the postal collection boxes in the Oakland area. "We are redesigning the route to make it more efficient and safer for our carriers," said Oakland postmaster Ken Perrin. "As boxes had been added and removed in recent years, the established route became increasingly inefficient. The new route avoids left-hand turns and backtracking by our carriers."

The new pick-up times are being posted in each box, and mail will not be collected from any box before the posted pick-up time. The new pick-up times for the following boxes are: Dental Health - 3:55 p.m.; Get 'N Go - 4:08; Treasure Island - 4:12; G.W. Plaza - 4:19; Commerce Drive - 4:24; Deer Park PO - 4:30; Mtn. Lake Park PO - 4:45; Court House - 5:03; 2nd and Green streets - 5:07; 2nd and Alder streets - 5:10; GC Memorial Hospital - 5:15; Thayer Center - 5:20; Community Action - 5:25.

Garrett Bureau Of Investigations Plan Is Pursued

Garrett County Sheriff Dick Sanders and State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch presented to the Board of County Commissioners this week a grant application for a combined criminal investigation unit in the county. The commissioners signed off on the grant and sent the application on to the Byrne Memorial Formula Grant Program, funded by federal monies through the Governor's Office Crime Control Prevention.

Although the sheriff's office will be the implementing agency, the application must be submitted by a governmental unit, which was why the commissioners were asked to sign the proposal, Welch explained.

The funding request is for $76,586, with the commissioners guaranteeing to match 25%, or $25,529. However, Welch said the county will not incur this as an out-of-pocket expense, as the Maryland State Police have agreed to provide up to $25,000 for the project.

If the funding is received, it will be used for the formation of a partnership including the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police, and the State's Attorney's Office. It will be called the Garrett Bureau of Investigations (GBI). The unit will be housed in space adjacent to the sheriff's office and

SOME HANDS-ON LEARNING took place at Broad Ford Elementary School this morning, as the National Police Bloodhound Association took a break from area training to visit the school. The bloodhound pictured is Maple, a friendly 17-month-old who weighs about 110 pounds and loves people, according to her trainer, fire fighter Scott Anson of Bethlehem, N.Y. (He's the one on the other end of the leash.) Cpl. Dennis Guzias from Dupage County (close to Chicago, Ill.) gave a talk about the bloodhound breed and told how valuable the animals are in police searches. Apparently the dogs do not bark when they are on the trail and are always on a leash. Maple, who was born in Quebec, Canada, began her training as a people-finder when she was just 10 weeks old. Also on hand with his dog Star was Sgt. Raymond Bunner, who is an officer for the Prince George's County Office of the Sheriff. A third dog, Willow, also entertained the spectators. Guzias said he wished to thank the people of Garrett County for "putting up with the dogs and the trainers" during this instructional week, held annually in the county. "People see us around with these dogs and they wonder if there has been some terrible crime, but we're just training them and the people who handle them," he said. Guzias said the yearly event is fun for the trainers, as they get the opportunity to be with friends they see just this one time of the year. Trainers and dogs (120 hounds this year) come from all over the country and beyond to take part in the session, and Guzias lauded the National Police Bloodhound Association for hosting the annual event. Kids in grades kindergarten through fifth greatly enjoyed the presentation and had many questions for the officers, and many pats for Maple, Star, and Willow. Photo by John McEwen

Jim Brady To Speak At GCC Commencement

James T. Brady, secretary of Maryland's Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED), will be speaker for the 1998 Garrett Community College Commencement, set for Saturday, May 16, at 10:30 a.m. in the college gymnasium.

Since assuming his office in May 1995, Brady has streamlined the department, transferring its former labor-related functions to the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation. The new department is now able to focus totally on economic development activities.

In addition, Brady has worked closely with Governor Parris N. Glendening's Economic Development Commission to create Maryland's first-ever statewide strategic economic development plan: Strategic Directions for Increasing Maryland's Competitiveness. He has traveled throughout Maryland as well as abroad since the plan's introduction in December of 1995 to aggressively promote its twin goals: to create, retain, and attract jobs to make Maryland business-friendly.

Children's Initiative Will Be Press Conference Topic; DeMarco To Speak

A press conference has been planned for Monday, April 27, at the Garrett County courthouse, starting at 10 a.m., to introduce Garrett County to the Maryland Children's Initiative. The initiative's primary purpose is to raise the overall awareness of the damaging and detrimental effects of tobacco upon children. The press conference is phase II of a local, yearlong plan to engage the local public in a dialogue about decreasing children's access and use of tobacco products. The county commissioners recently signed a proclamation in support of the initiative.

The initiative is a project of the Smoke Free Maryland Coalition, the Safe and Sound Campaign, the Maryland State Teachers Association, and Advocates for Children and Youth. The effort has gained the support of some 200 state and local organizations. Local supporters of the Maryland Children's Initiative include the Garrett County Tobacco-Free Coalition, the Garrett County Commission for Women, the League of Women Voters of Garrett County, the Garrett's Promise: Alliance for Youth, and the Garrett County Education Association.

Dr. Rex Archer, county health officer, will introduce the keynote presenter, Vincent DeMarco, president of Maryland Children's Initiative. The Maryland Children's Initiative is a coalition of organizations seeking to make life better for Maryland's children by significantly increasing the state's cigarette tax to reduce teen smoking and fund pro-child programs.

Prior to working for Maryland Children's Initiative, DeMarco was a prominent leader of the state and national gun violence prevention movement. Between January of 1995 and June of 1997, he was the director of community outreach for Handgun Control Inc., the nation's premier anti-gun violence group which is chaired by Sarah Brady. At HCI, DeMarco created a coalition of over 100 national organizations which led the fight to defeat the gun lobby's effort to repeal the national assault weap-

Prevention Of Family Violence Topic Of Forum

Representatives from human service and education groups gathered last week at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, to discuss and develop effective methods of reducing violence by increasing community education. The program being setup, the Personal Safety Initiative (PSI), is funded by a grant from the Maryland Child Abuse Trust, through the Governor's Office for Children, Youth and Families.

Setting the tone for the subject under consideration the first item on the agenda was a presentation of Pandora's Box, the Garrett County student teen health theater. See related story.

Scrap Tires Allowed At Collection Sites Free Of Charge On Saturday

The Office of Solid Waste and Recycling will conduct a Tire Amnesty Day event on Saturday, April 25, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., during which Garrett County residents may bring up to 10 tires per vehicle, free of charge, to the Garrett County landfill or Grantsville Refuse Collection and Recycling Site. No special vehicle registration is needed to participate as long as the number of tires on any one load does not exceed the limit of 10.

The event, sponsored by the Garrett County Commissioners and the Maryland Environmental Service, will be funded through the Maryland Department of the Environment's Tire Fund. This fund was established by the General Assembly in 1991 as part of the Scrap Tire Recycling Act. It is funded by the collection of $1 per tire fee on the sale of each new tire in the state, according to Rodney Glotfelty, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling.

Tire Amnesty Day will provide a direct benefit of the fund to citizens of the state, Glotfelty said. The project was originally conceived to aid county residents by providing a responsible disposal alternative, substantially free of charge, for homeowners who had accumulated a small number of scrap tires prior to the adoption of Maryland's Scrap Tire Law.

"Through a ban on landfilling tires, that law forced most local jurisdictions in Maryland to impose a disposal fee for tires to cover

State Officials Taking Lead On Lake Bidding

State of Maryland officials are to take the lead in the bidding process for Deep Creek Lake, as decided Saturday at a specially called meeting of the Garrett County/Deep Creek Lake Advisory Committee, the county commissioners, and two state officials: James Brady, secretary of Maryland Business and Economic Development, and John Griffin, secretary of the state Department of Natural Resources. A closed meeting was held first, followed by an open session during which committee chairman Fred Thayer explained what had occurred.

"The advisory committee voted unanimously to recommend that the county consent to the state's plan to lead an acquisition bid," Thayer stated. The goal of the advisors apparently is to convince GPU Energy (current owner of the power plant, the land under the lake, and the buffer strip) to split the package, selling the power plant to a qualified power company bidder, and perhaps selling the lake bed and buffer strip to either the county or state.

The state cannot purchase more than 100 acres within Garrett County without the approval of the commissioners. Thus this agreement between the county and state should afford a measure of local control in the process.

Paul C. Rizzo and Associates, a power generation company which owns several plants, including one along the Youghiogheny in Pennsylvania, has expressed interest in the purchase and is tentatively a part of the local consortium group, which includes members of the advisory council and lake property owners.

According to Thayer, GPU has yet to publicly place a price on the lake package, although it does represent approximately $3.3 million in assessable tax base money and generates about $90,000 a year in revenues. Thayer said purchasing options are still being explored by the advisory committee members and that so far, communication among the parties involved has been open.

The commissioners informally commented on Saturday's events at their regular Tuesday public session, and all appeared to agree that they are generally comfortable with the state's latest move in the process.

"They [the state] certainly have the money and the power," Chairman Wayne Wilt said. "And they can't buy a whole lot of land without our consent, so I think we're on the right track."

Commissioner Wayne Johnson agreed, noting that

DR. GRASMICK BRINGS PRAISE AND PRESENTS - The schools in Garrett County received high praise from Dr. Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent of schools, when she visited here on Tuesday. She did not come to Garrett County empty-handed, but brought 150 computers and thousands of dollars worth of software for the schools. "We can make a small yet significant contribution to helping your students develop expertise in technology that will enhance their skills and prepare them for an ever-changing world," she said.

Grasmick Visits Garrett County, Brings Praise and Computers

Garrett County schools received two gifts when Dr. Nancy Grasmick, superintendent for Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE), visited the county Tuesday. Dr. Grasmick praised the educators here for their dedication and achievements. To underscore the appreciation for the accomplishments of Garrett County schools, she also presented 150 computers and over 30,000 pieces of software.

Dr. Grasmick's remarks and announcements were made to an audience of school board administrators and directors, and Garrett County commissioners. The meeting was held following a luncheon, which was prepared and served by Southern High students in the food service program. Dr. Grasmick noted the leadership role taken by Garrett County in developing award winning career connection programming.

The state superintendent spoke also of her admiration of the administration of this small school system, which dedicates every available resource to improve education. "I've never seen a school system so committed to meeting state standards for performance," she said.

Applause for the career development courses in Garrett County comes also from beyond state boundaries, Grasmick pointed out. "Your Career Connections program is getting national recognition. The state is basking in the glory of your achievements," she stated.

A school system with a reputation for excellence creates a positive factor for economic growth and health in an area, she explained. "The premier reason for businesses and families to move to a county is a good school system," she said.

In further recognition of the positive strides made by educators in Garrett County, the state selected this school system in which to launch its initiative "Operation Reboot." This program creates partnerships between the state education system and businesses in order to acquire computer equipment and software to be donated to schools.

Darla Strouse, director of corporate partnerships for the MSDE, developed the program that combined efforts and resources of the Social Security Administration, Kraft Foods, HLW International, and the Na-

Deanna Bogart To Play Jazz, Blues At GCC

Bandleader Deanna Bogart, described by Down Beat magazine as an "extravagant entertainer" will bring her band to the auditorium of Garrett Community College (GCC) for a concert on Saturday, May 2, at 8 p.m. Advance tickets are available for $3 each at the GCC Library.

Bogart, a Maryland-based blues and boogie pianist/saxophonist, combines the energy of 1930s-style boogie piano blues with contemporary blues sounds heard in clubs in cities such as New Orleans, Chicago, and Memphis. "The goal when we play live," Bogart said, "is to create a fusion of different musical styles, with the blues and boogie genuinely at the core."

Bogart began developing her unique musical style at the age of 21 when she joined the group Cowboy Jazz as a vocalist/pianist, spending several years learning and playing the rhythm of western swing. Two years on R&B saxophone followed in the company of Washington, D.C.'s Root Boy Slim, during which she began to combine those disparate rhythms with her own original compositions that blend elements of boogie music with modern jazz and rock.

After starting her own band in 1988, Bogart be

A BIG JOB FOR LITTLE PEOPLE - The playground at the Garrett County Community Action/Head Start Center in Oakland, as well as similar playgrounds in Jennings, Crellin, and Friendsville, recently took delivery on a truckload of new, clean wood chips to cover the ground around the play equipment. Bill's Marine Service, Deep Creek Lake, donated the use of the dump truck, while John Mellinger lent the use of a front-end loader for the job. The youngsters in the photo above, who were also willing to donate their time and efforts, later received assistance from adults who were taller than the shovels used for spreading the wood chips.

Fresh Air Fund Seeking Families To Host Children

The Fresh Air Fund is currently looking for families in the Garrett County area to take children from the city into their homes for two weeks this summer.

"All it takes to help continue this 122-year-old tradition is a warm bed and an open heart," said a Fresh Air spokesperson. "By hosting, you will give a child a break from the often dangerous, hot and crowded city streets, and welcome a gracious summertime visitor into your home."

Area families hosted 29 families (36 children) last summer, the spokesperson said. The children range in age from 6 to 18 years old, and first-time visitors are 6 to 12 years old.

"More host families are needed this year to ensure that inner-city youngsters continue to experience the simple joys of country living — looking at stars on a clear night, walking barefoot through a grassy field, and listening to the sounds of crickets," the spokesperson said.

Hosts can request a boy or a girl, as well as the approximate age of the child. There are no financial requirements to host a child.

"While there is no monetary compensation for hosting a child, the bond that develops between host and child is priceless," the spokesperson said.

For more information, persons should contact Alice Orendorf at 301-245-4326, or call the Fresh Air Fund at 1-800-367-0003.

MARYLAND CHILDREN'S INITIATIVE ENDORSED — The Garrett County Commissioners this week endorsed a resolution called the Maryland's Children Initiative, the purpose of which partly is to discourage the use of tobacco, alcohol, and other drugs among the state's children. The resolution states that over 20,000 state children become addicted to tobacco and that more than 7,000 of these children will die prematurely because of that addiction. It also states that more than 20,000 children in the state are addicted to illegal drugs and more than 100,000 children suffer because at least one of their parents is addicted to drugs, and that two-thirds of the state's third-graders do not meet the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) for reading skills. The initiative supports the continued effort to raise the state's excise tax on cigarettes by $1.50 per pack and dedicate that money toward alcohol and drug use prevention, reading improvement programs, and high quality after-school programs. Pictured seated left to right are the county commissioners: Wayne Johnson, Wayne Wilt (chairman), and Gary Fratz. Standing in the same order are Pat Kelly, member of Garrett's Promise; Nancy Brady, representing the Garrett County Health Department; and Donna Aspinall, representing the League of Women Voters and the Garrett County Tobacco-Free Coalition.

Fourth Rabies Case Reported By Health Dept.

The fourth laboratory confirmed rabies case of 1998 was reported last week by the Garrett County Health Department. This incident occurred at a residence along Bear Creek Road.

Apparently a raccoon was under the porch of a house and was behaving oddly. The owner of the property shot the animal and the specimen was sent to the rabies laboratory in Baltimore, where it was confirmed to have the rabies virus on April 15.

The property owner's cat and dog and a neighbor's dog were outside during the incident, according to the health department's report. Although all of the pets had current vaccinations against the disease, they will be revaccinated as a precaution. There was no human exposure and may have been no exposure to the pets, the report states.

The health department will be holding its regular spring low cost rabies vaccine clinics during the week of May 4-9. Clinics will be held in Grantsville, Gorman, Accident, Bloomington, Friendsville, and Mtn. Lake Park. The cost per animal will be $5. More information will be published on the clinics.

Cast Completed For Society's 1776 Production

The few vacancies in the cast for the Garrett Choral Society's production of the musical 1776, to be performed in the Garrett County circuit court room in June, have been filled, according to Nancy Learey, director.

The additional cast members are as follows: Rex Archer in the role of Thomas McKean, Thomas Carr as James Wilson, Albert Getty as George Read, Paul Shogren as Joseph Hewes, and Jack Henshaw as Robert Livingston.

The cast includes a total of 23 men and three women, the remainder of which was announced in last week's issue of The Republican.

Additional staff added recently are Dr. John Hawkins of Potomac State College as performance accompanist, and Terri Hagglund as costume mistress, assisted by Ruth Kight.

The play will be performed June 25, 26, and 27, and July 2, 3, and 4. Tickets for reserved seats, which are limited, may be obtained by calling the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival office at Garrett Community College, 301-387-3082.

Hospice To Hold Memorial Service

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will hold its annual memorial service Sunday, May 17, in the Nature Building at Hickory Environmental Education Center. It will be preceded by a fellowship covered dish supper, which begins at 5 p.m.

The service is held each year in memory of deceased patients, board members, and volunteers. A pastoral message will be delivered by Pastor Mike Robinson of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. Dave Martin, clerk of the circuit court, will be the soloist and James Shepherd the pianist. Pastor Elmer Maust will read Bible selections and a candle will be lighted in memory of each of the deceased.

Family members and guests are invited to attend. To register or to get further information, persons may call Hospice at 301-334-5151 or 1-800-521-3252.

Pandora's Box Asked To Perform At Civic Center

Garrett County's teen health theater, Pandora's Box, has been invited to perform at the Baltimore Civic Center for the upcoming annual Governor's Conference on Child Abuse and Neglect.

The invitation to participate in this statewide event was issued last week by Gloria Goldfaden, executive director of People Against Child Abuse (PACA) and the governor's task force on child abuse and neglect. Goldfaden was in Garrett County to speak at the Family Violence Prevention Planning Forum.

Opening the forum, the high school performers of Paradora'a Box presented three skits with themes of abuse and violence against youth. Scenes of verbal and physical abuse were played out by "family member" characters. A monologue on sexual abuse, which demonstrated the emotional devastation to the victim, concluded the presentation.

A program of the AmeriCorps office at the Garrett County Health Department, Pandora's Box was organized in 1995 to bring together high school students to research, write, and perform skits about health issues facing today's area youth. Topics covered by the theater group include family relationships, stress, self-esteem, teen sexuality, alcohol abuse, tobacco use, AIDS, and violence.

After their performance at last week's meeting, the actors took questions from the audience about their theater project. When asked if the group performs in the schools, the students responded that they are not permitted to perform in the schools on topics such as AIDS or teen sexuality.

Goldfaden publicly praised the work of Pandora's Box and asked the troupe to participate in the upcoming Annual Governor's Conference on Child Abuse and Neglect, to be held at the Baltimore Civic Center. "We're putting together some workshops where the kids can present and discuss their skits," she said. "Over 1,000 people attend this conference," Goldfaden added.

Kendra Todd, who supervises the AmeriCorps office of the health department, said Pandora's Box was pleased to have the recognition. "We haven't received any formal invitation yet. We would need to see when it is and if it would be possible to get the students there," she said. Todd noted that this time of year is always very busy for students but that they would surely like to participate in the conference.

Free Meals To Be Served By Local Church

Recognizing the need of families at the close of the month, the Oak Park Church of the Brethren will host a free meal on the last Wednesday of each month, beginning next Wednesday, April 29. The church will serve the meal free to the public from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. No donations will be asked for this meal; it is being done as a public service.

According to a church spokesperson, the reason behind the development of this ministry is that many families have exhausted their food stamps, food supplies, and financial resources by the last week of the month. "In order to help families in our community, the church has decided this is one way help can be given," he said. The church will offer this meal one day per week at this time. If the need becomes greater, the church may offer its free meals on additional days during the last week of the month.

Mel Menker, pastor of the church, was a member of the board of trustees for the Akron-Canton regional Food Bank in Akron, Ohio, and saw the great need there for food pantries and soup kitchens. He believes Garrett and Preston counties could also use a free meal program for those who find themselves in need at the close of the month. "A committee of the church took hold of the idea and has worked diligently to prepare for this opportunity to serve. Though the church is unable to provide any kind of transportation to the meal, it is expected to be a success, as the committee is preparing for 100 the first evening with expectations the numbers will grow as people become aware of this service," Menker said.

The meal program is open to anyone who has a need. "There are no specified qualifications for people to receive this free meal and there are no forms to fill out," the pastor said. Persons who have questions may call the church office at 301-334-2243 for information. If staff is not present to receive the call, persons may leave a message on the answering machine and the church will call back as soon as is possible.

Our Town Theatre Production Set; Cast Announced

The Board of Directors of Our Town Theatre, Oakland, has tentatively scheduled June 4, 5, and 6 and June 11, 12, and 13 as the production dates for its first community play, The Dining Room, by A.R. Gurney. "Set throughout the 20th century, the play examines many facets of society with a look at a wide variety of characters from little boys to stern grandfathers, and from giggling teenage girls to Irish housemaids. Each scene of the play introduces a new set of events which ultimately blend into a theatrical experience of exceptional range, compassionate humor, and abundant humanity," stated Jane Avery, director.

Avery has posted the cast, which includes (in alphabetical order): Susan Bell, Jann Dehus, Sheila Edwards, Josh Elmlinger, Brandon Ferguson, Judy Finkel, Liz Rees Gilbert, Suzanne Gilbert, Linda Goodrich, Jennie Grant, Sue Harkins, Alex Hill, Andrew Hill, Richard Hill, Fred Jacoby, Chris Lantz, Paul Liller, Rilene Lloyd, Devon McClive, Jennifer McDonald, Ben Peracchio, Marianne Peracchio, Barb Reed, Linda Reeves-Cook, Eileen Schlosnagle, Steve Schlosnagle, Amy Snyder, Kyle Snyder, Dawn Scheffel, Krysta Stacy, Marshall Stacy, Evie White, Lois White, and Jonathan Wildesen.

Avery has scheduled a meeting for the cast at 2 p.m. this Sunday, April 26, at Our Town Theatre. "I'm delighted with the turnout we had for auditions," said Avery. "The cast is diverse, enthusiastic, and from the look of things, extremely talented. The Dining Room is going to be a wonderful experience for us all, and it's a marvelous inaugural piece for the theatre.

More information about performance times and reservations will be published at a later date.

Bloodmobile Nets 167 Units At Friday Visit

Last Friday's American Red Cross bloodmobile visit at the St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall in Oakland saw 181 people stop by to help replenish current blood supply shortages. From those, 167 units of blood were collected.

"People have responded to the American Red Cross when we have needed them most. There may not be a major disaster to bring us to light, but the situation we face with some of our blood supplies down to less than 50% of standard levels is serious," stated Elizabeth Huxford, Garrett County blood services chairman. "We can't stress enough how important each and every donor is to those in need. There is no substitute for human blood and no substitute for those who willingly go out of their way to help by donating."

Of those donating, nine were first-time donors: Jamie Fazenbaker, Grantsville; Brandy S. Glotfelty, Marilyn S. Glotfelty, Andrew Granke, Mavis Harby, Connie Herman, Nancy Schrock, and Tonya Sturm, all of Oakland; and Michael S. Markwood, Aurora, W.Va.

Those donating for the eighth time to reach the one-gallon mark were: Clara Artice of Oakland and Robert Yoakum of McHenry. Eleanor Friend, Linda J. Moon, and Kenneth Stoyer, Oakland, all reached the two-gallon milestone. The three-gallon mark was topped by David Peachey Jr., Randy Storey, and Randy L. Streets of Oakland and Austin Thompson of Mtn. Lake Park. Sharon Hebb of Swanton reached the five-gallon mark. Russell L. Liller of Mtn. Lake Park topped the seven-gallon milestone. Eric Wotring, Mtn. Lake Park, topped the eight-gallon mark and the 10-gallon milestone was reached by John R. Toston, Friendsville. Top donor for Friday was Doug Buckley, Oakland, who donated for the 88th time to reach the 11-gallon milestone.

Sponsors for the bloodmobile were Beachy Lumber Company and Shaffer Ford Sales. Cumberland Coca-Cola Company donated sodas and Potomac Farms donated milk and juice. "We wish to offer our sincere thanks to these businesses and to St. Peter's, who have helped save lives by supporting our efforts," stated Huxford.

Those volunteers who made the bloodmobile possible were: Rosalie Baker and Artie Dixon, greeters; Don Forrester, Elizabeth Huxford, and Barb Sweitzer, registration; Anne Forrester, Russ McConnell, Joyce Ridder, and Jonathan Wildesen, walkers; and Deep Creek Lake Lionesses Shirley Panther and Tiddle Wheeler, canteen.

Donors unable to make last Friday's bloodmobile may consider responding when it returns to the Oakland American Legion on Wednesday, May 6, from noon to 6 p.m. To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days.

Local residents and patients are among those served through the American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region. The Johnstown Region directly serves hospitals, patients, and donors in a 63-county area in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia, and also supports blood needs experienced by patients elsewhere in hospitals served through Red Cross Blood Services.

To further ease the donation process and help maintain accurate donation records, the Red Cross encourages individuals to bring their Red Cross donor card, driver's license, or other positive identification with them when they give blood. Individuals with specific questions may contact the Red Cross toll free at 1-800-54BLOOD.

EQUIPPING SCHOOLS FOR THE 21ST CENTURY - An atmosphere of Christmas prevailed during a visit to Garrett County Tuesday by Dr. Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent of schools. After a "home cooked" turkey dinner, prepared and elegantly served by students at Southern High School, the gifts were presented. Dr. Grasmick offered warm praise to county educators and presented a truckload of computer equipment and software. "Computers are as much a part of the classroom as blackboards. And we realize that technology is one of the most fascinating and modern aspects of life," Dr. Grasmick said. Pictured above with just a small portion of the generous gifts are, left to right, Capt. Robert Elmore, U.S. Army, Kevin Durham, Maryland Department of Surplus, Dr. Grasmick, Dr. Wendell Teets, Garrett County superintendent of schools, Lynn Bell, SHS principal, Charlotte Sebold, board of education, Jack Rickman, SMS principal, Dale Carpenter, board of education, and Martin Green, NHS principal.

April Proclaimed Maryland Earth, Litter-Free Month

To honor Maryland's environment and natural resources, and to encourage all Marylanders to help keep the state litter-free, Governor Parris N. Glendening has declared April as Maryland Earth and Litter-Free Month.

The governor said he wished to increase the public's awareness about the importance of preserving the state's natural resources and the danger litter poses to these resources and the public.

"Maryland's landscape is both beautiful and fertile, with natural and physical resources that sustain our lives," Glendening said. "It is imperative that we, as individuals and collectively as a state, become better caretakers of our environment, not only for the month of April, but all year long."

It is estimated that state and local governments spend more than $10 million on litter clean-up each year. To combat this problem, the governor said the state has initiated a number of programs aimed at controlling litter and protecting Maryland's environment. Included in the programs is the State Highway Administration's Adopt-A-Highway program, through which individuals or groups can volunteer to help keep a Maryland road litter-free. Project Cloverleaf is a nonprofit organization that provides interested residents with plants, seedlings, and landscaping and design support to plant a garden in their neighborhood.

Persons interested in these or other similar program may contact the SHA's office of environmental design at 1-800-446-5962.

Local "Trailblazer Award" Winners Named By Governor

Herrington Manor State Park, Garrett County Community Action, and the Church of the Nazarene in Oakland have each been named as recipients of the Trailblazer Award, a new award that recognizes organizations for volunteer contributions and services that have helped families move off welfare. The awards will be presented by Governor Parris N. Glendening in a ceremony slated for Monday, May 20, in Annapolis.

"Volunteer partnerships between the State and organizations from the civic, faith, and business communities have been instrumental in Maryland's successful welfare reform efforts," the governor said recently. "The contributions of organizations like Herrington Manor State Park, Garrett County Community Action, and the Church of the Nazarene are among the reasons the welfare rolls have declined by as much as 43.5 percent over the past two years. I am proud to present them with the Trailblazer Award," Glendening said.

Herrington Manor State Park has provided Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA) customers with work experience sites and has hired a number of them off the welfare rolls. The Garrett County Community Action Committee is working to help TCA customers in the county to establish microenterprises, while the Church of the Nazarene partners with the local department of social services as a third party payee for child support benefits for the children of welfare recipients.

Staff members of local departments of social services nominated organizations for the Trailblazer Award. The Maryland Department of Human Resources plans to continue to honor organizations that voluntarily assist people in becoming independent.

A Potpourri...

Just for a change of pace, we elect to utilize this column today in a potpourri format to make brief comments on a variety of local topics rather than for the usual expounding upon one issue.

•The creation of the Garrett Bureau of Investigations, announced this week, is the latest in what is becoming a long list of accomplishments by Lisa Thayer Welch, Garrett County's state's attorney. She is doing an outstanding job in that office, and she is receiving excellent cooperation from state and county law enforcement and court officials. It's good to see all members of our enforcement/judicial system working together instead of in competition with each other.

•We hope many people will attend the second annual Garrett County Student Arts Fair this Saturday at Garrett Community College, an event which will highlight the many and varied artistic talents of our young people. Rev. Chip Lee said it well in his letter to the editor today that the arts "move us to think and to act as no other medium can, because the arts touch our souls and stir our emotions and fire our spirits."

•We certainly appreciate this week's visit to the county by Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent of schools, and even more so her praise of the Garrett County school system, coupled with a material gift of 150 computers and accompanying software. She confirmed many of the things we already knew about our local educators — that they are among the best in the state and, indeed, in the nation. It's interesting, though, that the computer equipment was donated by businesses located not inside, but outside, Maryland.

•Two weeks ago it was noted in this column that Margaret Shoemaker, who had just died, faithfully wrote the Friendsville News for our paper for 53 years. We were wrong — it was 63 years. She was a great lady.

•Scrap Tire Amnesty Day, coupled with a special recycling and composting promotion, will be this Saturday at the county landfill. Rodney Glotfelty and his staff continue to do outstanding work in helping us dispose of our trash appropriately, and we find the promotion idea, complete with displays, coupons, and prizes, both innovative and clever. We residents are doing a super job with our recycling, but there is plenty of room for improvement.

•It was a bit surprising that, just days after the official opening of the new Rocky Gap State Park convention facility, the Cumberland Times-News published an editorial that was actually critical of the director of the Maryland Economic Development Corporation for refusing to reveal occupancy figures for the new facility. The column made the point that, since Rocky Gap is a project funded by our tax money, all such information should be available to the "benefactors." We staunchly agree.

•The following request is for everyone, but particularly visitors to our county: Please, please, don't feed the bears! Doing so simply creates more problems for local residents, particularly farmers, since such actions attract the animals into areas where they would otherwise not usually spend time. The DNR has lots of information and advice about how we and the bears can co-exist.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I saw in the paper recently that the county commissioners were proposing a property tax increase for Garrett County. A very large percentage of people who live here are elderly and they have to live on social security. Many have to spend a lot for medicine and every time you have to get something fixed, it is more expensive. Anyone who has to live on social security does not receive enough to make ends meet, so why do they want to raise taxes?

The commissioners don't care because they don't have to rob Peter to pay Paul like most social security people do. I have only two acres and I have to pay about $500 a year.

I think taxes are a rip-off right now, let alone before they raise them. I think the commissioners should wake up. They get their money and I guess they don't care about the less fortunate people who live here. I am sure they will never get my vote come election time.

Flossie Van Sickle
Friendsville

Dear Ms. Van Sickle:

Perhaps you misinterpreted some information that you read. The county commissioners are not raising the tax rate this year, but are keeping it the same as last year's. In fact, the rate has not been increased for several years now. It could be that your property assessment has been increased, which would increase your tax bill; but such reassessment is done by the state tax assessors and not the county commissioners.

Editor

To the Editor:

I wanted to write concerning the editor's response to Bob Groves' letter in the April 9th edition of your paper. I am not writing to attack the editor. I am writing to tell you that Letters to the Editor section could be improved. The open emotion shown by the editor displayed a lack of professionalism and journalism integrity. I understand that this is a small-town newspaper, but the standards should be as high as a larger market paper.

News reporting is supposed to be impartial. I have seen a couple other responses from the editor, like the one to Mr. Groves, that were not. The letters to the Editor section is for people in the community to share their thoughts and ideas with each other. If the editor would like to respond to Mr. Groves, it should be done privately. The editor should not respond in the newspaper, which he owns and operates and clearly has an advantage over the person he is responding to. Ideally, all forms of media are a public commodity for the free exchange of information and ideas. In the future, I hope that your paper will reflect this better

Sincerely,
Jennifer Wilson
Wilmore, Ky.

Dear Ms. Wilson:

Sorry, but I have to respond to just one of your points. News reporting is, or should be, impartial, just as you said. But letters to the editor are not the same thing, and are not impartial. They are opinions. They are partial; and so are the responses of the editor.

Editor

To the Editor:

Many thanks to Jane Avery for her letter last week extolling the efforts of many individuals and groups in promoting the arts in our community. I continue to be amazed that in the face of so much nay-saying about the value of the arts, particularly those who question their value to the young people of our community — that there seem to be so many more offerings and so many more people involved in planning and producing high quality programs for the enjoyment of everyone.

The arts are so important to the life of any community, for it is through the arts that powerful expressions are made which speak to the issues we face daily. The arts move us to think and to act as no other medium can, because the arts touch our souls and stir our emotions and fire our spirits.

One profound group of young people missing from Jane's wonderful list last week was Pandora's Box, the Garrett County Teen Health Theatre. This group of Northern and Southern students is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department and AmeriCorps. I had the opportunity to experience Pandora's Box last week at the Family Violence Prevention Forum. I watched seven young people present scenes which they had written on verbal, physical, and sexual abuse, and was moved to tears, as were many others in the house, by the power of their presentation. Many thanks to Jill Holler, Kendra Todd, and Karen Frankhouser for their work with these teens and their willingness to believe that, as adults, we must listen to what young people have to say to us and what they are asking us to teach them. The effort can be life-changing.

To the Editor:

On February 19, 1998, a letter, along with signatures from several area nursing care centers' (nursing home) residents, staff, and family members, was sent to Senator John Hafer requesting an increase in the personal allowance, allocated by the Medicaid program, for recipients living in nursing care centers. The amount of $40 per month has been in effect for 11 years without any form of increase. Out of this allowance, the recipients must pay monthly personal costs such as beauty/barber shop, television cable fees, newspaper, telephone service, and clothing.

On April 6, 1998, I received a fax from Senator Hafer, which was sent to him by a Joseph M. Millstone, director of Maryland's Medical Care Policy, regarding the established time frame for increasing this allowance. Mr. Millstone stated, "There has never been an established process for setting the amount of an increase or how often it should occur." Mr. Millstone further stated there has been little protest during the 11 years for an increase, but he would consider the financial viability of increasing this allowance.

As president of Frostburg Village Nursing Care Center's Family Council, I am requesting all parties who feel an increase is needed to write to Mr. Millstone at the following address: Mr. Joseph M. Millstone, Director, Medical Care Policy, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, 1st Floor, 201 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, MD 21201.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to inform the public of what I feel is a most important issue. Some of our citizens who were once self-supporting, active community members have seen their savings eaten up by the high cost of trying to stay healthy. Asking for assistance did not come easy for them.

Sincerely,
Alice Skidmore
Family Council President

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my gratitude and appreciation to numerous people throughout the tri-county area for their support during events over the past five weeks.

Tuesday, March 10, 1998, our family dog, Dino, came up missing. After searching in vain for the next 2 days we advertised his disappearance by every avenue available. Ads placed on the radio and in newspapers in Garrett, Preston, and Allegany counties brought in a flood of reported sightings throughout the tri-county area.

Every day for the next three weeks brought phone calls of support, encouragement, and empathy for the loss of our pet. We followed up on every reported sighting which led us to Cresaptown, Kingwood, Mtn. Lake Park, Deer Park, Bruceton Mills and all of Oakland. Still no dog.

Wednesday, April 1, two young men came to our door with Dino's tag in hand. A third boy stayed by Dino's side. They found him near our home. He was severely injured and obviously starved, having lost half of his body weight. They took me to Dino and I immediately took him to Dr. Jenkins at Pineview Veterinary Hospital.

Dino is now recovering. We hope to have him home soon. I want to thank everyone who offered their help and support. There are too many names to mention, but I feel compelled to mention a few. Bernadine Friend, Mary Weeks, and Eric Wotring of the Garrett County Humane Society worked tirelessly to get the word out about Dino. Ronnie Murphy, Robert Murphy, and Terry Welch, who found Dino and came to get me. They would not accept a reward. Dr. Jenkins and his entire staff have been extraordinary in taking care of Dino, and Dino's family.

I am proud to live in an area where so many people are willing to go out of their way to help their neighbors. On behalf of my family, Patty, Derek, and Dino, thank you all.

Sincerely,
Jeff Hinebaugh
Oakland

To the Editor:

On Saturday, April 18, I attended the annual legislative wrap-up meeting; Senator Hafer, Delegate Edwards, and the commissioners were all in attendance.

At the end of that meeting, I asked why our commissioners and a few others decided to go to Senator Mikulski's office on Capitol Hill to ask for her support for an interstate to be built along Route 219 as part of the international trade corridor known as Continental One. Delegate Edwards answered that they have no control over where the federal government decides to put an interstate. I pointed out that that may or may not be so; but that still doesn't explain why they went down to ask for it to be built here in this beautiful county. It seems to me that they should be working on behalf of the people to resist this big government intrusion on the county, not encourage it; and to question the spending of 217 billion dollars of taxpayers' money on this Pork Pie Project. All one needs to do is read the Washington Post magazine about Bud Shuster and his method of doing things to know that there is more here than meets the eye.

Commissioner Wayne Johnson asked me why I am against progress. After the meeting, I attempted to give my reasons to him for my opposition to this project, but he had to leave.

Mr. Johnson, I have seen enough foolhardy government projects (done in the name of progress) to last me several lifetimes. You might say that this one is the proverbial "straw." While the waste of taxpayers' money is one of the reasons for my objection, a more important reason is what it will do to the good people of Garrett County and the wonderful way of life up here on the mountaintop. You of all people (a native son, as you have reminded me time and again) should know why this beautiful county and that way of life is worth preserving and fighting for.

To be sure, there are some problems which need to be addressed in the county, but attempting to fix them by hitting them over the head with a highway hammer is not the answer.

I just find it very interesting that our Republican commissioners have gotten together with our Democratic senator (Mikulski) to push for an interstate which is not needed nor wanted and will do irreversible harm to the people and the county. I find it even more interesting that a few local politicians and business people are supporting this enormous waste of our tax dollars in a county known for its conservatism. As the saying goes: "Politics makes for strange bedfellows (bedpersons?)". It only confirms what I have known for many years; that it doesn't matter which party a politician belongs to, when it comes to wasting our money and disregarding the needs of the people, they always seem to be able to put aside party differences, and the public be damned.

STAR-CROSSED SAINTS' DAYS

This is a busy week for those of an astronomical or religious bent. One of the most spectacular sights for sky-watchers took place this morning just before dawn, if you had a clear sky to see it. In the east-southeastern sky there was the compact gathering of Venus, Jupiter, and the crescent moon.

Day by day the two planets have been moving closer and closer together, at least as we see them. This is the kind of movement that made for myths in millennia gone by when shepherds tended their flocks by night.

Jupiter, also known as Jove, was reckoned to be the sky-god. Venus was the goddess of love. One does not have to be a classical scholar to imagine tales that might have been told as Jupiter pursued Venus across the sky, and then caught up with her.

While this morning's gathering was the most complete, tomorrow morning will be worth rising early to see if you missed this morning's show. "The heavens declare the glory of God," sang the shepherd-king. Who could put it any better?

In the line of religion there are three saints' days of note this week: April 21, St. Anselm; 23, St. George; and 25, St. Mark.

SS. Anselm and George are both important for England. In fact, St. George, of dragon-slaying fame, is the patron saint of England.

George probably lived during the late third and early fourth centuries in the Greek-speaking part of the Roman Empire. He slew no dragon, and never saw the shores of England. We know only that he was a soldier and was martyred for his faith.

During the medieval crusades, Christian soldiers from England heard the story of this Christian soldier from centuries before, and were attracted to his story. It is said that a vision of St. George was seen fighting side-by-side with the English as they assaulted one of the Moslem citadels. Thereafter it became a battle cry: "For Merry England and St. George!"

St. Anselm hailed from northern Italy and made his name in northern France, but it was with England that his destiny converged. He became Archbishop of Canterbury in 1093 A.D., and was for the six years until his death the most important person in England after the king.

St. Anselm wrote several books, the most important of which was titled, Why the God-Man? in which he set forth the classic expression of the Christian doctrine of atonement. Beyond the boundaries of the church Anselm's arguments in Why the God-Man? have probably done more to influence the system of justice in England and the United States than any other single work.

The irony is that few outside of scholarly circles have even heard of St. Anselm, whose life was extensively documented and whose influence in and out of the Christian church is incalculable.

St. Mark, we all know, is the writer of the gospel that bears his name. His full name was John Mark. It may have been he who actually wrote down the recollections of the apostle John in the form we now know as the fourth gospel, St. John's.

These three saints' days arrive together during the last third of April every year. It is a kind of "compact gathering" of saints' days. That they should coincide with the planetary and lunar compact gathering has brought them to my mind in a new way this year.

There is a convergence of events that goes unnoticed year after year. Then, suddenly, some other convergence transpires which acts as a pointer to that which had been there all along. As the prophets of old observed, we look, but we do not see. We listen, but we do not hear.

When, suddenly, we do see and hear what has been there all along, it is a revelation for us, sometimes of a kind we can barely describe or even understand. Watching the sky and the calendar, ordinary things can transform us beyond imagination.

SHS Students Place Fourth In Auto Skills Event

Two students from Southern Garrett County High School placed fourth in the Maryland Ford/AAA Auto Skills Competition held Saturday at Catonsville Community College near Baltimore.

The students, Jason James of Kitzmiller and Jeremiah Johnson of Oakland, were given a "hands-on" challenge testing their ability to repair identically "bugged" Ford automobiles. Scores were based on quality of work and length of time used in repairing the vehicles. All teams participating in the statewide Ford/AAA Auto Skills Competition were selected based on scores obtained on a written automotive test taken earlier this year. The Southern High students' instructor is Tom Powers.

The contest calls attention to the need for automobile technicians to develop high-tech skills required to service increasingly advanced automobiles. Currently, more than 80 percent of the functions on a new vehicle are computer-controlled and cars are becoming more complex with each passing year.

Police Report Charges Filed For CDS, DWI

Arrests were made and charges filed in separate cases of possession of a controlled dangerous substance and driving while intoxicated.

Maryland State Police in McHenry reported the arrest Saturday of Lynn F. Bellinger, 32, and Kelly L. Bellinger, 32, both of Newark, Del. The vehicle in which they were driving had been stopped for speeding around 2 p.m. on I-68 near Grantsville. The officer reported finding marijuana and a smoking pipe in the car after detecting the odor of burning marijuana.

The two suspects were taken to the Garrett County Jail and were later released on their own recognizance.

A driver stopped for speeding on I-68 near Grantsville last Tuesday was subsequently discovered to have an outstanding warrant against him. Police reported that Patrick S. Bruce, 26, Keyser, W.Va., was also driving on a suspended license and found to be in possession of marijuana. Bruce was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and later released on a $25,000 bond.

Jacqueline V. Fazenbaker, 24, Grantsville, was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated, April 19.

Car Break-Ins At VFW Result In Six Month Term

After pleading guilty to felony theft scheme, an Oakland man was handed a six-month jail term in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Dwight Howard Clary, 20, had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in February after a number of parked cars were broken into at the VFW post on Maryland Highway in Deer Park. In sentencing Clary to one year in jail, suspending half of that term, Judge Ralph M. Burnett also placed him on one year of supervised probation, ordered him to obtain his GED, and required him to pay a total of over $500 in restitution to the owners of the cars. Additional charges of seven counts of misdemeanor theft and four counts of misdemeanor malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other district court news, Eric Scott Uphold, 21, Oakland, was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) after he pleaded guilty to a charge of first-degree assault and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He received a 30-day suspended sentence, a $50 fine, and was placed on six months of supervised probation. Additional charges of attempted murder, second-degree assault, and misdemeanor theft were not prosecuted.

Uphold had been arrested in February by the Oakland City Police following an incident when a reported argument at his residence resulted in his alleged taking of an acquaintance's checkbook and car without her permission. Uphold allegedly followed the woman and a friend, who left his home on foot, continued to argue with them, and at one point reportedly pinned one of the women up against a fence with the vehicle when she refused to get into the car with him.

Drug possession charges stemming from a one vehicle accident in December were stetted in the case of Alan Hugh Blake, 41, Dunbar, W.Va.

State troopers had arrested Blake after a 4:30 a.m. accident in which he flipped his car on Interstate 68, and a search of his belongings uncovered cooking spoons with suspected heroin residue, a metal pipe with suspected cocaine residue, numerous syringes and arm tie-offs, and a pill determined to be hydrocodone. He was subsequently charged with three counts of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). Blake is required to complete 40 hours of community service as a condition of the stet.

Blake, who required extrication from the vehicle by rescue personnel prior to being transported to the hospital, also pleaded guilty to driving an uninsured vehicle, which drew a $155 fine, and a third charge of driving on a suspended license drew a PBJ and a $100 fine. Additional charges of driving while intoxicated (DWI) and possessing a suspended license were not prosecuted.

Robert Lee Hodgson, 30, Martinsburg, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and driving on a revoked license, while additional charges of felony theft and making a false statement to a police officer were not prosecuted. He was fined $200, handed an 18-month sentence with all but two weeks suspended, and placed on two years of supervised probation.

Hodgson's charges stemmed from his September 1996 arrest by sheriff's deputies, who stopped his vehicle after observing it being driven erratically on Route 560. A search of his vehicle uncovered a .22 caliber rifle that was confirmed to have been stolen in West Virginia.

DWI and DUI Hearings

Ervin Dale Brown, 37, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) and received a PBJ, with a $155 fine, and a 30-day suspended sentence. He was also placed on one year of supervised probation and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Ronald Andrew McCrobie, 23, McHenry, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $100, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

George John Quart, 47, Silver Spring, and Trinity Scott Gillespie, 22, Culpeper, Va., both pleaded guilty to DUI. Each subject was handed a PBJ, fined $100, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Lula Pearl Weeks, 60, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $100, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

W.Va. Man Jailed For Felony Theft Awaits Extradition

A Berkeley Springs, W.Va., man is in jail awaiting extradition to West Virginia after the Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested him on Monday on a charge of felony theft.

George William Sager Jr., 32, was taken into custody after he reportedly tried to sell a number of allegedly stolen tires to Glotfelty Enterprises. Tri-County Tire, located in Petersburg, W.Va., had contacted the Oakland business earlier to inform it of the theft of 40 tires from its location. On inspecting the tires that Sager had in his possession, Glotfelty employees noted that they bore the markings of the tires taken from Tri-County Tire.

Sager is charged with felony theft, as the tires, worth $100 each, had a total value of approximately $4,000.

In other sheriff's news, a Mtn. Lake Park man is currently being sought in connection with a reported domestic assault that occurred on the night of April 18. A charge of second-degree assault has been filed against Charles Melvin Culp Jr., 35, who reportedly punched the alleged victim when she hid the keys to his car to prevent him from leaving the residence while intoxicated. The victim's injuries required transport to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Following the assault, Culp reportedly packed some belongings, left the scene, and has not been seen since. Deputies believe that he may be hiding in West Virginia. Deputy Valentine is the reporting officer.

Robert Lee Gower Sr., 33, Oakland, was arrested and charged with second-degree assault following a domestic altercation at his residence on the night of April 18. The alleged victim stated that during the course of an argument, a reportedly intoxicated Gower picked her up by the shirt and arms and threw her to the floor, where she struck her head. After his arrest Gower was released when he posted a $5,000 bond.

A domestic incident in the early morning hours of April 18 resulted in the arrest of Russell Eugene Tasker, 26, Oakland. The complainant called deputies to her Loch Lynn residence twice, saying that an allegedly intoxicated Tasker had been beating on her door, throwing things at her house, and yelling at her from the street and yard. The first time deputies responded Tasker had already fled; the second time he had fled again, but they were able to locate him at a nearby residence. There he reportedly struggled with deputies attempting to take him into custody. He was arrested and charged with disturbing the peace and resisting arrest, and is currently being held on a $10,000 bond.

A bicycle valued at $287 was stolen from the front yard of a Louis Naylor Drive residence in Mtn. Lake Park. Taken on the afternoon of April 17 was a 20-inch chrome-colored Mongoose Villain freestyle bicycle. Deputy Valentine is the reporting officer.

A cabin in the 1000 block of Calderwood Road in the Deer Park area was struck by vandals sometime between April 3 and 17. Five windows were broken and shot out, blue paint was thrown on the living room walls, the water was left running, and it appeared that the perpetrator(s) had attempted to set fire to a rug. Deputy Green is the reporting officer.

A burglary of a shed located behind a trailer in the 21000 block of King Wildesen Road occurred between April 4 and 17. Although the shed's door was pried open, nothing appeared to have been taken.

A second King Wildesen Road burglary was discovered when the detective investigating the first incident learned that a front window of a neighboring trailer had been broken out and the door frame had been removed. The shed belonging to the second trailer's owner was also pried open and entered.

Another King Wildesen Road incident was subsequently discovered in the 24000 block, as it was learned that the door knob to a third trailer had been damaged in an apparent attempt to gain entry.

Detective Murphy is investigating each of the King Wildesen Road incidents.

An attempted burglary of a shed in the rear of a residence in the 400 block of Oakland Drive was reported on April 19. It appeared that someone had tried to pry open the door, but it was not clear if entry had in fact been gained. Deputy Valentine is the reporting officer.

A pair of pine trees, bundled at the bottom and ready for sale, were stolen from a tree farm off Ashby Ellis Road near Crellin Mine Road on April 18. The trees are valued at $50 each. Deputy Bittinger is the reporting officer.

John Douglas Santi, 37, Coal Center, Pa., was arrested last week and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) after he was stopped for speeding on Route 40 just east of Keysers Ridge. A subsequent search of his vehicle uncovered a holstered .22 caliber revolver under the front seat and several boxes of .22 caliber shells. Santi faces additional charges of a firearms transport violation and driving on a suspended license. He was released from jail after posting a $1,000 bond.

An arrest warrant was served last week on Christopher Lee Thorn, 31, McHenry, charging him with first, third, and fourth-de-

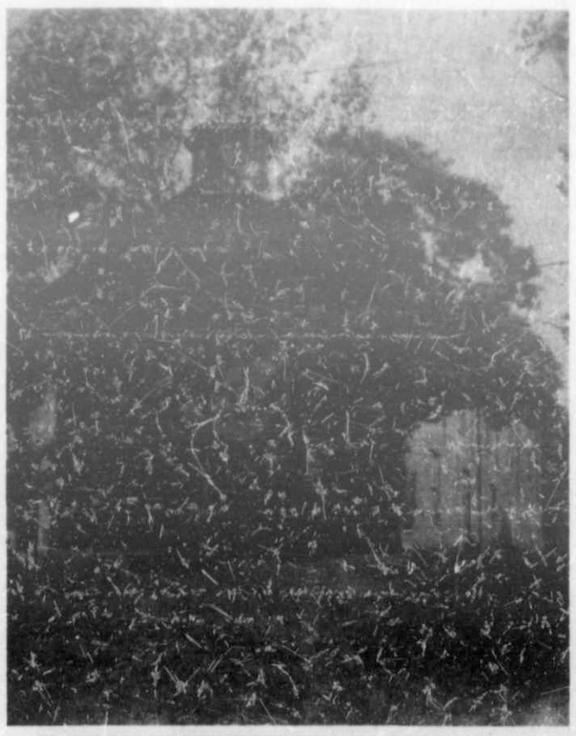
Glimpse of The Past . . .



THE FIRST GARRETT COUNTY COURTHOUSE was built in Oakland in 1877 and, unbeknownst to many, still stands along Fourth Street in Oakland. It is quite inconspicuous, however, because it is the center section of the present Board of Education building. Although Garrett County was formed from the western half of Allegany County in 1872, the courthouse was not built until four years later, and then only after the county commissioners were forced to do so by court action. This photo is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum and is published here courtesy of the Society and The Republican.

First United Announces First Quarter Earnings

First United Corporation has announced growth in earnings for the first quarter of 1998 over the same period in 1997. Income for the first quarter was $1.68 million, or $.27 per share, as compared to $1.38 million, or $.21 per share experienced during the first quarter of 1997.

"1998 has thus far been a mixed blessing for our company," stated William B. Grant, chairman and CEO. "On the one hand, we see many of the changes which we instituted in 1997 are now having a positive impact on earnings, both in cost efficiencies and fee income enhancements. This is most clearly seen in the 12% increase in fee income from Business Manager, Primevest, and Trust. Also, our YTD efficiency ratio is 61.49%, compared to 79.85% for the same time last year. On the other hand, however, we, along with many community banks, continue to experience steady erosion of our net interest margin. The sustained and flat low yield curve has impaired our ability to reprice assets and liabilities with the frequency associated with a more normal yield curve and movements in interest rates. Our net interest margin now stands at 4.53%, compared to 4.81% at the end of the first quarter in 1997. While a net interest margin of 4.53% compares very well with peer banks, the speed with which it has declined is inconsistent with our budget projections."

First United achieved projected growth during the first quarter with loan growth of $8.99 million to a level of $450 million. Deposits during the same time rose $3.48 million to $503 million.

During the first quarter, First United National Bank & Trust opened a specialized office in downtown Hagerstown designed to attract commercial, trust, and brokerage business. Plans are on schedule for the opening in June of the bank's second branch in Frederick.

First United Corporation (NASDAQ:FUNC) offers full-service banking through its banking subsidiary, First United National Bank & Trust. The bank operates a traditional network of offices throughout Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, and Berkeley counties in West Virginia. As of March 31, 1998, the corporation posted assets of $582 million and had 6,243,311 shares outstanding.

COMMISSIONERS SUPPORT NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER — The Garrett County Commissioners this week signed a proclamation to denote May 7 as the local Day of Prayer, in association with the traditional National Day of Prayer. The proclamation states that it is "eminently fitting and proper" that Garrett County observes a day when residents acknowledge "our many blessings and express gratitude to God for them, while recognizing the need for strengthening religious and moral values" in the country. It also states that the country has been "beset with a tidal wave of violence . . . teenage pregnancies, dysfunctional families, and a host of problems which are tearing apart our societal fabrics," and that these problems are occurring because the "values of faith are being swept from the public square." The document calls for the residents of the county to observe a day of prayer and to recognize the "power of prayer, and the power of God through prayer." The national observance has been a tradition for the entire history of the United States, as President George Washington's first act as president was to offer prayer after swearing his oath of office. President Abraham Lincoln called for a day of "humiliation, fasting, and prayer" in 1863, and President Harry Truman officially declared an annual day of prayer in 1952. President Ronald Reagan permanently set the annual date as the first Thursday of May. The county observance, sponsored by the Mountaintop Ministerial Association, will take place in the Garrett County Courthouse rotunda on May 7 at noon. This year's theme is "Return to God." The public is invited to attend. Pictured seated left to right are Commissioners Wayne Johnson, Wayne Wilt, and Gary Fratz. Standing in the same order are William C. Skipper, pastor of Rocky Dream Assembly of God; Rich Tepper, pastor of Terra Alta (W.Va.) Baptist Church; Teresa L. Domenick, coordinator of the event; Don Matthews, pastor of Oak Grove Church of the Brethren; Kathy Skipper, coordinator; Mel Menker, pastor of Oak Park Church of the Brethren; and Roland Nairn III, pastor of Accident Lutheran Parish.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Robbie Glotfelty participated in the 4-H Regional Public Speaking Contest in Hagerstown on Saturday. He was accompanied by his parents and brothers and sister. His uncle, Barry Glotfelty, Frederick, was on hand to do his uncle's duty and cheer him on.

The eagerly anticipated Sunday opening day of the Little League season was postponed because the field was so wet due to 2¼ inches of rain. It would have been more like a swimming pool than the playing field. A few grandparents made the trip to Garrett County; unfortunately, no game. Mary Housley of Great Mill, mother of Sam Housley and, of course, grandmother of Brent, managed in spite of no game to have a nice weekend visit with Sam, Ellen and Brent. Also in town for the first game was Glen Lashley, Leisure World in Silver Spring, grandfather of Scott Pusateri.

Glen had time to kill on Sunday, thus his daughter, Jenny McNally, brought him to visit the Sussmans and to meet Lloyd's parents, Al and Ruthe Sussman, since they are also residents at Leisure World. Al and Ruthe and their daughter Vicki came up to have a Passover dinner on Saturday night. Also along for the visit was Joe Fab of Woodbridge, Va.

Ruth Hershberger, 94, formerly of Grantsville, now joins the Bittinger "Grande Dames," as she has moved to the home of Mike and Brenda Brenneman. Her new address for the next five weeks will be 1958 Frank Brenneman Road, Bittinger. She looks forward to some visitors while staying there. Helping her make the move were Dan and Kitty Hershberger, Vienna, Va. While here in this "neck of the woods," they spent the weekend with Dan's sister-in-law, Margaret Hershberger, and her husband, Jim Wagner.

Ruth DiPaolo, Ken Buckel, and Bill Buckel attended the Garrett County Republican Annual Lincoln Day dinner at the Will O' the Wisp Thursday night. Honored guest and speaker was Colonel Oliver North.

Ruth DiPaolo attended the general meeting of Social Services Boards of Maryland at Columbia. She accompanied Henry Brown, director of social services in Garrett County, and Earl Clark, president of the Maryland association.

Wednesday dinner guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty were Jess and Sheli Gray and daughter Ashlin, formerly of Colorado Springs, Colo.: Karmen, Chris, and Tony Carey, Frostburg; Linda Oester; Tom, Cheryl, Taylor, and Tim Glotfelty; and Ida Reckner. The Grays recently purchased a home in Hanover, since Jeff will now be stationed with the Air Force at Fort Meade. Sunday dinner guests were the Tom Glotfelty family and Ida Reckner.

BPW MEETS

Grantsville Area Business and Professional Women met Monday evening at the Grantsville Holiday Inn. Amy Harman conducted the business meeting. Amy and Ruth DiPaolo will be representing the club in Annapolis in May at the state convention. The program consisted of information on Women in History.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

The 22nd Annual Mother-Daughter Dinner will be held Friday, May 1, at 6:30 at the Bittinger fire hall. The dinner will be served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, which means it will really be delicious. The cost of the meals will be $6.25 per adult, children 5-10, $2.50, and under 5, free. Reservations are to be made to Margaret Hershberger to Ethel Buckel by Sunday, April 26.

Women's Support Group Available Each Thursday

A women's support group, sponsored by the Garrett County Department of Social Services, meets every Thursday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. The group meets in the basement of the Social Services building, located on Garrett Highway just north of the Board Room Family Restaurant.

Women of all ages are welcome to come and discuss important issues, including self-esteem, fear of change, co-dependency, and enabling behaviors, in an informal environment of sharing and support. "We offer a supportive atmosphere, confidentiality, and positive feedback," a facilitator for the group said.

For further information interested persons may call the Department of Social Services at 301-334-5431.

Annual Highland Festival Slated For June 6 At Fairgrounds

The 11th annual McHenry Highland Festival will be held Saturday, June 6, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Festival field activities will include amateur athletic competitions, sheepdog exhibitions, grand opening ceremonies with a parade of clans and tartans, massed bands, and the Scottish Military Heritage units. Other field activities will include bagpipe band concerts, Kilted Mile Race, Ladies' Haggis Hurl, children's games, and other events.

Indoor stage and other activities include Scottish country dancing, folk music by renowned Scottish singer Carl Peterson, performances by harper Lynne Barnes, and Scottish fiddling by Bonnie Rideout, 3-time U.S. fiddle champion. Amateur solo piping competitions and highland dance competitions are also part of the festival.

The festival will also feature harp, country dancing, living history, and bagpipe workshops, a highland cattle exhibit, living history military encampment units, Scottish Clan Societies, shops, and foods. The Athlete of the Day and Piper of the Day awards will be presented during the closing ceremonies.

A ceilidh (Scottish party with entertainment) will be held at 8 p.m. that evening at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort for an evening of fellowship and entertainment featuring festival performers. The ceilidh will feature complimentary snacks, a cash bar, and whisky tasting. Seating is limited.

On Sunday, June 7, a Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held at 9:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park, followed by a concert by the Garrett Community College Pipes & Drums, host band for the festival.

Admission to the festival is $5 for anyone 12 and over and admission to the ceilidh is $4 per person (separate fee for whisky tasting).

This festival is sponsored by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and in part by GPU Energy, Bell Atlantic Maryland, and TCI Computer Systems, Oakland, and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. The ceilidh is hosted by the Wisp Ski & Golf Resort and the McHenry Highland Festival. The whiskey tasting is sponsored by Ben Nevis Distillery, Fort William, Scotland. For a free festival brochure, advance tickets, or more information, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948; e-mail info@garrettchamber.com.

Northern Girls Fall To Alco, Crush Indians

The girls' varsity softball team of Northern High School split a pair of games this past week, as the Huskies were topped by undefeated Allegany, 10-3, last Thursday afternoon at the Cove, and then rolled over visiting Mount Savage on Tuesday, 11-1, in a game shortened to five innings because of the 10-run rule. The split in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League games left the Huskies with a 3-5 mark in the WMIL and a 5-7 record overall.

The Northern offense was limited to five hits by Allegany's Stacy Walton last Thursday, including a double by Jennifer Thomas and two singles by Brooke Brenneman.

The contest was knotted at 3-3 after five innings of play, but Alco (9-0 overall, 7-0 WMIL) tallied three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh to win by the comfortable margin. Erin Rhodes and Cassie Murray each had two singles for the Campers, while Kori Corthron added a double.

Tuesday's win over Mount Savage avenged an earlier loss to the Indians this season, and the Huskies wasted no time taking control of the game, as they scored all but one of their runs in the bottom of the first inning. Northern finished with only six hits off two Indian pitchers, one of which was a three-run double by Brenneman. Jenny Thomas hit a run-producing double.

Arissa Kenner went the distance on the mound for the Huskies and allowed only four hits, including a triple by April Skidmore.

The Huskies will entertain Beall this afternoon.

IN MID-WIND-UP at left is Northern High School's Arissa Kenner, getting ready to fire one to the plate against the Mt. Savage Indians Tuesday afternoon at the Cove. Kenner recorded a four-hitter to lead the Huskies to an 11-1 defeat of the Indians and improve Northern's overall record to 5-7. Above, Northern's Andrea McRobie makes contact with the ball. The Huskies will host Beall this afternoon.

The Northern girls recorded 63 points, second only to Frankfort with 94 and just one point ahead of University. Mount Savage was fourth with 30.

Leading the Northern boys were Craig Kamp, who won the triple jump, high jump, and long jump, Nate Kauffman, who won the 100 and 200 dashes, and Andy McKenzie, who placed first in the 300 hurdles. The Northern 400 relay team also finished first.

The Northern girls were paced by Helain Annon, who won the triple jump and the long jump, and Rachel Leverenz, who won the 3,200 (two-mile) run and was a member of the winning 3,200 relay team.

In Tuesday meet, the Northern boys finished with 78 points, while Beall won with 94, Allegany placed second with 66, and Mount Savage was fourth with 13.

The Northern girls recorded 75 points, with Allegany placing first with 85, Beall third with 55, and Mount Savage fourth with 38.

Craig Kamp won the long jump and Eric Neubert placed first in the 800 run to lead the Northern boys, while April Enlow won the 100 and 300 hurdles and Annon won the long and high jumps to pace the Northern girls. The Northern girls' 1,600 relay team also finished first.

The Northern teams are slated to host three more teams — Morgantown, University, and Preston — in a

Arsenal Teams In The Midst Of Spring Season

The Arsenal Football (soccer) clubs have begun spring season outdoor play in several divisions.

In its opening games, the Arsenal U-18 boys' team scored a most satisfying victory over the Wheeling Eagles by a 4-3 score. Playing with no substitutions, Arsenal gutted out the hard-fought victory in the closing minutes of the match. Steve Pariseau scored two goals, with Chad Lovett and Dustin Slider contributing one each. Chris Friend had two assists, while goalkeeper Jonathan Price collected 8 saves.

In the second match of the day, played immediately following the initial contest, Arsenal played even with the league entry from Cheat Lake before finally falling, 3-2. Arsenal had numerous scoring opportunities, but was unable to capitalize. Goals were scored by Chris Friend and Derrick Nelson. Dustin Slider and Chris Friend also had assists. Jonathan Price made 9 saves.

The Arsenal U-18 club will travel to Charleston, W.Va., this weekend for two games before closing out its season at home in early May. Their season record currently stands at 1-1-0.

The Arsenal U-16 team has had difficulties adjusting to the higher level of play, but improvement is continuing. Despite losing its home opener 13-0 to an excellent Wheeling club, the team fared much better in the second game that day, losing to Weirton by a 6-0 margin. Brandon Heselbach and Chris Menker shared goalkeeping duties, amassing over 50 saves between them on that day.

In their second week of play, they lost their third game of the season to Weirton, W.Va., 10-1. The Arsenal goal was scored by T.J. Nine on an assist by Bryan Schwalm. In their second match of the day, Arsenal fell to the Parkersburg Soccer Club, 4-0.

This past Sunday, the U-16 team again played the fine Wheeling team, falling by a 10-0 score. Both games were played in a downpour that left the field saturated and playing conditions less than desirable. The Arsenal club did master the off-side trap and Wheeling was called 18 times in the game for being in an off-side position. Chris Menker and Brandon Heselbach managed 20 stops in goal.

In the second game, Arsenal fell to Blue-Grey United, another fine West Virginia club, by an 11-0 score. Brandon Heselbach and Chris Menker made 18 saves collectively. The team's record is currently 0-6-0.

In the Girls' U-14 team's first weekend of play, the local squad lost to a top-notch team from Morgantown, 4-0, but came back in the second game to hold the NCU soccer club from Bridgeport to a 0-0 draw.

In their second week of play, the girls' team defeated Parkersburg by a 2-1 score on unassisted goals by April Teets and Sarah Teets. In their second game they were edged by Huntington Soccer Club, 1-0. Becky Martin and Emily Lynch have been sharing the goalkeeping duties. The next games for the U-14 girls' team are this Sunday at home. The team's record is currently 1-2-1.

The public is invited to attend the home matches, which are played at Southern High School.

MSA's Major League Soccer Camp Slated

The Mountaintop Soccer Association will hold its annual major league soccer camp July 13-17 at Southern High School. Campers must register to attend by Monday, June 1. The camp is open to all children and youth, ages 5-18.

Munchkin camps will be held each day 9-10:30 a.m., 10:30-noon, 5-6:30 p.m., or 6:30-8 p.m.

Camp for elementary age children will be held each day 5-8 p.m. Middle and high school students' camp will be held each morning, 9 a.m. until noon.

The cost for the munchkin camp will be $50 per child, and, for all others, $82. This fee includes a soccer ball and a camp T-shirt.

For applications and/or more information, persons may call Nancy Pagenhardt at 301-334-1021.

Southern Girls Whipped By Wildcats, Sentinels, Tornado

It was a tough week on the softball diamond for the Southern High varsity girls this past week, as the Rams were crushed by visiting Westmar on Saturday, 25-5, in just five innings, were then whipped, 15-1, by Fort Hill in another shortened game Tuesday afternoon, and then fell to host Keyser yesterday, 7-3.

The Rams were out-hit by Westmar by a modest 9-6 margin, but the Wildcats drew 14 bases on balls, while the Southern defense committed seven errors. Jennifer Fazenbaker hit a home run and a double for Westmar (6-4), while Sarah Gattens and Ashley Kitzmiller each singled twice.

Kristina Hardesty doubled and singled for the Rams.

The Southern junior varsity topped the Westmar jayvees, 20-12.

The Ram varsity was held to just one hit, a single by Jennifer Teagarden, in Tuesday's loss to Fort Hill, while the Sentinels recorded 11 hits and took advantage of eight Ram miscues on defense.

Recording the one-hitter for the Sentinels was Carrie Liller, who aided her own cause at the plate by hitting a triple and a single. Stephanie Skidmore led the Fort Hill attack with a two-run homer and a bases-loaded double to finish with five RBI.

Hitting two singles apiece were Gretchen Pryor and Anjala Hines. The win upped Fort Hill's overall record to 10-2, and gave the Sentinels a 5-1 mark in Western Maryland Interscholastic League play.

The Rams held a 3-1 lead over Keyser after four and one-half innings yesterday, but the Golden Tornado took the lead for good by scoring three runs in the bottom of the fifth and moving out to a 4-3 advantage. The Keyser players then added three insurance runs in the sixth inning.

Winning pitcher Lindsey Staggers held Southern to just four hits, all singles by Jessica Brenneman, Nicole Kitzmiller, Melissa Kuykendall, and Stacy Scripp.

Leading Keyser's eight-hit effort were Katie Likens and Jennifer Roderick, who each smacked a triple.

The Rams, who are currently 3-6 overall and 3-5 in the WMIL, will try to get back into the win column this evening at home against Flintstone. That contest will get underway at 4:30 p.m.

Southern will host Tucker County next Monday, Northern on Tuesday, and Allegany next Thursday.

Annual Fishing Contest To Begin

The 38th Annual Garrett County Fishing Contest will begin May 1 and continue through September 30, 1998.

"Fishing is one of the most exciting sports in the county and Deep Creek Lake, Maryland's largest freshwater lake, is the center of fishing activity in the area," said a spokesperson for the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "The county also boasts a large number of rivers, streams, and reservoirs which offer excellent fishing."

Weekly winners of the fishing contest are each awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappie, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. All fish entered in the contest must be registered at Johnny's Bait House on Route 219, located just south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

This fishing contest is sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. For more information on this and other events, contact the chamber at 200 S. Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581, telephone 301-334-1948, or e-mail info@deepcreeklake.org or info@garrettchamber.com.

Nat'l. Magazines Mention Local Sports Business

High Mountain Sports was recently mentioned in two national magazines, Wakeboard and Outside.

Outside magazine, an outdoor enthusiasts' publication which features articles ranging from hiking to mountain biking, carried an article in the March 1998 issue titled "Rides of a Nation; Coast to Coast and Way Beyond; the 50 Best Rambles in America." The article described the best rides in each state. This article about Maryland, in which High Mountain Sports was mentioned, was about a road ride through Friendsville and Swallow Falls.

In Wakeboard magazine, High Mountain Sports was mentioned in a letter to the editor, in which the reader described his vacation at Deep Creek Lake, where he rented a wakeboard from "the only board shop around," which was High Mountain Sports.

Tough Week Sees Lakers Drop Three Out Of Four

The Garrett Community College baseball team struggled this week, losing a doubleheader sweep to Anne Arundel by scores of 5-7 and 5-8, then splitting a twinbill with Hagerstown with a 7-4 victory and a 2-11 defeat. The Lakers' record stands at 19-10 overall and 7-7 in Division I play. Upcoming action takes them to Montgomery-Rockville for a Saturday doubleheader, followed by a homestand that includes a pair of games with Chesapeake beginning at noon Sunday, a twinbill against Allegany commencing at 2 p.m. Tuesday, and a single game against the Catamounts of Potomac State slated for 7 p.m. Friday, May 1.

At home against Anne Arundel last Saturday, GCC's offense produced enough runs to win, but the breaks went the other way as a five-run fifth inning erased a five-run Laker lead. The hosts put together a third inning outburst as Denny Rulli hit a two-run homer and Chris Powell doubled to spark GCC's scoring, but once Anne Arundel knotted the score it was a whole new ballgame. With the momentum swinging its way, Anne Arundel added two runs in the sixth inning to cinch the victory by a score of 7-5. Mike Johnston opened the pitching for GCC, and was lifted in the fifth inning when Jeremy Fitzwater was called in.

In the second game Anne Arundel came out swinging, racking up three runs in the top of the first with help from Chad Gerben's two-run homer, then added two more runs in the second. The Lakers fought back, answering with a one-run first inning and a four-run second inning to tie the score. Anne Arundel then punched out two runs in the fourth and one run in the sixth to gain the victory by an 8-5 margin. Andy Blackwell had two singles for GCC and Powell singled and doubled for a pair of RBI. David Collins and Brian Hays each doubled as well. Anne Arundel's Anthony DiGiorgio had a one-run homer to bolster the visitors' offense, which worked on GCC pitcher Mike Maravich through the first four innings before Chad Ord came on in relief.

"It was one of those days," commented Lakers head coach Ed Wildesen. "It seemed like we could get the big second out after getting into a jam, but then they'd answer with a hit. The breaks just went their way today. We outhit them and committed one error in the second game and we still lost the game. It was indicative of the whole afternoon."

The coach had to be all smiles during the opening game of the Tuesday matchup with the Hagerstown Hawks, however, as the multi-talented Rulli led the Lakers to a 7-4 victory. Taking to the mound, the sophomore delighted the home fans by hurling a four-hitter and racking up an impressive 14 Ks. Rulli was helped by a two-run homer from Matt DiAngelo in the fourth inning that put GCC up 6-4. Blackwell went 2-for-4 with two singles, Hays and Joe Cusato both had a pair of singles, and Southern High alumnus Fitzwater had three singles. Matt Dykema led Hagerstown with a three-run home run in the second inning, and Mike Shoemaker added a third inning solo shot. Hawks pitcher Chad Secret took the loss.

The second game saw the Hawks soar with an 11-2 pounding of the hosts. Hagerstown's Jason Kelly held the Lakers to four hits for the contest, two of which were provided by Gene Sethman who went 2-for-3 with two singles. The Hawks' Danny Summers was 2-for-5 with two singles, Dykema tallied three singles, and Todd Parker added two singles. Ord, Maravich, and Rick Swanger all pitched for the Lakers.

IT'S A GREAT DAY FOR BASEBALL, SO LET'S PLAY TWO! - Garrett Community College's Lakers did just that on Tuesday afternoon as they hosted Hagerstown for a twinbill split, winning 7-4 before dropping an 11-2 capper. Above, two-way star Denny Rulli, as accustomed to success on the mound as he is at the plate, fires in a fastball to one of the 14 Hawks he struck out in his four-hit performance for the opening win. Below, catcher Jason Davis belts out a basehit, one of 11 Laker hits that helped his batterymate take the victory in game one. The split gives GCC a 19-10 overall record and a 7-7 record in Division I play going into Saturday's doubleheader at Rockville.

Area Speedway Review

Interstate 79 Speedway

Veteran late model driver Butch McGill led the list of feature winners at Interstate 79 Speedway on opening night Friday evening. Also visiting the winner's circle were Rick Strickler, Butch Summers, Ron Parrish, Danny Staggers, and Dave Summers. Over 100 cars checked into the pit area on a cold spring night.

The Shinnston Plumbing late model feature started off to be a father-son show as the Frank Wilsons battled for the first six laps. Butch McGill took over the lead on lap 6 as the Wilsons got into lapped traffic. On the next lap, a lapped car touched Wilson Sr. and put him into the side of Wilson Jr., who ended up hitting the wall and retiring for the evening. Last year's semi late champion Doug Horton made his debut in the late model ranks as he began a chase for McGill. Horton and Nolan Dalton raced for the runner up spot, with Horton getting the edge. Dalton was third, followed by Mike Benedum and Ron Slavic. Heat winner in the late models were McGill, Wilson Sr. and Benedum.

Rick Strickler and Jerry Haseleu put on a show during the first half of the semi late feature, but Haseleu's luck ran out when he was involved in a spin, then a hard crash. Strikler was victorious over Donnie, Dotson, Tim Senic, Kenny Gould, and Carl Sullivan. Strickler and Senic were heat winners.

Ron Parrish brought his new ride for '98 home in first place in the UMP Modified division ahead of Shawn Davis, Charles Cochran, Mike Lewis of Oakland, and Ed Reed. As always, a good field of UMPs were on hand at I-79 Speedway. Heat wins went to Parrish, Louie Krushansky, and Larry Yanero.

A new face in victory lane belonged to Danny Staggers driving his Jeremy Mayfield look-alike Pure Stock. Staggers was chased by Jeff Kesling and Gary Tonkery, with Kesling edging Tonkery for the second place. Doug Thompson and Mark Bell rounded out the top five. Tonkery and Pat Frazier were the heat race winners.

Four cylinders have returned to I-79 in this new racing season, and Dave Summers picked up right where he left off two years ago by winning the feature event. He was followed at the line by Tom Simpson, Sonny Creighton, Shawn Phillips, and Ron Hurley. Summers and Creighton won the prelims.

The dwarf cars made their first of four appearances at I-79, with Butch Summers grabbing the win from veterans Bob Stackpole and Terry Hall. Ken Hawkins and Carl Jones were fourth and fifth. Hawkins and Stackpole won the heats.

Regular racing continues this Friday, April 24, with racing in five divisions. Coming May 1 is the first race of the West Virginia State Championship Series, paying $1,500 to the late model winner. All support divisions will run regular feature events.

Rams Mash Trojans, Fall To Keyser, Then Destroy Allegany

The Southern High varsity baseball team played three games this past week, with one defeat sandwiched between a pair of victories. The Rams crushed visiting Hampshire Saturday, 11-1, were edged by host Keyser on Tuesday, 2-0; and then recorded a big 12-2 thrashing of Allegany, the area's number-one ranked team this week, at home yesterday afternoon.

Coach Jim Bosley's team, now 6-4 overall and 3-1 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League, will play a make-up game at home this afternoon against Tucker County. Southern came into the week as the area's fourth-ranked team.

Chad Warnick limited the Hampshire Trojans to just three hits in Saturday's game, while Jordan Uphold knocked in five of the Rams' 11 runs with a two-run homer in the second inning and a triple.

The Rams trailed briefly, 1-0, until the bottom of the first when they erupted for seven runs to take the lead for good. The contest was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Also getting multiple hits for Southern in a 13-hit performance were Derek Everd and Scott Beitzel, who each doubled and singled, with Beitzel's hits resulting in a pair of runs. Jason Weaver added a pair of singles.

Tuesday's game at Keyser was a pitchers' duel between Southern's Josh Bosley and the Golden Tornado's Jake Ellifritz, but Keyser managed to take advantage of a couple of Ram defensive miscues to put a pair of runs on the board and record their eighth win in 15 starts.

Keyser's first run, scored in the first inning, was recorded by Lucas Taylor, who walked, stole second, went to third on an overthrow, and scored on a triple by Aaron Dupont.

The score remained 1-0 until the bottom of the sixth when Dupont reached on an error and then scored on a double by Colin Rotruck.

Bosley allowed only four hits, struck out nine, and walked just three, while Ellifritz finished with a three-hitter, struck out six, and allowed no walks.

Jason Weaver hit two of the Rams' three singles.

Warnick was the star in yesterday's big victory over Allegany, as he tossed a three-hitter over six innings and also hammered a pair of home runs for four RBI.

The Campers took a brief 1-0 lead in their first at-bats, but the Rams took the lead for good in the bottom of the first by putting five runs on the board. They made it 8-1 with three more runs in the second. The game was called in the bottom of the sixth after Southern scored two more, which invoked the 10-run rule.

Also having an outstanding day at the plate for the Rams was Josh Bosley, who went 4-for-4 with a home run, a double, and two singles to bring in four RBI. Mike Bittinger had two singles in the Rams' 12-hit afternoon.

Warnick allowed only three singles and four walks while striking out 10 Alco batters. It was the fifth loss in 14 games for the Campers, whose WMIL mark is now 7-3.

After this afternoon's make-up game with Tucker County, the Rams are slated to play at Mt. Savage this Saturday, entertain Beall next Monday, and host Westmar next Wednesday.

SMASHING A HOMER, and having practically his entire team greet him at the plate yesterday afternoon, was Southern High School's Josh Bosley, who went 4-for-4 in the game to help the Rams record a huge 12-2 victory over visiting Allegany. The Campers came into the game as the area's top-ranked team for the week. Also having an outstanding afternoon was Southern pitcher Chad Warnick, pictured in action below, who not only fired a three-hitter, but also repped not one, but two, home runs. Fritz Shuts Down Flintstone Hitters, As Huskies Win 9-1

Northern's baseball team blasted the Flintstone Aggies by a 9-1 score on Monday for their fourth win in a row, as Matt Fritz held the Aggies to two hits in six innings on the mound. The Huskies carry a 7-5 record into this afternoon's matchup with Westmar in Accident.

A home run and a single from Zach Rowe brought home two RBI to pace the Husky offense, while Matt Fritz, Chris Herman, and Ryan Butler contributed two singles each. Matt Settle added a two-run single of his own in the first inning. Fritz also led the Huskies from the mound, carrying a no-hitter through the sixth inning before Jeremy Redd came in from the bullpen to ice the victory.

For Flintstone, B.J. Zirkle and Craig Cessna had singles for the only two hits the Aggies were able to muster against the Northern aces. A sacrifice fly from Jeremy Bishop brought home the lone Aggie run.

After today's Westmar matchup, the next Northern outing is a rematch with Flintstone on the Aggies home field on Wednesday, April 29.

Hello Neighbors,
This is Pastor Alan R. Birkby, and I would like to make available to you "Messages of Hope", that were preached live at Harvest Baptist Church.

If you would write me, I would be delighted to place you on the mailing list, so that you can take advantage of the messages, and find information concerning cost and subject matter.

Whether single tapes or a series of messages, they will come in professional packaging, but most of all, the messages will point people to Jesus Christ, who is the answer for every situation in life.

You, your family and friends, will be blessed as they listen to the good news of the Gospel. They will also make excellent gifts for someone who might need to hear some words of encouragement.

Just write to the above address, and as soon as your letter is received, the mailing list of information will be sent right out.

God Bless You,
Rev. Alan R. Birkby

Ram Jayvees Sweep Huskies, Then Nip Beall

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School upped its record to 5-1 this past week by sweeping visiting Northern in a doubleheader on Saturday, 10-5 and 14-4, and then edging Beall on Tuesday, 9-8, also in Oakland.

The Rams trailed the Huskies by a 5-3 margin in the seventh inning of Saturday's first game, but knotted the score at 5-5 and sent the contest into extra innings. Southern put five more runs on the board in the eighth to record the win.

Christian Warfield hit a two-run homer and a single, and recorded four RBI for the Rams, while Jon Browning provided a double and two singles, plus scored three times. Jason Hinebaugh finished with two doubles and a single for three RBI, and T.J. Riley singled three times.

Paul Beitzel hit a run-producing single for the Huskies, who dropped to 2-4 with the double loss.

In the second game, Jared Fike paced the Rams' hitting with a two-run homer and a single. Hinebaugh hit a double and a single and recorded four RBI, Warfield finished with a double and a single for two RBI, Jon Lucas ripped a solo homer, and Justin DiSimone contributed two singles.

The Northern offense was, for the second time that day, held to four singles. The Huskies will play at home Friday against Bishop Walsh.

Jason Finch provided most of the offense for the Rams against Beall on Tuesday, as he smacked a home run, a double, and a single for three RBI.

The Rams trailed 7-3 after four innings, but rallied for the victory and avenged their only loss of the season, which was a 13-3 thrashing by the Mountaineers last Wednesday.

Warfield upped his personal record to 3-1 with a 10-strike-out, complete game, and aided his own cause by hitting three singles. Also getting multiple hits for the Rams was Jason Rohrbaugh, who singled twice for three RBI.

Pacing Beall (6-5) at the plate were Colt Ruby with a home run and a double for two RBI, Danny Filer with two singles for three RBI, Steve Diehl with two singles and two RBI, David Schrock with a homer and a single, and Jeremy Smith with three singles.

In last week's loss to Beall, which was the first in 12 years, the Rams managed only three hits off Derek Yates, including a two-run triple by Warfield. The Ram defense had its poorest outing of the year by far, as it committed nine errors. The game was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Jason Thomas had three singles and scored twice for the Mountaineers, while Randy Dugan chipped in with two singles.

The Rams will play again this Saturday in a noon contest at Fort Hill.

NHS Net Teams Nip Beall After Split With BW

Victories by two doubles teams, one for the girls and one for the boys, gave the Northern High School tennis teams 4-3 wins over host Beall on Tuesday at the Frostburg State University courts.

The Huskies also split a match with host Bishop Walsh on Monday, with the girls winning by a 5-2 margin and the Northern boys being blanked, 7-0.

In the Northern girls' win over Beall, Abby Bruch, Tawnya Wilkins, and Katie Sisler each won in singles for three team points. Earning the deciding point for the Huskies was the doubles team of Amanda Downton and Amy Tressler.

Kirsten Getz and Sara Beck were singles winners for the Mountaineers.

The Northern boys' win was highlighted by singles victories by David Butler, Jimmy Warnick, and Matt Fletcher. Also winning for the Huskies was the doubles team of Warnick and Jed Wilhelm.

In the Northern girls' win over Bishop Walsh on Monday, Kristin Wright, Abby Bruch, Tawyna Wilkens, and Katie Sisler all won in singles for the Huskies, and Amanda Downton and Amy Tressler teamed up for a doubles victory.

Meanwhile, the Northern boys were blanked 7-0 by the undefeated Spartans this past week at the Cumberland Country Club.

Leading the Spartans were Jared Skidmore (by forfeit), Rex Villanueva, Stephen Zamagias, Chris Ratke, and Vahid Amirghassemi, who each won his singles match.

Ram Netters Split A Match With Trojans

The boys' and girls' tennis teams of Southern High School split a match with visiting Hampshire on Tuesday, as the Southern boys won, 6-1 and the girls were defeated, 4-3. The Southern girls were also edged by Beall yesterday, 4-3.

Sweeping the singles matches for the Southern boys against Hampshire were Brandon Ferguson, Justin Stephens, Melvin Rexrode, Mike Pamepinto, and Bryson Hall. The sixth Ram point was recorded by the doubles team of Stephens and Dustin Slider.

Earning the only team point for the Trojans was the doubles team of Jeremy Buckley and Tim Riley.

In the girls match, Desiree Spadey was the only member of the Southern team to win in singles. The teams of Amy Suess and Megan Mou, and Laura Friend and Sarah Thomas each won their doubles matches.

Winning in singles for Hampshire were Tricia Oates, Jennifer Brewster, Stacy Harriot, and Paige Moreland.

In yesterday's loss to Beall, Amy Suess and Laura Friend each recorded singles wins for the Rams, while Bridgette Hartman and Sarah Thomas teamed up to earn a win in doubles.

Singles winners for the Mountaineers (3-2) were Kirsten Getz, Kim Rydler, and Jerilyn Jackson. Getz and Rydler put the Beall team over the top with their doubles victory.

The Southern boys will entertain Keyser this Friday.

SHS Girls Still Unbeaten In Track; Boys Also Defeat Beall

A sweep of Beall in track and field last Thursday in Frostburg kept the Southern High School girls' team, coached by Bill Freyman, undefeated so far this season and improved the mark of the Southern boys' squad, coached by Loren Bowser. The Southern girls rolled over the Mountaineers by a 106-31 margin, while the boys' team emerged with a 79-67 victory.

The Southern girls captured first places in 15 of the 18 events and were led by Amy Snyder and Andi Bender, who each finished with four firsts, Katelyn McBee and Jody Bowser with three apiece, and Erin Hoalcraft, Angie Hoalcraft, Beth Sauder, Liz Paesani, and Lauren Rudy with two each.

Snyder won the 400 and 800 runs, the 300 hurdles, and was a member of the winning 1,600 relay team, while Bender won the high jump and triple jump, and was a member of the winning 400 and 800 relay teams.

McBee won the 1,600 (mile) run and was on the victorious 3,200 and 1,600 relay teams, and Bowser won the 200 dash and was on the 400 and 800 relay squads.

Beall's only first-place finishes were by Darla Malloy in the shot put and discus, and Alissa Pecora in the 100 dash.

Pacing the Southern boys were Jonathan Price and Eric Rexrode, who each won three first places, and Chad Lovett and Casey McBee, who finished with two apiece.

Price won the 110 high hurdles, the high jump, and the triple jump, and Rexrode won the 800 and 1,600 runs, and was a member of the winning 3,200 relay team. Lovett was the winner of the 100 and 200 dashes, while McBee won the 3,200 (two-mile) run and was also on the 3,200 relay team.

The top finisher for Beall was Zack Brinkman, who won the long jump and was on the winning 400 and 800 relay teams.

The Rams will compete again this afternoon at home against Hampshire, Keyser, and Preston. The Southern boys will participate in the boys' Area Meet next Tuesday at Beall, and the girls will travel to Greenway Stadium in Cumberland on Wednesday to vie in the girls' Area Meet.

Husky Track And Field Teams Fare Well In Pair Of Meets

The track and field teams of Northern High School participated in a pair of home meets this past week, and both the boys' and girls' teams placed among the top two in both four-team competitions. The Huskies hosted Frankfort, University, and Mount Savage in a meet last Friday, which the Northern boys won and the Husky girls placed second. Northern then hosted Allegany, Beall, and Mount Savage on Tuesday and finished with a pair of second places.

The NHS boys amassed 83 points last Friday to edge out the Frankfort Falcons, who placed second with 80 and the University team, which was third with 78. Mount Savage finished a distant fourth with seven points.

The Northern girls recorded 63 points, second only to Frankfort with 94 and just one point ahead of University. Mount Savage was fourth with 30.

Leading the Northern boys were Craig Kamp, who won the triple jump, high jump, and long jump, Nate Kauffman, who won the 100 and 200 dashes, and Andy McKenzie, who placed first in the 300 hurdles. The Northern 400 relay team also finished first.

The Northern girls were paced by Helain Annon, who won the triple jump and the long jump, and Rachel Leverenz, who won the 3,200 (two-mile) run and was a member of the winning 3,200 relay team.

In Tuesday meet, the Northern boys finished with 78 points, while Beall won with 94, Allegany placed second with 66, and Mount Savage was fourth with 13.

The Northern girls recorded 75 points, with Allegany placing first with 85, Beall third with 55, and Mount Savage fourth with 38.

Craig Kamp won the long jump and Eric Neubert placed first in the 800 run to lead the Northern boys, while April Enlow won the 100 and 300 hurdles and Annon won the long and high jumps to pace the Northern girls. The Northern girls' 1,600 relay team also finished first.

The Northern teams are slated to host three more teams — Morgantown, University, and Preston — in a meet this evening. The Northern boys will compete in the boys' Area Meet next Wednesday at Beall and the girls' team will vie in the girls' Area Meet at Fort Hill next Thursday.

METTIKI SPONSORING TOURNEY KICKOFF - The ninth annual Habitat for Humanity Golf Outing, to be held at the Wisp Resort golf course in McHenry next month, will be kicked off by a dinner sponsored by the Mettiki Coal Corporation. Above, Barbara Briggs, executive director of Habitat, accepts a check for $1,000 from Dave Thomas, corporate affairs manager for Mettiki. Also in the photo, from left, are: Dave Moe, Habitat board member and co-president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce; Richard Trydahl, Habitat board member; and Col. Richard Browning, chairman of the Golf Outing. Members of the committee not pictured include Frank Lancelotta, Doug McClive, and Rob Michael.

Local Racers Fare Well In Somerset Event

Cart racing at the Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa., Friday night was dominated by local racers, who won the top two spots in both events.

Jason Miller won his first heat race ever in the gas and oil class, edging out Doug Smith of Cumberland. Meanwhile, Oakland's Mike Sloan placed second in the second heat race. Then in the feature, Miller started on the outside of the front row, while Sloan started in the fifth spot. Miller took the lead with 11 laps to go and held off Sloan to win his first-ever cart race.

Two other local racers fared well in the alcohol class, as Cody Hardesty and Jeremy Murphy each won both of their heat races. In the feature, Murphy started in the pole position, with Hardesty right beside him. Hardesty led the first half of the race, then Murphy pulled out in front and held on for the win. Hardesty placed second.

Hardesty also placed first in the alcohol class at a track in Shippensburg, Pa., on April 11 and finished second in the heavy class.

Mettiki Sponsor Of Kickoff For Habitat Tourney

A kickoff dinner will be held for the ninth annual Garrett County Habitat for Humanity Golf Outing, thanks to a sponsorship donation of $1,000 from the Mettiki Coal Corporation. Dave Thomas, Mettiki's corporate affairs manager, recently presented a check to Barbara Briggs, executive director of the local Habitat for Humanity chapter.

The dinner, which is slated for Thursday, May 28, 7 p.m., at Will O' the Wisp, will feature "a walk down memory lane" with master of ceremonies Gary Yoder, and music provided by Johnny Rock.

The format for the 1998 golf tourney, which will be played Friday, May 29, is new, according to Briggs. There will be two-player teams, with each member playing his or her own ball on the Wisp Resort golf course in McHenry. The best score of the partners will determine the score for the team. There will be several flights for men, women, and mixed teams. Each two-player team will be paired with another team and will request a tee time (8 a.m. to 2 p.m.) by telephoning the Wisp (301-387-4911, ext. 2134).

Entry fees are $100 per golfer, which will include a Thursday (May 28) practice round, a "Martin Heise Signature" buffet Thursday evening, a golfer "goodie bag," green fees, hole prizes, team prizes, a mulligan package, and other amenities.

"Players should get their registration forms and checks in the mail today," stated Mrs. Briggs. "The sooner players register, the better chance they will get the tee times they want." Forms are available at The Book Mark'et, Water Street Market Place, Farmers and Merchants Bank, The Wisp, the Habitat office, and from committee members (see photo cutline).

The proceeds will benefit Habitat for Humanity in its quest to eliminate substandard housing in Garrett County. For more information about the organization and/or the golf tournament, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 113.

Town Hall

DEER PARK

There will be a dedication of the recently completed sewer system held at Town Hall on Friday, April 24, 2 p.m.

A ground breaking and check presentation to Garrett County from USDA Rural Development for a new town water system will occur at the same time.

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Tuesday, April 21.

•The town will collect tires, on or off the rim. They must be stacked in front of residents' homes Saturday morning by 9 a.m. for pick-up that day.

•The council voted 5-1 to reject the application from Twila Fike to establish a car lot in any residential area of town.

•A permit was granted by the town planning and zoning commission for establishment of a game room at 253 Maple St. by Twila Fike.

•Bids for maintenance of the community park were reviewed and rejected. Ken Harding will mow the ball field areas of the park on an as needed basis.

•Groups wishing to use the ball field may contact Kenny Harding of the Friendsville softball league.

•Park pavilions are available for reserved use. The small ones are $15 and the large ones are $35. Alice Spear coordinates reservations.

•The donated shrubs and trees have been planted in the park. They have already been vandalized. All residents are asked to report any unusual activity to the sheriff's office, the state police, or the mayor and council.

•Letters have been sent to residents who are in violation of town zoning ordinances.

•A grants application for the senior center has been resubmitted to the GDBG.

•All new businesses are reminded that a zoning application is needed. These are available at town hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the county office of planning and zoning in the court house, Oakland.

•The town clerk and treasurer remind all delinquent tax payers that taxes must be paid in full ASAP. For further information, persons may contact town hall at 301-746-5919, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The next meeting will be held Monday, May 4.

GRANTSVILLE

The town meeting was held Monday, April 20.

•Sheriff Sanders and Deputy Pratt attended the meeting.

•Deep Creek Refuse was awarded the bid for trash collection in town.

•There was further discussion on renewal of the HotSpot grant. No decision has yet been reached.

•Bids will be advertised next week for the storm management project on Meadow View Drive.

•New 15 mph speed limit signs in the near future will be posted on Miller Road near the town park.

•The Grantsville website, established by the GGBA can be accessed at http://www.gcnet.net/ggba

•A road to the new well site on Shade Hollow Road will be built.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, May 4.

Watson Files For Judge's Seat

Oakland attorney Robert E. Watson filed in Annapolis on April 15 as a candidate for judge of the Circuit Court for Garrett County. He named as his treasurer his wife, Rita L. Watson, with whom he is pictured above.

A resident of the Penn Point area, Watson has practiced law in Garrett County for the past 20 years. He is currently the attorney for the Town of Oakland, the Oakland Town Police Department, the Town of Mountain Lake Park, and the Garrett County Board of Education. He has from time to time also represented the towns of Kitzmiller, Accident, Loch Lynn, and Friendsville. He has also acted as special counsel to the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners.

A graduate of the University of Maryland in 1964, Watson earned a master's degree in writing and literature from Johns Hopkins University in 1971 and received his juris doctorate degree from the University of Baltimore in 1978. He is a former newspaper editor and publisher and winner of numerous awards for writing and journalism. He also completed the Marriott Corporation Management Training Program in 1964.

He is a former president and vice president of the Garrett County Bar Association; former member of the board of directors of the Maryland Institute for the Continuing Education of Lawyers (MICPEL); former member of the Attorney Grievance Commission Inquiry Panel for Western Maryland and chairman of the Committee on Court Rules and the Case Differential Management Plan for the Garrett County Bar Association. He is also a former attorney for the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, and currently represents the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Watson has a keen interest in historic preservation, and served as a member of the first Ellicott City Historic District Commission. He was founder and for 10 years served as president of the Friends of the Patapsco Institute Inc., a non-profit corporation organized for the purpose of saving a historic building in Ellicott City, which was once a finishing school for many famous southern women. Active in the Howard County Historical Society, Watson was also responsible for saving historic Mt. Ida, the Greek Revival home of the Ellicott family in Ellicott City, which he restored and used for many years as headquarters for his newspaper corporation.

Watson was appointed to the first board of the Deep Creek Lake Advisory and Review Commission and served as its chairman for several years, drafting the regulations which were adopted by the state for the management of the lake.

Founder of the Catonsville Jazz Society while he was still in high school, he studied clarinet for two years with Anton Ferroni, first clarinetist with the Baltimore Symphony and the Boston Symphony. He was well known in the Baltimore and Washington area as a music and drama critic, having written for several publications including the Baltimore News American as well as his own newspaper, The Howard County News. He published an award-winning music column, "The Sharps And The Flats," for more than 10 years. He also plays piano and drums and has performed with a number of well known jazz bands.

A successful businessman, Watson organized a cable television company, Howard Cable Television Associates Inc., in 1970 and served as its first administrator. The company was later sold to Storer Communications and is today one of the largest and most successful in the state. He holds a private pilot's license and is a certified open water scuba diver.

Rita Watson, a native of Shallmar, is chief deputy register of wills for Garrett County, a position she has held for 19 years. The couple were married in 1984 and they have three children: William, 13, Colleen 11, and Bobbie, 8. Also a member of the family, Rita's daughter Jackie Kimble, is now a para-legal in Watson's law office. They are members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

Watson said that, if elected, the hallmark of his judgeship would be "hard work and, above all, fairness." He added, "Circuit Court Judge is an important and demanding job requiring good judgment, sharp focus, and a broad knowledge of many areas of the law. I have wide experience in everything from municipal and government law to school law; from zoning, land, and real estate to family law; and for years have specialized in personal injury, criminal, and civil cases. I look forward to having the opportunity to make a contribution to our county as Circuit Court Judge."

NORTH GLADE
by Lori Woods, reporter

The regular meeting for March was held on March 19 at 7 p.m. The pledges were led by Megan Bernard. Old business was starting our committees, setting a date for camping, and going to Hershey Park. In attendance were 19 North Glade members and 14 adults. The Clover Kids were represented by seven members and four adults. Thanks to all members for going to the Livestock Association meeting.

The regular meeting for April was held on April 16 at 7 p.m. The pledges were led by Christina Hamilton. In attendance were 21 North Glade members and 17 adults. The Clover Kids were represented by seven members and four adults. Record book certificates were passed out by leader Chris Herbert.

New business discussed was going camping on June 12-13 at the home of Tyler and Chase Ashby. On April 18, we sold baked goods at a farm auction. On Friday, May 15, at 5:30 p.m., there will be a clean-up at the cemetery. Bring your materials. Also following the clean-up we will have a cook-out. The fund raising for our hoagie sale is going on, so please call Linda Ashby by May 2 with your order. The hoagie pick-up date will be May 12 at the 4-H building. On July 5 we will be going to Hershey Park.

The next Livestock Association meeting is Wednesday, May 20, in Room 305 at Garrett Community College, with the time to be announced in The Republican. This is a very important meeting please try to attend.

The next 4-H meeting is Thursday, May 21, at 7 p.m. The title for the meeting is "Animal Adventures."

NATIONAL VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK PROCLAIMED — The Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation Tuesday, declaring this week (April 19-25) as National Victims' Rights Week. The proclamation document states that the "personal safety of people living in the United States is a top priority for both policy makers and the American public," and although there was a historic drop in violent crime in 1996, residents in the country still experienced nearly 37 million criminal victimizations, including over nine million violent crimes. It also states that crime victims and those who serve them are a "significant force for positive changes that have resulted in improved victims' rights and services, and laws that truly promote justice for all." The statement also calls for recognition of and respect for the victims and their advocates for their countless good deeds. Pictured seated left to right are Commissioners Wayne Johnson, Wayne Wilt, and Gary Fratz. Standing in the same order are Pat Kelly, board president for the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center; Carolyn Hegeman, Victim Witness coordinator; Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney; and Brenda Arnold, Garrett County Sheriff's Office's victim advocate.

gree burglary, second-degree assault, and misdemeanor theft. The charges stem from a March incident when Thorn allegedly entered a Sand Flat Road home to take a mounted deer head that he had given the homeowner as collateral on a personal loan. The complainant later met with Thorn and, according to the report, Thorn attacked the alleged victim, striking him in the face and mouth. After his arrest Thorn was released on his own recognizance.

A bench warrant charging failure to appear for a court hearing was served on Eric Scott Aronhalt, 23, Mtn. Lake Park. Aronhalt is currently being held without bond.

A warrant for trespassing was served on Charles Wayne Moats Sr., 40, Oakland. Moats was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

AWIs

An accident with injury (AWI) was reported to the sheriff's office on April 11, when a 17-year-old juvenile male was operating a 1997 Kia in the parking lot of an apartment building on Louis Naylor Drive in Mtn. Lake Park. The juvenile lost control of the vehicle, struck two parked cars, and came to stop after hitting a tree. He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. His condition was not available.

On April 18 another one-vehicle accident sent a driver to the hospital when a 1986 Buick driven by Inez Tyler, 63, Kitzmiller, swerved to miss a deer in the roadway on North Hill Road near Short Run Road. The vehicle went into a ditch, and Tyler required transport to the hospital by the rescue squad. She was treated and released, and was deemed not at fault in the accident.

CLARIFICATION

Last week's sheriff's report carried a lead story about a burglary on Shoreline Drive, yet the corresponding headline mistakenly stated that the burglarized home was on Lake Shore Drive. The home is, in fact, located on Shoreline Drive in the Thousand Acres area near Swanton.

THE OBJECT OF MY AFFECTION

Rated R - Running time: 1:50

Adding The Object Of My Affection to a short list of excellent titles like The Crucible (1996) and The Madness Of King George (1994), director Nicholas Hytner continues to distinguish himself with this lighter yet well-felt romantic comedy. Though not the first in the "gay/straight love affair" genre (see Chasing Amy), this is perhaps the most sensitive and very likely the best-shot film on this subject. Jennifer Aniston (Friends) and Paul Rudd show their considerable acting talent, and the many difficult issues not immediately obvious to this type of scenario are delved into with sensitivity in Stephen McCauley's story, adapted for the screen by Wendy Wasserstein. The cinematography by Oliver Stapleton deserves recognition too, utilizing some interesting camera angles and lighting choices to great effect.

Aniston's character, Nina Borowski, is a New York social worker who teaches teenage girls how to deal with the pressures of living in our society. Little does she know how much pressure she's going to be under when she meets George Hanson (Rudd), a gay first-grade teacher. George and Nina hit it off, and though Nina isn't really interested in replacing her brash and somewhat offensive boyfriend, Vince McBride (John Pankow of Mad About You), she isn't really interested in marrying him, either. After George is dumped by his egotistical partner, Dr. Robert Joley (Timothy Daly), Nina offers to let him move into the spare room in her apartment. For fun, she signs the two of them up for ballroom dancing lessons. From this point, their platonic friendship grows into something special.

All is well until Nina gets pregnant and has to decide who (if anyone) she wants to help raise her child. Vince is the father, but she is becoming increasingly aware that he is not the life partner for her. George is the one she loves to spend time with, and he obviously returns the feeling, but there's no hope there for a romantic relationship. And if either one of them wants to ever have a love life, it will seriously infringe on the bond they have formed and the unborn child they both love.

This movie, as can be expected, is full of uncomfortable moments. Nina and George can deal with the incredulity of their families and friends, but when George meets Paul James (Amo Gulinello), he begins to long for something more than what he can get from Nina and her baby. But rather than try to smooth over these situations, director Hytner lets us experience them fully, as if to force the audience to understand the tensions caused by such a difficult relationship.

There is a lot of good acting here, especially between the two leads, and by Pankow, whose unabashed opinion turns darker as George becomes more important to Nina. The script is sensitive overall, showing some tender moments between lovers and friends, and the blurred distinction between those two types of relationships. Another beautiful performance is turned in by Nigel Hawthorne (who played King George under Hytner's direction) as the ascerbic but wistful theatre critic with whom Paul is involved.

This is a tale of difficult choices and wistful decisions, of trying to choose between two types of love when only one is possible. It is touching without being sappy, and beautifully photographed. An enjoyable, thoughtful story whose ending shows that when life is not perfect, you learn how to deal. ★★★★

Recycling, Composting Day Slated In Conjunction With Tire Amnesty

The Garrett County landfill will be the site of a special recycling and composting promotion on Saturday, April 25. The event will be held in conjunction with Scrap Tire Amnesty Day (see separate story) and will kick off a concerted effort to convince more area residents to recycle, according to Rodney Glotfelty, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling.

Garrett County residents who attend composting demonstrations and recycling displays at the landfill on Saturday, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., will have the opportunity to learn more about composting and recycling, and will also be eligible to win prizes (which Glotfelty described as "interesting").

Beginning this day and continuing throughout the summer, individuals who actually recycle at any of the county operated refuse collection and recycling facilities will be rewarded for their efforts, he said. Those who recycle will be given coupons from local participating businesses and/or the chance to win gift certificates from several local restaurants. Coupons will be given out every time an individual recycles, and the drawing for the gift certificates will take place at the end of the summer.

"The purpose of this program is to reward people who currently recycle and to encourage others to begin," Glotfelty said. "The support of this program by the business community has been particularly gratifying. Over 25 area businesses have donated coupons or prizes to be given away throughout the summer. Hopefully this program will increase participation in our recycling programs by those persons who utilize curbside trash pick-up and who don't normally come to the landfill or collection sites. The program is also designed to increase recycling efforts by individuals who normally do use the sites. Everyone is welcome to enter any of our facilities and recycle free of charge. A homeowner refuse permit for the sites is not required to recycle."

Several recycling and composting displays will be set up for those attending the Saturday events. Numerous handouts will also be available for both adults and children. Children will be given stickers and may take a tree home with them to plant, donated by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Adults may enter to win door prizes, such as recycling containers, compost bins, an oil recycling container, compostable yard waste bags, T-shirts, hats, and finished leaf compost.

"This is the perfect opportunity for someone who would like to begin recycling to learn how, what, when, where, and why to recycle and compost. We will have all the resources available to help residents get started," said Nikki Brown, recycling assistant at the solid waste and recycling office.

For more information on this event, persons may contact the office at 301-387-0322.

playing throughout the mid-Atlantic region and the west coast and has since toured throughout the country, building a reputation as a powerful performer. Following a recent concert in Minnesota, music critic Jean Verstraote wrote, "Everyone took notice. People were up dancing and the whispers were 'Wow! Where did she come from?' Deanna has to be one of the most entertaining blues women I have ever seen."

Joy Caplan, of the Nashville Music City Blues, says of Bogart's playing, "She is a unique performer. She has staked out ground located at the point where jazz, blues, boogie woogie, R&B, and country approach each other and turned into a style of music all her own. She has no competitors."

Deanna Bogart's band consists of Kajun Kelley on guitar, Mike Aubin on drums, and Eric Scott on bass.

The Dennis McClung Blues Band will open the evening's musical entertainment prior to Bogart and her band taking the stage.

Tickets for the concert can be purchased in advance at the GCC Library, or at the door the night of the show, for $3 each. GCC students will receive co-curricular credit for attending.

tional Cristina Foundation to bring about this donation.

"The American Education Corporation will donate site licenses and software for its Advanced Learning System A+ software. New Deal Software is offered and loaded on all the computers," Strouse explained.

Additional partners in the computer contribution were the Maryland Department of General Services and U.S. Army recruiters from the Harrisburg (Pa.) Recruiting Company.

Dr. Grasmick also announced that through a partnership with the Family Education Company, Boston, Mass., and with underwriting support from AT&T, the MSDE can provide computer enhancement. "We can now offer every school in this county free websites linking parents, businesses, and community members to Garrett County schools in an effort to enhance communication and family and community involvement," she said.

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools, thanked Dr. Grasmick for the recognition and for the presentation of the computer equipment. "This will help us to expand our current programs. We certainly appreciate this donation," he stated.

Joanne Vent, supervisor of career and techonology education, hosted the luncheon meeting. "We were excited to share the achievements of our students with Dr. Grasmick," she said.

Dr. Grasmick's day-long visit also included tours of several county schools to see programs in action.

Families America, applauded the work being undertaken in Garrett County to address the rising problem of child abuse. "Garrett County is on the cutting edge," she said.

Goldfaden quoted several statistics on violence against children. "Seventy percent of the children who die from child abuse are under age 5. The majority of those who die under age 1 are shot," she stated. "I'm glad Garrett County is mad. The state of Maryland is really proud of you," she added.

The goals of PSI include review of personal body safety with parents and children, and public education on reporting violence and abuse.

Susan Athey-Oxford, coordinator of the initiative, and Elizabeth Bizer, PSI family health educator, spoke to those present about some methods to be used for public education. Called "Safety Safaris," the community programs being planned will bring parents and children together in groups of 10 to 25 to talk about personal safety.

The PSI organizers are looking for places in the community to hold "safari" trainings.

A Town Meeting is also being planned for June 15, from 7 to 9 p.m., to bring all interested members of the community together at Garrett Community College to discuss issues, questions, and possible courses of action to stem the rise in violence within families. "We are still in the early stages of planning this. We're thinking of having kids and adults as experts on the panel," Bizer said.

Anyone who is interested in providing space for a Safety Safari or who would like more information on the Personal Safety Initiative or the Town Meeting may contact Liz Bizer at 301-334-8889 or Garrett County Office for Children, Youth and Families at 301-334-1189.

Maryland's Most Beautiful People Search Begins

Nominations are being accepted April 30 through August 14, for the 12th annual "Maryland's Most Beautiful People" Volunteer Awards. Coordinated by the Maryland You Are Beautiful Program, in conjunction with the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, these awards illuminate unsung heroes from each county and Baltimore City who help make Maryland a better place to both visit and live.

"This is your opportunity to recognize selfless individuals who have touched many and who ultimately improve the quality of life for all Maryland visitors and citizens," said Governor Parris N. Glendening.

While all nominees will be featured in local awards ceremonies, one volunteer from each jurisdiction will be chosen to represent all nominated volunteers from his or her area at the Annapolis event. This ceremony will be hosted by Glendening and other dignitaries on Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Past winners of the "Maryland's Most Beautiful People" Volunteer Awards include a 91-year-old who devotes time to Alzheimer's sufferers, a festival organizer, and a reverend who in his spare hours counsels prisoners. Nomination forms for the 1998 awards are available in many public buildings throughout the state, by contacting the Maryland You Are Beautiful Program at 410-767-6332, or by visiting the Maryland You Are Beautiful Program's web site at http://www.dnr.state.md.us/myab.html.

costs associated with shipping and disposal at alternative processing facilities," Glotfelty said.

Garrett County previously received a $1 million grant from the fund for a demonstration project showing that tire chips could effectively be used as an infiltration media on the cover of the Round Glade Landfill closure project. Glotfelty said this resulted in "tremendous savings to the taxpayers of Garrett County" in reducing the expenditure of funds that would otherwise have had to be devoted to the construction of a conventional drainage layer over the synthetic cap.

"The ability to dispose of up to 10 tires for free during the April 25 Tire Amnesty Day will provide a much more direct and immediate economic benefit to county residents," he said.

There are currently no plans to ever repeat this type of event, Glotfelty noted, so area residents are encouraged to take advantage of this one-time-only opportunity.

For more information about the event, persons may call the local office at 301-387-0322.

Driver Remains In Hospital Following Crash

A West Virginia man remains hospitalized following an accident Tuesday morning on Route 219.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that Donald F. Williams, 67, Gormania, W.Va., was northbound on Route 219 near King's Run Road at 11 a.m. A vehicle driven by Michael A. Friend, 21, was stopped on Route 219 in the northbound lane preparing to turn onto King's Run Road.

According to the report, Williams failed to stop and struck the rear of Friend's car with the front of his vehicle. Williams was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital. He was admitted for treatment. Information on his current condition is not available.

Police charged Williams with failure to control speed to avoid a collision. Oakland VFD also responded to the scene.

Collides Head-On

A driver was admitted to the hospital following an accident on Mayhew Inn Road last Friday.

According to the police report, Linda M. Crozier, 51, McHenry, was eastbound on Mayhew Inn Road around 5 p.m. She had allegedly been drinking alcohol and was weaving about on the road. A second vehicle, driven by Patricia A. Croston, 49, Oakland, was traveling westbound on the same road at that time.

The report stated that Crozier crossed the center line and struck the Croston vehicle head on. Southern Rescue Squad took both drivers and a passenger in the Croston car to Garrett Memorial Hospital for treatment. Crozier was admitted and later released. Deep Creek VFD also responded.

Police charged Crozier with failure to drive right of center and DWI.

Crosses Center, Collides

Failure to drive right of the center line was the cause noted for a collision that occurred Tuesday on Route 219.

Police reported that Ivan Kinsinger, 22, Oakland, was northbound on Route 219 south of Route 50 at 9:50 a.m. He allegedly crossed the center line and collided with the vehicle driven by Kimberly A. Goodwin, 32, Swanton, who was southbound on Route 219.

Goodwin was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. She was treated and released.

Bureau Planned

will include a supervisor, a secretary, at least four criminal investigators, and three members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Welch said that as case needs require, the GBI officers will work closely with investigators from other agencies, such as the Department of Natural Resources police, the Office of the State Fire Marshal, and the Department of Social Services.

Sheriff Sanders said the unit should help the law enforcement agencies to more easily share information and to more effectively utilize resources.

"Much of the finding will be used to establish a networked computer system to develop intelligence information and to project crime trends," he said. "This data will help the investigators solve crimes and will help me assign patrol units."

Welch told the commissioners that detectives in the sheriff's office and with the state police currently may be conducting parallel investigations concerning similar crimes that lead to the same suspect. A combined unit will eliminate this duplication of work, she said, explaining that when a major crime occurs in the county, a number of officers with different backgrounds and experience will be able to concentrate their efforts to solve the case quickly.

"This practice has been very successful in Allegany County with the C3I (County Combined Criminal Investigations) unit," Sanders said. "This is the best thing we can do for the citizens of the county. It goes beyond personalities and helps us all to do the work we're paid to do."

Welch said the grant writing process was a joint effort of the sheriff's office, the state police, and her office, and that she expects that spirit of cooperation to continue. She said that some jurisdictions have competition and rivalry among law enforcement agencies, but that the local officers have a history of cooperation.

The grant proposal is due today, and county officials are to be notified within 45 days if the funding has been approved.

ons ban.

Between January 1992 and December 1994, DeMarco was executive director of Marylanders Against Handgun Abuse (MAHA). He built a statewide coalition of over 160 organizations which lobbied successfully for the Child Gun Access Prevention Law of 1992, the 1994 Maryland Assault Weapons Ban, and the 1996 Maryland Gun Violence Prevention Act, which limits handgun sales to no more than one per month and regulates private sales of handguns. DeMarco also was the leader in the campaign to enact Maryland's 1988 Saturday Night Special Ban and defend it against the gun lobby's $7 million referendum campaign to overturn it.

Between October of 1983 and December of 1991, DeMarco was an assistant attorney general for the state of Maryland. During this time, he served as counsel to several state boards, including the Maryland Home Improvement and Real Estate commissions.

DeMarco holds a BA degree in political science and an MA degree in American history from the Johns Hopkins University. He also received a JD degree from Columbia Law School and is a member of the bar in Maryland and New Jersey. He clerked for Chief Justice Robert Wilentz of the New Jersey Supreme Court. He also tutored disadvantaged children for many years through the Johns Hopkins Tutorial Project.

DeMarco lives in Baltimore with his wife, Molly Mitchell, who works for the Governor's Commission on Service, and his two sons, Tony and Jamie. He is an active member of the Homewood Friends Quaker Meeting in Baltimore.

Following the press conference, DeMarco will be visiting with two local pharmacists who have had a longstanding commitment to not selling tobacco products as a primary prevention contribution to the community.

For more information about the press conference or the initiative, persons may call Donna Aspinall, GC Tobacco-Free Coalition, at 301-334-1334 or Phyllis Trickett, GC Commission for Women, at 301-334-4810.

Univ. Of Md. Wind Ensemble Program Noted

The program for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival concert of the University of Maryland Symphonic Wind Ensemble, to be presented at Southern High School this Sunday, April 26, has been announced by conductor John E. Wakefield.

An Outdoor Overture by Aaron Copeland will open the concert, followed by Massanet's Meditation from Thais, featuring the flute section, and The Bride Elect March by John Philip Sousa. Soloist Virginia Leigh will play the French horn in Concerto No. 1 For Horn by Richard Strauss, and the trumpet section will be featured in The Three Trumpeters by G. Agostini. Symphonic Songs for Band by Robert Russell Bennett will close the first half of the program.

Overture to La Gazza Ladra by Rossini will open the second part of the program, followed by Blues in the Night by Harold Arlen, featuring the trombone section. Introduction and Samba by Whitney will feature David Tauler on alto saxophone, and Polacca from Second Clarinet Concerto by von Weber will feature members of the clarinet section. Gershwin by George Gershwin and The Stars and Stripes Forever March by John Philip Sousa will close the concert.

Tickets for the 3 p.m. performance are available at the GLAF office by calling 301-387-3082 Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Admission is $8 for adults and $4 for youth.

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble concert is sponsored by the American Trust Bank. Garrett Lakes Arts Festival performances are funded by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Dare to be Different

ARE YOU RAISING A KILLER IN YOUR HOME?

It begins at home, where each individual is taught—taught either right, or it matters not. As the child is brought up, without love and without discipline, and without parameters, he is left to experiment on his own. When no parameters are set, the first result is an inner realization that "mommy and daddy don't care because they don't stop me from doing anything I want."

As the child gets older and the teacher is unable to cope and control, the child is further convinced that no one cares for him. No parameters for anything.

The TV is on for constant violence. Ponder just the concept that is an everyday occurrence: child comes home from school, (if he went) and sits down in front of the TV.

After a child has seen hundreds and hundreds of killings, he becomes immune to basic emotion and inner knowledge that killing is wrong. The concept of right and wrong is simply an opinion. If, for some strange reason, the parent, at just the wrong time, directs the child to do or not to do something and the child decides to kill the parent, would anyone with slight common sense wonder why?

In the old days, we were taught to memorize the multiplication tables. Is anyone surprised that today we still know them (50 years later)? The way we are trained is how we will be! It is a simple fact of life.

Now, what is the solution? That too, is simple. Most will reject this, but the wise will catch the analogy and reasoning. Listen to the old positive ways which today fly in the face of our politically correct system: "The rod of correction imparts wisdom, but a child left to himself disgraces his mother"—beautiful words. True. Guess from whence they come? Proverbs 29:15, written about 3000 years ago. Still applicable.

Ponder this one: "Train a child in the way he should go and when he is old will not turn from it," from Proverbs 22:6. Give this some thought. If we continue to allow a steady course of study in front of the TV—filled with killing, all types of violence, hatred, and lying we can provide a guarantee as to how the child will turn out. If God is not in the schools, then guess who is! If God is not in your home, guess who is! A nation without God is destined for destruction. Review history. Isn't it easy to see why they kill? Dare to be Different— change your way of living!

Folks, the answers to life's problems, the causes of them, and nearly every answer sought in life can be found in the Bible. Why not try it!

Fighting For Justice: The Crusade For Women's Rights Marches On For 150 Years

by Mary Sincell McEwen

"A ship in port is safe, but that's not what a ship is for." These are the words of Admiral Grace Murray Hopper, an accomplished scientist of the 20th century, who was referring to the motivation and courage one must gather up to make a difference in this life. The achievement of equality among human beings is one such difference for which many brave individuals have fought.

As July of this year approaches, so does the 150th anniversary of the continuing effort of women to gain equality in the United States. The anniversary is being commemorated throughout the country as the National Women's History Celebration. Locally, the Garrett County Commission for Women (in conjunction with the county organizations of the Business and Professional Women, the Civic Club, the American Association of University Women, the League of Women Voters, and New Horizons) is conducting the Women's Lecture Series, slating relative talks and presentations throughout the year.

New Horizon's Barbara Frey took the reins for last month's event, titled "Living the Legacy: Women's Rights Movement 1848-1998." I went to the program, held several weeks ago at GCC, not really knowing what it was to be about. I had been asked to cover it for The Republican and I went with my husband, who was to take photographs. Understanding that it had something to do with women's rights, I was interested, of course, but I didn't know I would leave feeling changed.

THIS MONUMENT in Washington, D.C., honors Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony, and Lucretia Mott.

Having been born in 1963, I have only vague memories of the strife and turmoil of the '60s — the Civil Rights Movement, flower children, city riots, assassinations, bra burnings, Vietnam, Woodstock. It's all a cloudy mixture of loud television reports, my oldest brother's long hair, and the tunes of Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young. I live today as a wife and working mother of three, making my way as a female in 1998, and my way is fairly easy compared to women and men who have gone before me with courage I can't even comprehend. Changes were made by these people that took place before I was born, yet I live in a world that is better because of them.

Ms. Frey compiled and directed the "Living the Legacy" program, which relayed the experiences and accomplishments of 13 women and one man, all of whom utilized their time here on earth to further equality between the sexes and among the races. Each character, portrayed by local people, told of the trials and triumphs of her life, some prompting gasps from the audience, some spurring laughter, and still others causing an awed silence.

Alice Paul (portrayed by Gail Herman), a Quaker born in 1885, fought strenuously for women's rights. Paul attended five colleges and earned no fewer than six degrees. She became involved in women's suffrage (right to vote) demonstrations, a new and highly controversial practice about 100 years ago. Since such a thing was considered criminal, being arrested was not unusual, and Paul ended up in jail for speaking out. She and the several other women being detained were given food that was far less than adequate. In fact, the women apparently had contests as to whose food was home to the most maggots. When the suffragists decided to go on a hunger strike, the jailers drove tubes down their noses and pumped some sort of nourishment directly into their stomachs. This caused them to become violently ill. What misery, all because these women simply wanted the freedom to cast their votes in public elections. How many women today don't even bother to go to the polls and utilize this hard-won right? Too many to count.

Before Alice Paul, there were others, of course. One notable foremother was Elizabeth Cady Stanton, a remarkably brave woman, who, at an afternoon tea with other young mother friends in 1848, expressed her desperate frustration with the "new democracy" of baby America that allowed freedom only to white men. Women remained oppressed and governed by ridiculously unfair rules, baggage that had come with the early settlers from Europe. Women could not own property, they could not leave abusive husbands without leaving their children, they could not vote or run for office, they could not enter professions such as medicine or law (or even attend college), and were generally not allowed to participate in the affairs of the church.

Stanton's friends at that July 13 afternoon tea agreed that life should not be drudgery for those of the feminine gender. They organized the now-famous Women's Rights Convention, held on July 19 and 20, 1848, at the Wesleyan Chapel in Seneca Falls, New York. This was an unprecedented gathering — no one had ever held such a public meeting in the history of western civilization.

For the convention, Stanton wrote a "Declaration of Sentiments," a listing of women's grievances written in the same style as the Declaration of Independence. She deftly linked the women's need for freedom to the country's newfound liberty, framing her work with the words "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men and women are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

She called for change, for equality between the sexes in the areas of land ownership, child custody, schooling, voting, and employment. She brought attention to violence in the home, where a husband could imprison or beat his wife with no penalty, but if she left him, the children would automatically be his. Finally, Stanton stated that the society of that day robbed women of their self-confidence and self-respect, and made them totally dependent on men.

Women at the convention, inspired and energized, signed the Declaration of Sentiments with all speed. In only a matter of hours of the signing, the newspapers grabbed it up, causing pandemonium. The shocking document was printed and reprinted, and the backlash was severe. Because the document had become a scandal of sorts, a few women had their names removed from it. But most of those who signed stood by it, and the media attention, in the long run, actually helped the women's cause enormously.

Another extraordinary woman who made her mark as an advocate for equality among human beings was Sojourner Truth (played by Jeanne Walton), a 6-foot-tall black woman, born in 1797, who spent the first half of her life in hellish slavery. One of 10 children, she watched as her siblings were sold away, some only at the tender age of 5 or 6, ripped away from their mother in the blink of an eye. Sojourner, too, suffered the sheer agony of losing nearly all five of her babies to the auction block. How could humans have ever done such things to other humans? And how could a mother recover from such anguish?

SUSAN B. ANTHONY (1820-1906)

But Sojourner did recover, and maintained throughout her life that at the time of her hard-won freedom, Jesus had appeared to her, face to face, filling her heart with love and forgiveness to all who had harmed her. She went on to search for her children and found that one son had been illegally sold. In 1828, she sued the man who had taken her boy, and amazingly enough, won her case. Not only did she get her son Peter back, but the slaveowner went to jail and had to pay $600 to the Grand Jury of New York. What courage and conviction this unusual individual possessed — a barefoot black woman in a cotton dress who took on the state of New York at this time in history.

As she aged, Sojourner took on the battle for women's rights and for the abolition of slavery. Nearly everywhere she went, she stole the show with her unarguable logic and wisdom. At an 1852 women's rights convention in Akron, Ohio, she delivered her famous "Ain't I a Woman?" speech, relating her experiences as a woman and as a former slave. A minister in the crowd had asserted that women should not have as many rights as men because Christ was a man. To that, Sojourner asked him pointedly: "Where did your Christ come from?" There was no answer, so she stood and asked the question again, loudly: "Where did your Christ come from?" She hesitated, and then swooped her arm down toward the audience and thundered: "From God and a woman! Man had nothing to do with him!" The crowd went wild.

On her own volition, Sojourner Truth visited President Abraham Lincoln in October of 1864 and the two lanky individuals had a long talk about the status of the ongoing Civil War and the emancipation of slaves. The president apparently admitted that he had heard about her long before she had known anything about him. After that visit, Sojourner stayed in Washington to help the recently freed slaves who had no proper housing and very little gainful employment. She was 70 years old at the time.

Susan B. Anthony (1820-1906) and Lucretia C. Mott (1793-1880) certainly made their marks, having teamed up with Stanton in those early stages of the women's rights revolution. Both women were Quakers, holding the staunch belief that common sense and peaceful resistance would, in time, vanquish inequality. Anthony (portrayed in the program by Virginia Jeffrey) began her efforts of reform in temperance work, knowing that women and children were subject to horrible maltreatment by alcohol-abusing husbands and fathers. She gave her first speech for the Daughters of Temperance in 1849 and proceeded to help establish the Woman's State Temperance Society of New York. She joined the anti-slavery movement in the early 1850s.

After the 14th and 15th amendments were passed in the 1860s, Anthony demanded that women be given the same civil and political rights granted (supposedly) to black men. She and several other women went to the polls in Rochester, N.Y., and participated in the 1872 election. She cast her vote for Ulysses S. Grant for president. Three weeks later, she was arrested for violating the voting laws and was later convicted of the crime. She was fined $100, but refused to pay. For the rest of her life, she campaigned tirelessly for women's right to vote, speaking at countless public hearings and meetings. She organized the International Council of Women in 1888, and in 1904 established the International Women Suffrage Alliance. (The League of Women Voters was born from one such association in 1919.) Anthony did not live to see the women's victory in 1920, when the 19th amendment was adopted, but her work and dedication most surely were essential in this ethical outcome.

Mrs. Mott (played by Gail Herman) agitated the society of her day by bucking authority and traditional, accepted customs. She was a recognized preacher of the Hicksite Quaker religion, which was certainly an unusual position for a woman in the 1820s. She challenged slavery, alcohol abuse, war, and the oppression of women. Her motto was "Truth for authority, not authority for truth!" She meant that one should not always accept dogma, but instead should search for rational truths and common sense solutions. When men argued with her about the woman's role in the home, asserting that the Bible orders women to obey, Mott replied that the Quaker marriage ceremony did not order the obedience of the wife and that she, personally, had never experienced problems in her own marriage, which lasted from 1811 until her husband's death in 1868. "Appeal to reason solves all disagreements," she said.

Many other women worked for equality in a much oppressed age. There was Elizabeth Blackwell (played by Jamie Resh), who lived from 1821 until 1910, and was the first female physician of the country. She faced almost impossible odds and, to accomplish her goals, had to reach far beyond any of her male peers. Emma Lazarus (1849-1887), a Jewish woman (portrayed by Frances Cabe), fought to maintain her foothold as a human being equal to all other human beings. It is her poetry that graces the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty in the poem "The New Colossus" (Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free . . .).

Eleanor Roosevelt (played by Alyce McDowell) was a staunch supporter of the rights of women, of children, and of blacks. She was innovative and unusual, and was instrumental in the child labor laws — laws that today, just about 60 years later, seem unnecessary. Who would make a child work in a factory from dawn to dusk, six or seven days a week? How could it ever have been that a law was needed to change that practice in this country? But she saw it, and, with the help of other determined people, she changed it. John F. Kennedy attended the former first lady's funeral in 1962. Of her motivation and continuous positive action, he said that Eleanor Roosevelt "would light a candle rather than curse the darkness."

The other women portrayed in the Legacy program were Amelia Earhart (1897-1937), the first woman to pilot a plane across the Atlantic (played by Carol Newman); and Grace Murray Hopper (1906-1992), a scientist and computer expert (played by Matia Egan), who created COBOL, or Common Business Oriented Language. COBOL basically changed complicated computer language into standard words, which in turn revolutionized the computer industry, making the intimidating machinery "user friendly" for the general populace. Also portrayed were Sandra Day O'Connor (by Randy Mitchum), a now 67-year-old woman who was the first female appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court; Vilma Martinez, 54 (by Michelle Flores), a defender of another oppressed group and founder of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund; and Sally Ride, the first American female astronaut.

These are, of course, just a few of those who sought justice and made strides for women. Millions of others, some known and some not, did their part to move along the cause, and they continue to do so. It is important to note, too, that these past women had to have had strong men to work with them in these pursuits. They couldn't have achieved their accomplishments without the support of male counterparts. As Susan B. Anthony said, "The sexes together always inspire each other to do their very best." We work well together when we attempt to do so. We are made to work together, not to be at odds, not to expect one to be above or below the other.

While researching this story, I looked through some belongings of my great-grandmother, Lillian "Tay" Morris Sincell, who lived most of her life in Oakland. I am proud to report that she was an ardent temperance league

CHILD SAFETY SURVEY

The Garrett County Health Department is conducting an automated telephone survey during the next few weeks to measure public opinion about child abuse and neglect in Garrett County. The survey is designed for adults and asks for opinions about reporting child abuse and neglect.

The CHILD SAFETY SURVEY is part of the Maryland Children's Trust Personal Safety Initiative, which is coordinated by the GC Local Management Board/OCYF.

A Big Thank You!

I would like to express my thanks to all who sent cards and flowers, to those who called and especially those who visited and took me to dinner. I want to thank my students who remembered me and took the time to write a letter and let me know what they had done with their lives.

Thanks goes to my neice and nurse, Ruth Ann, who put it in The Republican. It has all made my 90th birthday an encouraging event. I didn't know I was loved so much. It was very much appreciated. God bless you and many thanks.

VOICES OF THE PAST HEARD AGAIN — As part of this year's Women's Lecture Series, hosted by the Garrett County Commission for Women and several other civic groups, a special event was held at Garrett Community College last month in which local individuals took on the personae of historical individuals who made great strides for equality among all human beings. Barbara Frey of New Horizons produced and presented the event, which was well attended by both women and men. In the photo above, Alyce McDowell is pictured standing as she portrays Eleanor Roosevelt, a great humanitarian and pursuer of justice. Also shown, left to right, are Jamie Flesh as Elizabeth Blackwell, Randi Mitchum as Sandra Day O'Connor, Frances Cabe as Emma Lazarus, Jeanne Walton as Sojourner Truth, Matia Egan as Grace Murray Hopper, and Emily Smith as Lucretia Mott. In the photo at right is Carol Newman as Amelia Earhart. The sole man in the presentation was Frederick Douglass (1817-1895), portrayed by Andre Fields. Douglass was an eloquent writer and speaker who was born a slave and earned his freedom. Because he was so well-spoken, he was often accused of lying about his former life as an "owned" man. He risked his life on many occasions in his tireless effort to free the blacks from the hell of slavery.

LIONESS CLUB MAKES DONATION - The Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club recently presented a donation to the Deep Creek Neighborhood Girl Scouts which will be used for the annual Girl Scouts Fun Day at New Germany State Park. Women's Rights member and a suffragist. I was thrilled to find that she had saved a clipping of a speech by President Woodrow Wilson, cut from a 1918 Baltimore Sun newspaper. He was touting the suffrage cause, stating emphatically that the time had come to allow women to vote:

"The women of America are too noble and too intelligent and too devoted to be slackers whether you give or withhold this thing that is mere justice; but I know the magic it will work in their thoughts and spirits if you give it to them," he said.

My aunt, Polly Hanst, was a young girl when the 19th amendment came to be.

"I remember the women marching around the church (St. Mark's Lutheran), cheering, with banners — it was so exciting, even though I wasn't sure what it was all about at the time," she said.

The celebration should be remembered, always. When election time nears in the next few months, all women and men should exercise their rights and cast their votes. It is a hard-won freedom, especially for women and minorities, and it should not go unused. The memory of these brave and remarkable individuals should be honored through the actions of those of us who live now. The fight should continue for equal pay, equal rights, peace, and freedom. These people, these bright stars, I believe were sent by our Creator on special missions, and their message should be heard: All human beings — young, old, black, white, male, female — all are due equality and respect. It surely must be true.

Prison Ministry Missionary To Speak Locally

Dr. Robbie Morrison will be the special guest speaker this Sunday evening at the Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church, located at 1005 Broadford Road, Mtn. Lake Park. The service will begin at 7 p.m.

Dr. Morrison works with the "Rock of Ages" prison ministry's international team. His work consists of coordinating prison revivals, "soul winning," and discipleship trips to the prisons in Romania, Lithuania, Lativa, and the Philippines. In reaching inmates of prisons around the world, Dr. Morrison states, "We are reaching out to those who many feel are the down and out or the undeserving. But to our Lord they are souls in need of him and the good news of the gospel. It is thrilling to see how God changes the hardest of hearts through the power of his word!"

Dr. Morrison and his wife Carol are sent out of the Bible Baptist Fellowship Church of Gypsy, W.Va. He is a 1981 graduate of Massillon Baptist College and is the founder and former pastor of Bible Baptist Fellowship Church. Besides pastoring the church for 12 years, he has taught in the Mountaineer Baptist College in Fairmont, W.Va.

Transportation is available to the service at the local church, and a nursery is provided for all services. For more information, persons may contact Pastor Dennis Leatherman at 301-334-3234 or 301-334-4042.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

by Lucretia Sines

I dedicate this column to the memory of Margaret Shoemaker, whose job it was for many, many years to report the Friendsville news. I wish I could say that I knew her well, but I didn't and I truly regret that. I have heard so many good things about Mrs. Shoemaker and it makes me unsure if I can do as good a job as she did, but I am also very excited about the prospect of trying. You can reach me, Lucretia Sines, by calling 301-746-5933 with your news items. If I'm not home, leave a message and I'll contact you. Please, no calls after 10 p.m.

BANQUET SCHEDULED

The Friendsville United Methodist Church will be holding its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet on Sunday, May 3, starting at 5 p.m. All three churches are invited to attend. All are invited to bring a covered dish for an evening of food and fellowship.

CHURCH BAZAAR

The Sand Spring Church of God will hold its annual Bazaar Saturday, May 2, starting at 8 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall. Flea Market, crafts, and bake sale items will be for sale. Tables are available. For more information, contact Charlotte Friend at 301-746-5340.

60TH ANNIVERSARY

Ralph and Edna Sines celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on March 31. A celebration dinner was given by their children and grandchildren on Saturday, April 11, at the Sand Spring Church of God Fellowship Hall. Over 130 friends and relatives were in attendance. Rev. Robert Milliren opened with a prayer. The evening's entertainment consisted of a solo by their granddaughter, Alison Sines, a "special" memory by son Gene, words by Rev. Edd Meyers of Brownsville, Pa., and a music video of old family photos by daughter Norma Efremenko and her family. Brenda Sines, daughter, was the emcee for the evening.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

A surprise 40th wedding anniversary party was held for Bliss and Elva DeWitt by their children and grandchildren on Saturday, April 11, at the Friendsville fire hall. Eighty-five people attended, with friends and relatives traveling from as far as Delaware, Meadville, Pa., and Oakland. Following the anniversary dinner was dancing, with music supplied by DJ Greg Bolyard.

WOW LODGE MEETS

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 met last Thursday at the home of Mary Frantz, with 15 in attendance. The group shared a spaghetti dinner. Vice President Thelma Kelly was in charge of the business meeting. The next meeting will be on May 21 at the home of Thelma Kelly. Those picking up garbage will meet at the Blooming Rose Church at 3:30 on that day. Thelma and Cecil Kelly will prepare dinner at their home following the pick-up. Those not participating in the garbage pick-up should be at the Kellys' by 5:30.

On April 18, Cecil and Thelma Kelly, Burt and Linda Lytle, and Mary Frantz attended a WOW workshop at Four Points at Hagerstown.

PINEWOOD DERBY

Cub Scout Pack 33 held its annual Pinewood Derby on Saturday at the Friendsville Elementary School. First place trophy went to Cody Wilt, 2nd place to Corey Edmonds, and 3rd place to Travis Selby. the Best of Show trophy went to Brian Benedict. Other participants were: Dustin Stough, Russ Thomas, Justin Rosenberger, Roland Fisher, Robert Funk, Bryce Manges, Ben and Kraig Margroff, Billy Woodward, and Robbie Harding. A pizza party followed the derby.

CELEBRATES 50TH

A surprise party was given for JoAnn Meyers by her children to celebrate her 50th birthday. A dinner was held in her honor at the home of Kevin, Rebecca, Hannah, and Patrick Sines. Those attending from Friendsville were: Larry Meyers, Leota and Gary Friend, Genevieve Meyers, Angie Evans, Brian and Stephanie, Patty Lowdermilk, Jeff Lowdermilk, Ralph and Edna Sines, and Gene and Lois Sines. Also attending were Bud Lowdermilk and Dorla Mazer, Grantsville, Norris and Vesta Riley, Markleysburg, Pa., and Phillip and Agnes Geoghan, Terra Alta, W.Va.

CELEBRATES 80TH

On Sunday, April 19, a surprise 80th birthday party was held for Nomie Bevan of Frostburg at the Sand Spring Church of God Fellowship Hall. The dreary, rainy day couldn't dampen the good times shared by the 60 relatives and friends who helped Nomie celebrate. After a buffet luncheon, Joe Paletta, a cousin, served up a brief biography followed by amusing stories told by other members of her family. Out-of-town guests included her son Chet, his wife Sandra, and daughters, Alexandra and Sarah Bevans, of Sterling Heights, Mich.

PERSONALS

Miranda Rose Fisher, daughter of Deek and Teresa Fisher, was baptized Sunday, April 19, at the Grace Lutheran Church in Friendsville. Miranda Rose is the granddaughter of Bob and Geraldine Turney of Friendsville and Dorsie and Linda Fisher of Markleysburg, Pa. Miranda Rose is also the sister of D.J. Fisher.

A daughter was born to Steven and Alice Bosley of White Rock on Saturday, April 18, at Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Hannah Catherine weighs 8 lbs. 13 ozs., and is 20½ inches long. She is a new sister to 3-year-old Jacob. Hannah is the granddaughter of Linda and Chuck Overton, Friendsville, and Donnie and Anita Shunk, Grantsville.

Ron Straw, Cumberland, was a Monday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cupp and Janice.

Mrs. Lorene Dawson, Friendsville, and daughter Debbie Conway, Bentleyville, Pa., have returned from a trip to Disney World in Orlando, Fla. While there, they viewed the "Parade of Lights" parade with the high school marching band from Bentworth High School, which included Mike, Matt, and Becky Conway.

Brady To Speak

Prior to his current position, Brady served as managing partner of Arthur Andersen LLP's Baltimore office and was employed by Arthur Andersen for 33 years. During 11 years in Baltimore, he has been an active community leader, serving on boards of many cultural, educational, and social service organizations. Brady currently serves as chairman of the board of Leadership Maryland.

Brady was born and reared in New York City and lived on Long Island, N.Y., from 1971 to 1985. He graduated from Iona College in New Rochelle, N.Y., in 1962 with a bachelor of business administration degree. He also holds three honorary degrees: a doctor of laws from Iona College, and doctor of humane letters from Villa Julie College and Loyola College in Maryland.

Brady lives in Baltimore City with his wife Fran. The couple have two grown children, James and Linda.

The public is invited to the GCC commencement. A reception for the graduates will be held following the ceremony.

Cemetery Assn. Plans Meeting

The Cranesville Cemetery Association will conduct its fourth annual meeting on Monday, May 4, at the Aldersgate Evangelical Center, Cranesville, beginning at 7 p.m.

All members and any interested persons are urged to attend.

All winter decorations are to be removed from the cemetery by May 1 so spring maintenance can begin.

Terra Alta Wesleyan Church Sets Gospel Music Benefit

The Terra Alta Wesleyan Church, located on Route 7 just west of Terra Alta, will host a gospel music performance by the Lowery Family on Friday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. A freewill offering will be taken during the evening to benefit the Kingwood Chapter of the Mt. Top crisis pregnancy centers.

Hailing from Corriganville, the Lowery Family is a southern gospel singing group composed of three generations of Lowerys. The group has performed in various events, including concerts, revivals, camp meetings, nursing homes, retirement homes, family reunions, and homecomings, in the tri-state area for the past 28 years.

Mt. Grove VFD Slates Annual Ramp Dinner

The Mt. Grove VFD has announced its annual Ramp Dinner, spring feast. The "all-you-can-eat" event will be held on Sunday, May 3, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The meal, which is billed as "The best stinkin' meal you'll ever eat," includes ham, cornbread, beans, and fried potatoes (with or without ramps). Ramps will be served raw, stewed, and in wilted salad. Desserts and drinks will also be served and carry-out meals will be available. The cost of the dinners will be $5 for adults and $3.50 for children 6-11 years old.

Mt. Grove VFD is located on Route 219, two miles south of Silver Lake at the Preston/Tucker county line. Free parking is available.

RECEPTION

The children of Gerald Winter and Grace Knotts invite everyone to a reception to honor the newly married couple. The reception will be held at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building on Sunday, April 26, at 2 p.m. The couple requests that there be no gifts.

MAY FELLOWSHIP

Church Women United will meet for their May Fellowship Day at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building, with Stemple Ridge being the host church. The meeting has been moved because of a remodeling project at Stemple Ridge. Bread, beverage, and tableware are provided by the host church.

The covered dish luncheon will begin at noon. The program centers on the theme "Widening Our Circle of Hospitality" and will begin at 1 p.m.

SCHOOL GAMES

The Aurora Youth League is sponsoring April 24 and 25 basketball games at the Aurora School, with the Aurora VFD vs. Mt. Grove VFD playing at 6 p.m. on April 24, and the Farmers vs. Loggers playing the second game at 7 p.m. On Saturday evening, April 25, there will be a 5 p.m. game between the losers from Friday night; at 6 p.m a women's game; then at 7 p.m., the game to determine the community champion team. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, with all proceeds going to the youth league. There will be refreshments for sale, also.

NEW BABIES

Their first child, a son, was born to Gary and Julie Baker of Virginia Beach, Va., on April 14, 1998. Named Grayson Allen, the little boy weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces, and was 20½ inches in length at birth at the Virginia Beach General Hospital.

Maternal grandparents are Tom and Linda Lewis of Eglon. Steven and Carolyn Baker of Terra Alta and Lanta Mathers of Baltimore are the paternal grandparents. Great-grandparents are Marjorie Baker of Terra Alta, Nina Wallace of Auburn, Ala., and Claude and Jean Winters of Eglon.

David and Jennifer Conrad of Eglon announce the birth of their first child, a son, named Daniel James. Born April 17, 1998, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the little boy weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces, and was 21 inches long.

Maternal grandmother is Diana Johnson of Mtn. Lake Park. Billy and Ressie Conrad of Aurora are the paternal grandparents. Iris Myers of Aurora and Emmet Conrad of Orlando, W.Va., are the great-grandparents.

VFW AUXILIARY

The Aurora-Terra Alta VFW Auxiliary met April 11 to make plans for a Loyalty Day dinner to be held May 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the post home. The guest speaker will be Senator Sarah Minear.

Election of officers resulted in Betty Sereno elected as president, with Ruth Sypolt the senior vice president, and Bonnie Loughrie the junior vice president. Dorothy Hauser will serve as secretary; Linda Snyder as treasurer; Merle Nice as chaplain; and Rebecca Snyder as conductress. Mary Downer assumes the post as guard; Bonnie Harsh is patriotic instructor; and Violet Bishop, Bonnie Harsh, and Sarah Snyder will serve as trustees.

The 3rd District meeting will be held May 3 at 2 p.m. at the Aurora-Terra Alta Post home. The men will meet at the Terra Alta Senior Center. During the recent remodeling of the senior center, 150 hours of work were volunteered by Harold and Betty Sereno and Violet Bishop.

MOUNTAINEERS 4-H

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club met April 13 at the Farmers Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, to clean the grounds.

A meeting followed the clean-up and devotions with an Easter theme were read by Dana Feather and Melinda Teets.

It was decided that the club would pick up trash along Rt. 24 during that week, April 14-18. Each family will donate $5 toward the county fund-raising effort to provide access for the disabled to the bathhouses, rather than sell the coupon books which net the foundation only $2.50 each. On May 11, the IFYE will be at Valley Point, and the members are asked to meet at the Eglon Memorial Building at 6 p.m. to carpool. May 12 is the date for the next meeting.

Demonstrations were by Mark Bachtel, "How to Measure Solids" and "How to Measure Liquids," and by Chris Mullenax on "How to Maintain Small Engines."

Attending were Tracy and Melinda Teets, Leslie and Bridgette Strawser, Dana Feather, Ashley and Matthew Bachtel, Tom and Lindsey Teets, Grant and Maria Harsh, Adam and Mark Bachtel, Chris and Josh Mullenax, Shawn and Craig Rembold, and Sarah Snyder. Ashley Bachtel, reporter.

ROTH BIRTH

A daughter was born March 29 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, to Charles D. and Lisa (Hedrick) Roth of Thomas. The baby has been named Alexis Dianne and weighed 7 pounds, 15.9 ounces at birth. Her sisters are Ashley and Amber.

Maternal grandparents are Earl and Jean Zirk, Thomas, and Harry and Connie Patterson, Kingwood. Paternal grandparents are Gay and Virginia Roth, Thomas. Great-grandparents are Beruice (Roth) Winters and Lura Calcamp, both of Horse Shoe Run, and Robert Riley and Susie Patterson, both of Kingwood.

83RD BIRTHDAY

Josephine Abernathy Sell will celebrate her 83rd birthday on May 5. She has worn out the tape made for her from last year's notes and cards and it is suggested that you may wish again to remember this Aurora native on this occasion. As she is unable to see to read, the notes and cards are read onto a tape for her. Her address is: c/o Dan Cassidy, 1522 Lynn Drive, Lancaster, OH 43130.

INDUCTED INTO CHIMES HONORARY

Preston County students inducted into Chimes Junior Honorary this week include Laura Toothman, Jessie Harriman, Courtney Fint, and Kathleen Utterback, the latter two from Aurora. Chimes is the junior honorary for Helvetia Senior Honorary at West Virginia University.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mary Jane Hanline of Aurora had cataract surgery last Tuesday and is recovering at her home.

Bernard "Buzz" Arnold of Aurora underwent emergency surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Saturday and has returned to his home to recuperate.

The Inter-District Youth Roundtable was held at Bridgewater College April 18-19. Those from the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren who attended were Kevin Corbin and LaDeana Teets, who provided cars, and youth Amanda Spaid, Ulrike Neweski, Rebecca Michael, Tom Teets, Crystal Bolyard, Julie Crowe, and Chris Bolyard.

John Shillingburg and Homer Shillingburg, both of Aurora, are patients in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where John had major surgery and Homer more minor surgery.

Attending a dinner of Preston County Retired School Personnel on Tuesday of last week at the Reedsville United Methodist Church were David and Wilma Teets, Virginia Martin, Grace Bachtel, Lois Strawser, Hazel Durst, Melvin and Dove Stemple, Paul Stemple and Wilda Stemple, all of Union District.

Alan and Mary Teets of Springfield, Va., were weekend visitors in Aurora with her parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers, and at Egion with his uncle and aunt, Roscoe and Ruth Teets.

Pastor Joe and Penney Robinette and their children of Aurora visited last week with relatives and friends at War, W.Va., where his former church is closing.

Visiting this weekend in Aurora and Stemple Ridge were Bonnie Douglas, her son, Charles Lee Douglas, and his two sons Chase and Ryan of Ashland, Ky. They visited with Mrs. Douglas's mother, Maxine Hauser, and with Mr. Douglas's uncle and aunt, Keith and Delores Douglas.

Peggy Hauser had all of her children at her home for Easter dinner last week: Bill and Diana Bachtel, Matthew and Ashley: Nancy Feather, Kiley, Seth, and Jordan; and Bill and Norma Bird and Aaron, all of Terra Alta; and Tim and Billie Jo Umbel, Kelsie, Brandon and Logan, Oakland.

A surprise family dinner on Sunday at the home of Rod and Linda Bachman, Justin and Jason, Fairmont, honored Gerald Winter, Mrs. Bachman's neighbor and soon to be step-father, on the occasion of his birthday. Attending from Aurora were Hancell and Mildred Teets, and Jackie and Alma Snyder. Other members of the Knotts family and the Winter family were also in attendance. Grace Knotts and Gerald Winter plan to wed Saturday, April 25, and a reception at Aurora will honor them on Sunday, April 26.

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department thanks the following for their recent donations: Columbia Gas Company, Walter and Kathy Shaffer, Cletis Lambert, and Kingwood VFW Post #826.

Carl and Cynthia Bachtel, Adam and Mark, Horse Shoe Run, were Sunday hosts for a family dinner to honor Mrs. Bachtel's mother, Carolyn Harsh, on her birthday. Others attending were Robert Harsh, the husband of the honored guest; Sue Fike; Alton and Bonnie Currance of Lancaster, Ohio; Alan, Patty, Ashley, and Anthony Wilt; Kristi, Terry and Jeff Wilt; and Brian Wilt.

TERRA ALTA

WALK-A-THON

The Terra Alta Public Library will sponsor its second annual walk-a-thon to benefit the James A. Gregg Memorial Fund on Saturday, May 2, beginning at 9 a.m.

The five-mile walk will begin at the west end of Terra Alta and end at Gregg's Pharmacy. It is open to anyone willing to participate, and those 18 years of age and younger must have written permission by a parent or guardian.

"Last year, 57 brave individuals walked in 33 degree temperatures with snow, sleet, and rain," said a spokesperson for the walk-a-thon. "Even that didn't dampen the walkers' feelings for Jim. They all had special spots in their hearts for Jim, and wanted to express their loss in some active way."

All proceeds will again go towards a scholarship designated to be used to help a high school senior who plans to further his or her education in the medical field. No trophies, plaques, awards, or prizes will be awarded.

For more information about the walk-a-thon, persons are asked to call the library at 789-2724, Tuesday through Friday, between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

LIBRARY NEWS

The most recent Danielle Steele novel, The Long Road Home, is now available at the Terra Alta library.

1998 Great American Quilts, by Carol L. Newbill, has been donated to the library in memory of Jane Tennell by Margaret K. Germain.

Friends of the Terra Alta Library (FOTTAL) met recently and made plans for a future fundraiser. Officers are Eve Rafferty, president; Margarete Sypolt, vice president; and Jean Yester, treasurer. This all-volunteer organization supports the library in a variety of ways. The next meeting is this evening, April 23, at the library.

Other recent donations to the library have been made by Mary McLaughlin, Nellie Lothry, Ellie McFarland, Crystal Shears, Jeanne McGinnis, Lois Anderson, Connie Gibson, and Mr. Ossman.

Health Fair Scheduled For Preston County

The annual Preston County Health Fair, sponsored by Preston Memorial Hospital and the Kingwood Rotary Club, will be held on Saturday, May 16, from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Civic Center, Tunnelton Street, Kingwood, W.Va.

The event will feature a variety of health screenings, health promotion and education exhibits, and entertainment.

Multiple blood screening will be offered at a cost of $25. A prostate specific antigen (PSA) test will be available for $20. A 12-hour fast is required prior to having blood drawn for testing.

Persons wishing to make appointments for blood tests may call 304-329-4701. General admission to the Preston County Health Fair is free.

For further information persons may call 304-735-6104 or 304-735-6801.

Refund Checks Status Can Be Checked On Net

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says Maryland is one of only four states in the nation where taxpayers can check the status of their state income tax refunds on the Internet. Maryland began offering this service April 16, 1998, joining Delaware, South Carolina, and West Virginia.

"Now that you've filed your 1997 Maryland income tax return, you can check the status of your refund on your home computer by visiting the comptroller's website at www.comp.state.md.us 24 hours a day," said Comptroller Goldstein. "Just click on What's New and follow the simple instructions under Find out the status of your refund. To ensure that only you can check the status of your refund, you'll need to enter your social security number and the amount of the refund you're expecting."

Taxpayers will see a screen that displays the status of their refund. The message might say that the refund is on its way, that an adjustment has been made, or that the tax return hasn't yet been logged into the processing system. Taxpayers who filed after April 8 should wait three weeks before checking their refund.

Taxpayers can also check the status of their refund through an automated telephone hotline by calling 1-800-218-8160.

NHS Class Of 1983 To Meet

A 15-year class reunion is scheduled for the Northern High School Class of 1983. Classmates can get reacquainted on Friday, June 19, during the "icebreaker" at the Honi Honi Bar, Deep Creek Lake, beginning at 8:30 p.m. All classmates are invited to attend and to bring a guest if they wish.

The reunion will be held at the Grantsville American Legion on Saturday, June 20. A social time will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Entertainment provided by Jonny Rock will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The reunion committee has already mailed invitations, but is still looking for the following classmates: Betty White Brenneman, Diane Savage Frazee, Edward Noel Yoder, Tammy Lynn Swauger Louie, Tracy Sweene Bosworth, Joseph Anthony Ruggiero II, Virginia O'Leary, Gloria Maust Ruggiero, Robin Ghrist Denning, and Glenn Roger Artice Jr. Persons with addresses or telephone numbers of these classmates are asked to contact Cindy Frantz at 301-746-5410 or Bonnie Thomas at 301-746-5325.

Bruce Class Of 1950 Will Meet

The members of the Bruce High School Class of 1950 will be gathering at Samson's Restaurant, Westernport, for their spring reunion on Saturday, May 16, at 2 p.m. This will be a time of fellowship and socializing, followed by a brief business meeting that will include some planning for their 50th reunion in the year 2000. Also, the class will be looking for any address changes that have occurred since their last mailing.

The meal will be buffet style. All class members are invited to attend, along with their spouses or guests. Those wishing more information or planning to attend should contact Bill Shimer Sr. at 301-359-9745 no later than May 8.

Please don't feed the bears!

Great Day

Nothing like it–the promise of happiness that greets you when you're young, and ready to explore life.

Later, there come days when you're not so sure. The afternoon and evening of life seem less inviting. Or are we less ready for the changing challenges the years bring?

God gives us each day. How we use it is our responsibility…

Just about everyone agrees that a little child facing the morning of life needs religious training. The expression and development of our religious capacities is equally important when we're older.

God's house is for families…for everyone.

Morning is simply the day's beginning. Faith brings morning's fulfillment. Then it can become a great day.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FREE INDEED!
April 26, 1998

Background Scripture:
John 8:12-59
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 51:1-9

There's a story about a little boy who passed his neighbor on the sidewalk. "I'm running away from home!" the little boy announced as he sped off. Minutes later the neighbor saw the little boy coming up the sidewalk from the opposite direction. As he passed the neighbor, he said again, "I'm running away from home!" Soon the boy was seen to be approaching again and this time the neighbor stopped him to ask, "If you're running away from home, why do you continue to run around the block?" Looking at the neighbor in disbelief, the boy explained, "Cause I'm not allowed to cross the street!"

I like that story because it illustrates something I've learned over the years: no freedom is absolute and when we have reached what we think is freedom, we may have simply attained a state of bondage on a less obvious level. We are a lot like that little boy, forever running away from home, but getting nowhere because we aren't allowed to cross the street.

In John 8 we find the critics of Jesus confidently discussing 'truth' and 'freedom' without really knowing what it is like to personally know either of them. Like the old farmer once explained, "You can't describe a place you ain't never been." So often, that is what is happening when we talk confidently about 'truth' and 'freedom.'

WALKING IN DARKNESS

It all begins in John 8 when Jesus proclaims, "I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life" (8:12). Immediately the Pharisees pounce on him, "You are bearing witness to yourself; your testimony is not true." They contest what Jesus is saying because they reject him, but Jesus tells them that what he says is true because it comes, not from him but God. Surely, if they knew God, they would recognize what Jesus is saying as true.

Of course, that's the hard part, isn't it? How can we be sure we know God? Jesus replies to us as well as them: "if you knew me, you would know my Father also" (8:19). This is what Jesus meant when he said that he is the light of the world. He illuminates the darkness that surrounds the nature of God. When we know what Jesus is about, we also know what God is like. All that I think that I know about God is what I have seen in the life and words of Jesus. There are lots of things I do not know about Jesus and his Son, but what I do perceive is enough life for me to live hopefully and faithfully.

This light that Jesus shines on God the Father gives me the only possible capacity for true freedom. As Jesus tells his followers: "If you continue in my word, you are truly my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free" (8:21,22). Their reply is indignant: "We are descendants of Abraham and have never been in bondage to anyone. How is it that you say, 'You will be made free?'" (8:33).

WHO ME, IN BONDAGE?

I can hear us saying something similar. "I'm a descendant of John Wesley, how can you say I'm in bondage?" "I'm a disciple of John Calvin, what do you mean I'm not free?" "I'm a Roman Catholic, how can you make me more free?" Actually, Jesus is telling them, 'truth' and 'freedom' are not so much in what they say they believe, but in what they do about it. "If you were Abraham's children, you would do what Abraham did, but now you seek to kill me, a man who has told you the truth which I heard from God" (8:39,40). If the life doesn't match the words, the words are a lie.

As I write these words the whole world waits to see whether we will once again go to war with Saddam Hussein. The other day my wife, Valere, told an audience that as Christians we ought to pray for Saddam and the people were shocked. Pray for such a man as he? But isn't that what Christ has taught us to do with our enemies? If we are true disciples of Jesus Christ, how can we curse those who are our enemies? Is it because we believe that God is incapable of changing the heart of this tyrant?

"So if the Son makes you free, you will be free indeed." Only in Jesus Christ can we know real freedom—from hate and prejudice, from judging when we ought to be blessing, from despair when God offers us hope. Only when Christ has freed us from that kind of bondage can we be free indeed!

"SPRING HAS SPRUNG" BE CAREFUL

Yes, those with April showers that bring spring flowers can also bring a great deal of misery to those many people who may suffer from certain allergies. It can be especially difficult for those who do not know what it is that causes their problems.

If you ever experience such problems, don't suffer meaninglessly. There are many tests that can be done to find out to what you may be allergic. An appointment with a physician with specialized training (allergist) would be a first step for you to take.

The pharmacy you go to should be one you know you can count on in any situation. One that has a reputation for prompt and dependable service. We try to maintain that type of reputation. Our main concern is the health and welfare of our community.

Opening Schedule For Randolph Lake Announced

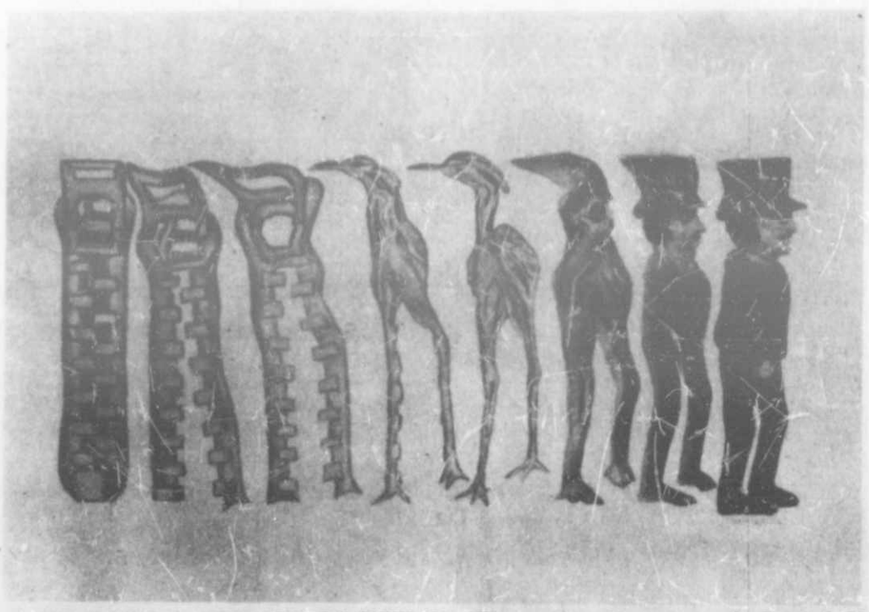
The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced the opening schedule for the 1998 recreation season at Jennings Randolph Lake.

The West Virginia Overlook, home of the "Waffle Rock," a rare geological formation, is now open and accessible from West Virginia Route #46, five miles north of Elk Garden. The Maryland Overlook is also now currently open for day-use activities. The overlook, which has one of the most scenic views in Western Maryland, features a half-mile long songbird trail, complete with waterfall and pond. The Maryland Overlook is accessible from Maryland Route #135 by either Walnut Bottom Road or Chestnut Grove Road.

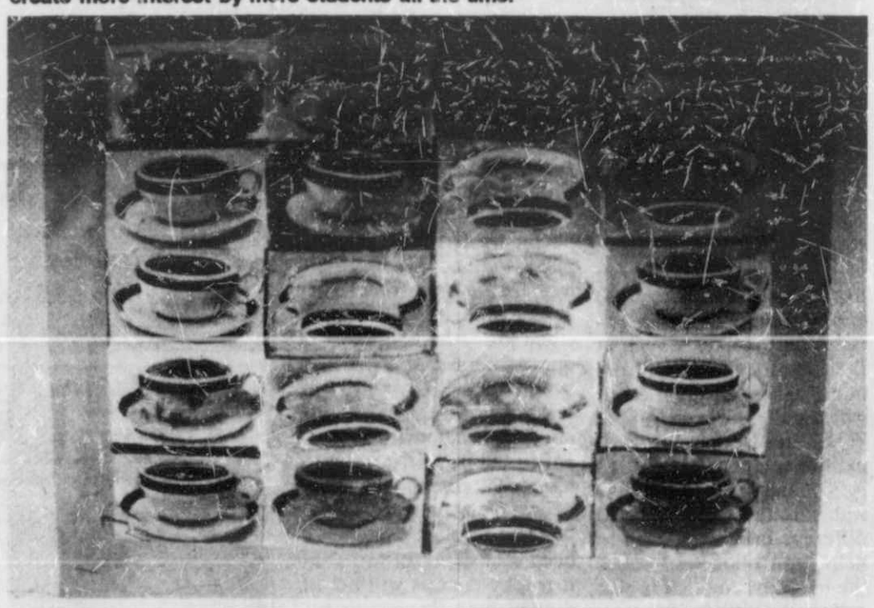
The Robert W. Craig Campground will open to the public on May 1 for the 1998 season. The campground features an amphitheater, a playground, a basketball court, horseshoe pits, a one-mile tree identification trail, and a 1.2-mile, down-and-back, Sunset Trail offering a panoramic view of the back of the dam. Evening programs will be presented every Saturday in the amphitheater starting Memorial Day weekend.

Hot showers and flush toilets are available in the campground's front camping loop. The campground has 87 campsites, of which 78 have electrical services. The daily fee for electrical campsites is $16 and $10 for non-electric sites. All campsites are available on a first-come, first-served basis. The area also features a 30x 40-foot pavilion available for reservation, with grills and horseshoe pits nearby. The shelter may be reserved for $25/day by contacting the park office.

The Howell Run Picnic Area is now open. The area offers a volleyball court, horseshoe pits, playground, two covered pavilions, 31 picnic tables, and 13 barbecue grills. The shelters may be reserved for $25/day by contacting the park office.



SHS STUDENT ARTWORK ON DISPLAY - These artworks are a selection of 60 works by 9th through 12th grade students at Southern High School on display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland through the end of April. Above, Erin Shaffer's "Metamorphis Drawing" shows change and growth, taking seemingly unrelated objects and melding one into the other in progression. The untitled face at the right was drawn by Michelle Goralski using conte crayon, and the "Coffee Cups" below are portrayed in mixed media by Tonya Sisler. SHS art teachers Sonia Pratt and Linda Reeves-Cook praised the works of their students and art students countywide. "We have a tremendous selection of young artists throughout the county," Pratt commented. "Community support, dedicated teachers, and the many venues available for display are helping create more interest by more students all the time."



The Howell Run Picnic Area is now open. The area offers a volleyball court, horseshoe pits, playground, two covered pavilions, 31 picnic tables, and 13 barbecue grills. The shelters may be reserved for $25/day by contacting the park office.

Four Jennings Randolph Lake Whitewater release weekends are scheduled for this spring. The whitewater releases provide Class I, II, and III rapids in close succession and are comprised of waves and rollers up to three feet high. Trip length is 7 miles and parking and restrooms are available at the launching site in Barnum, W.Va. Remaining whitewater release dates are May 2-3, May 16-17, and May 30-31. For whitewater information, persons may contact Rex Riffle, Mineral County Parks & Recreation, at 304-788-5732.

For further general information, persons may call Jennings Randolph Lake office at 304-355-2346 or 301-359-3861 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Salisbury VFD Aux. Sets Benefit Square Dance At Fire Hall

The Salisbury (Pa.) Volunteer Fire Department Auxilary will be sponsoring a benefit square dance and bake sale for Rebecca Murray and Janet and Chuck O'Donnell on Saturday, May 9, at the fire hall on Ord Street in Salisbury. The bake sale will begin at 5 p.m., with the square dance slated to begin at 7 p.m. Admission is $5, with children under 12 admitted free.

Local Training Set In Computer Use For Realtors

Metropolitan Regional Information Systems Inc. (MRIS) will offer three computer classes to MRIS subscribers next month at the Garrett County Board of Realtors, located at 14703 Garrett Highway.

Introduction to MRIS Software, Course 100, will be offered twice, first on Tuesday, May 5, and again on Thursday, May 21, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. on each occasion. This four-hour course, mandatory for MRIS subscribers, will present a basic introduction to MRIS software applications. Subscribers will conduct typical real estate functions such as searching, adding, and editing listings. This course is free for MRIS subscribers, and is approved for three continuing education credits (CECs) in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Getting More Out of Realtor Workstation, Course 200, will be presented on Thursday, May 7, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Additional functions of MRIS software will be highlighted, including setting personal defaults, advanced search techniques, and personal search criteria, as well as an introduction to exporting MRIS data to other Windows applications. Free to MRIS subscribers, this course is approved for three CECs in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Navigating the MRIS Intranet, Course 175, will be offered on Tuesday, May 19, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. This course will provide instruction in accessing the MRIS Intranet and will review features such as financial functions, school profiles, and market updates. This course is free; however, no CECs are available.

Pre-registration is required for each of these classes and may be made by calling MRIS at 301-838-7100 or 1-800-838-8138.

MRIS operates the area's on-line real estate network for 22,000 licensed agents, brokers and appraisers in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware, and Washington D.C. MRIS includes tax assessment data, school profiles, interior and exterior property photographs, and additional housing-related information. Over 400 homes were sold in western Maryland through MRIS during the first quarter of 1998. MRIS listings are available on the Internet at www.realtor.com and www.homeseekers.com.

Revival Slated At Grace Church

Grace Bible Church will hold its spring revival with evangelist Lacy Brooks. The meetings will start this Sunday, April 26, at 10 a.m. and continue each night at 7 p.m. through Friday, May 1. The special music on Sunday night will be provided by Heaven's Mountain Band.

Grace Bible Church is located 5½ miles south of Grantsville. Persons should take Exit 19 from I-68, Rt. 495 south, and turn right onto Dung Hill Road. The church is one mile, on the left.

For more information, persons may call Pastor Larry Glotfelty at 301-746-8635.

FSU To Present Mozart's Requiem

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present Requiem by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg, on Sunday, May 3, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center, Pealer Recital Hall. This performance is part of the FSU Centennial Celebration (1898-1998) and dedicated to the Department of Music scholarship benefactors.

Regarded as one of the most highly esteemed works in music literature, the Requiem Mass, KV. 626, was commissioned in July 1791, by Count Walsegg. This performance of Mozart's Requiem uses the Neue Ausgabe samtlicher Werke, edited by Leopold Nowak, which is based upon Mozart's unfinished autograph with additions by his pupil Franz Xaver Sussmayer.

The work is set for four soloists, four-voice choir, an orchestra consisting of two clarinets, two bassoons, two trumpets, three trombones, timpani, strings, and organ with continuo. Soloists include soprano Kathryn Herddon, Hagerstown; mezzo-soprano Daphne Alderson, Pittsburgh; tenor Harry Dunstan, Washington, D.C.; and Eugene Galvin, Alexandria, Va. The 130-voice choir will include the Cumberland Choral Society, the FSU Collegium Musicum, and University Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg and the Emmanuel Episcopal Choir directed by Dr. Joan DeVee Dixon. The orchestra is comprised of musicians from the tri-state area.

The concert is free and open to the public. Persons may request ADA accommodations through the Office of Student Support Services/Disabled Student Services, 301-687-4481, TDD 301-687-7955.

Graphic Design Students At FSU To Display Work

Ten senior Frostburg State University graphic design students, including two from Garrett County, will display their work at 7 p.m., Friday, May 1, in FSU's Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery. The presentation, "Designer's Cut," features the work of Ernest Achenbach, Shannon Bristol, Lauren Crescenti, Susie Francis, Eric Fehervari, Colleen Foti, Jeff Johnson, Jamie Reams, Jennifer Rowe, and Jeremy Sanders.

Reams, a graduate of Southern High School, anticipates a graduation with a BFA in graphic design. With a dual focus in graphic design and photography, she plans a career in design and hopes to establish her own design firm.

A native of Oakland, Sanders hopes to graduate in December of this year with a BFA in graphic design. Currently employed at Master-Craft Printers in Oakland, Sanders oversees pre-press design and typesetting. With several printed and multimedia projects underway, he plans to remain in the field of printing and design.

For information about this event, persons may telephone 301-687-4797.

FORESTRY BOARD CELEBRATES ARBOR DAY - The Garrett County Forestry Board celebrated Arbor Day in appropriate fashion recently by planting two crabapple trees on the grounds of Camp Hickory, Garrett County Schools' Environmental Education Center located near Accident. Above, Forestry Board member Karin Miller shares a copy of Governor Glendening's Arbor Day proclamation with students from Norma Rickman's fourth-grade class from Dennett Road Elementary, on hand to participate in the tree plantings. Following the ceremony, Forestry Board members presented Wayne Johnson, on hand to represent the county commissioners, with a copy of the governor's proclamation. Shown below, left to right, are Camp Hickory instructor Joe Winters, Forestry Board member Charles Strauss, County Commissioner and Forestry Board member Wayne Johnson, Forestry Board president Mike Kozler, Miller, and Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service Project forester Wade Dorsey.

JOHNSON APPOINTED TO FORESTRY BOARD - Garrett County Commissioner Wayne Johnson has been appointed to serve as the county commissioners' representative on the Garrett County Forestry Board. Johnson was presented with his membership certificate by Robert Webster, Department of Natural Resources Forest Service regional forester for the Western Region, at last month's Forestry Board meeting. Three board members were also reappointed to serve additional terms. Shown above, left to right, as they receive their Board appointments are Commissioner Johnson, John Forman, Mike Kozler, and Robert Webster. Not available for the photo was Karin Miller, who was also reappointed to the board. The Garrett County Forestry Board cooperates with the county commissioners and with many other organizations in promoting conservation and conservation education.

New Certificate Program To Be Offered At GCC

A new career certificate program that will prepare students for employment in the 21st century has been approved for Garrett Community College to offer, beginning in September.

The Information Systems Technologies certificate will provide courses that lead to careers in five different computer-related fields: Internet Specialist, Network Manager, Computer Service Technician, Computer Programmer, and Video Conferencing. A student will take a total of 26 credits to complete the certificate in any one of these areas of concentration. Students will be able to start the program in the summer session or in the fall semester.

Everyone enrolled in this program will take six core courses and a three-credit practicum in addition to courses specific to the area of concentration.

Anyone desiring further information about the Information Systems Technologies certificate may call Dr. Terry Norris at 301-387-3043.

Spring Wildflower Walk This Sunday At Lostland Run

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, will offer a Spring Wildflower Walk on April 26 at the scenic Lostland Run area of Potomac State Forest, an area known for its wide variety of wildflowers. The public is invited to attend, and interested participants should meet at the Potomac State Forest Headquarters at 2 p.m. on the day of the walk. More information is available from the park office at 301-334-2038.

Kennel Club To Host Program At LaVale Mall

In an effort to promote responsible dog ownership in the area, the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club is presenting "Dogs on Parade" on Sunday, May 3, at the Country Club Mall from noon to 6 p.m. This event will highlight National Pet Week and Be Kind to Animals Week.

Kennel Club members will introduce the public to different breeds of dogs to help future owners select the breed of dog that is best suited for their lifestyle. Agility and obedience demonstrations will also be held that afternoon to show ways that owners can enjoy life with their dogs.

Local veterinarians will be on hand to inform the public about health care and answer questions. Other pet professionals will include groomers, pet sitters, dog trainers, and a pet-loss counselor.

Lucky the Greyhound and his owner will be present to tell people how they, too, can rescue a Greyhound from the racetrack.

The entries that have been submitted for the photography contest will be on display, with six winners receiving a gift certificate good in any participating Country Club Mall store.

Church Women To Serve Dinner

The UMW of the Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church will serve a steak dinner this Friday, April 24, in the church basement. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. and continue until all the food is gone.

The menu will include baked steak, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, cole slaw, rolls, dessert, and drinks. The price of the meal will be donations. Take-outs will be available.

All proceeds from this dinner will go to help with the funeral expense for Terry Smith.

Senior Center Offers Forum On Medicare

Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging will be hosting an forum on new Medicare benefits at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, May 4. Presenting the information will be Carol Shu-maker, a representative from Delmarva Foundation for Medical Care Inc.

The session will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will include information on increased benefits such as coverage for mammograms, pap smears, diabetic care, cancer screenings, and vaccinations.

Senior citizens, caregivers, and persons who work with the elderly are encouraged to attend. Lunch will be available following the presentation. The menu will consist of V-8 juice, baked potato, baked fish, peas and carrots, a muffin, vanilla pudding, milk, and coffee or tea. The cost of the meal will be $3.25, regardless of age.

Reservations for lunch are necessary and can be made by calling the agency at 301-334-9431, ext. 142. Deadline for reservations is Friday, May 1, 1 p.m.

Questions about the Medicare benefits session may be directed to AmeriCorps member Michaela Minnick at 301-334-9431, ext. 132, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; 301-746-8824, Tuesdays; and 301-895-5818, Thursdays. The Area Agency on Aging may be called at 1-888-877-8403.

Rush Baptist To Screen "The Home Coming" This Sat.

Rush Baptist Church, located at 1985 Old Morgantown Road, Friendsville, will host a showing of the new dramatic movie The Home Coming on Saturday, April 25, at 6 p.m.

A production of World Wide Pictures, the motion picture ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, The Home Coming portrays the issues faced by a troubled big-city youth who is sent to a small-town rural high school by a judge who hopes that the new environment will turn the young man's life around. In dealing with "peer pressure, belonging, and making the right choices," the lead character forms friendships that "eventually teach him what it means to be a friend and to belong," according to a World Wide Pictures publicist.

Pastor Steven Rose and the congregation of Rush Baptist Church invite the public to join them for this event. For further information, interested persons may call the church at 301-746-8732.

COVER STORY

Breaking laws of TV: Ally, Practice conspire

By Glenn Teichman
©TVData Features Syndicate

Dylan McDermott

Imagine a story beginning on Fox's Ally McBeal and concluding on ABC's The Practice.

It sounds far-fetched, but on Monday, April 27, David E. Kelley brings his two current shows together in a crossover that jumps networks.

Both shows take place in Boston and are about attorneys, but there is little else that ties them together. Ally is a quirky comedy; The Practice is a gripping drama.

Whereas Ally is best known for a dancing baby, weird fantasy sequences and great musical numbers, The Practice distinguishes itself with courtroom theatrics, complex cases and a disturbing insight into the legal system. What they do have in common is the superb writing of Kelley.

"They're two sides of a coin, I think, and what's interesting is they're written by the same man," executive producer Jeffrey Kramer says.

The groundwork for the crossover has been building slowly since the beginning of the season. Since the two law firms are in the same city, why wouldn't they try cases in the same courts? So Judge Whipper Cone (Dyan Cannon), a semiregular on Ally, already has appeared on The Practice.

"It was inevitable (that the shows would come together)," Kramer says.

Monday, most of the characters from The Practice appear on Ally. Helen and Jimmy (Lara Flynn Boyle, Michael Badalucco) are the absentees. Then Ally and Billy (Calista Flockhart, Gil Bellows) pop up on The Practice.

Getting the whole thing organized wasn't easy. "The planning was, I'm telling you, it must have looked like we were planning a Persian Gulf strike," Kramer says. "Working this out, who's where, who's on what set at what time, what are we shooting – it was unbelievable."

But what exactly brings the two firms together? The networks aren't revealing much, but the story involves a murder case.

"Each show will be true to itself," Kramer says. "I mean the color palette, the tone, the style, everything will be true to itself. (Fans of The Practice) don't have to worry about Dylan (McDermott, who plays Bobby Donnell) kick-dancing and boxing and breaking into song."

But even though McDermott doesn't get the chance to cha-cha with the dancing baby, the project has a certain exuberance.

"We don't do this every week. It's kind of a rare occurrence," Kramer says. "And it's fun. And you know what, it's a good thing to do for television."

Fox affiliates aren't laughing, however, because most of them air local news opposite The Practice.

"We got a lot of flak from this. ... Fox wasn't happy, but you know what, I think it will help both shows," Kramer says.

Ally certainly doesn't need much assistance. The series has quickly become one of Fox's biggest hits.

And The Practice need not worry. Its numbers have been steadily growing, and ABC has already renewed the show for two years. The crossover with Ally can't hurt.

But then, if you can't count on family, whom can you count on?

TV-PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q: I recently saw Grease and kept noticing a non-speaking extra who looked a lot like Sally on 3rd Rock From the Sun. Was it her? –A Rock-er via e-mail.

A: No, Grease is in its 20th-anniversary rerelease. Kristen Johnston, who plays Sally, was only 10 when the movie was made.

Q: I would like to know whatever happened to the announced sequel to A Fish Called Wanda. I heard John Cleese mention it on a talk show, and I was looking forward to seeing it. It was to star Cleese, Jamie Lee Curtis and Kevin Kline. –Jane C. Greene via e-mail.

A: Cleese, Curtis, Kline and fellow Wanda alumnus Michael Palin all played completely different characters in Fierce Creatures, a 1997 comedy that, apart from its lead actors, had absolutely nothing to do with the earlier film.

Also unlike Wanda, Creatures was not very funny and earned far less at the box office than the earlier film.

Q: Whatever happened to the sitcom Chicago Sons? It just seemed to disappear. –Barry Keith via e-mail.

A: That is what happens when shows do not attract a large enough audience to survive. But all three "sons" landed on their feet: Jason Bateman in George & Leo, D.W. Moffett in For Your Love and David Krumholtz in The Closer.

Q: How old is Scott Bairstow of Significant Others? How old was he when he did Lonesome Dove: The Outlaw Years? –Kathi Anderson via e-mail.

A: Others pulled such in-Significant ratings that Fox yanked it after only three episodes, just weeks before Bairstow turned 28 on April 23. He would have been around 25 while Dove was still flying.

Q: In Primary Colors, who played Jennifer, Kathy Bates' assistant/lover? Did she used to be in a TV show? –Debbie Stone, Muncie, Ind.

A: Stacy Edwards, who plays Jennifer Rogers in Colors, previously starred as Hayley Benson Capwell on Santa Barbara and as Lindy Hammersmith in the short-lived drama Sons and Daughters. She also starred in the feature film In the Company of Men, and currently is appearing as Dr. Catera in Chicago Hope.

Q: Whatever happened to Jeffrey Hunter? –Curious via e-mail.

A: The actor died at 42 on May 27, 1969, of a brain hemorrhage. He had sustained a concussion while filming an explosion scene two weeks earlier for his last movie, Viva America! The explosion kills his character.

TRIVIA

For $2,000 and up, the American Rose Society will custom-hybridize a rose plant and name it for the person of your choice.

Among circus performers, whistling backstage, wearing peacock feathers and eating peanuts all are considered bad luck.

IN FOCUS

Jamie Lee Curtis stars in the uplifting story of a couple whose selflessness helped inspire a country in Nicholas' Gift. The TV movie premieres Sunday, April 26, on CBS.

Maggie and Reginald Green's (Curtis, Alan Bates) vacation in Italy with their children (Gene Wexler, Hallie Kate Eisenberg) is brought to an abrupt end when their son is shot and left brain-dead. When the Greens donate the boy's organs, the people of Italy examine their own low donation rates.

CLASS GETS WASHER/DRYER - The Southern High School Special Education class just received a washer and dryer, with some help from Cumberland Electric's Neal Stoner. The teachers had asked him to keep an eye out for someone buying a new washer and dryer, who wanted to get rid of the old appliances. Mr. and Mrs. Teets were the local couple who traded in their old washer and dryer that the special ed. class was able to get. The students and teachers expressed their thanks for the help they were given. In the front row in the photo above are B.J. Lyons, Deborah Petersheim, and Neil Stoner, Cumberland Electric. In the back row are Michael Daily, Jerry Sweitzer, Stephen Plum, teacher, and Melanie Smith.

Those who earned all A's were Jessica Brandlen, Pam Morton, and Melissa Wilson. The students who earned A's and B's were Richie Dellinger and Elizabeth "Joey" Simpson.

PAGES POSE - Students from throughout the state served the Maryland House of Delegates again this year during the 1998 General Assembly, and serving his second term as a page was Southern High School's Matt Walthall, who is pictured at far right. Walthall, a senior, is the son of Diana Walthall, Oakland, and the late Ed Walthall. A senior, he plans to continue his education this fall at Frostburg State University.

DAV Installation Of Officers Set

All members of Mt. Top Unit 29, Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary, are encouraged to attend the meeting on Monday, April 27, at the Oakland fire hall, at which new officers will be installed. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner, and each member is asked to bring a dessert. The dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

Meet Garrett County's NEW TEACHERS

Christopher Jones, a native of Talbot County, is the new music resource teacher for Grantsville and Bloomington schools.

A graduate of Frostburg State University with a major in music education, Jones compieted his student teaching at Allegany High School in Cumberland and at Ridgeley Primary/Middle School.

Prior to being employed by the Garrett County Board of Education, he worked as a substitute teacher in Allegany County and in Mineral County, W.Va. He was also an assistant at the Cooperative Centers for Exceptional Children, Gal-ax, Va. "This gave me good experience and has been helpful to me in dealing with special needs students in my music classes, " he said, referring to his work in Galax.

Jones had been working with two mentors, Jeffrey Rice and Neil Krebs. Rice, a physical education teacher, has assisted Jones in understanding the role of resource teacher and has helped acclimate him to Grantsville Elementary School.

Krebs, also a music resource teacher, has shared with Jones ideas on instruction and curriculum. They recently met to plan for the Garrett County Student Arts Fair at which Jones's band students will perform.

Jones said he appreciates the help of his mentors. "Garrett County is quite a good county in which to teach. The staff and faculty are so personable and the students are really good here," he said.

In addition to the arts fair, Jones has been preparing his students for the Grantsville Variety Show, which he is co-producing with Carolyn Collen-DuBose, art resource teacher.

Jones and his wife Janet, band director at Beall High School, Frostburg, reside in Cumberland.

Sullivan Attends Mediation Training

Paul C. Sullivan, local attorney, recently attended a 40-hour mediation training seminar conducted by the Maryland Institute of Continuing Professional Education for Lawyers. This seminar was conducted at the University of Baltimore School of Law and included simulation training sessions, as well as lectures concerning the history and theory of mediation and specialized training with regard to the mediation process.

Mediation is an alternative means of resolving disputes intended to eliminate the high costs, delay, and adversity commonly experienced in the litigation process. Many individuals are choosing to resolve their disputes by submitting their claims to mediation. Mediation is a voluntary process that also can produce remedies and relief which are not otherwise available through the courts.

Sullivan is licensed to practice law in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, the District of Columbia, and Florida. In 1977, he joined his father, John Sullivan, to form Sullivan & Sullivan, P.A., based in Cumberland and Swanton. He is currently the managing partner of that law firm and exclusively handles personal injury claims. In January 1998, Sullivan formed a subsidiary of the law firm, Abiding Mediation and Arbitration, which offers its services throughout Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

Advisory Group To Meet At GCC

The Garrett County School Health Advisory Committee will meet on Friday, April 24, at 9 a.m. The site for the meeting will be Room 308 in the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College.

The subcommittee for review/revision of the middle school health program, including Family Life, will meet following the regular advisory committee, until 3:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Activities Set For Summerfest

The volunteer committee of the 21st annual Summerfest and Quilt Show has set the schedule of activities for this year's event, scheduled for July 9-11 at Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville.

The festival will feature nearly 100 juried artisans, musicians, and storytellers at work during the three-day outdoor show. Potters, quilters, blacksmiths, weavers, carvers, furniture makers, children's toymakers. calligraphers, watercolor artists, oil and tole painters, jewelry makers, stained glass artists, leathersmiths, and textile makers will be among those included.

Musicians featured during the festival will be Katie and Otto's Appalachian Tall Tales, Hergen's Button Box, Lynne Barnes, Ray Owen's Early American Heritage Shows, Mainline Gospel Band, Men of Accord, Greg Latta, Hammers and Strings, Grover Broadwater, Ed Rafferty and Back Up and Push, Oakland Andrews Sisters, Carol and Kathleen Gotzmer, Jay Best, Hazel Klotz, and Larry Smith.

Acoustical music will be played continuously during the festival inside the air-conditioned Village Church, at the forest entrance, and by the Casselman River.

Children's entertainment will include "hands-on" and "make it and take it" activities, for which there will be a modest fee.

A complimentary shuttle bus, making stops at several businesses, will be available to festival-goers.

For information on the group rates and discounts, and entertainment schedules, persons may call Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332.

The Summerfest and Quilt Show is sponsored by Spruce Forest Artisan Village, The Schoolhouse Quilters Guild, and the arts councils.

OOOH, A LITTLE TO THE RIGHT! Lisa the elephant, four-ton star of the Roberts Brothers Circus, is shown enjoying a recent bath. The pampered pachyderm will be performing with her circus mates under the Big Top, which will be set up for one day only on Friday, May 22, in the parking lot of the Treasure Island department store on Maryland Highway. Show times are 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., and a free tour will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. that morning. The circus is sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA), and discount advance tickets are available from all GOBA members and at Treasure Island, The Water Street Market Place and Decorator's Nook, Marvin's Men's Wear, Little Expressions, Oakland's Tropical World, and the Reel Video stores in Oakland, Mtn. Pain may be eliminated for millions (Special) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis"® and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis® relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis® is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on lotion form. Arthur Itis® is guaranteed to work or your money back .

Q. What can you tell me about my cast-iron duck bank? It measures 4 inches by 5 inches. The traps says, "Kenton."

A. Your round duck bank was made between 1936 and 1940 by the Kenton Hardware Co.

The company, which opened for business in Kenton, Ohio, in 1890 as a lock manufacturer, started making cast-iron toys in 1894.

The origin of your duck was a ceramic sugar bowl made in Japan and owned by the wife of Kenton's plant manager. She convinced her husband that the duck would make a good bank. He made a mold using her sugar bowl, and Kenton began making duck banks.

The banks were painted in various colors. The plant manager used them as fence-post caps around his home.

The round duck banks are hard to find. Yours is worth about $300.

Q. In our house, we have an old wood barrel churn and would like to know if it's worth anything. The inscription on the barrel reads, "The Belle Churn."

A. The J. McDermaid Co. of Rockford, Ill., made The Belle Churn for Janney Semple Hill & Co. of Minneapolis.

After more than a century in business, Janney Semple Hill & Co. went out of business in 1961.

Churns were made as late as the 1920s, so yours might not be very old.

Wooden barrel churns sell for $50 to $200, depending on condition, age and decoration.

Home Tips

NO MORE DRIPS — When traveling by car, my family and I often buy cold drinks when we make stops.

Unfortunately, condensation forms on the outside of the cups and when they are in a cup holder, the water drips onto our legs or on the inside of the door.

To solve the problem, I now purchase drinks in very large plastic foam cups. When we finish the drinks, I simply wash out the cups and cut off the top half of each. I place the bottom halves in the cup holders, so now our drinks sit neatly inside the plastic foam where the drops of condensation are collected. Adelaide G., Houston, Texas

OLD POTPOURRI — I have found a great way of getting rid of the dry potpourri that has lost its scent. I make my own gift tags that take the place of a bow or ribbon.

Tear an irregular, 3-inch shape from a grocery bag. Hot-glue any small dried leaves or flat potpourri to the brown paper. Next, add colorful seeds, the dried flowers and even the scented wood shavings.

When you add this decorative piece to a package wrapped in white tissue paper, you will have an original creation. Greta F., Syracuse, N.Y.

Biography®

JERRY SEINFELD: THE SEINLANGUAGE OF SUCCESS

Jerry Seinfeld took John Lennon's lyric, "Life is what happens to you while you're busy making other plans," and turned it into a weekly 22-minute script. Buying bread, waiting for a restaurant table — no topic was too mundane. Quickly, "Seinfeld" became known as "the show about nothing." But Jerry was quick to point out that wasn't true: "You could never do a show about nothing because no one would be interested in it. The fact is, the show is about anything."

With the final episode airing next month, some 32 million people tune in weekly to "Seinfeld" to watch the trivial travails of Jerry, George, Kramer and Elaine as they face life's annoying minutiae. Jerry, featured on the cover of May's Biography magazine, essentially plays himself.

The son of a commercial sign salesman who would rather make his prospects laugh than sell them a sign, Jerry decided early on to become a comedian, especially after "I made a friend laugh so hard, he sprayed a mouthful of cookies and milk all over me and I liked it." After graduating from college, he hit Manhattan's comedy clubs. To make ends meet, he took a series of odd jobs, making sure none paid enough to tempt him. He gradually worked his way up to a spot on "The Tonight Show", which made him a hot commodity. At one point, he was making 300 appearances a year.

Then came "Seinfeld", which slowly entered the nation's psyche, making Jerry rich. The work-obsessed comedian has little time to spend his earnings. His only major expenditure seems to be on cars — he owns 60, most of which are parked in a Santa Monica airport hangar. Now that the show is over, Jerry will hit the road again — although this time he doesn't have to worry about selling enough tickets.

Self-Concept To Be Explored In GCC Workshop

A workshop titled "Who Am I, Anyway?" exploring the variety of ways that people choose to identify themselves, will be presented by Elizabeth Biser of Integrity Counseling Service on Thursday, April 30, at 1 p.m. in Room 305 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College (GCC). The workshop is free and open to the public.

Incorporating John Holland's Occupational Theory with other personal trait identification techniques, Biser will assist participants in the development of a broader, clearer concept of their roles in life. She will offer specific steps to take to get beyond the labels of employee, parent, spouse, or child, and move to recognition of personal skills, characteristics, and values.

Raised in Garrett County, where she has returned to live after furthering her education, Biser will be bringing a knowledge of the community to the workshop, as well as her counseling expertise. She earned a master's degree in pastoral counseling from Loyola College, and served a two-year internship at the Veterans Administration hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. She is a nationally certified counselor, and in conjunction with her work through the Oakland-based Integrity Counseling Service, she serves as co-facilitator for the Mettle Workers Group, a therapy group for batterers. In addition to individual and family therapy, her areas of expertise include domestic violence and sexual trauma.

The workshop is sponsored by the New Dimensions, the New Horizons, and the Caring Connection programs of GCC under the direction of Barbara Frey. For additional information or to re-gister, interested persons may contact Frey at 301-387-3071 or Virginia Jeffrey, intake/counselor specialist for the New Dimensions and the Caring Connection programs at 387-3103.

FSU To Present "Altered Visions"

Frostburg State University's Theatrical Visionaries and the Performing Arts Center will present "Altered Visions" on Monday, April 27, and Tuesday, April 28, at 8 p.m. in the PAC Studio Theatre.

An environmental theatre piece combining the elements of drama, dance, music, and video, "Altered Visions" is composed of several new and original works by FSU students, staff, and others.

The performance ensemble is composed of FSU theatre, music, and dance students, FSU faculty, and local high school performing arts students. Those performing include Sean Corcone, Jason Harper, Brynne Kessler, Jen Keister, Kate Hnatio, Wayne Carr, Alex Hicks of Friendsville, Richard Kagey, and Jenna Gallion.

Under the artistic direction of FSU's Performing Arts Center's John Cattanach, "Altered Visions" marks the first major production of Theatrical Visionaries (TV). Dedicated to the exploration and fulfillment of new and alternative theatrical styles, TV accomplishes this goal by exploring new works and seeing old scripts in a new light, seeking out new audiences, and performing in non-traditional spaces.

For more information on the event or TV, persons may contact 301-687-3037. Admission to the event is free; however, due to limited seating, passes will be available at 7 p.m. prior to each performance.

Persons may request ADA accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

RESA Directors To Meet At FSU

Zimmerman Enters Race For Judge Of Orphans' Court

George Zimmerman, a retired farmer and a Hutton area resident, has filed his candidacy for the office of Garrett County Judge of the Orphans' Court on the Republican ticket. "If elected, I will serve the people of Garrett County with the utmost integrity," the candidate said.

Zimmerman graduated from Oakland High School, immediately entered the U.S. Army, and served in the South Pacific during WWII. He is a member of VFW Post #10077 and American Legion Post #71 and assists with numerous military funerals. He is also a member of the Maryland Farm Bureau, served for 10 years with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and performs volunteer work for various organizations. Zimmerman also says he loves to make items in his wood working shop in his "spare" time."

Zimmerman and his wife Ellen reside near Hutton and are members of the Crellin Assembly of God Church. They have four children, 10 grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

Robert F. Rodeheaver is serving as Zimmerman's campaign treasurer.

Artists Invited To Exhibit Work At Flowery Vale

Artists of all ages and levels of achievement are being sought to exhibit their work in the Independence Day Exhibition of Art (IDEA) to be held at Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident on July 3, 4, and 5.

According to coordinator Edna Bender, the following types of art works will be accepted: paintings, drawings, sculpture, baskets, pottery, photography, pastel, collage, and mixed mediums. No crafts, quilting, kits, etc., will be accepted. Categories for exhibitors are: professional, adult, high school, grades 6-7-8, grades 3-4-5, grades K-1-2, and pre-kindergarten.

The exhibit is a family show, and only appropriate work will be displayed. Cash prizes totaling over $1,600 and gift certificates will be awarded in all categories.

Art work will be accepted at the Flowery Vale Senior Center on Tuesday, June 30, from 5 to 7 p.m. and on Wednesday, July 1, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Members of the planning committee for the IDEA art show are chairperson Miriam Loos, Angie Maust, Pauline George, Lori Schrock, Helen Silber, Jean Friend, Genne Serio, Nancy Folmsbee, Helen Harman, Freda Quintero, Sharon Brenneman, Ruby DeWitt, and Margaret Beasley.

Anyone desiring further information may call 301-746-8413 or 301-895-3932. The IDEA art show is funded in part by the Accident Mayor and Town Council, Accident Cultural and Historical Society, Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council, and the AAL Aid Association for Lutherans #585.

International Writers, Illustrators To Present At Children's Lit Fest

The language and culture of Ireland will be alive in Western Maryland this spring, when the Children's Literature Centre of Frostburg State University hosts its 16th annual Spring Festival. Along with its sister institution, Mary Immaculate College in Ireland, FSU is currently celebrating its centennial year. The Children's Literature Centre will feature some of Ireland's best authors, illustrators, and storytellers at this year's festival, titled "Children's Literature: A Bridge Between Cultures."

The festival is scheduled for Friday, May 1, and Saturday, May 2. Friday evening's activities will feature presentations by editor/writer Robert Dunbar and storyteller Eddie Lenihan. The presentations will be followed by refreshments and autographing. The full-day schedule on Saturday includes presentations by authors Siobhan Parkinson and Marita Conlon-McKenna, and illustrator P.J. Lynch. Participants may also choose from 12 concurrent small group sessions that reflect a variety of topics related to children's literature. A catered luncheon, opportunities for purchasing books, and autographing sessions round out the days activities.

Marita Conlon-McKenna is the author of children's books celebrating hope and imagination. Under the Hawthorn Tree won the International Reading Association Award in 1991; the Reading Association of Ireland top award; the Oster-reicherischer Kinder und Jugen Buchpreis (Austria) in 1993, and was nominated for LePrix Litteraire Du Roman Pour Infants (1994) in France. Wild Flower Girl, the sequel to Under the Hawthorn Tree, won an Irish Children's Book Trust BISTO Book of the Year Award in the Historical Novel category.

Her third novel, The Blue Horse, won the BISTO Book of the Year Award in 1993. Conlon-McKenna's Little Star, a full-color picture book for the very young, was published in May 1993. Her fourth novel, No Goodbye (November 1994), tells of the heartbreak and hopes of a young family when their mother leaves home. Safe Harbour (1995) is the story of two English children evacuated from London during World War II. It was shortlisted for the BISTO Book of the Year Award in 1995. Fields of Home, the final book in the Children of the Famine trilogy, was published in May 1996 and was a best-seller in hardback.

Robert Dunbar is the editor of Enchanted Journeys, Fifty Years of Irish Writing for Children, published in 1997. The anthology of 17 excerpts includes the writings of many of Ireland's finest children's writers, including Marita Conlon-McKenna and Siobhan Parkinson. Dunbar is one of the most respected voices in the field of children's literature in Ireland. He has lectured on the subject in Ireland, Britain, France, Italy, and America, and is a regular reviewer of children's books for a wide range of newspapers, magazines, and radio programs, including The Irish Times, and the Gay Byrne Radio Show. He was also chairperson of the BISTO Book of the Year Awards Committee on three occasions and was long-term editor of Children's Books in Ireland magazine. Dunbar's latest book, First Times, is a volume of new Irish short stories for young adults.

P.J. LYNCH

Edmund "Eddie" Lenihan has collected folklore throughout Ireland over the past 22 years. He has created 13 books, nine tapes, and one videotape. His works include: Strange Irish Tales for children, In Search of Biddy Early, The Devil is an Irishman, Six Terrible Women, Stories of Old Ireland for Children, Defiant Irish Women, Gruesome Irish Tales for Children, A Spooky Irish Tale for Children and a long series of Fionn MacCumhaill stories. Lenihan has made more than 80 appearances on national television, including a weekly series called "Ten Minute Tales" in Ireland. He is also a frequent contributor on radio shows and tours widely in Britain and America.

P.J. Lynch stumbled into illustrating children's picture books when his work was picked out at a student exhibition by an editor from Collins Publishing Company. His first book, A Bag of Moonshine by Alan Garner, won the Mother Goose Award. Since that time, Lynch has illustrated books which have been published in 11 countries. The Christmas Miracle of Jonathan Toomey has been awarded the Christopher Medal for "affirming the highest values of the human spirit." It was also recognized as the ALA Notable Children's Book winner, IRA Teacher's Choices Award winner, and awarded the Kate Greenaway Medal. His newest book, When Jessie Came Across the Sea, has been nominated for the ABBY Award. His other books include East O' the Sun and West O' the Moon, WB Yeats's Fairy Tales of Ireland, Oscar Wilde's Stories for Children, The Steadfast Tin Soldier, The Snow Queen, and Catkin.

With her background in writing and editing, Siobhan Parkinson fell into a writing career quite naturally. Her first three books, The Dublin Adventure, The Country Adventure, and The Leprechaun Who Wished He Wasn't were aimed at the 6-to-9 age group. With her fourth book, Amelia (October 1993), Parkinson wrote for the older group, 10 to young teens. Amelia was shortlisted for the 1994 BISTO Book of the Year Award. Her other books include No Peace for Amelia (October 1994), All Shining in the Spring, Four Kids, Three Cats, Two Cows, One Witch ... Maybe, and Sisters ... No Way! (October 1996), which was also the overall winner of the BISTO Book of the Year Award in 1997.

In addition to the adult activities at the festival, the R. Margaret Hamilton Children's Hour will be held Friday, May 1, beginning at 4 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center. Featured speakers will make a 45-minute age-specific presentation to share the process of writing and illustrating with interested students. Sessions are available for children 6-12; most of this year's presenters have written for the 9-12 age group. Registration is required for the free sessions and can be arranged by calling the CLC staff at 301-687-4420.

The Children's Literature Centre has published a new cookbook, Bits and Bites for Bookworms: A Cookbook Linking Recipes and Children's Literature. This book is the culmination of a year's work: gathering, sorting, and arranging recipes collected from children's literature advocates, many of whom attended last year's festival. The cookbook will go on sale at the festival for $10. Copies may also be reserved by calling the CLC staff.

Started in 1982 by FSU professor Dr. William Bingman, the Spring Festival of Children's Literature has grown from a small gathering, whose purpose was to honor two dedicated advocates of children's literature. In recent years, 350 of the areas teachers, librarians, students, parents, and children's literature advocates have gathered on the FSU campus for the festival. Dr. Bingman has identified several factors responsible for the event's success. "One would be our size. With a self-imposed cap of 350, we are large enough to attract top-quality favorites in the field, yet small enough to provide personalized attention and a hometown touch. Our program offers diversity, with large and small group presentations and many opportunities for one-to-one interaction with colleagues and featured authors. We offer an extensive book selection for purchase, as well as autographing opportunities. And you can't discount our location—the beauty of the Western Maryland mountains in the spring is certainly an attraction."

Admission to the festival is by registration only and is limited in number, with options including full or partial participation. The festival is administered by the FSU Foundation and sponsored by the FSU Department of Educational Professions' Children's Literature Centre.

For more information, persons may call Children's Literature Centre at FSU, 301-687-4420.

Persons may request ADA accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Pool Operator's Course Slated

Garrett and Allegany county health departments will be offering a pool operator's certification course May 14 and 15 at Frostburg State University. The May 14 session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will be for new operators, as well as operators who are seeking recertification. The refresher course will end at 4 p.m. on the first day. The course will continue the second day for new operators, beginning at 8:30 a.m., and will conclude with a final exam before 4 p.m.

The cost for first time students is $35 per person (includes a handbook) and $15 for recertification (does not include handbook). Registrations and checks are due this Friday, April 24, to Allegany County Environmental Health, P.O. Box 1745, Cumberland, MD 21502.

State regulation requires that all public pools have at least one certified operator available at all times the pool facility is in operation. Persons who have any questions regarding this course may contact Brian Dicken at Allegany County Health Department at 301-777-5653.

GRANTSVILLE

Local Benefit Raises $4K For CF Research

A benefit auction organized by the family of a local youngster living with cystic fibrosis recently raised $4,042 for the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. The money is being used to aid researchers working to find a cure for the devastating disease.

Four-year-old Tiffany Morgan, daughter of Terry and Tammy Morgan of Mtn. Lake Park, is diagnosed with cystic fibrosis, which claims the lives of thousands of children and young adults each year. With the help of fund-raisers like the local auction, a cure could be realized within the next five years.

In addition to the auction two raffles were sponsored by local businesses. One raffle prize was a dump truck load of gravel donated by Ken Carr of Maryland Mineral which was won by Patty Plessinger. The other raffle, organized by Jannie Chapman of C.P. Martin Store, featured an Easter basket and included donations from various local businesses. The winners of this raffle were 14-month-old Dylan Lewis, who won the giant Easter basket; 9-year-old Becky Beem, who won a whole ham donated by IGA Market; and Wanda Elswick of Mtn. Lake Park, who won a turkey donated by Food Lion.

Tiffany's parents noted their appreciation of the local community residents and businesses who supported the auction with donations of numerous items and services, and their families' assistance as well. "A very special thank you to all of our family members who donated their time to prepare for and who worked at during the auction," Tammy Morgan said, "especially our parents, Bob and Glenda Morgan, and Ed and Bonnie Lewis, all of Oakland. Without everyone's love and support, the benefit auction would not have been possible."

The Morgans said that their daughter's cystic fibrosis is currently being treated with daily breathing and chest therapy three times per day and enzyme supplements. Tiffany has regular checkups at the West Virginia University Children's Medical Center.

MANY HANDS AND MANY HEARTS helped make the recent benefit auction for cystic fibrosis research a success. Above left, Tiffany Morgan of Mtn. Lake Park, who is living with the disease, holds a check for over $4,000 raised by the auction, which was organized by her family. At right, 14-month-old Dylan Lewis, son of Mike and Linda Lewis of Oakland, poses in front of the giant Easter basket he won in one of the event's raffles. Below, Lucy Friend, left, and Jannie Chapman draw the winning raffle tickets.

Slots Available For Area Students At Summer Center

The final frontier awaits gifted Garrett County math and science students interested in signing up for the upcoming Math and Science Summer Center. The Summer Center will be held at Garrett Community College (GCC) from July 5 to 11, and is open to students who will be entering grades 6 through 10 this coming fall.

"Although our dorm space is booked full for students who will be staying on campus," Dr. Nancy Priselac, the Summer Center coordinator said, "we have approximately six slots available for local students who are able to commute from home each day. I'd encourage anyone interested in participating in the program to call us immediately to sign up.

"The Summer Center will be an exciting, hands-on, interactive learning experience," Priselac continued. "The major project work centers around planning a simulated space flight, which involves the cooperation of the Challenger Learning Center in Wheeling, W.Va. Once the plan is in place, we'll be traveling to the learning center to put the plan into action. We're very excited about it," she said of the team of GCC, high school, and middle school teachers she has assembled to help carry out the program's instruction.

Dr. Priselac encourages interested local students and their families to contact her GCC math department office as soon as possible at 301-387-3045 to register for the Summer Center. Registration, depending upon space availability, will be accepted through Monday, May 4, and the cost for commuting participants is $200 per person.

ELCA Women Have Meeting In Clarksburg

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA), Monongahela Valley, Mountain Cluster of the W.Va.-Western Md. Synod, held their spring meeting on April 18 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Clarksburg, W.Va. Registration and a social hour began at 9 a.m. Greetings and a welcome were extended by Julia Shideler, president of St. Mark's Women of the ELCA.

The theme of the day was "Sharing and Caring." Devotions were led by women from St. Johanne's Lutheran Church, New Milton, W.Va. Special recognition was given to Mona Melville, a senior member of St. Johanne's, for designing the devotion bulletin and composing the prayers. A litany, "Show us your Way, Teach us to Serve," led by Eppa Michels, had been written by Norma Bowyer.

A panel program was presented by Rev. Lonnie Bennett from the Clarksburg Mission, Rodney Kelly from Community Coalition for the Homeless, and Pat Vankirk from Hope Inc. Each spoke of the work being done by the charity they represented for the homeless and victims of domestic violence, and stressed the need of assistance from volunteer workers.

A sermonette, "What Happens When You Pray," was presented by John and Diana Knoll. With the help of the puppet Peli the pelican, they illustrated how each petition of The Lord's Prayer can challenge one to study its meaning more deeply.

Lunch was served in the church social room. Mary K. Spelsburg and Linda Buckel led the group in singing the doxology. In lieu of providing table favors, the host unit presented a donation to Hope Inc. Members of the units attending donated practical items for the Clarksburg Mission.

Jane Hazer, cluster coordinator, presided over the afternoon session.

Marilyn Kreitzinger, president of the W.Va.-Western Md. synodical unit, spoke briefly concerning meetings she had attended. Announcement was made of the synodical convention, which will be held August 7-8 at Bishop Hodges Center in Huttonsville, W.Va. The fall retreat will be held at Jackson's Mill in Weston, W.Va., October 17-18.

Closing worship was led by members of the host church and their pastor, The Rev. James Caton, who presented a sermon and administered Holy Communion.

A banner bearing the symbol of Women of the ELCA was on display. The banner was made as a memorial to Mrs. Elsie Griffin, who was a long-time member of St. Mark's congregation and an active member of its women's auxiliary.

An invitation to host the cluster meeting next spring was received from the women of Grace Lutheran Church, Fairmont, W.Va. The meeting is scheduled for the third Saturday in April.

A total attendance of 56 was reported. Aside from St. Mark's, Clarksburg, other congregations represented included: Holy Trinity, Elkins, W.Va.; Grace, Fairmont, W.Va.; St. Johanne's, New Milton, W.Va.; and Emmanuel, Bittinger, and Zion, Jennings, both of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish.

EXPLORING THE REACHES OF YOUNG MINDS - Several instructors from the Challenger Learning Center were on hand at Garrett Community College (GCC) this week to lead a simulated space flight for a group of teachers, students, and interested observers. The demonstration was part of preparations by the faculty of the upcoming GCC Math and Science Summer Center for gifted students, who will be working closely with the learning center in hands-on application of their studies. Left to right in the front row are Dr. Nancy Priselac, GCC math coordinator, Mary Downton, principal of the Mt. Zion Christian Academy, Janet Thomas, GCC math instructor, Laurie Ruberg and Patti Kota, both of the Challenger Learning Center, and Wade Groves, Southern High School math teacher. In the back row is Tim Foster, coordinator of the math lab at GCC. Not pictured is Diana Marks, science teacher from Southern High School.

MS Society To Pick Up Vehicles

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society of Maryland will help citizens do their "spring cleaning" by offering to pick up their used boat or vehicle in exchange for a tax donation. The MS Society will accept boats, cars, vans, trucks, and RVs in any condition. Free tow service is provided and donations are tax deductible. For further information, persons may telephone Bill McClayton at the MS Society's Hunt Valley office at 410-527-1770 or toll free: 1-800-FIGHT-MS (1-800-344-4867).

The mission of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society is to end the devastating effects of MS. Through its 50-state network of chapters and branches, the society provides a wide range of services to people with MS and their families. For more than 50 years the society has provided hope and help for people with MS across the nation—hope through extensive national and international research programs, and help through services which make life today better for people with MS and their families.

Farming In Maryland.....

Dairy Compact Legislation Passes 1998 General Assembly

In the last days of the 1998 Maryland General Assembly, legislation was passed that opens the door for Maryland to become part of a multistate dairy compact that will set the farm price of milk.

The legislation is designed to halt the sharp decline in the number of Maryland dairy farms in recent years by stabilizing the fluctuating prices farmers get for milk.

Maryland Governor Parris N. Glendening vowed to back a bill last year which was designed to bring Maryland law in line with laws of Virginia and Pennsylvania by setting minimum wholesale and retail milk prices. It was killed in the 1997 General Assembly after becoming one of the most hotly debated and most lobbied bills of the session.

According to an article by Ted Shelsby in The Baltimore Sun, the issue was resurrected last summer when Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner Robert Odom visited Annapolis, bringing with him a far-reaching plan to reverse the financial woes that have forced more than 40 percent of Maryland's dairy farms out of business since 1988.

Odom urged Maryland to join a growing number of states seeking to be part of a dairy compact that would set the farm price of Class 1 (drinking) milk at a level that would make milking cows more profitable.

Odom's idea was well received, since a compact would help farmers while eliminating some of the biggest arguments used by the opponents of the 1997 milk bill. They could no longer claim that stores would be prohibited from offering discount coupons for milk or from selling it at a low price to lure new customers.

Once again, Gov. Glendening declared his support and his intentions to work for the passage of a compact bill in Maryland.

"Our dairy farmers continue to suffer terribly," he told 800 farmers and lawmakers attending the annual Maryland Agriculture Week banquet in Glen Burnie in March. He pointed out that 82 dairy farms had gone out of business since the defeat of the 1997 milk bill.

In coming to the defense of the dairymen, Glendening was arguing with the Maryland Food Committee, United Way of Central Maryland and Action for the Homeless, which warned that higher milk prices would hurt those least able to afford them.

The opponents argued that consumers would be gouged. They called the plan a tax on Maryland consumers to aid dairy farmers and warned that prices would rise 20 cents a gallon as they had in New England.

Supporters pointed out that milk still costs 20 cents a gallon less in Boston, a city in a compact state, than in Baltimore.

They said it was the retailers, the big grocery store chains, that were making big bucks off milk, charging 60 cents to 65 cents a gallon more for milk in the city, home of most of the poor, than in more affluent rural regions of the state.

They pointed out that there seems to be little, if any, connection between what farmers receive for their milk and the grocery store price.

While the retail price of milk has risen 81 cents a gallon since 1984, the farmer's price has gone up only a nickel.

In New Jersey, consumers were charged an average $2.70 a gallon for milk when the farmer received $1.59 a gallon. When the farm price dropped to $1.17 a gallon, the average price to consumers remained at $2.70.

Members of the General Assembly worked through a maze of complicated milk marketing information, along with a barrage of misinformation, to pump new life into and eventually approve a milk compact bill that had been killed by a Senate committee.

The milk industry has been under a federal price support program for more than 60 years. Under this complicated system, the price Maryland farmers receive is influenced more by Midwest cheese prices than by local production costs.

As a result, the farm price fluctuates greatly during the year. Prices are usually lower in the summer, when cows produce more milk, and rise in cold weather, when milk production tapers off.

The Northeast compact, which Maryland is seeking to join, boosted the farm price of milk $3 to $16.94 a hundredweight ($1.46 a gallon) when it became operational last July. The farm price has remained at that level ever since.

Maryland dairymen currently receive more for their milk under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's price support program ($1.53 a gallon) than the compact price. The compact price has been lower than what Maryland farmers were paid every month since December.

Farmers, however, are counting on the compact to stabilize milk prices over the long run, to even out the peaks and valleys that have most dairy farms operating at a deficit during summers.

Maryland agriculture officials are estimating that retail prices will rise 5 cents a gallon as a result of the compact.

The average person drinks 22 gallons of milk a year; this would equal $1.10 per person, per year.

This is in line with the projections from other states. New York is expecting a 4-cent-a-gallon increase, and New Jersey is talking about a 7-cent increase.

Nobody likes to pay more for anything, especially the essentials of life, but proponents of the legislation made it clear that Maryland consumers were caught in a "pay now or pay later" scenario.

At the rate that farms have been going out of business, it was estimated that the state would lose its dairy industry entirely in eight or nine years.

If that happened and milk had to be trucked in from 300 miles away, lawmakers were warned, the cost might jump 30 cents to 40 cents a gallon.

Glendening pushed joining the collective to help protect an industry that generates $200 million annually. He also saw it as a way to protect farmland as new housing tracts and strip malls stretch across once-remote areas.

Read. Then Recycle.

Maryland Corn And Soybean Acreage Down

A survey conducted in early March by the Agricultural Statistics Service found that Maryland farmers intend to plant fewer acres of corn and soybeans as well as oats in 1998 compared with a year earlier. Acreage increases were reported for winter wheat and barley. Hay acreage is expected to remain unchanged.

Corn growers intend to plant 450,000 acres of corn for all purposes in Maryland for 1998, a decrease of 10% from 1997 and the same acreage planted in 1995. Soybean producers intend to plant 510,000 acres in 1998, a decline of six percentage points from a year ago and 20,000 acres more than the 1996 area planted.

U.S. corn growers intend to plant 80.8 million acres of corn for all purposes in 1998, up 1% from last year and 2% from 1996. If these intentions materialize, this would be the largest planted acreage since 1985. Expected acres are down in the Corn Belt and up in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Texas, and the southeast. Soybean producers intend to plant 72.0 million acres in 1998, 2% above last year. If realized, this will be the largest planted area for soybeans on record. These acreage estimates reflect grower intentions as of March 1, 1998. Actual acreage planted may vary from data included in this report.

Growers may change their intentions after the survey because of the effects of weather, availability of production inputs, change in economic conditions prior to planting, or the implications of this report. New acreage estimates will be made based on surveys conducted in June when crop acreages have been established or planting intentions are firm. These new estimates will be published in the Acreage release scheduled for June 30, 1998. Winter wheat is an exception. Since winter wheat acreages were seeded prior to the March survey, any changes in estimates in this report are considered revisions. The estimates of the harvested acreage of winter wheat will be published on May 12, 1998, along with the first production forecast of the crop year. The winter wheat planted and harvested acreage is subject to revision in the Acreage report.

Recent Conference Highlights Irradiation's Role In Safer Food

Irradiation can't promise risk-free food and it doesn't replace other food safety tools—but it can increase the safety of America's food supply and build consumer confidence, according to Richard Newpher, executive director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington, D.C., office.

Newpher addressed a conference titled "Food Irradiation: The Next Step in Food Safety," sponsored by AFBF, the Food Marketing Institute, the Grocery Manufacturers of America and the Science and Public Policy Institute at George Washington University. He was among a variety of speakers, from organization leaders to medical experts to government officials, who spoke of irradiation's potential benefits. As the food industry struggles with increased concerns over E. coli, salmonella, campylobacter and other food-borne bacteria, the officials said, irradiation offers an additional safeguard.

"Farmers understand that although it has great potential, irradiation is not a total solution," Newpher said. "It doesn't replace other practices that must be used from farm to table to improve food safety. But it can improve the quality and safety of our food supply, and it can save lives." Newpher said studies show that as consumers learn more about irradiation, their attitudes have shifted in its favor.

Unjustified fears

Keynote speaker Dr. David Kessler, former head of the Food and Drug Administration, said the public should overcome its unjustified fears about irradiation—fears that irradiated food is unsafe to eat, that it will taste different, or that use of irradiation might reduce other practices such as safe handling and plant sanitation.

"Not to do something at this point is to condemn us as a country to suffer the consequences of these food-borne illnesses again and again," said Kessler, who now serves as the dean of the Yale University School of Medicine. "Food irradiation is a food safety tool that we as consumers should not ignore."

Irradiation—the use of low-level doses of gamma rays or X-rays to kill pathogens and bacteria—has been used in the United States since the 1960s and is now approved for many agricultural commodities, including wheat, flour, spices, pork, fruits and vegetables, and poultry. It has been endorsed by the World Health Organization and the American Medical Association.

Late last year, FDA approves the process for red meat. Dan Engeljohn, chief of USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service, said the agency is now developing proposed regulations for meat irradiation as well as the labeling of the irradiated products. Engeljohn said he expects the proposal to be published in the Federal Register this summer, with final rules to be issued by year's end.

WHO studies

Dr. Fritz Kaferstein of the World Health Organization said that since 1961, WHO has convened nine meetings of internationally respected experts who studied the wholesomeness of irradiated food. The latest meeting was in 1997, Kaferstein said, and concluded that "food irradiated up to any dose appropriate to achieve the intended technological objective is both safe to consume and nutritionally adequate."

Dr. Michael Osterholm, state epidemiologist for the Minnesota Department of Health, said studies have shown evidence of increasing gastrointestinal disease in the United States. Osterholm said the "million dollar question" is how much of the increase can be attributed to food. His answer: at least half.

"This should be the clarion call as to why this (irradiation) is important," Osterholm said.

Americans' eating habits are part of the reason for the increasing concern about food safety. Today, U.S. consumers demand an increasing variety in their diets. More of their meals are prepared outside the home. And while a generation ago most food was grown within 70 miles of your neighborhood grocery store, today's shoppers can choose from a wide array of foods from throughout the world.

Consumer responsibilities

Osterholm pointed out that the sections of the grocery store selling flour and sugar are shrinking, while the deli section is increasing. An increasing number of people handle the food we eat. Still, Osterholm said, consumers cannot leave food safety entirely in the hands of the food producers, processors and handlers.

"The buck stops everywhere," he said. "The consumer must share part of the responsibility."

Several speakers compared the irradiation issue to the debate over pasteurization of milk early in this century—at first strongly protested by the public, but now viewed as a guarantee of safety.

Are You Going to Treat Your Seed with an Insecticide?

Cool, wet weather during planting time renders slow-growing seeds of early crops more vulnerable to seed-corn maggot attack. Fields that are chosen most frequently for egg laying are those with less than adequate drainage, fields following fallow acreage or old sod, and fields that have a high concentrations of organic matter. Fields that have had frequent manure applications are at the greater risk for infestation to develop. Three-way seed treatment combinations containing diazinon, lindane, and the fungicide captan have been used for years to protect germinating seed against seed-corn maggots and seed-corn beetles at a relatively low cost. Note that just because the seed is colored, indicating that it is treated, does not mean that it is treated with an insecticide at a high enough rate for maggot control in the field. Planter-box seed treatments are recommended when planting into cool, wet soils where there are high rates of crop residue or manure. If lindane is included, the seed will also be protected against low levels of wireworms. However, keep in mind that once the kernels sprout, there is little to no protection.

Some seed treatment products containing insecticides plus fungicides are as follows: Agrox DL Plus - 15% captan + 15% diazinon + 25% lindane at 2 oz/bu; Enhance Plus - 20% carboxin + 35% maneb + 18.75% lindane at 3 oz/bu; Gammasan - 33.5% captan + 25% lindane at 5.4 oz/cwt; Germate Plus - 14% carboxin + 15% diazinon - 25% lindane at 2 oz/bu; Isotox-F - 12.5% captan + 25% lindane at 8 oz/cwt; Kernel Guard - 14.7% captan + 15% diazinon + 25% lindane at 2 oz/bu; Lindane 25 DB - 25% lindane at 4 oz/cwt; Maneb-Lindane - 50% maneb + 18.75% lindane at 3 oz/bu; Raze - 28% tefluthrin at 3-4 oz/cwt as a commercial slurry treatment; and Sorghum Guard - 32.5% captan + 16.6% lindane at 8 oz/cwt. All of the above products are planter box treatments except Raze. Note that seed treatments containing diazinon can no longer be used on soybeans.

Controlling Bird Damage in Corn

Some of you might remember Mesurol as a bird repellent product and the excellent job it did in reducing stand losses due to "bird pulls" in newly planted corn. Formerly a product of Bayer Corporation, this new formulation (Mesurol 50 HBT) has been reintroduced by Gowan Co. and has just received 24C registration approval for use in Maryland. The active ingredient methiocarb is a carbamate pesticide which causes non-lethal repellency effects. Biologists believe birds rapidly acquire a learned aversion to Mesurol treated corn seed after consuming a few kernels coated with it. Mesurol 50 HBT is applied as a dry seed dressing at rates of 8 to 14 ozs. per 100 lbs. of corn seed in the planter hopper box. Use the required personal protective gear and follow all mixing directions on the label to ensure that enough active ingredient is coated on the seeds to make them unpalatable to birds. Adequate protection can often be achieved by treating portions of fields surrounded by trees and other bird habitat, areas hardest hit in the past. Birds have been particularly troublesome in early planted fields in situations where moist soil conditions have prevented complete closure of the seed slot. As an extra bonus, this seed treatment may afford some protection against slugs, which are also favored by this same situation.

Barley Maturing Ahead Of Schedule

Barley made a major advance this previous week as 43% has been reported as headed. Barley condition was 3% very poor, 5% poor, 15% fair, 56% good and 21% excellent. Winter wheat and rye headed was ahead of schedule too as it was ahead of the previous year and five year average. Winter wheat condition was reported as 2% very poor, 5% poor, 21% fair, 48% good and 24% excellent. Rye condition was 2% poor, 14% fair, 59% good and 25% excellent.

Field corn planting made a little improvement as 14% was planted for the state. Potato planting was reported as completed. Green pea planting made progress from last week but continued to fall behind the previous year and five year average. Snap bean planting began this last week as 5% was reported as planted. Tomato, cantaloupe and watermelon planting made minor progress but continued to be ahead of the previous year and five year average. Pasture condition was 2% poor, 14% fair, 64% good and 20% excellent. Hay supplies were rated as 21% very short, 37% short, and 42% adequate. Peaches bloomed made significant progress during the week and should finish up next week. Apples and strawberries bloomed made progress also and are ahead of the previous year and five year average.

Topsoil moisture was 59% adequate and 41% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 77% adequate and 23% surplus. There was an average of 4.8 days suitable for fieldwork for the week ending on April 19.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended April 19, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage, and the five year average, in that order, are:

Development: barley, headed 43, 10, 4, 4; winter wheat, headed 12, 11, 0, 0; rye, headed 33, 2, 9, 4.

Planting progress: field corn 14, 6, 8, 6; sweet corn 13, 11, 16, 11; snap beans 5, 0, 4, 3; green peas 44, 30, 68, 56; tomatoes 13, 10, 5, 4; cantaloupe 8, 5, 1, 1; watermelons 6, 5, 0, 1.

Fruit crops blooming: apples 69, 44, 35, 12; peaches 92, 76, 82, 36; strawberries 35, 13, 33, 21.

Grain Producers Urge Congress To Extend Incentive

Hundreds of Maryland grain producers will be scattering seed tags across Congress in the coming weeks, urging policymakers to extend the ethanol tax incentive to 2007, as part of the "Ethanol is good for the economy, good for the environment, good for America" national grassroots campaign. Maryland Grain Producers Association (MGPA) is joining with grain growers across the country to launch the Seed Tags for Ethanol Campaign.

"The ethanol program generates close to 200,000 jobs for rural Americans, offsets greenhouse gas emissions from non-renewable fossil fuels and reduces U.S. dependence on imported oil," said MGPA President Melvin Baile Jr.

"The ethanol tax incentive is simply sound public policy," Baile said. "And we're going to let policymakers know that simple fact by having farmers tear off tags from bags of seed corn, write personal messages on them and send them to Congress."

Maryland grain producers will receive a seed tag with their semi-annual MGPA newsletter, along with instruction on how to get the word to Congress.

"We are concentrating our efforts on Congressmen Gingrich and Gephart, but we also want our farmers to let our own folk in Washington know that ethanol is important to farmers here in Maryland as well as to those in the Midwest where most ethanol is produced," said Robert Hutchinson.

The ethanol issue has been hotly debated in recent weeks. Currently, with the support of Senators Mikulski and Sarbanes, the Senate version of the reauthorization of the federal Highway Bill extends the ethanol incentive until 2007. But in the House, Ways and Means Committee, Chairman Bill Archer (R-Texas) pushed through a provision intended to block efforts to extend the ethanol credit beyond 2000. This situation has made clear that the issue will be resolved in a House/Senate conference committee, Baile noted, which is why MGPA is joining the efforts of the National Corn Growers Association to aim their grassroots efforts at congressional leadership.

Additionally, Baile echoed the statement of Ryland Utlant, president of the National Corn Growers Association, on the economic benefits of ethanol by noting that it is one provision in the federal Highway Bill that pays for itself, generating enough economic activity to return an extra $3.6 billion to the federal treasury last year, according to a study by Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Economics.

According to Baile, grain producers and other ethanol supporters across the United States will do whatever it takes to remind Congress that ethanol works for all American, generating jobs, cleaning the air, reducing the trade deficit and securing America's energy.

Vitamins May Lower Smoking Damage

The harmful effects of cigarette smoking on the human body have been the subject of a great deal of research and publication during the past twenty to thirty years. An effect that is often overlooked is the effect of smoking on the unborn fetus of women who choose to smoke throughout their pregnancy. Reports of low birth weight babies and increased infant mortality are numerous. In addition, some researchers have suggested that smoking may have a negative effect on the child's later development (e.g., physical growth and intellectual performance).

According to a recent article in the American Journal of Epidemiology, certain vitamins may play a valuable role in reducing some of the problems associated with smoking during pregnancy. Researchers feel that beta-carotene, vitamin E, and vitamin C can play a protective role in the unborn children of women who smoke.

Town of Oakland
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Mayor and Council of Oakland will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND HOUSING NEEDS, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application which the Town of Oakland proposes to submit to the State on or before the May 21, 1998 deadline for same. The hearing will be held at the Municipal Building in Oakland, Maryland at 7:30 P.M., on May 4, 1998.

The Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED).

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

BLUEGRASS GOSPEL GROUP TO SING - Jerusalem Ridge, a gospel bluegrass band from western Pennsylvania, is scheduled to perform at the Jennings Church of God on Saturday, May 2, 6 p.m. The group members are Ken Scheffel, acoustic guitar and vocals, Debbie Mes-ing, mandolin and vocals, Rick Pyle, bass fiddle and vocals, Ron Mesing, dobro, and Gary Shaffer, banjo and vocals. Ministering through music, this group has performed together since 1989 and has released five recordings on cassette tape and CD. The Jennings Church of God is located four miles south of Grantsville, on Jennings Road, off Route 495.

Forestry Board Gives CD ROMS, Books To Schools

Representatives from the Garrett County Forestry Board attended the board of education meeting of administrators and supervisors on Monday morning, and presented each elementary school principal with a new book to be included in the school libraries. They gave each middle school and high school principal a CD ROM, titled Virtual Hardwood Forests, for their libraries.

Forestry Board members Mike Kozier and Karin Miller explained how the Forestry Board has been cooperating with the board of education in promoting conservation education.

Kozier described the Natural Resources Awareness Week, which will be held at Hickory Environmental Education Center July 27-31 this year. Miller spoke of the environmental education workshop which is planned for teachers Aug. 3-7.

The Forestry Board has chosen education as its primary goal and function. Forestry board members have worked with the board of education in the past, sponsoring Project Learning Tree Workshops, tours for teachers and students, and school reforestation projects to provide teachers and students with more information on conservation and forest management.

"OUTSIDE OF A DOG, A MAN'S BEST FRIEND IS A BOOK - Inside of a dog it's too dark to read," Groucho Marx once said. These best friends are available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, along with several Labradors and akitas. The gray Siberian husky mixed breed at left is 10 months old, while the black border collie in the center and the tan, white, and black husky mixed breed on the right are both approximately 2 months old. Located on Sang Run Road, the shelter is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to noon, and 1 p.m to 5 p.m., and may be reached by calling 301-334-3553.

Computer Text On Display For Review, Input

A textbook which is being considered by the high school computer textbook committee for use in Garrett County public schools is on display for public review and input. Copies of the book will be available at the office of the Garrett County Board of Education weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. through May 7.

The board of education will receive a recommendation at the regular monthly meeting in May for use of the text in the advanced placement computer programming course.

The comments made by members of the community will be taken into consideration prior to the committee's recommendation.

THE HALLS WERE ALIVE with the sound of music last Saturday as the Second Annual Garrett County Student Arts Fair burst forth in color, sound, action, and excitement at Garrett Community College. Bringing together students from all grade levels and all schools to demonstrate and illustrate their talents, the fair showcased a rainbow of arts. From handbells to duct tape, from batik to comedy, there were sounds and sights to tempt and please all palates. About 800 people joined in the festivities. Above, the Accident and Route 40 bands combined to perform under the direction of Suzanne Clark. This was one of the many musical presentations of the day.

Fiscal Authority Likely To Keep $2.59 Tax Rate

The Garrett County Commissioners held a public hearing Tuesday morning to announce their intention to keep the tax rate at $2.59 per $100 of assessed property value. This rate has remained the same for the past two years. The commissioners will be formally setting the county budget on May 5.

The tax rate plan was met with some opposition at the hearing, with approximately 10 individuals speaking out against the arrangement. Their complaint was with the rising tax assessment, which will produce an additional $390,000 to the county coffers, despite the unchanged $2.59 rate.

The $2.59 figure is two percent higher than the constant yield rate, which is currently $2.54. This two percent will constitute the $390,000 in additional money, as explained by the commissioners and the county administrator, Monty Pagenhardt. Pagenhardt said in a later interview that the county's total new revenue, on which the fiscal year 1999 budget will be based, is estimated to be $1,028,000. He also stated that any person who would like to see the paperwork is welcome to do so, and that a detailed and specific report will be ready by next week. Persons interested in reviewing the budget process may contact Pagenhardt at the commissioners' office (301-334-8970) to schedule an appointment.

The residents in attendance expressed their concern that individuals may not understand the formula and will be confused when their tax bills arrive.

"I don't think one in 10 people understand this concept," said Tom Doyle, who spoke against the arrangement and urged the commissioners to pull in the reins on various funding ventures. He and others pointed out that Garrett County is the fifth highest taxed county in the state.

"I can't believe that in an

WINS WORLD TITLE - Jesse Broadwater, an 8th grade student at Northern Middle School, recently competed in the National and World Archery competitions in Tulsa, Okla. He won both titles in his division. Also competing in the archery events were Jesse's parents, Tom and Brenda, and his older brother Tommy. Tom placed 13th in his division and Brenda placed 8th in her division. There were a total of 1,030 archers competing. Jesse was also a contestant in the state competition at the Cumberland Bowhunters Club. He won in his division, which made him a five-time state champion. Tom place 3rd, Brenda placed 6th, and Tommy, who has also won national championship and state competitions, placed 5th. Jesse's shooting ability has enabled him to win various competitions and to set records both at state and national levels. Both brothers Jesse and Tommy are "star" shooters for Martin Archery, and Tom has recently joined the Martin shooting staff.

Youth Critically Burned In Salem Trust Accident

A 12-year-old boy is in stable condition this morning at the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C., recovering from burns he received in an accident on April 23 at the Salem Children's Trust in Grantsville.

According to reports, the unidentified boy was near a campfire when a quantity of gasoline was ignited. (Contrary to other published reports, gasoline was not thrown onto the fire by a bystander.) The vapors apparently ignited and the boy's clothing caught fire. He sustained second and third degree burns to his hands, face, and torso, according to a report from the state fire marshal's office. The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad responded to the scene at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Louise Richards, the Salem Children's Trust director, issued a written statement to the press late last week, expressing the staff's "sorrow and concern over the serious injuries" to the boy.

The state fire marshal noted yesterday that there are no plans to file any charges in the incident. The Maryland State Police assisted the fire marshal's staff in the investigation, according to reports.

Shooting Wounds Turkey Hunter Near Avilton

A Frostburg-area turkey hunter was shot by a second hunter who claimed he mistook the brim of the victim's hat for a fanned gobbler's feathers on Thursday, April 23, at 9:40 a.m. The shotgun wounds sustained by Gerald Leonard Shockley, 51, of Finzel Road in Garrett County necessitated a medevac flight to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Trooper 3, a Maryland State Police helicopter.

According to Department of Natural Resources spokesperson Patty Manown Mash, Shockley was seated at the base of a tree near Green Lantern Road just south of Interstate 68 when Gerald Mazer, age and hometown unspecified, mistook him for a turkey and shot his 12-gauge shotgun in Shockley's direction. The #6 pellets reportedly struck Shockley in his right side, leaving wounds from head to toe.

Emergency personnel from Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the scene, along with Maryland Natural Resources Police, who are still investigating the incident.

Maryland Children's Initiative Targets Tobacco Use By Youth

At a press conference in front of the Garrett County courthouse Monday morning, , Vincent DeMarco, president of The Maryland Children's Initiative, announced the plans of his organization to seek to raise the cigarette tax by $1.50 per pack over the next three years to reduce teen smoking.

Introduced by Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County health officer, Demarco recognized the efforts of local supporters including the Garrett County Tobacco-Free Coalition, the Garrett County Commission for Women, and the League of Women Voters of Garrett County.

Demarco noted that smoking among teens, previously on the decline, is now increasing. He attributed this rise in popularity to sales campaigns by the tobacco industry. "Through advertising they have seduced our kids," he said. "Sixty kids each day in Maryland become addicted to nicotine. Twenty of those will die prematurely," he added.

He quoted a document from Lorillard Tobacco Co. on its market strategy: "The base of our business is the high school student."

Studies have shown consistently that increasing the cost of tobacco products is the single most effective way to reduce youth smoking, "because kids are price sensitive," DeMarco pointed out. "For every 10% increase in the cost of cigarettes, the number of teen smokers drops by 7%," he said.

Del. George Edwards attended the meeting on Monday, along with Garrett

McHenry Man Charged With W.Va. Robbery

An armed robbery of the One Valley Bank in Kingwood, W.Va., last Thursday resulted in the arrest of two men the next day, one of whom reportedly hails from McHenry.

Samuel Polce, 27, McHenry, and Brian Bolyard, 25, Tunnelton, W.Va., were arrested the day after the holdup. Both men face charges of aggravated (armed) robbery and burglary stemming from an investigation involving city, county, state, and federal authorities. One of the men, allegedly armed, reportedly approached a bank teller and demanded the contents of her cash drawer. She handed over an unspecified amount of cash, and the two men fled. Police declined to name which of the two suspects was the armed man.

Polce and Bolyard are being held in the Preston County Jail on a $600,000 bond.

Local Man Is Seriously Injured In Plane Crash

A Mtn. Lake Park man is currently hospitalized in the University of Kentucky Hospital following a twin-engine plane crash last Friday. John Hill, 55, was participating in flight training at the Mount Sterling (Ky.) airport with one instructor when the plane lost power for an undetermined reason and crashed just short of the runway. Hill was transported to the Mt. Sterling General Hospital and then flown by helicopter to the University facility.

According to his son Max, Hill is recuperating from broken ribs, severe bruising, and numerous lacerations of the face. He underwent surgery on Saturday, as physicians were concerned that his aorta may have been compressed. However, the surgery revealed that there were no devastating internal injuries and Hill was moved out of intensive care on Monday. More x-rays were ordered this morning, according to Hill's son, although he is improving daily.

Hill has been a single-engine pilot for over 25 years and was seeking to obtain a multi-engine rating. The Hills have family members in the Kentucky area, which is why the pilot was training there. Hill's son stressed that the cause of the 4:30 p.m. crash is

Silent Witnesses Standing Guard At Courthouse

Life-sized silhouette statues of women and children who have been murdered in Garrett County now stand in the yard of the Garrett County Courthouse as part of the Silent Witness Project Exhibition. The silhouettes represent local victims of domestic violence and the courthouse site is the first location of a countywide tour. The display, which has been created by several local organizations, will be placed at various sites over the next six weeks until it returns to the courthouse, where a candlelight devotional ceremony will be held on June 15.

The local project is designed to increase the public's awareness of family violence, and directly stems from the work of the Family Violence Coalition and the Personal Safety Initiative. Organizations involved in this work include the Maryland State Police, the Garrett County Health Department, Commission for Women, Department of Social Services, Community

Taylor To Be Subject Of NBC, MPT Reports

Speaker of the House Casper R. Taylor and his recent activities involving Rocky Gap and the Old Depot Restaurant will apparently be the subject of a segment on NBC Nightly News this Friday at 6:30 p.m. According to reports, Taylor will be featured on that newscast's weekly "The Fleecing of America" segment.

Taylor was interviewed Wednesday afternoon by NBC reporters for several hours, according to reports. Also interviewed for the program were Frostburg Mayor John Bambacus and James J. Oberhaus, the former owner of the Depot and a reported "close friend" of Taylor's. Bambacus has recently been publicly critical of Taylor for the $53 million Rocky Gap deal and for the buy-out of Oberhaus's failing Depot restaurant and historic site.

Taylor was quoted in the Cumberland Times-News today that he "likes to believe that the vast majority of leaders in the Western Maryland community are supportive of what we're doing . . . ." However, Bambacus has maintained that the recent dealings are detrimental to Frostburg and Garrett County, as state money is being used for what should be private enterprise.

James T. Brady Resigns From Secretary Post

The secretary of Maryland's Department of Business and Economic Development, James T. Brady, tendered his resignation to Governor Parris Glendening on Tuesday. Brady has been active in several recent local events, including the acquisition of an agreement with Simon Pearce and the impending sale of Deep Creek Lake. He also owns a second home in the county.

Brady reported in a Washington Post article that he wished to leave the office before the campaign season began. Apparently he feels that little substantive work can be accomplished during such a time, as the next six months "will be devoted to political things." He said it's time for him to "pursue other objectives."

Glendening expressed disappointment with Brady's action, saying that he has "played a key role in enhancing the state's overall job competitiveness and business climate."

Political pundits have contended in various reports that the governor is also distressed by the resignation because it may not bode well for his re-election campaign. His staff, however, have said that this speculation "has no validity." Regardless of the effect on Glendening, the resignation

Sheriff's Deputies Arrest Child Abuse Suspect In Crellin

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested Brian Eugene Deem, 30, at his Crellin residence on Tuesday. Deem, who was being sought on charges of child abuse, second-degree assault, and violation of probation on an earlier unrelated assault conviction, was also charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia at the time of his arrest.

Deem's child abuse and assault charges stemmed from an incident in which he allegedly kicked a juvenile in the leg, causing the youngster to fall to the ground face-first and sustain a large bruise to the DEER PARK RESIDENTS FINALLY GET WATER — A number of state and federal officials visited Deer Park last Friday afternoon to dedicate that town's new sewer system and break ground for a new central water system. "It has always been ironic that a town famous for its water has not had an adequate supply for its residents," said Wendell Beitzel, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District. "Now this will no longer be the case." Beitzel introduced the various guests, including Delegate George Edwards, Senator John Hafer, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Utilities Service Deputy Administrator John Romano, and Deer Park Mayor Gary Hinebaugh. The guests all spoke, expressing their thanks to all who worked together to achieve the construction of the systems. "This is a shining example of county, state, and federal cooperation," Beitzel said. In addition to the individuals present, Beitzel also commended former mayor Jack Hinebaugh, circuit rider Wendell Keeton, and the late Commissioner Roger Glotfelty for their dedication to the project, and he thanked the Perrier company for its continued cooperation with the town. The USDA Rural Development, through its Rural Utilities Service, has granted the Sanitary District $1.2 million for the water system, and has provided a low-interest loan of $573,200. Romano addressed the group, explaining that the project qualified for special "Water 2000" funding. Water 2000 is a project initiated by President Bill Clinton with the purpose of providing water service to rural areas. The system will provide water to the residents from the same aquifer used by the Deer Park water bottling company. The sewer system, completed several months ago and dedicated Friday, was financed by USDA Rural Development with a grant of $1.2 million and a loan of $410,700. All together, the USDA is investing $3,384,900 to provide central water and sewer systems in Deer Park. Pictured at the check presentation, left to right, are Tim Taylor of the local Rural Development office; Edwards; Joe O'Neill, assistant state director of USDA Rural Development; Romano; Dorothy Leuba, commission chairperson; Mayor Hinebaugh; Tim McGrath, representing Senator Paul Sarbanes; Hafer; Carma White, secretary-treasurer of the commission; Commissioner Wayne Johnson; and Beitzel.

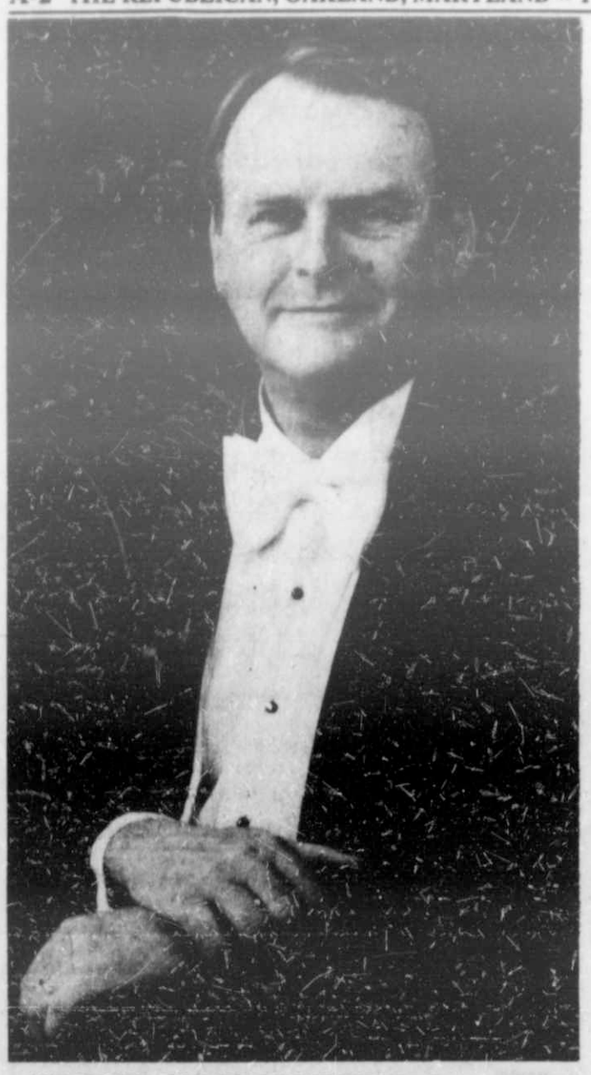
GCC WILL BE A HOUSE OF BLUES when Deanna Bogart, above, and her band take to the stage of Garrett Community College's (GCC) auditorium at 8 p.m. on Saturday, May 2. The noted blueswoman, an accomplished R&B pianist and sax player, fronts a four-piece band that serves up a smorgasbord of blues, R&B, boogie, jazz, and country. Tickets are $3 each and may be obtained in advance at the GCC Library or at the door the night of the show.



WILCOX TO BE GUEST CONDUCTOR - Dr. Don Wilcox, director of the award-winning West Virginia University Marching Band, known as "The Pride of the Mountaineers," will be the featured conductor at the annual spring concert of the Southern Garrett Concert Band. The concert, featuring performances by students from Southern and Northern high and middle schools, is slated for 8 p.m. this coming Thursday, May 7, at Southern High School. Admission is only $2 for adults, and $1 for students.

Southern Garrett Concert Band Sets Spring Concert

The 32nd annual spring concert of the Southern Garrett Concert Band will be presented this coming Thursday, May 7, at 8 p.m. in the Southern High School (SHS) cafetorium. Admission will be a $1 donation from students and a $2 donation from adults.

This year's concert will feature guest conductor Dr. Don Wilcox, director of bands at West Virginia University since 1971. The concert will also feature a trombone concerto by Rimsky-Korsakov, performed by SHS student Amanda Stewart; the Southern middle and high school Winter Guards; the Unity Winter Percussion group, composed of students from both Northern and Southern high schools; and a Dixieland jazz group.

A nationally known adjudicator and music clinician, Dr. Wilcox has guided the growth and development of the WVU band program to a position of national recognition. The seven bands, housed in the multi-million dollar WVU Creative Arts Center, provide the university community with over 50 performances annually, and have performed for audiences in over 20 states and in England during this period.

Wilcox has received several significant honors himself, including WVU's Outstanding Teacher Award, the 1993 Golden Apple Outstanding Faculty Award, and special citations from three of West Virginia's governors for his contributions to the state. In 1986, he became the first teacher to be named a distinguished fine arts alumnus of California State University at Long Beach. In 1997, he received three major awards: the Sudler Order of Merit from the John Philip Sousa Foundation, the Distinguished Service to Music Award from the National Council of Kappa Kappa Psi, and WVU's Heebink Award for outstanding service to the university and the state.

In 38 years of working with musicians of all ages and abilities, Wilcox has conducted bands from one-room schools in Appalachia to several of the major concert halls in the world, and in more than 40 states and a dozen foreign countries. He has twice spent three months teaching in Tokyo, Japan, as guest conductor of the renown Musashino Academia Musicae Wind Ensemble, culminating in tours of Japan and CD recordings for Sony. He has served as guest conductor and lecturer at more than two dozen universities, and maintains an active international schedule as a clinician and conductor.

SLAZE DAMAGES RESIDENCE - A mobile home with a wood-frame addition, located along Garrett Highway (U.S. Rt. 219) south of Oakland, was damaged by an accidental fire Tuesday morning. Volunteer fire fighters from Oakland, Deer Park, and Gorman responded to the residence of Robert Schrock at 11:10 a.m. and contained the flames within about 10 minutes. The fire was confined to two rooms in the addition, but there was smoke damage throughout the trailer, owned by Ernest Martin. Damage was estimated to be $5,000. A large collection of guns, pictured below, were "rescued" from the blaze. The fire was believed to have been started by a leaky kerosene heater. No one was home at the time of the incident. Martin reportedly has insurance on the residence. Also alerted were the Aurora and Mt. Grove VFDs for tankers, the Southern Rescue Squad, and the air cascade vehicle, which is housed at the Deep Creek VFC. There were no injuries reported.

Rear-End Impact Injures Drivers On Route 495

The drivers of two vehicles were taken to the hospital Tuesday, when a car struck a mail delivery vehicle on Route 495 at White Oak Road.

Maryland State Police from the McHenry barrack reported that Jean A. Wright, 56, Swanton, was stopped at 10:25 a.m. for a mail delivery when Kelly L. Slaubaugh, 21, Oakland, approached and failed to reduce speed.

Slaubaugh's vehicle rear-ended Wright's delivery vehicle, on which the amber warning roof lights were activated, police said.

Southern Rescue Squad transported both women to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Wright was treated and released and Slaubaugh was admitted for further treatment.

Deer Park VFD also responded to the scene. Charges are pending.

Failed To Yield

A vehicle driven by Roy K. Fowler, 68, Pittsburgh, Pa., was involved in an accident on Mayhew Inn Road on Saturday, about 7 p.m., police said.

The incident occurred when Fowler, who was eastbound on Mayhew Inn Road, reached the Bray School Road intersection and collided with the vehicle driven by Tiffany L. Craver, 16, Swanton. Craver reportedly failed to yield the right of way at the intersection. She had four passengers in her car at the time.

Deep Creek VFD and Southern Rescue Squad arrived at the scene. Craver was taken Garrett Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

DWI

Police reported the following arrests for driving while intoxicated: John L. Knox, 18, April 12; and Henry L. Raab, 45, Westminster, April 24.

GCMH To Host Reception And Name Building

In conjunction with its National Hospital Week activities, Garrett County Memorial Hospital will host a public reception on Thursday, May 14, from 2 to 4 p.m. for the George Loar Building.

Tours of the newly renovated building, which consists of three floors and houses accounting, administrative, data processing, education, foundation, human resources, patient accounting, public relations, and wellness services, will be conducted.

Individuals attending the reception will also have the opportunity to get a first-hand view of Garrett Memorial's new website, which features information about available hospital services, physicians, wellness classes, and employment opportunities.

Preceding the festivities will be a ribbon cutting, officially naming the building in honor of George W. Loar, Garrett Memorial's original benefactor, who bequeathed $175,000 to Garrett County in 1950 for the construction of a community hospital.

NOTICE

To the person who stole my white bucket out of my field: You would probably steal salt out of a guy's biscuits! You would skin your mother and sell her hide for a quarter!

If you will just put that bucket back where you got it, this may be the start of not being a thief anymore.

Silent Witnesses

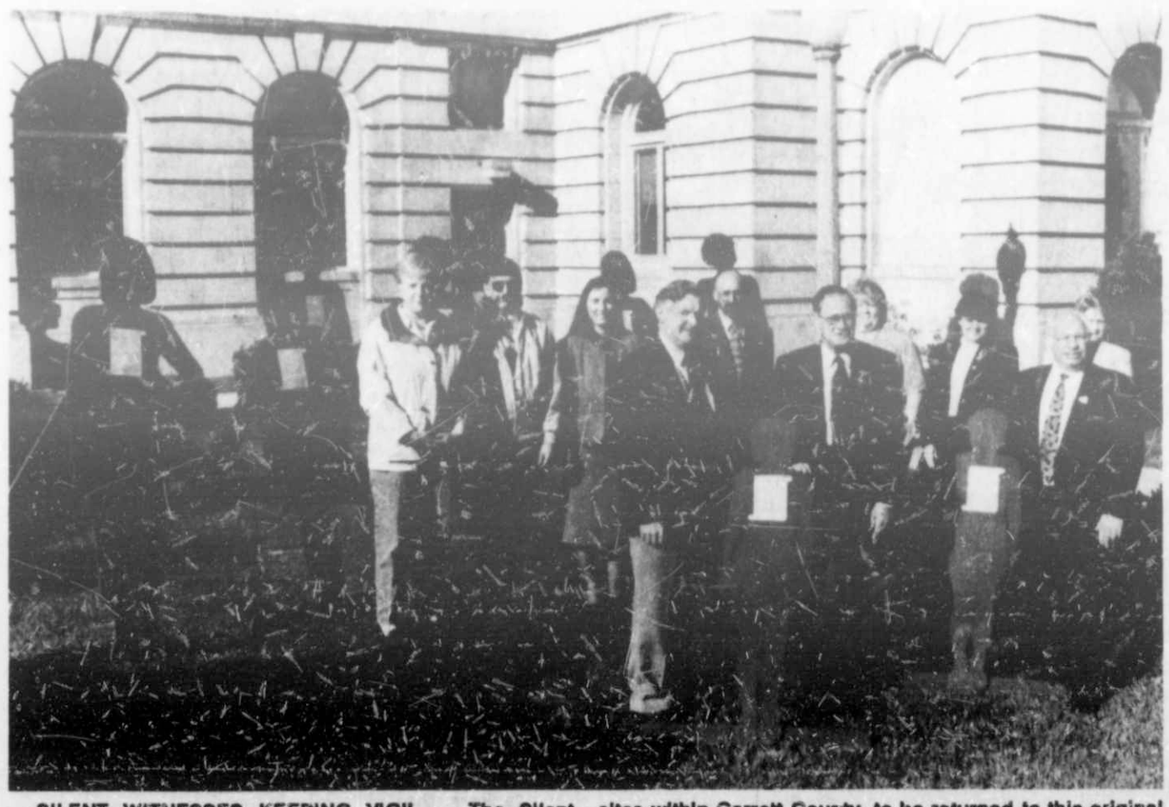
Action, the state's attorney's office, Lighthouse, Oakland City Police, the sheriff's office, the Garrett County Commissioners, the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center, parole and probation, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and the Office for Children, Youth, and Families.

The local silhouette display is a part of the Silent Witness National Initiative, the mission of which is to promote peace, healing, and responsibility in adult relationships in order to eliminate domestic murders in the United States by the year 2010. Currently, family violence reportedly causes the death of one person every six hours.



SILENT WITNESSES KEEPING VIGIL — The Silent Witness Project Exhibition, produced by members of a variety of local organizations, began its Garrett County tour with an unveiling ceremony at the courthouse Tuesday. Life-sized silhouettes of women and children are arranged in the Alder Street-side courtyard, and on each silhouette is a scroll which tells the story of the victim's death at the hands of a husband, father, or boyfriend. The names of the victims have been changed, but the murders all took place within Garrett County. A spokesperson for the project said the exhibit serves to remind the community that recognition of the problem of family violence is a first step, and, also, that silence kills. The exhibit will be moved to various sites within Garrett County, to be returned to this original location for a candlelight devotional during the week of June 15. See story. Pictured among the silhouettes, left to right, are Carolyn B. Taylor, member of the Garrett County Commission for Women; Rick DeWitt, Department of Social Services; Lyz G. Biser of the Integrity Counseling/Mettle Workers group and the Family Violence Coalition; Commissioner Gary Fratz; Robert Ulino of the Garrett County Division of Parole and Probation; Commissioner Wayne Johnson; Susan Athey-Oxford, Office for Children, Youth, and Families; Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney; Commissioner Wayne Wilt; and Donna Shafer of the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center.

Parochial School Proposal Topic Of St. Peter's Meeting

A proposal to establish a Catholic parochial elementary school in Oakland will be the topic of an open public informational meeting Thursday, May 7, at 7 p.m., in the lower level of St. Peter's Social Hall building. Results of recent local surveys, which indicate public interest and support for the proposal, will be among the items discussed at this meeting.

"We hope to establish by the year 2000 in the Oakland community a Catholic parochial school," Rev. Rick Spencer said. "Furthermore, between now and the establishment of this parochial school, we, the Roman Catholic community of Garrett County, hope to be able to finance the majority of the transportation expenses for the next two school years for any child in the greater Oakland, McHenry, Kitzmiller area to attend the existing Catholic school of St. Peter's church in Westernport. Grant funding in part will come from the recent successful Archdiocesan development campaign, 'Heritage of Hope.'"

Also on the agenda of the meeting are presentations by the school staff of St. Peter's Catholic School, from Westernport, who will also be available to answer questions about enrollments for the coming school year.

Oakland Man Jailed For Trespassing In Browning's Lot

An Oakland man was arrested by sheriff's deputies late Friday night for trespassing in the parking lot of Browning's Foodland in Mtn. Lake Park, after having been warned earlier in the week not to do so.

Darrick Lee Dove, 18, faces charges of trespassing and failure to obey a lawful order after he was observed loitering in the store's parking lot, which has become a gathering place for area youths. Several nights earlier Dove was one of a group that was warned by a deputy about such activity carrying the possibility of an arrest, as property owners in the area have asked for assistance from the sheriff's department in removing groups who linger in the parking lot. According to the police report, that evening Dove told the deputy that he understood the consequences of trespassing, and left.

When Dove was taken into custody Friday night after being observed loitering amongst a group in the Browning's lot, he reportedly told the deputy that he recalled their earlier conversation and the warning he had received. After his arrest, he was released on his own recognizance by the District Court commissioner.

"There is a real problem with teenagers hanging out in the Browning's parking lot, and cruising in their cars in the lot and on the surrounding streets," a sheriff's office spokesperson said yesterday. "They need to understand that the business patrons and residents of that area have to be able to get around — it's just a matter of common courtesy. We will continue to enforce no trespassing laws in an effort to assure that traffic can flow properly, because you never know when a fire truck or an ambulance may have to get to a home to help someone in need."

In other sheriff's news, David Wayne Troshak, 40, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on a series of domestic dispute related charges stemming from allegations that he had accosted the complainant on the evening of April 20. She reported that Troshak initially came to her vehicle while she was at the First United Bank drive-thru on Weber Road and took her house keys and a work key from her there, then followed her to the Castle Cars lot on Oakland Drive and allegedly tore off the van's bug deflector. Later he allegedly contacted the complainant by phone, telling her she could pick up her keys from his mailbox. She then called the sheriff's office, who retrieved the keys from that location.

Troshak faces misdemeanor charges of theft and malicious destruction of property, and additional charges of stalking, harassment, and violation of an ex parte order. He was released after his arrest when he posted a $1,000 bond.

Charles Melvin Culp Jr., 35, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on a warrant charging him with second-degree assault. The charge stemmed from a domestic incident reported in last week's The Republican in which he allegedly beat the complainant at their residence when she hid his car keys reportedly to prevent him from driving while intoxicated. The alleged victim required transport to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad for treatment of her injuries.

A pair of shoplifters apparently working in tandem were arrested at the same time at the Treasure Island department store this week. Travis Lee Buckel, 18, Grantsville, was reportedly apprehended leaving the store with $65 worth of CDs in his coat pocket, while a juvenile was apprehended with $47 worth of CDs in his coat. Both subjects were arrested and charged with misdemeanor theft, and Buckel was subsequently released on his own recognizance while the juvenile was released to his parents.

Dwight Howard Clary, 21, Oakland, was arrested and charged with violation of probation.

Robert King, 24, of Somerset County, Pa., was served with a fugitive warrant originating for failure to appear for a court hearing in his home county.

James Frederick Davis, 25, Swanton, and Christopher Michael Tasker, 41, Oakland, were each arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) this past week.

Deputies are investigating a theft of $1,007 in cash from the Get-'N-Go on East Oak Street that occurred sometime on Tuesday. A manager reportedly discovered that a bag of currency was missing from the cashier's storage room when he reconciled the books at midnight that night. Detective Murphy is the investigating deputy.

A theft of five rhododendron bushes is under investigation. Valued at $100 each, they were dug up from the yard of a home in the 2800 block of Turkey Neck Road near Swanton. The theft reportedly occurred sometime during the second or third weeks of April, and the perpetrator(s) even took care to refill the holes from which the bushes were taken. Deputy Green is investigating.

The paint of a Chevrolet Cavalier was damaged, apparently scratched with a key or a sharp object, in the 300 block of Shenandoah Avenue in Loch Lynn recently. Deputy McGlaughlin is investigating the incident, which resulted in $400 worth of damage to the car.

AWI

A one vehicle accident with injuries (AWI) was reported to the sheriff's office last week.

A vehicle traveling southbound in the 7000 block of Gorman Road near Loch Lynn skidded off the road and struck a fence at 3 p.m. last Thursday. The driver, Herbert Clayton Wildesen, 84, Oakland, was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries and released. No charges were filed, and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded.

INVESTIGATIONS

Several assorted incidents reported last week to the sheriff's office are currently under investigation. Persons with information on any of these incidents are encouraged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975.

Health Dept. Sets Rabies Clinics Across County

The Garrett County Health Department will be sponsoring a full week of low-cost rabies clinics for the vaccinations of dogs, cats, and ferrets beginning Monday, May 4, and concluding Saturday, May 9.

The health department's clinics will be offered from 5 to 6 p.m. on the following days at the following locations: Monday, May 4, at Grantsville Elementary School; Tuesday, May 5, at Gorman fire hall; Wednesday, May 6, at Accident Elementary School; Thursday, May 7, at Bloomington fire hall; and Friday, May 8, at Friendsville Elementary School. Saturday's clinic will be held from 10 a.m. to noon on May 9 at Broad Ford Elementary School.

The cost of vaccination at next week's health department sponsored clinics is $5 per animal, and dogs should be brought on a leash and under the control of a responsible individual. Cats or ferrets should be brought to the clinic in a cage or a tightly secured box with air holes.

Rabies vaccination is one of the most critical measures which can be taken by pet owners in protecting their families and themselves from possible exposure to the rabies virus. Last year Garrett County documented 14 laboratory confirmed rabies cases, and so far this year there have been five confirmed cases.

The necessity of destroying unvaccinated family pets can be avoided by keeping vaccinations current. Pet owners are encouraged to check the expiration date on their pets' rabies certificate to determine the need for revaccination at one of the upcoming clinics or at a local veterinarian's office. While Maryland law requires dogs, cats, and ferrets over 4 months of age to have the required vaccination against rabies, animals at least 3 months of age can be brought to the clinics and adequately protected by vaccination. County dog licenses and free brochures about rabies will be available at each clinic.

Last year 925 cats and dogs were vaccinated at health department rabies clinics.

Seeing Grace and Life...

A National Day of Prayer will be observed next Thursday, May 7, and Garrett County is an "official" participant in that event, since the county commissioners have signed a proclamation for the purpose. A letter also appears on this page from the coordinators of the local effort.

Right off the bat, we want to emphasize that this writer staunchly supports holding a voluntary, national day of prayer; however, we take issue with some of the assessments that are being made, both in the proclamation signed by the commissioners and by some of the organizers.

We recognize that today's society has its share of problems which, in the opinion of any Christian, require God's help in solving. One need only watch the evening news to see that evil is alive and well throughout the world, emerging in new and different ways all the time, with the recent incidents of extreme violence in our schools being a good example.

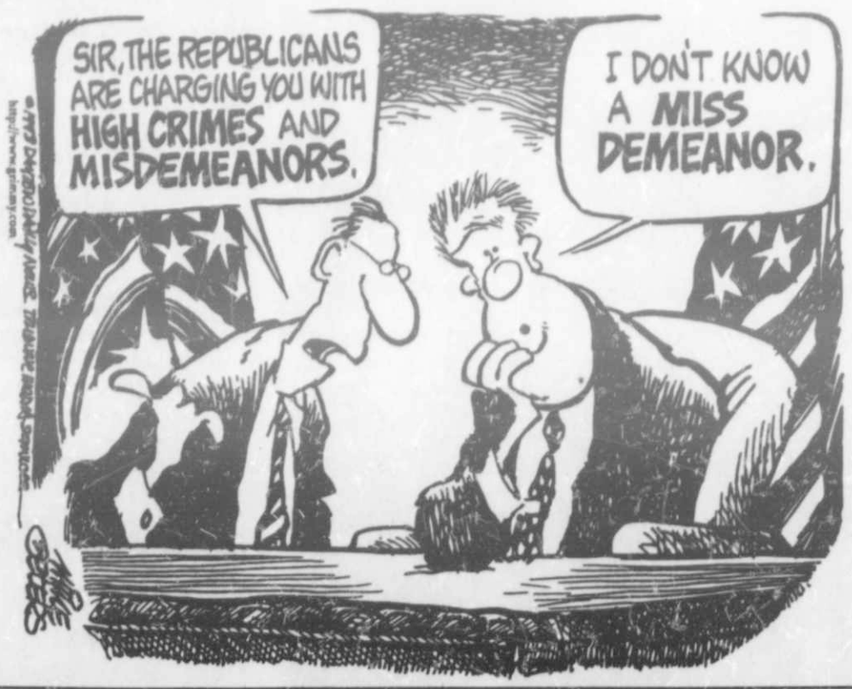
However, many of those who are spearheading the National Day of Prayer believe that our nation is on a terrible downward spiral, and that the incidence of evil is far greater today than it ever has been. This is where we must disagree.

Our point is that murder, violence, teen pregnancies, adultery, domestic violence, substance abuse, rape, stealing, a general lack of morality, and dysfunctional family situations are absolutely nothing new; all of these forms of evil have been around since the dawn of man. Evil is evil; it simply takes different forms.

We prefer to look at the good in today's world, the areas in which good exists today where it did not exist, say, several decades ago. Today we have so many wonderful organizations and campaigns that are addressing needs. As recent as 40 years ago there was no Habitat for Humanity, or Hospice, or the dozens of support groups that have been formed to help people with special needs. Many of our schools were still segregated. Persons with mental and physical handicaps were basically removed from society and warehoused. There were far fewer programs for youth than there are today. Yes, we still have major problems, but we've come a long way on many fronts. There is evil, but there is also much good in our society.

Again, we believe a national day of prayer is needed and a good thing. Daily prayer is far better. But the prayer of this writer will first be one of thanks and praise for the many good things, followed by a request for continued guidance and support in the never-ending fight against evil.

We like the following words of Martin Luther on the subject, written some 500 years ago: "Why are we so feeble in faith that we see sin and death more readily than grace and life? The open jaws of hell terrify us more than the open gates of heaven elate us. The thought of our sin brings us more fear than the thought of Christ's forgiveness brings us joy. We should think of Christ and absolutely know nothing but Christ only. We should know that the gracious gift of Christ abounds much more than the offense. To say this is easy, but to do it is the most difficult of all tasks."



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As adopted in its 1998 Legislative Agenda for the State of Maryland, and in its agenda for previous years, the Maryland State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) supports Governor Glendenings efforts to keep slots and casinos out of Maryland. Our opposition is based on the fact that gambling preys disproportionately upon those in the lower socio-economic groups.

Sincerely,
Herbert H. Lindsey

To The Editor:

A Catholic Parochial school? My first cautionary response was "Been there, done that," but as I listen to many people of several faith denominations in our local area, my response continues to change. I am actually beginning to think it is workable — and most importantly — beneficial for our local community.

In similar rural communities to our own area, communities that have current Catholic schools, the experiences have been very favorable and beneficial for both the "public school" system and for the local community. Currently in the Archdiocese of Baltimore, over 23% of the students enrolled in Catholic schools are students of other faith denominations. This demonstrates a desire for a choice in choosing educational programs. We know that we have empty church classroom spaces that are not utilized during the weekdays. Additionally, in our local community we have a willing and capable unemployed teacher work force that will be utilized by creating new and additional teaching jobs. So, we continue during the next two years to investigate, dialogue, and consult with the local community as to the need and desires by Christians of this community to proceed.

To the Editor:

We are so concerned about the future of America. We see more and more violence and crime; unwanted pregnancies, STDs and abortions; ethical dilemmas within medicine as well as the corporate world... yet we are slipping further and further away from the source of our strength.

All throughout history, America has turned to God in times of conflict and in peace. Yet we are systematically removing any mention of God from our children's training. Can't we see that the slippage of society is related to our expressed apathy? Christians are ridiculed on TV, and rather than realize that it is ourselves and our very beliefs being attacked, we laugh it off as if talking about someone else.

What can bring America back? Prayer. America has a tradition of prayer. The National Day of Prayer, designated since 1988 as the first Thursday in May every year, is a great opportunity for Americans to unite in recognition of our incredible need for God. Appropriately, this year's theme is "America, Return to God." It is only through the working of God within our society, our laws, our judgment and our hearts that America will again know the healing of God's power upon our land.

Many of us spend one day a week worshipping God. But all of us can take some time out of one day to join with millions of Americans across the nation in lifting our country to God of the universe, King of kings, who truly cares about us and has within His power both the ability and willingness to help those who turn to Him for wisdom and guidance.

This year's NDP falls on May 7, 1998. The Mountain Top Ministerial Association will sponsor our own local event in the Garrett County Courthouse Rotunda at 12 noon. All interested persons are invited to attend. We hope that our entire community will realize the importance of God's hand in America and will remember, at least on the National Day of Prayer (if not every day), the great opportunity and freedom that we still have in America to come before God publicly and corporately.

Sincerely,
Kathy Skipper

To the Editor:

The people who are trying to sell the idea of building an interstate highway along Route 219 as part of the international trade corridor known as Continental One remind me of some others from an era gone by. At first they said it was to relieve congestion but soon discovered that the people were too smart to buy that one. People quickly understood that not only would it not relieve congestion, it would cause more. Then they said it was the only way to bring business and prosperity to the area. But that selling point was also removed when a new business relocated to the area despite the fact that no new interstate had been built.

Shifting gears they pointed to the "compromise route" (a straw man which actually fooled some people). Magicians call this misdirection; they use this method to distract people so they don't see what is really going on. And when they thought that the people's attention was sufficiently diverted they said the magic words "Abracadabra, Continental One; putting this on 219 will be lots of fun." And just to let people know that they were not going to be dissuaded, they recruited someone else (a big gun) to help them sell their idea of building Interstate 219 as part of Continental One.

Pulling out the stops, they began to refer to it as some vague, patriotic thing — good for international trade; good for the country. Sorta like when they used to call our roads "Defense Highways."

There are many good things that this money can be used for; I can think of dozens in this county alone. Things that won't harm the people or the county but instead will help them. I am sure there are many people out there who could come up with their own lists.

It is common knowledge that this is a last ditch effort by pro highway people to take one last drink at the public trough. After this, the highway era as we know it will be over; common sense will take over and prevail. Let's not go down in history as one of the last places in the country to accept (and be stuck with) this big government Pork Pie Project.

Oh yeah, the people who they remind me of — they used to stand on the back of a buckwagon selling their products. Don't listen to them, this international highway will not be a cure-all for everything that ails you; this international highway will not relieve congestion, or anything else.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to your comments directed to Ms. VanSickle in her letter to the Editor concerning the increase in property taxes.

I believe it is time that you level with the taxpayers of this county and place the blame for increase exactly where it belongs--with the County Commissioners, Surely, you are familiar with the constant yield tax rate provision. I truly believe you understand how this works, but if not, I'll attempt to explain in very simple terms:

Constant yield means that as the State increases our assessable tax base through increased property assessments the constant yield tax rate is computed at a lower rate to bring in the same amount of tax dollars or revenue as the previous year. Therefore, if the tax rate is lower ad each year as set by the State of Maryland to the constant yield rate, taxpayers pay the same dollar amount and the county receives the same tax dollars or revenue. Any year the tax rate remains the same as the previous year or is increased above the constant yield rate, the taxpayer pays more tax dollars and the county receives more dollars or yield. For example, the actual tax rate for 1996/1997 was $2.59 and the constant yield for 1997/1998 was set by the State at $2.54. The state devised this provision or tool so that each county's government has control of the amount the taxpayer pays regardless of the rise in assessments! In other words, when the tax rate is reduced to the constant yield rate, the tax dollars will not be reduced but will remain constant or the same as the previous year. However, should the rate be reduced below the constant yield rate, then the tax dollars paid by the

TREES

First there was Arbor Day (April 10) and then Earth Day (April 22). Of course, Earth Day encompasses more than just trees. The message is about the total environmental improvement of the planet we call home.

My subject, however, is trees, trees, and more trees, about 1,600 trees all totaled. My father came up from Florida for most of a week, and we set to planting. We did have some help from my nephews and my son, which was great. But for the most part it was Daddy and I. Sometimes it was just Daddy.

The trees we planted were as different as the bars suggested they might be. We planted on the north and south sides of an unnamed stream that originates on our farm. The north side is upland. There we planted 550 black walnuts, and filled in with red oaks and Chinese chestnuts.

The south side is wetland that gradually rises to upland. The gradation is very small. At first glance, it just looks flat. On closer examination one sees a line of vegetation where the wetland ends and the upland begins.

I felt the south side presented a challenge to do more than just plant trees. It was my hope to create a natural landscape. So we chose a variety of wetland species which would merge into upland species. The upland we planted largely with white pine, American plum, hawthorn, red bud, and serviceberry provided the transition.

In the wetland we planted three varieties of dogwood, silky, red osier, and gray. I had also gotten some blackhaw (a type of viburnum), elderberry, alder, and a few odds and ends to fill out the planting.

Though boyscouting is part of my history, this was not just a giant good deed. We are participating in one of the best government programs ever invented, called the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

We were early participants in this program when it was instituted a decade ago. Daddy agreed to take 22 cores of highly erodible cropland and stream buffer out of crop production, and place it in this reserve. We planted half of that in grass buffers and the other half in trees.

This time around we planted almost three acres of what was grass to trees. The federal and state conservation agencies cooperate in supporting this program. There is government cost-share (in Maryland) at 87.5% on the planting. The federal government then pays an annual rent for a term of either 10 or 15 years.

I have simplified what is a very complicated bureaucratic process. The lovely thing is, in every county there are very helpful civil servants who handle all the complicated bits of the process, and put the hard facts before the landowner for a "yea" or "nay."

The office to contact is the Natural Resources Conservation Service (U.S. Department of Agriculture)—what used to be called Soil Conservation Service. The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Forestry Division, can also provide assistance in getting started.

John Wesley was asked what he would do today if he knew he was going to die tomorrow. He replied, "I would plant a tree." There is something humbling about planting seedlings. "They're just a bunch of sticks," nephew Nathan observed. If he lives to be 90 he will see the walnuts in their maturity. Neither my father nor I shall see that.

To do something that goes beyond what we can consume, beyond what we are, is poetry, but it is also common sense. To live life in a way that puts back more than is taken out is the only way the human race can survive. When common sense and poetry converge, they point the way into a sustainable future.

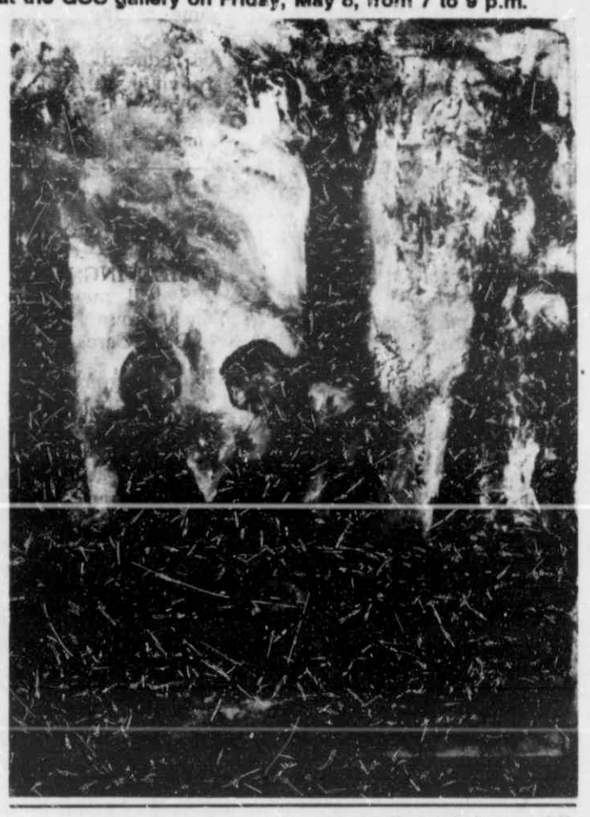
Combined Work Of Two Artists Displayed At GCC

On display in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College from May 4 through May 29 will be an exhibition titled "The Third Artist." The exhibition's title is derived from the collaborative paintings of Michael Zuckerman and Ireta Skipper Sweitzer, who created these works by painting simultaneously, side-by-side.

Collaborative efforts by artists have a historical precedence with the earliest art schools of ancient Greece, the Renaissance studios of Raphael and Rubens, and in contemporary settings such as the Los Angeles Fine Arts Squad. Mike and Ireta have painted together many years and their collaborative works have been exhibited extensively throughout the United States, including New York, Kansas, Illinois, and Garrett County. The Mike and Ireta collaborative works were on exhibit for 10 years at Corning Community College in Corning, N.Y., one of the first community colleges established in the USA. At the close of that exhibition, Mike and Ireta donated a painting to the college's permanent collection.

This show at the GCC Art Gallery will include some of the earliest works along with the most recent which have been painted since the Mike and Ireta show last summer at the Windrush Gallery in Friendsville.

Zuckerman has previously displayed his individual work at the GCC Art Gallery in March of 1994 and in August of 1995. He is a graduate of the Maryland Institute of Art and has received the Peabody Sculpture Award. His artwork is on display in famous buildings and households throughout the world such as New York City Hospital, the Payne Whitney Outdoor Sculpture collection in Ghana, Africa, and in the collection of the former Security Council member and Ashanti tribal member Yaw Turkson. Some of his shows have traveled as far as Florence, Italy.



MAKE OF OUR HANDS ONE HAND - These are just two of the artworks featured at "The Third Artist" exhibition currently showing at Garrett Community College's art gallery. Working in tandem, local artists Michael Zuckerman and Ireta Skipper Sweitzer pooled their talents on canvas as they collaborated on each painting. The public is invited to an artists' reception at the GCC gallery on Friday, May 8, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sweitzer displayed her artwork previously at the GCC Art Gallery in June of 1996 and drew one of the largest crowds in the gallery's history. She is a Garrett County native who can trace her family tree back to 1763 to John Friend of Friendsville. She is mostly a self-taught artist but did receive training at the Art Students League in New York City. She was featured with artists from all over the world at the International Sculpture Symposium near Harper's Ferry, W.Va. Last year, Ireta's pastel portrait titled "Renaissance" won first place in the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" art competition sponsored by the office of the Governor.

The public is invited to an opening reception to be held on Friday, May 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. The exhibit is open during regular college hours and on weekends and evenings during special events. This exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Martha Makosky Is Appointed Library Director

The Ruth Enlow Library Board of Trustees has appointed Martha M. Makosky as the system's new director. Ms. Makosky was formerly the director of the Carroll County Public Library and is currently a doctoral student at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, where she has been working toward a doctorate in public administration.

In addition to her doctoral studies, Ms. Makosky holds a bachelor's degree from Western Maryland College, a master's degree in library science from the University of Maryland, and a master's degree in administration from the Johns Hopkins University. She has also studied at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Public Administration.

According to a board spokesperson, the new director's first job in a public library was as a bookmobile clerk, a position that requires working closely with each library patron to find a desired book or to provide needed information.

"That experience provided the basis of her conviction that libraries are vitally important to the education of young people and in the everyday life of adults," the spokesperson said.

As director of the Carroll County Public Library, she worked for over two decades with county commissioners and library board members to improve services, construct new library buildings, and automate the library's circulation system. Carroll's libraries are now heavily used and are noted for their emphasis on customer service, the spokesperson said.

Oakland Man Charged With Attempted Arson

An Oakland Man is in custody awaiting a mental evaluation as he faces arson charges for allegedly attempting to burn down his own house on Sunday.

Curtis Bradley Ridder, 42, of 525 Dennett Road is charged with first-degree, second-degree malicious burning, threatening to burn a structure, and malicious destruction of property.

According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Garrett Central Alarm received a call at 3:45 p.m. April 26 from another resident at the house, who reported that Ridder may attempt to burn down the structure. Deputies arriving on the scene reportedly found a series of small fires that had appeared to have been set throughout the ground floor of the house. The fires, which caused minor damage to a couch and a set of curtains, were already out at the time of the deputies' arrival.

The police report stated that Ridder claimed he would burn down the house when he found out that the property was not in his name. A motion filed by Ridder's attorney for a pre-trial psychiatric exam has been granted. His bond has been set at $50,000.

Fifth Rabies Case Confirmed By Health Dept.

The Garrett County Health Department recently announced the fifth confirmed case of rabies in the county, the first to involve a skunk. On April 20 a skunk was shot at a residence along the National Pike near Finzel after being observed acting strangely during daylight hours. The skunk was confirmed to be rabid in laboratory tests.

One dog with an expired rabies vaccination was exposed to the rabid skunk and has been euthanized. No human exposure occurred as the dog was not handled after the exposure.

All pet owners are reminded to check the status of their pets' rabies vaccinations. All dogs, cats, and ferrets over the age of 4 months are required to have a current rabies vaccination.

The health department will be offering a series of low cost rabies clinics at locations across Garrett County throughout next week. Interested persons are encouraged to check the schedule published in this issue of The Republican.

Crime Prevention Event Scheduled

Senior and Lawmen Together (SALT) will join with Community Action's Area Agency on Aging to present an informational fair directed at crime prevention through increased awareness.

Scheduled for Saturday, May 9, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Oakland Armory, The Crime Awareness and Prevention Fair will be free and open to the public.

Activities and information will be available on a variety of crime prevention techniques appropriate for people of all ages. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office will provide demonstrations by the K-9 Corps. Parents will be able to obtain finger prints of their children.

Refreshments will be available at concession stands and there will be door prizes given. For more information, persons may call the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431.

CRISIS PREGNANCY CENTER WALK-A-THON SLATED — The Mountaintop Crisis Pregnancy Center (CPC) will hold its annual walk-a-thon and bike-a-thon event on May 9. Registration will begin at 10 p.m. that day, followed by the walk/bike at 10:30, beginning at the Loch Lynn Pavilion (located along Roanoke Avenue). Those who bring in $150 in pledges will receive a T-shirt, and all participants will be given a "precious feet" pin. Churches interested in friendly competition are welcome to compete for a plaque to be presented to the church with the highest number of participants, and an award for the youth group that raises the most money. A trophy will be given to the individual participant who raises the most money. A picnic for all participants and their families will follow the walk. CPC opened in July 1989 in Mtn. Lake Park, and since then, two more centers have been established in Kingwood and Keyser, W.Va. Combined, the centers have assisted over 7,000 women in the area who have been in pregnancy crises. The center refers women to other sources of help, depending on the need, and everything is kept confidential. The center's services, which include pregnancy tests, counseling, and parenting skills, are also free to the women. The goal of the center is to educate women about alternative choices to abortion. For more information about the walk and to obtain sponsor sheets, persons may call 301-334-1058.

The family suggests memorials be directed to the American Heart Association.

The Durst Funeral Home in Oakland is in charge of arrangements.

Deep Creek's Youghiogheny Red Goes Nationwide

Deep Creek Brewing Company, formerly Deep Creek Beer Works L.L.C., announced recently that it had shipped 780 cases of Youghiogheny Red, their amber ale, to the Great American Beer Club in Chicago. This major order of beer resulted from the club's featuring Youghiogheny Red as its "Beer of the Month" for May. The beer will be distributed to club members across the country.

"It is truly an honor to be selected as the beer of the month and to have so many people throughout the country appreciate our beer," stated Dave Saba, one of the owners of Deep Creek Brewing Company.

Saba estimated that since each person in the club usually gets two beers from a given selection, over 9,300 people around the nation will receive a taste of Youghiogheny Red. Saba credited the smooth taste and rich dark color as the reason for the selection.

"We are very gratful for the additional exposure, and are working with Garrett Rural Information Cooperative to put our website up so that some of these 9,000 people can get a feel for our company and our two beers. We also want to publicize the great rafting available on the Youghiogheny and how great this area is overall."

In other Deep Creek Brewing news the company has been selected as one of 170 breweries to participate in the Great American Beer Festival in Baltimore, slated for the weekend of May 16. The company will be taking along a number of Garrett county vacation brochures to hand out to the crowd, expected to number 15,000 people. Deep Creek Brewing Company is also planning the first-ever Western Maryland Craft Brewing Festival, tentatively scheduled for Sept. 12 at the Garrett County Airport. Volunteers are being sought to help plan the event, and interested persons may call the Sabas as 301-387-2182.

The Saba's also stated that they are in negotiations to purchase a site near Deep Creek Lake for a proposed Deep Creek Brewing Company brewpub. The brewpub will brew all its beer on site, and will serve lunch and dinner. Local banks and investors are lending assistance to the project, tentatively scheduled to open sometime this coming winter.

Saba closed by stating, "1998 is our year. Deep Creek Brewing has many exciting things going on right now, and all of them will help highlight the great tourism available in this county."

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park hereby gives notice that it will hold public hearings on Ordinance No. 98-1, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing regulations with respect to steep slopes regarding development, flood prone areas, and threatened and endangered species and wetlands within the Town by ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An ordinance providing regulations regarding steep slopes with respect to development within the Town of Mtn. Lake Park, providing the requirements for the construction of slopes over 15%; providing certain minimum lot areas therefore and for building coverages; providing exceptions thereto; providing for setbacks with respect to stream buffers; restricting expanded paving for stone surfaces within those designated in Mtn. Lake Park's Flood Plain Management Ordinance; defining flood prone areas and wetlands; and providing for notification with respect to endangered species and wetlands.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The full text of Ordinance 98-1 is available at Town Hall Monday through Friday during business hours.

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on the said Ordinance on the 26th day of May 1998, at 6 p.m. at the Town Hall, 1007 Alleghany Drive, Mtn. Lake Park, Maryland 21550.

Rams Record Four More Wins, Now Ranked Second In Area

It was another great week on the baseball diamond for the Southern High School boys' varsity, as the Rams recorded four more victories, upped their season record to 10-4 (6-1 WMIL), and moved up to second place in the area rankings. Coach Jim Bosley's defending area champions crushed visiting Tucker County, 12-2, in five innings last Thursday, blanked host Mount Savage on Saturday, 10-0, topped Beall, 8-3, in a WMIL contest in Oakland on Tuesday, and flattened visiting Westmar in another league game last night, 14-0.

The Rams wasted no time getting all over Tucker County on Thursday, as they put eight runs on the board in the first inning. Josh Bosley rapped a home run and a single for three RBI to lead Southern's hitting, while Derek Everd allowed just one hit in four innings before being relieved by Mike Bittinger in the fifth and final inning. Everd struck out nine and walked three.

Also getting multiple hits for the Rams was Bittinger with a pair of singles and one RBI.

The only hit by the Mountain Lions was an RBI single by Brandon Corcoran in the top of the first inning, when Tucker held a brief 1-0 lead. The win avenged an earlier loss to the Lions.

It was a one-hitter by Bosley that led the Rams to their easy win over Mount Savage on Saturday, as only Larry O'Baker managed to connect for a lead-off single in the Indians' half of the fourth inning. Bosley finished with five strike-outs and walked one.

The game was again called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Chad Warnick hit a solo homer and a sacrifice fly that scored another run, while Derek Everd tripled and singled for three RBI and Chris Bittinger singled twice to bring home a pair of runs.

The Rams finished with eight hits.

The loss evened the Indians' record at 7-7.

Josh Bosley was again a key factor in Southern's win over Beall, as he stroked a pair of home runs and a single to knock in six of his team's eight runs.

Everd went the distance on the mound, allowed four hits, and struck out 11. He also had a run-producing single.

The only multiple-base hit for the Mountaineers was a double by Jeremiah Laupert. The loss dropped Beall to 7-9 overall and 2-8 in the WMIL.

Last night's game with Westmar was decided in the first inning, as the Rams sent 15 batters to the plate and scored 11 runs. They added three in the third inning and the game was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule. It was the 10th win in 11 games for Southern.

Josh Bosley, Derek Everd, and Nathan DiSimone each had two hits apiece in the first inning, with Bosley hitting a double and a single, and Everd and DiSimone each getting two singles.

DiSimone added a triple to his total and finished with four RBI, Bosley hit another single and recorded three RBI, and Everd hit a double to go with his two singles to result in two RBI. Mike Bittinger added two singles.

Firing a three-hitter was Chad Warnick, who gave up just three singles, struck out six, and walked one.

Southern Boys Finish Second In Area Meet

The boys' track and field team of Southern High School placed second in the 1998 area championships Tuesday afternoon at Beall, falling only to Fort Hill.

The Sentinels dominated the events, as they finished with 190 team points. The Rams recorded 68, followed by Keyser with 66.5, Hampshire with 57, Allegany with 49, Beall with 45.5, Frankfort with 45, Northern with 30, and Mount Savage with two.

Pacing Southern was the team of Sean Conroy, Ted Wolf, Casey McBee, and Eric Rexrode, which took first place in the 3,200 relay. Rexrode also finished second in the 800 run, while thirds were recorded by Chad Lovett in the 100 dash and Jonathan Price in the 110 hurdles.

The Northern Huskies' top individual finisher was Jeremy McKenzie, who earned a third place in the 300 hurdles. The Northern 1,600 relay placed second.

The Rams, coached by Loren Bowser, are scheduled to compete in a meet at Hancock this Friday, host Preston County on Tuesday, and participate in the WMIL championships, along with the Northern Huskies, next Thursday.

Southern Girls Still Unbeaten In Track, Capture Area Title

It's been another outstanding week in track and field for the Southern High School girls' team, which remained undefeated on the season by capturing first place in a five-team meet last Thursday at home, and then winning the area championship in the girls' area meet held at Beall last night.

The Rams, coached by Bill Freyman, dominated last Thursday's meet by amassing 133 points, while Keyser was a distant second with 69, Hampshire placed third with 68.5, Preston was fourth with 41.5, and University was fifth with 41.

Amy Snyder led the Rams with three first places, as she won the 400-meter run and the 300 hurdles, and was the anchor of the 1,600 relay team. Andi Bender captured firsts in the triple jump and high jump, Toni Sullivan won the long jump, and Jody Bowser took first in the 100 hurdles. Other members of the winning 1,600 relay team were Beth Sauder, Katelyne McBee, and Erin Hoalcraft.

Second places for the Rams were earned by Christy Hoalcraft in the 100 and 300 hurdles, Alison Rudy in the high jump, Angie Sincell in the 3,200 run, and Sullivan in the triple jump.

The victory gave the Rams an 11-0 record as they headed into last night's area championships, which they also won by a comfortable margin. Southern finished with 109 points and Frankfort was second with 83.5, followed by Allegany with 81, Fort Hill with 73, Keyser with 71.5, Hampshire with 45, Northern with 42, Mount Savage with 38, and host Beall with 12.

Leading the Rams in scoring was Toni Sullivan, who won the long jump and the triple jump. Amy Snyder captured first with a stadium-record time in the 300 hurdles and Jody Bowser won the 100 hurdles. Snyder finished second in the 800 run behind record-setting Kate Gall of Allegany, and was on the second-place 1,600 relay team.

Snyder ran the 300 hurdles in 47.8 seconds to eclipse a 20-year record of 48.2 set by Caryn Leach of Smithsburg.

The top performer for the Northern girls' team was Helain Annon, who placed second in both the high jump and triple jump. Jamie Deans of Fort Hill set a stadium record in the high jump with a leap of 5'2".

Ram Jayvees Win Four More With Pair Of Sweeps

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School upped its season record to 9-1 this past week by recording doubleheader sweeps over both Fort Hill and Northern. The Rams, coached by Tom Bosley, whipped Fort Hill on Saturday, 5-2 and 12-0, in Cumberland, and then recorded a 10-5, 10-0 sweep of their cross-county rivals in Oakland on Tuesday.

Christian Warfield earned the win on the mound in the first game against Fort Hill by scattering eight hits, striking out seven, and walking only one batter, while Jon Lucas hit a triple and a single to pace the Ram offense. Mike Shahan added a pair of singles in Southern's seven-hit effort.

Tony Fetters took the loss on the mound, although he did record 10 strike-outs and walked just two. Kevin Beem hit a double and a single and Fetters added a double.

Warfield led Southern's hitting in the second game, as he smacked a home run and a single. Winning pitcher Jason Finch, who struck out eight and walked one in going the five-inning distance, aided his own cause with a two-run homer, while T.J. Riley provided a three-run double and a single. Browning recorded a bases-loaded triple, Shahan hit two singles and scored twice, and Jared Fike also singled twice.

The highlight of the first game against Northern on Tuesday was a grand slam by Mickey Chapman. Jason Finch also hit a two-run homer, Shahan finished with a pair of triples and a single, and Jason Rohrbaugh singled twice. Finch went the distance for the win on the mound, as he struck out six.

Jeremy Rice singled three times for Northern, Adam Brenneman doubled and singled, and Levi Schmuck hit two singles.

Finch led Southern's offense in the second game, as he hit a triple and a double, scored twice, and finished with three RBI in the five-inning game. Lucas hit a double and a single, and Chapman and Shahan each finished with two singles.

Warfield earned the win on the mound by allowing just three hits and no runs.

The Rams will play another doubleheader this Saturday at Allegany, with the first game set to get underway at 11 a.m.

Southern Girls Win One Of Four; Record Sinks To 4-9

Going one-for-four this past week was the Southern High School girls' softball team, as the Rams were topped by visiting Flintstone last Thursday, 9-3, edged by host Fort Hill on Saturday, 7-5, edged visiting Tucker County on Monday, 14-13, and then dropped a 6-5 heartbreaker to Northern on Tuesday (see separate story for Northern game details). The 1-3 effort left the Rams with a 4-9 record.

The Southern offense managed just four hits off Flintstone pitcher Corey Reed on Thursday, who led the Aggies to their third win in 10 games.

Mika Myers hit a triple for the Rams, while Jennifer Teagarden, Erin Shaffer, and Jennifer Sanders each recorded a single.

Leading the Aggies' seven-hit performance were Jill Atkinson, Reed, and Lacy McCusker, who each finished with a double and an RBI, and Brandy Helmick, who singled twice.

Teagarden went the distance for the Rams, struck out four, walked six, and yielded seven hits.

The Rams played well against the heavily favored Sentinels of Fort Hill (12-2 overall, 8-1 WMIL) on Saturday, but could not quite pull off the upset, even though they out-hit the host team by an 8-5 margin.

Winning pitcher Carrie Liller aided her own cause by hitting a double and single for the Sentinels, while Gretchen Pryor hit two singles.

Kris Hardesty paced the Rams at the plate with a triple, a double, and two singles. Courtney Tressler accounted for the Rams other two hits, both singles.

Jennifer Teagarden allowed only five hits on the mound for Southern and struck out four.

The big bat for the Rams in their win over Tucker County on Monday was held by Erin Shaffer, who hit a triple, a double, and two singles. Teagarden earned the win on the mound, from which she struck out nine.

Also getting multiple hits for the Rams, who finished with a total of 19, were Shelly Winters with a double and a single, and Chris Hardesty, Naomi Stoner, and Carrie Filsinger with two singles apiece.

Sarah Hamrick led the Mountain Lions with two triples.

The Rams will play again today at home against Allegany, travel to Turkeyfoot on Monday, host Mt. Savage next Tuesday, and entertain Beall next Thursday.

Huskies On A Roll, Win Eighth Straight; Now 11-5

On a roll; that's what the Northern High varsity baseball team is experiencing, as Coach Phil Carr and his team recorded four more victories this past week and have stretched their winning streak to eight games to improve their season record to 11-5.

The Huskies topped Westmar last Thursday, 13-10, defeated Beall on Saturday, 10-6, crushed Hancock Tuesday afternoon, 19-9, and topped Flintstone yesterday, 5-0. All of the games were played at Northern. The streak has upped the Huskies' record to 11-5.

Last Thursday's win over Westmar featured a grand slam by Chris Herman and a two-run blast by Ryan Butler, all in the first inning, to give the Huskies a quick 6-0 lead.

After the Wildcats rallied for four runs in the top of the second, Herman answered with a two-run homer and Butler with a run-producing double in the bottom of the inning to put the Huskies up by a 9-4 margin.

At Northern

Northern	630	040	x-13	8	4

Brandon Foutz and Billy Metts; Scott Sisler and Chris Herman.

HR - Chris Herman 2, Ryan Butler (Northern), Brandon Foutz, Dave Ziler (Westmar).

The Wildcats didn't quit, and scored six runs in the top of the fifth to take a 10-9 lead, but the Huskies staged a rally of their own in the bottom of the same frame by scoring four runs and holding on for the win.

The Huskies' four-run fifth featured a two-run single by Matt Fritz, which put Northern on top for good.

Scott Sisler had two singles for the Huskies.

Brandon Foutz and Dave Ziler each had two-run homers for Westmar (8-7), while Josh Broadwater hit two singles for two RBI and Brandon Moran recorded three singles.

Hitting the long ball for the Huskies on Saturday against Beall were Zach Rawe and Scott Sisler, who each hit a homer and two singles in an 11-hit effort.

The Huskies found themselves down 5-0 after two and one-half innings, but rallied for six runs in the bottom of the third to take the lead for good. The frame included a three-run shot by Sisler.

Beall scored five runs in the third behind a three-run shot by Shawn Opel and a two-run single by Kevin Filer.

A two-run blast by Rawe in the fourth gave the Huskies an 8-5 advantage, and Chris Herman rapped a two-run single in the sixth for a pair of insurance runs.

Matt Settle also had a pair of singles for Northern.

Opel had a double to go with his home run for Beall (7-8 overall, 2-7 WMIL) and Ryan Raley hit a pair of singles.

Back-to-back home runs by Jeremy Reed and Adam Bach led the Huskies' seven-run fifth inning against Hancock on Tuesday. Reed's shot was good for three runs, and Bach followed with a solo homer to give the Huskies an 18-9 lead after being up by just two runs, 11-9.

The Huskies never trailed in the contest, as Matt Fritz hit a solo homer in the first. The Panthers tied it at 1-1 in the second, but Northern answered with six runs in the bottom of the second.

At Northern

HR - Scott Higgins (Hancock), Matt Fritz, Jeremy Reed, Adam Bach (Northern).

Reed also had a double, Bach also hit two singles and knocked in another run, Settle finished with three singles and two RBI, Rawe doubled once and singled three times, Herman hit three singles for three RBI, Josh Henderson added a double, and Matt Houser provided a pair of singles in the Huskies' 22-hit afternoon. The game was called after six innings because of the 10-run rule.

At Northern

Roger Groves, Derrick Davis (6) and Craig Cesena; Scott Sisler and Chris Herman.

HR - Matt Fritz, Zack Rawe (Northern).

Pacing the Panthers' 11-hit effort were Scott Higgins with a three-run homer and a single, Paul Morris and John Murray with three singles each, and Mike Smith with two singles.

Scott Sisler pitched an outstanding game for the Huskies yesterday against Flintstone, as he struck out 13 batters, walked just one, and allowed three hits in going the seven-inning distance. He also ripped a solo home run, as did Zach Rawe, both in the third inning.

The Huskies have hit 11 home runs in their last four games, while holding opposing teams to a total of four.

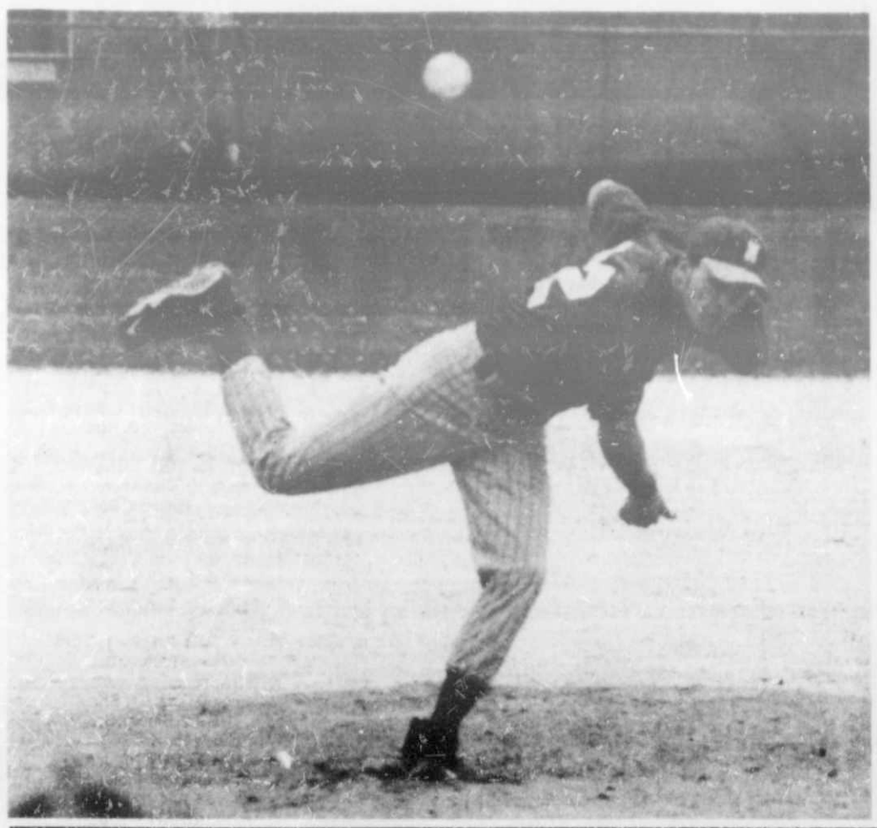
Recording RBI singles for Northern were Jeff Carr, Ryan Butler, and Adam Bach.

The only multiple-base hit by Flintstone was a double by Jeremy Bishop. The loss dropped the Aggies to 6-10.

"We seem to have really turned things around," stated Coach Carr. "We're hitting the ball very well right now. I just hope we can continue to do that, especially now that we are getting close to the playoffs."

Carr said he was disappointed that his team was not ranked among the top seven area teams last week, but believes that if the Huskies defeat Mt. Savage this Saturday, they will be among the top teams in next week's poll.

The Huskies will host the Indians in a 2 p.m. game and then entertain the equally hot Southern Rams in a big county clash on Monday.



HUSKIES ARE HOT! The Northern High School varsity baseball team is on a winning roll, as the Huskies won their eighth straight game last night with a 5-0 blanking of visiting Westmar. Scott Sisler is pictured left hurling a pitch in what was to be a three-hit shutout that featured 13 strike-outs. He also walked just one Westmar batter. Above, Northern's Matt Fritz connects for a solo home run. Zach Rawe also hit a homer, and the Huskies have smacked 11 of them in their past four games. The Huskies will face Mt. Savage on Saturday and hope to take a nine-game winning streak to Oakland Monday to face the Southern Rams, who have won 10 of their last 11 contests. Photos by John McEwen.

Barbecue Slated To Help League

A chicken and rib barbecue will be held Sunday, May 17, at the Accident baseball field to raise funds for the support of the t-ball and Little League teams in of the Central Garrett Baseball League. Serving will be from noon to 5 p.m. and the menu will include chicken, spare ribs, potato salad, baked beans, dessert, and beverages. The cost is $5 per meal.

Gall also broke a record in the 400-meter run, and anchored the record-setting 3,200 relay team. Keyser's Jada Davis was the top individual performer of the day, as she won the 100 and 200 dashes and was a member of the winning 400 and 800 relay teams.

The Rams will compete again this Friday in a meet at Hancock, will host Preston on Tuesday, and then vie in the WMIL championships next Thursday at Beall.

Husky Jayvees Win Three, But Then Lose Three

The Northern High School junior varsity baseball team ripped visiting Bishop Walsh on Friday, 11-1, and then recorded a 6-1, 9-2 doubleheader sweep of host Lonaconing on Saturday before dropping both ends of a twinbill at Southern on Tuesday, 10-5 and 10-0 (see separate story). The Huskies then fell to host Fort Hill yesterday, 13-9. The results left the Huskies with a 5-7 mark.

Keith Artice fired a one-hitter for the Huskies against Bishop Walsh on Friday, while Adam Brenneman paced the offense with a two-run homer and a double. P.J. Workman finished with a run-producing double and a single, and Josh Hook added a two-run double.

Artice allowed only one single, by Matt Griese, he struck out five and he walked just one.

P.J. Workman went the distance for the Huskies in the first game against Westmar on Saturday and finished with a three-hitter, while aiding his own cause with a pair of singles. He

Northern Girls Defeat Beall, Edge Southern

The girls' softball team of Northern High School recorded a pair of big Western Maryland Interscholastic League wins this week by crushing visiting Beall last Thursday, 15-3, and then rallying in the seventh inning on Tuesday in Oakland to edge cross-county rival Southern, 6-5. The pair of victories evened the Huskies overall record at 7-7, and their WMIL mark at 5-5.

The big hitter for the Huskies against Beall was Brooke Brenneman, who hit a triple and two singles for two RBI, while Mimi Harvey also sent in a pair of runs with two singles. Jackie Brenneman also recorded a run-producing single.

The Huskies out-hit the Mountaineers by a 9-5 margin and took advantage of 11 errors by the visitors. Going the distance on the mound to record the five-hit victory was Jenny Thomas. All five of Beall's hits were singles.

The Northern junior varsity team also defeated the Beall jayvees, 15-3, behind a three-hit, strong defensive effort by Melanie Beeman.

It appeared that the Huskies would go down to defeat to host Southern on Tuesday, as they trailed by a 5-1 margin going into the seventh inning. But Northern took advantage of four walks and three Southern errors in that frame to rally for five runs and the win.

Southern pitcher Jennifer Teagarden struck out 10, walked nine, and allowed only two hits in taking the loss, while Jenny Thomas went the distance for the Huskies, allowed six hits, and struck out one.

Jennifer Sanders hit a double and a single for Southern and Erin Shaffer recorded a triple.

The Huskies' two hits were both singles, one by Heidi Frazee and the other by Andrea McRobie.

The Northern jayvees were whipped in the second game, 18-4.

The Huskies are slated to host Fort Hill this afternoon, travel to Flintstone on Tuesday, and play at Westmar next Thursday.

Southern High Jayvee Girls Drop A Pair

The junior varsity softball team of Southern High School dropped a pair of contests this past week, the first to host Frankfort last Thursday, 10-7, and the second to visiting Bishop Walsh on Saturday, 28-18.

The Rams left two runners stranded in the final inning against Frankfort, as Jessica Hinebaugh's blast to right center was snagged by Crystal Beavers to secure the win for the Falcons.

Autumn Sell hit a solo homer and a double for four RBI to pace the Falcons, and also took the mound in the sixth to record the save. Jessica Liemle, who singled twice, was credited with the win on the mound. Rebekah Karelis finished with a double and two singles. It was the seventh win in 15 games for the Falcons.

Leading the Rams' nine-hit effort were Jean Brenneman, Autumn Upole, and Paul Glotfelty, who each singled twice. Karen Kuykendall was the losing pitcher.

Saturday's game with Bishop Walsh featured a total of 29 hits, with the Spartans getting 19 of those. Missy Geatz hit four doubles and a single, Lauren Stillwagon added two doubles and two singles, and Tiffany Wagner hit four singles for BW. Winning pitcher Erin McCormick hit three singles, Becky Gerhard hit a double and a single, and Emily Rollins recorded two singles.

Getting two singles each for the Rams were Heather Brenneman and Jessica Brenneman.

The Southern jayvees are slated to host Keyser on Monday.

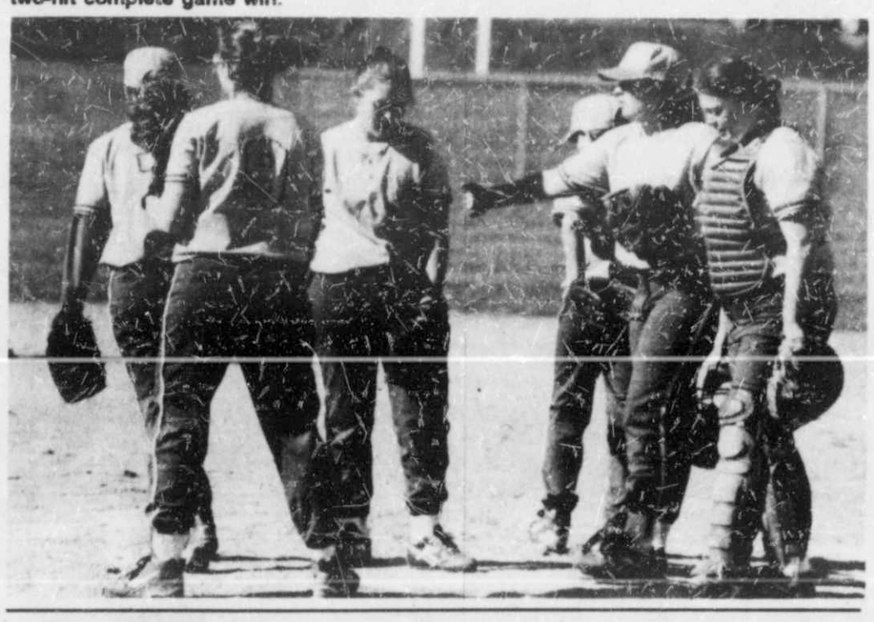
NHS TAKES A COUNTY BATTLE - The softball teams of Northern and Southern high schools met on the SHS field on Tuesday, with the visitors taking home bragging rights, 6-5. The Huskies erupted with five runs in the seventh inning to rebound from a 5-1 deficit, with help from four walks and three Ram errors. Above, Husky Heather Nugent squares off to attempt a bunt on an incoming pitch from SHS pitcher Jennifer Teagarden. Below, Husky pitcher Jenny Thomas receives support from her teammates in a crowded mound conference. The advice must have worked, as Thomas tossed a two-hit complete game win.



Golf Club At Wisp Set To Host Juniors

The Golf Club at the Wisp will be hosting over 60 top golfers from throughout the eastern United States this weekend as part of a new regular tour series under the auspices of the Plantations Junior Golf Tour (PJGT).

Noted by many golfers as one of the finest junior programs in the southeast, the tour offers four age divisions for boys and girls: 9 and under, 10-12, 13-15, and 16-18. The Wisp event kicks off Friday, May 1, with practice rounds and a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. On Saturday, May 2, the tee-offs will begin at 11:50 a.m for most of the juniors, with the pee-wee's teeing off later at 1:10 p.m. Sunday all players will tee off beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Participants on the PJGT compete not only for trophies, but to earn points for the all-important tour rankings and the opportunity to play in the prestigious Tour Championship. College coaches are known to follow tour players throughout the tour schedule, which runs from September through May of each year.

Juniors interested in membership information about the PJGT or companies interested in sponsoring events may contact Harry Novak, director of the Virginia-Maryland PJGT region, at 703-368-9883, or the PJGT office toll-free at 888-862-2054.

Lakers Swept By AC Trojans After Downing Rockville Twice

The Lakers of Garrett Community College took the field for two doubleheaders last week in diamond action, sweeping Rockville 12-3 and 9-5 before being dropping a twinbill themselves to Allegany 7-2 and 6-5. Two additional wins were added to GCC's record as the Lakers received a pair of forfeits from Chesapeake. Their record stands at 23-12 overall and 9-9 in JUCO play, with a pair of single games coming up tomorrow in McHenry as they host Potomac State at 4 p.m., followed by a 7 p.m. showdown with Essex.

In the first game against Rockville on Saturday, Jason Davis belted a pair of home runs, one in the first and one in the fourth inning, as GCC jumped out early and never lost the lead. Chris Powell had two doubles and scored two runs, and Matt DiAngelo had a double and scored two runs. Pitcher Mike Johnston pitched a three-hitter as he struck out 10.

The Lakers bagged the second game with a four-run fourth inning, Gene Sethman's bases-loaded triple driving in three runs alone. GCC led 8-2 at the end of the inning, and never looked back. Powell hit a three-run homer and added a single, Andy Blackwell had a triple, two singles, and scored twice, and Jeremy Fitzwater contributed a solo homer. DiAngelo punched out a single and crossed the plate with three runs himself. Mike Maravich tossed a six-hitter and struck out eight batters.

Against Allegany on Tuesday the Lakers ran into the top team in the JUCO and ran out of gas. AC's opening game victory was powered by solo home runs by Doug Sowers, Chuck Conley, and Raffe Boria. GCC was led by Brian Hayes's double, while Denny Rulli struck out seven Trojans in taking the loss.

The one-run loss in the nightcap saw GCC's Chad Ord pitch a strong game through six innings before Fitzwater was called in from the bullpen. Eric Harper belted a three-run homer in the fifth inning to bring the Lakers to within a run. Harper also singled, and Blackwell added two singles. AC's Boria belted a double and a single to drive in three runs in leading the Trojans at the plate.

"Today's play was indicative of the quality of both teams," Laker head coach Wildesen commented. AC's head coach Steve Bazarnick paid a real compliment to GCC when he said, "I think Garrett is the best team we've played this year."

Southern Boys Now 10-1 In Tennis; Girls Still Struggling

The Southern High boys' tennis team upped its record to 10-1 this past week by whipping visiting Keyser, 5-2, on Friday, blanking host Beall, 7-0, on Monday, and shutting out Northern on Tuesday, 7-0, also in Oakland, and blanking the Huskies again last night at the Cove, 7-0.

Meanwhile, the Southern girls' team was defeated by those same schools, falling to Keyser and Beall by 6-1 scores and to Northern, 5-1 on Tuesday in Oakland and 6-1 on Wednesday at Grantsville.

In the boys' match with Keyser, Brandon Ferguson, Justin Stephens, Melvin Rexrode, and Bryson Paugh all won in singles, and Ferguson and Stephens were victorious in doubles.

Keyser's David Musson was a singles winner.

In the girls' competition, only the doubles team of Megan Mou and Erin McClive captured a point for the Rams.

Jenny Woy, Nikki Kriser, Molly Lemon, Julie Woy, and Rachel Watson swept the singles for the Golden Tornado.

Sweeping the singles competition against Beall on Monday for the Rams were Ferguson, Stephens, Rexrode, Mike Pamepinto, and Dustin Slider. Winning in doubles were the teams of Ferguson and Danny Riley, and Josh Stephens and Adam Murray.

TOURNEY RUNNERS-UP - A youth basketball team sponsored by Railey Realty captured second place in the 15th annual Silver Hoop Classic, held recently in Cumberland. The local squad fell to Stan's Auto Body in the championship game, 62-53. Railey's rallied to close the scoring gap to just two points midway through the third period, but the size and strength of the Stan's Auto team finally wore down the local players in the fourth quarter. Railey's finished with a 4-2 record in the tournament and also garnered several individual honors. Nathaniel Panther was named the tourney's Most Outstanding Player, while Justin Liller, Mike Browning, and Ryan White were named to the All-Tournament team. Pictured from left above, kneeling, are: Jamie Bosley, Nathaniel Panther, and Ryan White. Standing are: Justin Liller, Mike Browning, Jason Finch, and Justin Stephens.

Mountaintop Soccer Slates Registration For Summer Season

The Mountaintop Soccer Association (MSA) will hold its on-site registration for the fall 1998 season on Saturday, May 16, at Dennett Road Elementary School and Northern Middle School between the hours of 9 and 11 a.m. All Garrett County youth between the ages of 4 and 14 are encouraged to register.

"Basically, families have two options to register," said Ron Petrella, MSA president, "on-site or mail-in registration. The mail-in registration process that we used last year worked really well. It was very convenient for both the families and the MSA board. All youth who registered with MSA last year will receive a registration form, newsletter, and Major League Soccer (MLS) Summer Camp brochure this year, which will be mailed this weekend and should be received by the middle of next week. The on-site registration is conducted for the benefit of new players just entering the league and for those who just like to turn in their forms personally."

The registration fees are $15 for U6 (under age 6) and U8 players, and $25 for U10, U12, and U15 players. The MSA board approved a discount this year for families with three or more participating children. The first two youth players will pay the regular fee, and additional players from the same immediate family will receive a 50 percent discount off the regular fee. The discount must be applied to the lowest fee charged.

The deadline for mail-in registration is Saturday, June 6, and registration forms must be postmarked by that date. "We try very hard to put anyone who wants to play soccer on a team and have made numerous accommodations for families in the past," Petrella said. "Unfortunately, with so many kids now playing soccer, this has created many problems when ordering uniforms and setting up teams. We will be enforcing the June 6th deadline this year. Youth not registered by that date will run the risk of not getting on a team. So please, register on time," he encouraged interested families.

"We recommend that kids in the youngest U6 division are at least 4½ years of age at the start of the season so that they have a good experience", said Petrella. "In the upper U15 division, any youth who will reach the age of 15 by December 31, 1998, are not permitted to play. This is in accordance with MSA's by-laws. Also, the MSA board voted unanimously that any youth playing junior varsity or varsity high school soccer are not eligible to play in the fall recreational league."

Registration forms for the fall MSA league and the MLS Summer Camp are also be made available in the Ruth Enlow Libraries in Oakland and Accident. Families with questions or who would like to assist in the coming MSA season may contact Ron Petrella at 301-334-1174. "Last year we had 496 kids registered with MSA," Petrella concluded. "Please register early! We look forward to another very successful year."

struck out six.

Jeremy Rice provided a three-run double and Tim Umbel hit two singles to pace Northern's offense.

Westmar's only run was off an RBI single by Glass.

Winning for the Huskies in the second game was Adam Brenneman, who tossed a four-hitter and drove in four runs with a triple, a double, and a single. Paul Beitzel also had three hits for Northern, all singles.

Brenneman struck out six. Colberg hit an RBI double for the Wildcats.

Leading Fort Hill to its win over the Huskies yesterday were Tyler Smouse and Mario Bascelli, as Smouse slammed a home run, a triple, and a double, and Bascelli stroked a homer, a triple, and a single.

Mark Pyles also had a two-run homer, while Brian Cecil aided his own cause on the mound by hitting two singles. It was the 10th win in 15 games for the Sentinels.

Brenneman hit a home run and a single for Northern, Rice doubled and singled, and Workman and Umbel each hit two singles.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Now is the time to dust off the boat and get ready for fishing and other water sports on Deep Creek Lake and other waterways in and around Garrett County. However, the first thing that all boats need at this time of the year is a thorough inspection. The harshness of winter and the deterioration from just sitting can cause problems. A careful going over of the boat, engine, and trailer can keep small problems from growing into big money repairs.

Mike Auten of the Pennzoil Marine Pro Fishing Team and two-time BASS Masters Classic contender said, "The gear lube in the lower unit should be replaced at least once a year, even if you rarely use the boat. Water, either from condensation or a leak, will mix with the lube, resulting in corrosion. Left unattended, the precision gears found in the lower unit may seize." Do-it-yourselfers can replace the lower unit gear lube or the job can be trusted to a reputable boat mechanic.

Auten also recommends a quick check of the fuel tank. Fuel left over from last year may have turned stale if it wasn't properly stabilized and may not combust efficiently. Failure to protect trailer bearings is another example of an easy maintenance chore that is often overlooked. The bearings are subject to corrosion every time the trailer is backed down the ramp and into the water. Without grease the bearings get rusty. The friction can cause enormous heat build-up and the bearings can literally seal together. Other maintenance items should include tire pressure, battery terminals and charge, trailer brakes, boat and trailer lights, electrical connections, and signs of corrosion or damage.

Live wells and bilge reservoirs are also important places to inspect. Any water left in live wells or bilge may have frozen in the winter causing splits in the fiberglass and serious leaks in the boat. Year-round maintenance is the key. Take care of the boat during the summer, make the commitment to perform the necessary pre-winter maintenance before the boat is stored for the off-season, and make sure everything is safe and in good condition before the initial spring launching.

TRY A SPINNERBAIT FOR PRE-SPAWN BASS

The ever-versatile spinnerbait can be just the ticket for getting into action with pre-spawn largemouth and smallmouth. Water conditions this time of year can sometimes require a presentation that will get attention so that you can get the strike. The noise and the flash of the spinnerbait make it ideal in muddy, murky colder water.

There are a number of ways to retrieve a spinnerbait effectively. A steady retrieve, the one most commonly used, is sometimes a killer. But, a spinnerbait can also be retrieved very rapidly; that is, "buzzed" across the surface, and it can be crawled along the bottom. When this fails, it may be a lift and drop retrieve that will produce. There really is no right or wrong way to do it. Experimentation until you have success is the key.

Spinnerbaits can be fished all day, regardless of weather conditions. In high sun conditions, concentrate tight in to cover. If it is cloudy, or early, or late in the day, work the shallows.

Certainly there are other considerations, such as lure color, weight, head shape, and blade style. All are important. Again, experimentation will determine what works best for you.

FISHING ETIQUETTE

This little treatise on fishing etiquette comes to us courtesy of Zebco. Etiquette in fishing is simply having good manners. To put it another way, "Do unto other anglers as you would have them do unto you." Be considerate to others. For example, when you're launching a boat, be ready. Don't make people wait; get all the tie downs off, so all you have to do is launch the boat. Don't crowd another angler, find another spot to fish. Also, if you're in a boat, and another angler is casting his way down the shorelines, don't cut in front of him to get to those 'hotspots.' If you're fishing in a crowd, avoid casting over another angler's line.

"Thank you, Zebco; we couldn't have said it better."

TROUT FISHING REPORT

The DNR Maryland Fishing Report indicates that trout fishing has been excellent all across the region. Specific reports about our western Maryland streams indicate that the Casselman has been fishing very well recently. Delayed harvest regulations are in effect here and only flies or artificial lures may be used. But, good numbers of browns and rainbows are present and water conditions are much better than last year. Fly fishermen might try beadheads, woolybuggers, and streamers.

When water conditions are right, the North Branch of the Potomac has been good on both the upper and lower sections (above and below the Jennings Randolph Reservoir). The Savage River also has been fishing well for this time of year. The put and take upper section has been well stocked and the lower (trophy trout and fly fishing only sections) has benefited from lower water levels. The Yough has also been nice when water conditions are right. Nymphs, streamers, and bitch creek patterns work well.

$2.59 Tax Rate

election year, you people are basically agreeing to raise taxes when every place else in the state is lowering them," said DeCorsey Bolden.

Chairman Wayne Wilt defended the set rate, explaining that the needs are growing as the population increases, and that the county is still paying for damages caused by severe storms and floods in the past two years.

"When I came into office, this county had a three million dollar deficit," Wilt said. "We have worked hard to reduce that amount and at this time, we are almost completely rid of it. I think that's pretty significant. I voted against the raising of the rate at least two times in the past few years. Things could be a whole lot worse."

The residents also criticized the county's decision to gradually eliminate the personal property tax for businesses. The idea was presented to the commissioners last year by the Garrett County Economic Development Corporation, the members of which have maintained that the elimination of the tax will be conducive to the location of new businesses in the area. Legislation to approve the gradual elimination of the tax was passed in 1997. The elimination will take place over a period of five to 10 years.

"The businesses don't run this county," said one man at the meeting. "But you do what they tell you to do. How are we going to recuperate that money?"

Commissioner Wayne Johnson addressed the issue, stating that the commissioners agreed with the development corporation that the county should be more business-friendly, and that the elimination of the tax is a step in that direction. Garrett is one of approximately just three or four counties in the state to have a personal property tax for businesses.

"The idea is that more businesses will move here if there is no personal property tax, and that in turn will create more jobs," Johnson explained.

The Tuesday morning hearing lasted for nearly two hours.

Scottish Athletic Games Will Be Part Of Festival

The 11th Annual McHenry Highland Festival, to be held Saturday, June 6, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry, will feature the traditional seven Scottish amateur athletic games.

Athletes will take their three turns in each of the seven events of the heptathlon: the sheaf toss (a burlap sack filled with 16 pounds of hay is thrown over a crossbar); 56-pound weight throw (the block or bell-shaped weight on a chain is thrown as far as possible); 28-pound weight throw (same objective as the 56-pound weight throw); 22-pound hammer throw (a 16-22 pound hammer is thrown); 56-pound weight toss (the weight is thrown over a crossbar); stone put (16-22 pound stone is thrown like the contemporary shot put); and caber toss (a log weighing approximately 100 pounds and approximately 20 feet in length is flipped so that it lands a certain way).

First, second, and third place medals will be awarded in each of the seven events, and the winner of the heptathlon will receive the McHenry Highland Festival Heptathlon Cup. Festivals hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $5 for anyone 12 years of age and over.

For more information or an application form for the athletic competitions, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, phone 301-334-1948.

Senior Citizens' Bowling League Season To Begin

The Senior Citizens' Bowling League will begin its summer league schedule next Thursday, May 7.

Senior citizens who have already registered for the summer league are asked to report to Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland at noon on that date. Bowling will begin following a short organizational meeting, according to Arleigh Hauser, league president.

Murphy, Miller Capture Firsts In Cart Racing

Jason Miller and Jeremy Murphy, two local cart racers, each captured first places in races held at Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa., last Friday night.

After winning his heat race, Miller started in the pole position in the feature, with Oakland's Mike Sloan sitting in the fourth spot. Miller won the race, his second of the season, while Sloan edged out Mike Minnick and Doug Smith to win second place.

Murphy placed second in his heat race behind another local racer, Cody Hardesty, and then, after several lead changes with Hardesty in the feature, Murphy crossed the finish line first. Hardesty ended up in third place.

Tobacco Use

County commissioners and representatives of civic organizations. DeMarco directed several remarks to Edwards. "I hope you'll give this a lot of consideration. The state would take in about $300 million through this tax," he stated.

Among uses for that money, DeMarco noted advertising to counteract tobacco advertising. "There's an ad being used in California now that says 'Your parents do it. How cool can it be?'" he quoted.

Cigarette tax funds would also be earmarked for education. Moneys could be used to reduce the size of classes in the primary grades and for public education. "Our goal is to educate voters and let them know how candidates stand on the cigarette tax," he said.

There would also be funding available for cessation programs through the health department. Dr. Archer explained that currently the health department staff is working on a cessation program for pregnant women. There are methods that could be used to help people stop smoking, Archer said. Additional funding would help make these available, he added.

In addition to reducing teen smoking, the tax would help repay some of the $1.5 billion spent annually on smoking related illnesses, DeMarco noted. "For every dollar of cigarette taxes paid by smokers, the state chips in an extra $12 to care for smokers who are sick and dying. This measure is a users' fee that will greatly improve the lives of families here in Maryland," he said.

Del. Edwards responded to DeMarco, saying that discussion of this bill could be premature. "We need to see what the federal government will do," he said referring to a similar piece of legislation before congress.

Since December 1997, over 250 organizations have endorsed the Maryland Children's Initiative, DeMarco said.

Susan Athey-Oxford of the Commission for Women said there is local support for this measure. "This bill has bipartisan support here in Garrett County because our citizens know this is the right thing to do," she said.

Del. Workman To Speak At May Meeting

As part of the continuing lecture series commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Women's Rights Movement, Del. Betty Workman will address the Garrett Business and Professional Women's Club.

The group's annual legislative meeting featuring Del. Workman, the Democratic representative to the Maryland House of Delegates from District 1B, will be held at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, May 14, 6:30-8:30 p.m. "In addition to our regular members, we are inviting numerous other women's groups to attend the event," said Donna McClintock, legislative co-chair for Garrett BPW.

Workman, a full-time legislator, is currently serving a third term as a delegate to the Maryland General Assembly, and serves on the House Ways and Means Committee, protocol and transportation subcommittees. She was also appointed by House Speak Cas Taylor to a seat on the Joint Ethics Committee. She chairs the Allegany County Delegation.

Active in the political arena for many years, Workman has participated in the legislative process in many government positions. She is past president of the Women Legislators of Maryland; previously served as chair of the Endorsement and Legislative committees of the Women's Caucus; and was a delegate to the 1982 National Democratic Convention.

In her community, Workman has participated in the work of the League of Women Voters, the Allegany County Historical Society, the Allegany County Arts Council, the Allegany County Retired Teachers Association, AARP, the Task Force on Economic Development, the Finan Center Residents Rights Advisory Committee, and many other organizations.

In her work as a legislator, Workman addresses topics that include children and family health issues, education, and domestic violence.

Service awards have been presented to Workman by such organizations as Frostburg State University, the Maryland State Educational Services Council, and the Rotary Foundation of International Rotary.

McClintock explained the main objective of this series of lectures. "We hope these speakers will focus on the importance of women becoming educated and involved in political and legislative issues. This may help women to decide what steps they will take to reach these goals," she said.

Registration is required and can be made by calling 301-334-4810 by May 8. The cost is $8 per person.

HARD AT WORK PREPARING FOR JOB FAIR - The Garrett County Job Fair Committee is set to bring employers and prospective employees together at the seventh annual Job Fair, slated for this Saturday, May 2, from noon to 3 p.m. at Garrett Community College. Committee members include, left to right in the front row, Lynne Glotfelty, Charlene Pullias, Janet Hardesty, Cheryl Angle, and Julie Yoder. In the back row are Sandi Flockhart, Brenda McDonnell, Alyce McDowell, and Cathy Fazenbaker. Not pictured is committee member Sandy Major.

County Job Fair Set For Saturday Afternoon At GCC

Final preparations are being made for the seventh annual Garrett County Job Fair, scheduled for this Saturday, May 2, from noon to 3 p.m., in the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College. Representatives from GCC's Job Placement Office, the Maryland Department of Labor Licensing and Regulation, the Western Maryland Consortium, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and various community businesses have been soliciting employers and preparing materials for this year's job fair.

Job seekers aged 14 and up are encouraged to arrive at the job fair dressed as they would to attend an interview. Those seeking employment may bring a resume, or they may complete a one-page application provided at the job fair. Copies of resumes and applications may be made during registration at the fair, at a cost to participants of five cents per copy.

Employers this year are offering positions ranging from part-time summer jobs to full-time year-round positions with benefits. Organizers said they believe that there is something of interest to everyone at this year's job fair. Employers slated to participate in the 1998 Job Fair include: Ringer Auto Repair, Longaberger Co., Wisp Food & Beverage, Community Crime Prevention, Dr. Willy's Seafood, Fred Wyant Associates, The Silver Tree, The Diesel Institute, Mary Kay Cosmetics, Goodwill Mennonite Home, Red Run Lodge, Target Inc., Hobby House Press, Deep Creek Outfitters, JG's Pub, the Maryland Army National Guard, First United National Bank & Trust, Garrett County AmeriCorps, the Federal Bureau of Prisons, The FunZone/Smiley's, Garrett County Lighthouse, Business Systems Management, Halimark Engraving, The Data Entry Company, Garrett Community College, Financial Computer Support Inc., McClive's, Funland, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, GMS (Garrett Mine Supply) Mine Repair and Maintenance, The Point View Inn and Restaurant, Foodland Fresh, the Department of Natural Resources State Forests and Park services, Peter's Fuel, Food Lion, GCC's Small Business Development Center, and the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation.

Employers will be set up and ready to greet participants at noon. Job seekers are encouraged to arrive before 2:30 p.m. to allow adequate time to meet with prospective employers. Persons interested in further information may contact the GCC Job Placement Office at 301-387-3080.

"We know it was not the weather, but other than that, no one knows for sure what happened," M. Hill said. "For some reason, the plane just lost power as it approached the runway and then crashed to the ground." The plane was destroyed by fire, he said.

Apparently the left side of the plane hit first, and Hill was seated in the left seat. The instructor, seated at right, sustained a fractured nose, lacerations, and injuries to a finger. M. Hill said the instructor will undergo surgery today on his nose.

"They were extremely lucky," M. Hill said. "When you hear that your father has been in a plane crash, you just figure the worst has happened. But he's feeling better each day and is eager to come home."

Teets Opens Real Estate Brokerage At Alpine Lake

Catherine M. Teets, who became Preston County's first female real estate broker when she opened an office in Terra Alta in 1979, has announced the grand opening of a new office in the Main Lodge at Alpine Lake Resort on Saturday, May 2. Prizes, technology demonstrations, and property inspections will highlight the 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. celebration, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Operating as Catherine M. Teets and Associates, Teets says the new brokerage will feature a number of innovative marketing and service techniques, including a multimedia web page, a "virtual tour" of Alpine properties via interactive technology, and computerized property listing and tracking. "Aside from all the technology," Teets added, "our emphasis will still be on old fashioned service with a smile.

"We look forward to serving clients at Alpine Lake," Teets said. "Our marketing, in conjunction with Resort Developers Inc., will be reaching thousands of people and acquainting them with Alpine's beauty, affordability, and attractions. We anticipate bringing many new faces to the resort and to Preston County."

Teets, who has been associated with Alpine Lake Resort since its inception in 1971, is also vice-president of Headline Books Inc., a publishing company she and her husband, Bob Teets, founded in 1988. The couple reside in Terra Alta with their daughter Ashley.

BUCKWHEAT FESTIVAL ROYALTY NAMED - Samantha Rae Dixon, daughter of Robert and Carol Dixon, Kingwood, and Grant Harsh, son of David and Rita Harsh, Amboy, will reign as Queen Ceres LVII and King Buckwheat LVII during the 57th Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, slated for Sept. 25-27 in Kingwood. Miss Dixon and Mr. Grant, both juniors at Preston High School, are pictured at left, as they made their official stroll through the Craig Civic Center last Thursday evening at the conclusion of an annual pageant where the king and queen are named. Samantha was chosen from 15 finalists who competed for the coveted Queen Ceres title, and Grant was one of five vying for King Buckwheat. Shown above, from left to right, are Matthew Bachtel, son of William and Dianna Bachtel, Eglon, who was named first runner-up to King Buckwheat; Maid of Honor Natalie McMillen, daughter of Jack and Vickie Jenkins, Albright, and Pat and Sharon McMillen, Reedsville, who was named first runner-up to Queen Ceres; Lori Thompson, wife of this year's general chairman of the festival; King Buckwheat Grant Harsh; Queen Ceres Samantha Dixon; General Chairman Ray Thompson; Maid of Honor Tai Johnson, daughter of Larry and Patricia Johnson, Kingwood, the second runner-up to the queen; and Butch Wolford, son of Kermit "Butch" and Peggy Wolford, Rowlesburg, who was chosen as second runner-up to the king. Also announced during the evening's events was the winner of this year's Lady of Agriculture competition, Sibyl Cole, daughter of Jim and Vicki Cole, Tunnelton. First runner-up in this seventh annual contest was Kristina Evans, daughter of Reid and Kathy Evans, Bruceton Mills; second runner-up is Sarah Snyder, daughter of Leonard and Linda Snyder of the Aurora-Terra Alta Pike; and third runner-up is Kelly Summers, daughter of Jim and Phyllis Summers, Centenary. Making their final appearance at the pageant were Queen Ceres LVI Jennifer Martin and King Buckwheat LVI Nick Riggins.

Ougabus Society Meets In Aurora

The annual meeting of members of the Ougabus Society was held Saturday at Melanie's Family Restaurant in Aurora. The gathering began at Glen Fint's Stadium (CBS), where a presentation was made to Joe Fint for his family's approval of the ball field. President Ed Husenhaymer called the meeting to order at Melanie's.

Items of business were: presentation of the 1998 model Ouga-hat, envelope addressing practice, induction of members of the Hall of Fame, appreciation certificate presentation to Melanie, and a general business discussion.

Members attending were: Jim Teets, Bucky Bolyard, Guy Halbritter, Wendell Teets, John Myers, Larry Bolyard, Jim Stanton, Ron Wotring, John Adams, Mike Teets, Tom Adams, David Layman, Jeff Roberson, Jack Adams, and guests Danny Adams, Jack Adams, Pat Adams, and Fred Tichnell. Absent from his first meeting since 1984 was New Jersey resident Phil Stemple, who was working with the Boy Scouts of America during this weekend.

Next year's meeting will include a game of golf at Alpine Lake. Members desiring to play should contact Larry at 304-788-0183 for reservations. The dinner meeting will again be held at Melanie's Restaurant.

In memory of our wife, mother, grandmother, and mother-in-law,
Charlotte Wilson,
who passed away three years ago today, April 30, 1995

On that very day,
God decided to take you away. He came down with his precious hend, and took you away to his promise land.
It has been three very long years and we have shed many tears.

There have been many days that I wish that you could have stayed. You know, Mom, that the kids are growing and getting bigger by the day, and there are two that remind us of you. I don't think that we have to mention their names for you know who they are just the same.

Our love and appreciation have grown for you, as each day goes by. So remember we love and miss you more each day.

Love You!

RAMP DINNER AT MT. GROVE

A spring ramp dinner will be served at the Mt. Grove fire hall this Sunday, May 3, from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Donations for the all-you-can-eat meal, which includes dessert, are $5 for adults and $3.50 for children 6-11.

This annual event is sponsored by the Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department.

MAY FELLOWSHIP

The Aurora Area Church Women United will meet at the Aurora United Methodist Church, with Stemple Ridge women hosting the meeting and the covered dish lunch on Friday, May 1, beginning at noon. The program centers on "Widening Our Circle of Hospitality," and everyone is welcome to come for that also. The program will be at 1 p.m.

83RD BIRTHDAY

Josephine Abernathy Sell will observe her 83rd birthday on May 5 at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Sandra and Dan Cassidy, 1522 Lynn Drive, Lancaster, OH 43130. Mrs. Sell is an Aurora native.

VFW AUXILIARY

Members of the Aurora-Terra Alta VFW and auxiliary are reminded that on May 1 Senator Sarah Minear will be the guest speaker at the 6:30 p.m. Loyalty Day dinner. On May 3, the third district auxiliary members will meet at the Aurora-Terra Alta post home at 2 p.m. The men will meet at the Terra Alta Senior Center.

HALL BIRTH

Dr. David and Mary Hall of Morgantown announce the birth of their first child and son on March 16, 1998, at Monongalia General Hospital. Named Ryan Allen, the little boy weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce and was 20½ inches long.

The paternal grandparents are Dr. William and Patsy Hall of Morgantown. Mrs. Hall is the daughter of the late George and Beulah Lipscomb, who lived in Aurora. Maternal grandparents are Hue Bui of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Roy Johnston of Ohio, and maternal great-grandparents are Mary Johnston of Jenners, Pa., and the late Alfred Johnston. Paternal great-grandparents are Eleanor Hall of Morgantown and the late William L. Hall.

AUTHORS AT AURORA

Telling stories and reading from his books, Marc Harshman spoke and read to Aurora school children April 16 at the school. Mr. Harshman is a native of Indiana but has spent his adult life in West Virginia, where he and his wife, Cheryl Ryan (author of Sally Arnold, 1996), and 8-year-old daughter Sarah reside. He has been a classroom teacher at the Sand Hill School, which was named a 1995 WV School of Excellence. Each child received a copy of one of Harshman's signed books.

Also to entertain the students with her reading and singing, requiring much participation, was Phyllis Ferguson, who resides in Washington state with her husband and two children.

Parents and grandparents attended the evening session along with many of the students. Door prizes, many of them books, were awarded and refreshments served. The program and guest appearance is a project of Mrs. Sandra Callahan's grant program.

REUNION

The Shaffer-Abernathy family reunion will be held at the Maple Spring Church on Saturday, May 23, with the covered dish dinner at 1 p.m.

PERSONAL MENTION

The body of A. Robert Templeton, 84, was brought Saturday to Aurora for burial. Mr. Templeton, a former Aurora teacher, died unexpectedly at his home in Elkins on April 23. He was married to Pauline (Elsey) Templeton, an Amboy native.

Guest minister at Maple Spring on Sunday was the Rev. Steve Abe, pastor of the Elkins Church of the Brethren. He was accompanied by his wife and two daughters. Pastor John Crowe and his wife journeyed to Elkins in this West Marva District pulpit exchange.

Homer Fike of Eglon celebrated his 97th birthday April 17. He received more than 80 cards. His family, Everett Fike; June and David Singer of Colorado; Stanley and Creola Jones of Boonsboro; Ruth, Charles, Josephine, Randy, and Marcia Ashby, all of Oakland; and Stanley and Eloise Harsh and Connie Fint, all of Aurora, met for a dinner at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building for a celebration.

Hazel Durst and Lois Strawser were recent guests of their sister and brother-in-law, Helen and Harold Winters, Columbus, Ohio. They returned April 16 to their homes at Amboy.

Cheryl Stemple of Aurora was a surgical patient at Ruby Memorial Hospital Friday and returned Saturday to her home.

Mrs. Neil (Bonnie) Winters of Hutton was taken Friday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she is undergoing tests and treatment.

Meade Winters, son of Jim and Sarah Winters of Clarksburg and great-grandson of the late C.R. Winters, is now a patient at Mt. View Rehab Center in Morgantown, where his condition is reportedly improving. He received a severe head injury in a fall.

John E. Teets of Eglon was taken Saturday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of a heart attack at his home.

Jesse and Virginia Ann Vanderpool of Baltimore were guests last week with Bessie and Barbara Heckert in Eglon.

About 140 guests were present to greet newlyweds Gerald and Grace Winter on Sunday afternoon at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Visiting with Jackie and Alma Snyder for the occasion this weekend were Lawrence and Peggy Donham of Stewartstown, Pa. Guests of Hancell and Mildred Teets were their son-in-law and his daughter, Ron and Jill Kepple of Shepherdstown. Mrs. Kepple was apparently ill and could not make the trip home.

Martin Gaither of Mt. Grove injured his foot last week while at work, and is recuperating at his home.

Aurora firefighters and Union Ambulance were called to the scene of a tractor-trailer accident on Cheat Mountain Thursday afternoon in which the driver was injured when his truck hit the rock of an inside curve and overturned.

THE BIG HIT

Rated R - Running time: 1:33

In his writing debut, Ben Ramsey is trying to pattern himself after Quentin Tarantino, but he still has a ways to go. The Big Hit could be at least a moderate hit if it were either not written like a cartoon, or, given the cartooney writing style, didn't take itself so seriously. But Ramsey and director Kirk Wong seem to want it both ways. In fact, I daresay they waffled a bit on whether they wanted this to be a full-blown comedy, but decided that with a lot of violence and an R rating it might do better at the box office. Bad choice. The result is a script that reads like an Ebonics primer, where the comedy usually fails to hit and the violence usually fails to convince.

"Marky Mark" Wahlberg, who was convicted of several minor felonies before joining the "New Kids on the Block" pop group and making it big, can probably identify with his role of Melvin Smiley, the "nice guy" member of a team of high-tech killers. Working for a wealthy black man named Paris (Avery Brooks of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine), the gang seems to be headed by Cisco (Lou Diamond Phillips), a wild-eyed opportunist who bitterly regrets the fact that he is not black. And money is definitely no object when they go on a job, with every state-of-the-art weapon available.

Trying to be "nice" to both his girlfriend Chantel (Lela Rochon) and his fiancée Pam (Christina Applegate), both of whom treat him terribly, Melvin wants to quit his part-time killer job and go straight. Pam doesn't know about his profession, but he owes money to Chantel, and so he must participate in one more scheme, a high-stakes kidnapping. The victim is Keiko Nishi (China Chow), the daughter of Japanese tycoon Jiro Nishi (Sab Shimono). The plan was thought up by loose cannon Cisco, and not sanctioned by Paris, nor would it be, since Paris is Jiro's close friend and Keiko's godfather. So when Paris finds out that his goddaughter has been kidnapped, he's out for blood and orders Cisco to find the perpetrators and proceed with "the big hit."

Lou Diamond Phillips has had a spotty career so far, punctuating a large collection of mediocre movies with a few notables, such as La Bamba (1987), Young Guns (1988), and, more recently, Courage Under Fire (1996). His portrayal of Cisco is adequately over-the-top, but he is too serious for this movie; his performance undermines the comedic elements. This is one of those "it's so bad, it's good" movies, and could be really funny if not for Phillips and Brooks playing it like a straight "gangsta" thriller. On the other hand, at least he has some energy, which is more than can be said for Wahlberg. He appears to be sleepwalking here, barely able to make a spark with any of his three female counterparts.

One very brief performance that adds some needed humor is the geeky video store clerk played by Danny Smith, who constantly harasses Melvin over the phone regarding a late return. Another attempt at humor that falls flat is the appearance of Elliot Gould and Lainie Kazan as Pam's stereotypical Jewish parents, who are horrified that their daughter is marrying a "goy." Their presence is out of place, like a scene from Rhoda in the middle of Dirty Harry.

Perhaps if Spike Lee had directed this film, it would have met the mark better, but as it is, it looks like either a confusion of styles or a difference of opinion between writer and director. ★★

PAULIE

Rated PG - Running time: 1:32

For a low-profile kids' movie with a simplistic plot, Paulie, written by Laurie Craig and directed by John Roberts, is surprisingly enjoyable and features several notable names in the cast. People like Buddy Hackett, Wings's Tony Shalhoub, Cheech Marin, and Gena Rowlands are not exactly box-office busters, but they're not too shabby, either, and they all give heartfelt performances playing opposite a talking parrot with an attitude and a New York accent.

Paulie (voice of Jay Mohr) is introduced to custodian Misha (Shalhoub) in the basement of the animal research facility where he has been confined by Dr. Reingold (Bruce Davison) after displaying some undesirable behavior. When Misha hears him singing late one night, he discovers that this bird not only can talk, but has hours worth of stories in him, all about himself. Misha sits transfixed as Paulie relates all his experiences involving numerous people, all flawed in some ways, but from whom he gained many well-rounded perspectives on life. And it all started with Marie (Hallie Kate Eisenberg), the little girl who once called Paulie her own, and the one he's still trying to find.

This is a flashback movie, mainly involving Paulie's tireless efforts to find Marie, aided by the long string of unlikely owners among whom he is passed around. They all love and try to help him, and they are also helped by him to achieve some goal or ambition in their own lives.

But mostly it is a character study, showing Paulie's continual growth resulting from his association with each of his companions. He is first a lover and loyal pet because of Marie; he is an astute businessman and appraiser because of Artie (Hackett), the pawnshop owner; he is a poet and philosopher because of Ivy (Rowlands), from whom he also learns to fly; a performer because of Ignacio (Marin), who also made possible his introduction to a lover of his own kind, Lupe (voice of Tia Texada); etc. The complete individual we see at the end, in his cage, talking to Misha, is the result of the long journey he has taken, not only physically, but spiritually and emotionally as well.

Paulie is marred by an unfortunate decision on the part of Craig and Roberts. Apparently in order to achieve a PG rating, some minor profanity was included in the script, spoken by Paulie, at a time when it is arguably justified. This is really a minor incident, and could and should have been omitted from an otherwise touching and fun story. But it does take away from the innocence of Paulie, and parents who are easily offended should be warned. It's nothing your kids haven't heard at school or on TV (or perhaps even at home), but it's there.

Paulie is one of those dark horse movies, possibly destined to fade into oblivion after its run, but possibly to achieve the same sort of popular response enjoyed by Babe. It's cute, touching, fun, and at times overly sentimental. But it's a good afternoon's entertainment, if you're in the mood. ★★★½

GLAF COMMITTEE SLATES BIG BAND BENEFIT — Plans and arrangements for the 1998 Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) annual benefit are well underway, with the benefit committee members putting in long hours to make this year's event another success. "Stardust" is this year's theme, with an evening of dining, dancing, and entertainment slated for June 13 at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort. The gala will be semi-formal and will feature Tim Bassett's Big Band from Pittsburgh, organizers have announced. Complimentary cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, and a silent auction will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m., followed by dinner and music. Traditionally, invitations are mailed to former GLAF supporters, but organizers said new friends are always welcome. Reservations should be made early by calling 301-387-5018 or 301-387-9474. The tickets for the benefit gala are $65 per guest. Committee members pictured left to right are Mary Warther, Betty Polansky, Chan Bell, Ann Englander, Susannah Kurtz, Martin Heise, and Nancy Nemith. Members not present for the photo were Jennlann Stitt and Tiddie Wheeler.

AURORA/EGLON

Seminar Offered On Planning For Retirement Years

Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging is sponsoring a financial and retirement planning seminar on Saturday, May 16, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident.

The seminar is designed to assist individuals who are concerned about their financial future, are planning for retirement, or have questions about what to look forward to. Individuals already retired and/or their caregivers may obtain information about Social Security, Medicare, and other services available to them.

The agency has brought together representatives from the Social Security Administration, BGS&G Investment Services Inc., Tressler Lutheran Adult Day Care, Aging Services, and more to provide up-to-date information to help participants gain greater knowledge about planning for a more financially secure and active retirement.

A $5 registration fee will be charged to cover lunch and materials. Persons interested in attending the seminar may obtain further information and a registration form by contacting the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or at 888-877-8403. The deadline for registration is May 8.

Letters

property owner will be reduced.

It is unfortunate that in the past our local paper published articles that the tax rate had been lowered by the Commissioners but failed to report that the rate was not lowered sufficiently to maintain the constant yield factor. Therefore, the property owner expected to pay less tax dollars that year, but actually paid more.

Furthermore, the State requires that the County Commissioners give advance notice and hold public meetings prior to rate setting if they are considering a tax rate higher than the constant yield tax rate. Such notice was published in the April 16 issue of The Republican that a hearing will be held on April 28 at 11:00 a.m. at the Court House. Yes, Ms. VanSickle and property owners tax dollars are about to rise!!! It would be good if these hearings were held at a time when working property owners could attend.

The Assessment Office has pamphlets explaining this constant yield tax provision. Call for a copy or, better still, hold community workshops. Let's be informed, attend the public meetings, and let our voice be heard!

Respectfully,
Jim Wilburn

To the Editor:

Recently my first grade class studied community workers and the culminating event was a trip to Oakland to see how our community works. It was very rewarding to watch others teach my children and enhance the subjects we study in school.

First, we had a grand tour of City Hall and a speech by Mayor Asa McCain explaining the duties of the council; then we visited First United National Bank and Trust with a view of safe deposit boxes, the vault, and the money counting machines, hosted by Ms. Judy Pownall. After visiting the bank, we walked across the street to the Post Office to mail our letters and see the sorting boxes in the work room. The children were most impressed with the hydraulic lift used for unloading at the back door.

Our next stop was the Ruth Enlow Library. We used our best whisper voices and learned about fiction and non-fiction books. We saw an art exhibit and computers just like we have in school. After lunch at McDonald's, we visited Mastercraft Printers. We learned how a design begins and gets on the paper. We saw the paper cutting machine and the hole-punching machine — really neat! Bob Ekholm and his highly skilled staff created a personalized note pad for each student. What a unique way to encourage young writers!!

Next door we visited Tropical World Pet Store and saw animals with two legs, four legs, and no legs. We didn't get to see the snake because he was hiding in the terrarium.

Our last stop was Gibson's Service Center. We saw the storage room and the huge walk-in cooler. Some children were even stepping inside the freezer. We left with a bag of treats and returned to school much smarter than when we left.

Our class thanks all of you for your time and materials to help us learn about our community. We will also learn to be good citizens like the folks we visited.

Yours Truly,
Sue Liller

Area KC Assembly Attends Biannual District Meeting

The Knights of Columbus (KC) Chief Justice Taney Assembly of Cumberland recently attended the biannual meeting of the Maryland District of Capitol Providence, held at the Fr. Michael J. McGivney Council in Glen Burnie.

Representing the Chief Justice Taney Assembly were Faithful Navigator Carl F. Becker, Faithful Captain Joseph H. Helmstetter, and Color Corps Commander Jim Conlon Sr. as delegates to the meeting.

District Marshal Carl R. Roberts gave a report on the exemplification held in Hagerstown on April 4, where 142 new candidates joined the fourth degree from across Maryland.

State Deputy John R. Albright announced plans for upcoming events for Flag Day on June 14 at Mt. Olivet in Frederick, at the grave of Francis Scott Key, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner."

A brief report was delivered by Vice Supreme Master Francis M. Feeley from the Supreme Office of the Knights of Columbus, and the upcoming deadline for application for civic awards by local assemblies was noted as well.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

The Secret Ingredient

"Ladies and gentlemen, following the benediction, everyone is invited to the fellowship hall for our monthly covered dish luncheon. Enjoy!"

The dishes are arranged on long tables. Growling stomachs quiver with delight at the prospect of delicious selections. Personal preference take precedence as each one approaches his or her favorite dish...the recipe with that special something...the secret ingredient that makes it special.

There are people we meet who delight us when we hunger for that special something to satisfy our spiritual appetite...people with that secret ingredient. They almost always radiate peace and joy. We gravitate toward them. We want to discover their secret.

A popular hymn expresses it well. "It is no secret what God can do." Worship this week. Discover the love of God. "What He's done for others, He will do for you."

THE CORRECT WAY TO SWALLOW A PILL

For those people who have difficulty in swallowing a pill, tablet or capsule, the reason is usually the movement of their heads backwards. This action tends to narrow the entrance passageway. Always try to keep the head lowered or at least level.

If you experience any difficulty taking any medicine, please ask our professional advice. We can often suggest simple home liquids that make them more palatable. For, although we may carry other products, prescriptions, health-aids, and sickroom needs are our most important service.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHERE'S THE GLORY?
May 3, 1998

Background Scripture:
John 12:20-50
Devotional Reading:
Romans 5:1-11

When Jesus announced to his disciples, "The hour has come for the Son of man to be glorified," (12:23), I'm sure they assumed that he meant that the homage paid him by the crowds on Palm Sunday would be capped by some even greater exhibition of God's favor. Isn't that what one would expect if they were to be 'glorified'?

But Jesus went on to say something that must have puzzled, if not frightened them: "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone, but if it dies, it bears much fruit." What does being 'glorified' have to do with a seed dying and bearing 'much fruit'? The disciples must have felt euphoric about the great reception along the Palm Sunday road, but now Jesus is sounding doomed.

His next words remove are even more portentous: "He who loves his life loses it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. If any one serves me, he must follow me; and where I am, there shall my servant be also." What is Jesus suggesting about the fate of those who follow him? Surely being in the vanguard of the Messiah is not meant to be a hazardous association! Who would join a Messiah who promised, not security, but danger?

DANGER AHEAD?

If they listened carefully to what Jesus said next, they would realize that even the Messiah himself would be endangered: "Now is my soul troubled. And what shall I say? 'Father, save me from this hour'? No, for this purpose I have come to this hour," (12:27). Is Jesus saying that this dangerous situation which he is anticipating is the way things are supposed to go? Jesus has already said that his disciples "must follow me." That is scary because it is obvious that Jesus is headed in harm's way.

Ironically, their Master's next words are: "Father, glorify thy name." Something very strange follows: there was a great noise, everyone would agree to that. But what made that noise? "The crowd standing by heard it and said that it had thundered. Others said 'An angel has spoken to him.'" Those who heard a voice heard these words that came as a reply to Jesus' prayer: "I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again."

Jesus explains to the disciples that "This voice has come for your sake, not for mine." In other words, the heavenly voice came to the road to the Messiah's glorification ran through the valley of the shadow of death—as must theirs as well. Glorification seems entirely incompatible with danger and death. Where's the glory in death? Jesus has already explained that if something dies it can yet, like a seed buried in the earth, yield "much fruit." Something good can come from this dangerous path he is following. He has also indicated that it is only through death that we can know eternal life.

THE COSMIC CROSS

But this is about more than just one person's death or even that of his followers. There are cosmic implications that mean that the whole universe will be affected. By his death Jesus will utterly defeat Satan, "the ruler of this world" and his death will reconcile all humanity: "...I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself" (12:32). Read in this light, Jesus' message is not really one of doom and gloom, but of the glory of God in Christ. As horrible as the cross will be, it will form the bridge whereby God is able to unloose his love into the cosmos. "I have comes as light into the world," says Jesus, "that whoever believes in me may not remain in darkness" (12:46).

It is interesting, then, that having taught his disciples that he and they must tread a dangerous path to glorification, many of those who had been following him drew back for fear of the consequence: "...many even of the authorities believed in him, but for fear of the Pharisees they did not confess it, lest they should be put out of the synagogue: for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (12:42). They wanted to play it safe, but you can't play it safe and follow Jesus Christ. You can have one or the other, but not both.

Where's the glory in danger and death? Answer: just on the other side. Either way, playing it safe or taking up a cross, it is a gamble. Each of us has to decide on what we will bet our lives.

Calhoun Honored By National Jaycees

Edsel Calvin Calhoun Jr., a native of Oakland and a 1980 Southern High School graduate, has been selected as one of the "Outstanding Young Men of America." The award is sponsored by the Jaycees Clubs of America, and recipients are selected on the criteria of their volunteer work in their communities and membership in civic organizations, as well as achievements in their professional careers.

Calhoun, who currently resides in Shippensburg, Pa., with his wife Beverly and their six children, is the son of Edsel Calvin Calhoun Sr. and Carol Jean Calhoun of Red House. He was nominated for the award by Rev. Michael Mudge of the Crellin United Brethren in Christ Church.

While a student at Southern High, the avid long-distance runner petitioned the county to request construction of a track at the school. The track was eventually constructed after Calhoun graduated from the school. Calhoun went on to obtain a master of divinity degree from Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky., and currently serves as senior pastor at the United Brethren in Christ Church in Shippensburg, Pa.

Variety Show To Be Held At Flowery Vale

Plans are under way for the annual Variety Show at Flowery Vale in Accident. Each year, in the spring, the Accident Cultural and Historical Society joins with the Lutheran Brotherhood to offer a community showcase of talent. This year's event is scheduled for May 9, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Performers have started sending in applications to participate in this event. Dancing, singing, and dramatic presentations are already included in this program of free entertainment.

Anyone who is interested in participating in the talent show may contact Rosanne Sherwood at P.O. Box 26, Accident, MD 21520, or at 301-387-6705.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, April 21, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple in Oakland. Worthy Patron Delmar Sliger called the meeting to order and Worthy Matron Lois Evans opened with a reading titled "Give Lavishly, Live Abundantly." She greeted Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturer, Maryland; Past Matrons and Past Patrons, officers, and members of Oakland Chapter; and two Brothers holding Masonic honors, Delmar Sliger and Reaford Purbaugh.

Announcements were made of Grand Sessions, to be held at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Hagerstown, April 26-29. The next meeting is set for May 5, with practice for initiation slated for Monday, May 4, at 7 p.m.

Ms. Evans closed with a reading, "Bullets or Seeds." Refreshments were served by Eleanor Teats and Pauline Faucett.

Sarbanes Taking Applications For Service Academies

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes has announced that his office is accepting requests for applications for nomination to the four United States Service Academies for classes entering in 1999. The deadline for submitting completed applications is Friday, November 6, 1998.

"I urge young people who are interested in attending the U.S. Naval Academy, U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Air Force Academy, or the Merchant Marine Academy to obtain a nomination application packet from my office," said Senator Sarbanes. "The packet contains all the necessary information and forms. Completed applications will be carefully reviewed, and those candidates who appear to meet the minimum entrance standards established by the academies will be invited to interviews before my Academy Interview Panel."

To qualify, applicants must be U.S. citizens who are Maryland residents; be at least 17 years old, but have not passed their 23rd birthday by July 1, 1999; have the equivalent of a high school education with high academic standing in school; and demonstrate extracurricular or community activities, or both, which show leadership potential.

Interested persons should obtain the nomination application packet by writing to Senator Paul Sarbanes, Tower One, Suite 1010, 100 S. Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21201.

OHS Class Of 1938 Sets 60th Class Reunion

The Oakland High School class of 1938 will hold a 60th anniversary reunion on Saturday, June 13, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on Joni Miller Road, commencing at 6 p.m. Members of other classes are also invited to attend as well.

The admission cost for the reunion is $12.50 per person. The program includes the taking of a group photo at 6:30 p.m., which will be available for purchase later that evening. The photo will be available to those not able to attend for a price of $8 each from Stella (Leighton) Shaffer. A short business meeting and a buffet meal follows, and those in attendance may spend the remainder of the evening visiting and reminiscing with each other.

The OHS class of 1938 had 89 graduates, of which 61 are still living.A distinguishing fact about the class of 1938 is that all the men of the class eventually served in World War II, and although a few were badly wounded, there were no fatalities among class members.

The class of 1938 is also known as the "founding father" of the first senior skip day in OHS history. After final exams, rented buses took the group to the Pines in Corinth, W.Va., for a day of skating and other activities. Upon the group's return to the school, principal Foster Bittle refused to let the seniors return to class unless they were accompanied by their parents.

A few days later a group of students met with school superintendent Franklin D. Rathburn to explain their situation. He agreed with their cause, deciding that a senior skip day was in order and that all involved could return to their classrooms and graduate, much to the frustration of Principal Bittle. "Senior Day" has been a tradition ever since.

Reunion planning committee members ask that all classmates make an effort to attend, as this may be the final get-together. For further information interested persons may call Chester Mosser at 301-334-3298, or Fred Tichnell at 301-334-6003.

10 best

We're changing the very way cars are made. The all-new Dodge Intrepid is the world's first car designed, assembled and proven in a virtual world of mathematical precision. A world where thousands of designs are evaluated before final choices are made. Where computers ensure that every virtual part mates precisely with every other virtual part. Where a design is proven in virtual road tests, dynamometer tests and even crash tests before the first prototype is made.

So when that first Intrepid prototype was ready for testing and evaluation in the real world, it was already virtually perfect. Car and Driver apparently agrees. They've included Dodge Intrepid on their 1998 "10Best" list.

We crunched thirty-four trillion bytes of data to create the new Dodge Intrepid. Now, you can lease it for just $289 a month.* We're changing everything. Again.

Pamepinto Earns Achievement Honor

Michael D. Pamepinto, a junior at Southern High School and a representative on the school's student council, has been named by the U.S. Achievement Academy (USAA) as a national student council award winner.

Winners are selected upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors, and on the basis of criteria including responsibility, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, and dependability. Less than 10 percent of all high school students in the nation are recognized by the USAA.

Pamepinto, the son of Diana and Morris Pamepinto of Swanton, was nominated for the award by his Southern advisor, David Mayfield. Pamepinto will appear in the forthcoming USAA official yearbook.

Maryland Prepaid College Trust Enrollment Begun

To make college more affordable for Maryland's families, Governor Parris N. Glendening, along with the Maryland Higher Education Investment Program's board, has announced the program's 1998 enrollment period. The enrollment period runs through June 30, of this year.

The Maryland Higher Education Investment Program was created by legislation introduced by Glendening and passed by the General Assembly during its 1997 legislative session. The board, appointed in August, adopted the marketing name "Maryland Prepaid College Trust" in December.

By prepaying this year's contract prices, most families could realize significant savings when their children enroll in college 5, 10, or even 15 years from now, a spokesperson said. The program's 1998 contract prices are based on an average of today's in-state residency tuition and mandatory fees at Maryland public colleges, the child's age, projected increases in tuition and mandatory fees, and slight administrative charges.

"Today, for the first time, Maryland families will be able to take advantage of an unbeatable state program to save for their children's college education, the governor said. "It provides both means and incentive to save for college."

Contracts prices do not include room and board, other dormitory fees, the cost of books, transportation to and from school, health insurance, or class specific fees like art supplies, lab fees, or studio fees. Parking fees, fines, or other college related expenses are also not included.

The Maryland Prepaid College Trust offers three flexible tuition plans, which include the University Plan: four years' in-state tuition and mandatory fees at a Maryland public four-year college or university. One, two, three, or four years may be purchased under this plan.

The Two-Plus-Two Plan provides two years' in-state tuition and mandatory fees at a Maryland public community college and one or two years' in-state tuition and mandatory fees at a Maryland public four-year college.

The Community College Plan provides two years' in-state tuition and mandatory fees at a Maryland public community college. This plan must be purchased as a two-year plan. The options available from the program are: Lump Sum Payment - the purchaser makes one payment for the full amount of the tuition plan selected upon entering the contract; Five-year Monthly Payment - the purchaser makes 60 monthly payments over a five-year period for the full amount of the tuition plan selected for the contract; Extended Monthly Payment - the purchaser makes monthly payments for the tuition plan selected over the life of the contract. (Final payments are scheduled for August 1 following the beneficiary's projected senior year of high school).

The program is open to anyone who is concerned about the future college education of almost any young person, the governor said. The only restrictions are age of the beneficiary and residency. Contracts can be purchased for a child starting at birth. However, the beneficiary cannot have entered or be in the tenth grade during the enrollment period. Either the purchaser or the beneficiary must be a Maryland resident at the time the contract is purchased.

Parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, businesses, trusts, foundations, or other organizations can purchase contracts. The purchaser does not have to be related to the beneficiary.

The Maryland Prepaid College Trust's mission is to make college more accessible and affordable for all Maryland families while reducing the dependency of loans and debt, Glendening said. For more information, persons may contact the program at its toll-free number 1-888-4MD-GRAD or through its web site at www.prepaid.usmd.edu.

Other winners in group two were Megan Marie Swartzentruber, second place, and Amanda Nicole Proulx, third place, both in grade 5, Dennett Road Elementary.

Opera Evening Slated At FSU

The Frostburg State University Department of Music's Opera Workshop will present an evening of various scenes and a one-act opera on Friday, May 8, at 8 p.m. in the Studio Theater of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

Under the direction of Richard Kagey, the musical direction of Kathryn Sincell, and accompanied by Chris McCabe, the event will feature scenes from "Dido and Aeneas," by Purcell, "Hansel and Gretel," by Humperdinck, "Cosi fan tutte," by Mozart, "The Tales of Hoffmann," by Offenbach, "Dialogues of the Carmelites," by Poulenc, "Lakme," by Delibes and the one-act opera "A Hand of Bridge," by Barber.

Performers for the evening will include Melea J. Stoltenber, Maria Romano, Heather Chadwell, Brenda J. Pease, Debra Capron, Todd Carpenter, Jennifer L. Fisher, Deana Lynne Weiss, Jennifer B. Krueger, Tenley Newcomb, Sarah M. Jester, Emily Sanford, Aaron M. Torgerson, Jim Bowser, and Michael G. Hewitt. Percussion is by Christopher Player and Channell Williams.

This event, partially sponsored by the FSU PAC, is free and open to the public. Because of the mature theme in some scenes, parental discretion is advised.

Persons may request ADA accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Habitat Founders To Visit Fairmont; Rally Scheduled

Millard Fuller will be the commencement speaker for Alderson-Broaddus College graduation ceremonies on May 9. The evening of May 8 will find the Fullers at a public rally in Fairmont, W.Va., at 7 p.m. at Trinity Assembly of God Church.

The Fullers founded Habitat for Humanity in 1976. Fuller said that "soul-searching" led the self-made millionaires to a renewal of Christian commitment and a drastic change in their lives. They decided to sell their possessions and began to focus on a ministry to make home ownership affordable to low-income families.

As a result of their leadership, the ecumenical, Christian, housing ministry developed into a worldwide mission. In 22 years, hundreds of thousands of Habitat volunteers have built homes with families in need of adequate shelter. Habitat for Humanity ranks among the largest home builders in the United States.

The rally is being sponsored by area Habitat for Humanity affiliates and is open to the public. During the last year, affiliates in West Virginia and western Maryland built or rehabilitated over 37 houses. These units now belong to low-income families.

Habitat for Humanity International expects to complete its 70,000th house in 1998. Details of the rally in Fairmont may be obtained from local Habitat for Humanity affiliates.

Medicines Protect Against Alzheimer's

Alzheimer's disease is the most common form of dementia in many countries of the world. Three to four million Americans suffer from this condition in which there is memory loss, confusion, inability to work, language difficulties, and more serious problems such as incontinence and shaking of the body. Prescription drugs and nonprescription therapies have been used in attempts to prevent and/or minimize the effects of this devastating condition. Some success has been noted with the following therapies:

Estrogen: There is evidence that estrogen replacement therapy in postmenopausal women may lower the risk of Alzheimer's by promoting growth of certain nerve cells in the brain and nervous system.

Paclitaxel: Scientists at the University of Kansas have discovered that a drug used primarily to treat ovarian and breast cancer slowed damage to brain cells caused by amyloid fibers associated with Alzheimer's.

Ginko Extract: A study published in Journal of American Medical Association indicated that an extract of the ginko biloba plant stabilized and improved cognitive performance in persons with dementia for 6 to 12 months.

COVER STORY

Homicide hits 100 with a stunning season finale

By Glenn Teichman
©TVData Features Syndicate

Yaphet Kotto

Some cop shows have it easy. They flash their badges, knock down a few doors and show some skin. Then there is Homicide: Life on the Street, a subtler, more nuanced series that has always had its fully clothed back to the wall.

Since its debut in 1993, Homicide has thrilled critics but has never been a huge commercial success. Still, NBC has continued to renew it – for once, quality winning out over Nielsen ratings.

On Friday, May 8, the crime drama ends its sixth season with a landmark 100th episode. And forget about subtle; it's going to be a bloody celebration.

In "Fallen Heroes: Part Two," the unit closes in on the Mahoney gang, a group of drug dealers who have plagued the detectives for the past couple of years.

When the season finale concludes, the Mahoney story line will be history, and more importantly, it will be the last episode for Detectives Pembleton and Kellerman (Andre Braugher, Reed Diamond).

Yaphet Kotto, who plays shift commander Lt. Al Giardello, is understanding when it comes to his ever-changing detective roster.

"I don't hold any grudges with anyone who says, 'Well, let me go on and see what's happening on the other side of the hill,' " he says. "Sometimes I wish it was a perfect world and people would stay because of the project, because I love this project, and it's hard to move away from something you love."

While the departure of the two cast members is a sad occasion, the show must go on – and it will. Homicide already has been renewed for next season.

Since its premiere, Homicide has seen a lot of changes in casting, camera work and stories. But one thing has remained constant: quality. From the thought-provoking scripts to the intense acting, the show has set itself apart from standard TV fare.

Kotto believes viewers were initially attracted to the show by the talents of executive producers Barry Levinson (Academy Award-winning director of Rain Man) and Tom Fontana and to the unique vision they created.

"The show was just very unusual," Kotto says. "In the terms of the way it was originally shot ... the jump cuts, the editing, the darkness, the stark reality of Baltimore – all of that led to something new."

When Homicide returns in the fall, Giardello will be back. And if the show runs for another 100 episodes, Kotto says he plans to stick around.

"I made a commitment to Tom and NBC and to myself to stay with the show," he says. "I've never really looked at the show as a career opportunity. ... Maybe it's because I had a career coming into the show."

Kotto has worked with some of the best, from Robert De Niro (Midnight Run) to Sigourney Weaver (Alien), and he says the minds behind Homicide rank near the top.

"Tom, Barry, NBC," he says, "they kind of created an acting nucleus ... where you have real writing and real thinking and energetic people who are all working for a common goal. ... I've done 30 films, and I have (only) had that experience three times."

But for television viewers, Homicide is truly one of a kind.

Doris Roberts

Q: My husband and I love Everybody Loves Raymond, but we are having a hard time remembering what shows Doris Roberts has been in. She looks so familiar. –Tom and Jan in Largo, Fla.

A: Roberts, who plays meddling mom Marie Barone on Raymond, is surely one of the most familiar faces on television.

She also has had an active career in feature films and on the New York stage.

A complete list of her television credits would more than fill this column. As for her series roles, she is best known for playing Theresa Falco, Donna Pescow's mother on the 1979-80 ABC sitcom Angie, and secretary Mildred Krebs on NBC's Remington Steele from 1983-87.

She won an Emmy Award for a 1982 guest appearance on St. Elsewhere. She played a street person who declined critical surgery to take care of a mentally challenged friend, played by her real-life friend James Coco.

When asked why she hasn't written an autobiography, the 67-year-old actress said, "I wouldn't know where to start. But I do have a title: I Slept With No One (Not That I Wasn't Asked)."

Q: I recently watched a special on Steve McQueen on American Movie Classics. His daughter, Terry, looked and sounded like Teri Garr, and there was a dedication to Terry McQueen at the end of the show. Is she Teri Garr? –GeorgeAnn via e-mail.

A Terry McQueen, 38, died of respiratory failure in Los Angeles just days before Steve McQueen: King of Cool premiered on AMC. Garr is a different person.

Q: Please help me remember the name of a show about an alien who was "sentenced" to Earth and was guarded by a large eyeball. Who was in it? –Laurie Bartlett, Littleton, Maine.

A: Martin Kove played an overly aggressive alien who was sentenced to spend time on Earth to learn gentleness and compassion in Hard Time on Planet Earth. He took the name Jesse – the name that was on a uniform he used for clothing upon his arrival.

Danny Mann provided the voice of Control, Jesse's parole officer, who appeared as a giant eyeball. Hard Time ran only four months in 1989 on CBS.

Q: Years ago I remember seeing a TV movie with Tom Berenger and Suzanne Pleshette as his mother. What was it? –R. Davis via e-mail.

A: That was Flesh and Blood (1979), about a young street tough turned heavyweight boxer and the mother who loved him – a whole lot.

IN FOCUS

Figure skater Paul Wylie, the 1992 Olympic silver medalist, hosts An Evening of Championship Skating. The program, which is in its 25th season, premieres Wednesday, May 6, on PBS (check local listings).

Wylie also takes to the ice with a performance set to the song, "Go the Distance."

Other skaters include 1994 Olympic gold medalist Oksana Baiul, 1998 Olympic gold medal winner Ilia Kulik and Surya Bonaly, a 1993-95 World Champion silver medalist.

IN FOCUS

Danny Aiello reprises his role as Don Domenico Clericuzio, the powerful head of a mob family, in Mario Puzo's The Last Don II. The two-part sequel airs Sunday and Tuesday, May 3 and 5, on CBS.

Don Clericuzio passes away after his 90th birthday celebration, leaving his survivors vulnerable to rival families. His sons ask Cross De Lena (Jason Gedrick) to return to the family compound and help save the clan. Kirstie Alley and Joe Mantegna also star.

Barnes To Return To Festival

Ms. Lynne R. Barnes, a Celtic harper and resident of Cumberland, will perform harp concerts and special programs with some of her pupils during the McHenry Highland Festival Saturday, June 6, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

Barnes graduated from Mansfield University, Mansfield, Pa., with her degree in music education. She was a bassoon major, with a minor in strings and piano, and has taught elementary music and chorus in the states of Washington, Michigan, and Maryland. During her travels around the country, she has held many positions such as church organist and adult and children's choir director, and has worked with both children and adults for handbells. Barnes resides in Cumberland with her husband and teaches 40 students private lessons; most of them are piano, and the rest include harp, dulcimer, guitar, and bowed psaltry.

Her harp experiences have been many and varied throughout Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. While living in the Washington, D.C., area, she played in the Walters Art Gallery, Willard and Omni Shoreham Hotels, and the national Capitol building. Besides many weddings, receptions, dinners, and concerts, she has performed in Savannah, Nashville, Durham, and Cincinnati. Locally, she has played for the Ligonier Highland Games, Penn Alps Concert Series, Prickett's Fort State Park, Allegany Arts Council, and numerous gatherings and organizations. She recently completed her second recording, "The Lass of Lochnagarr," and will have both "The Wild Rose" and "The Lass" for sale at the festival.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $5 for anyone 12 years of age and over. Barnes will also participate in the ceilidh on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. at the McHenry House at Wisp, hosted by the Wisp Ski & Golf Resort and the Festival Committee (admission $4). A Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held Sunday, June 7, at 9:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park, with Vicar William "Chip" Lee officiating.

The festival is sponsored by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, in part by GPU Energy, Bell Atlantic Maryland, and TCI Computer Systems, and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. For more information or advance tickets, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550, 301-334-1948 or e-mail info@garrettchamber.com.

Domestic Dispute Results In Eight-Month Jail Term

A man who reportedly held a knife to a woman's throat during a domestic altercation in Accident last year received an eight-month jail sentence, with an additional year and four months suspended, in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Willard James Stemple, 38, Accident, had entered a not guilty plea to charges of second-degree assault and telephone misuse by making repeated calls. The charges stemmed from his arrest by sheriff's deputies in October for allegedly threatening the victim by holding a knife to her throat during an argument, and later reportedly calling the residence repeatedly during early-morning hours, threatening to burn it down.

In passing sentence, Judge Ralph M. Burnett also placed Stemple on two years of supervised probation and ordered him to pay $200 to the county's domestic violence center.

In other district court news, Ronald Eugene Tasker, 37, Kitzmiller, was handed a six-month sentence, with all but one month suspended, and placed on one year of supervised probation, after his conviction for second-degree assault. Tasker had entered a not guilty plea to the charge, which stemmed from his December arrest by sheriff's deputies after he allegedly pushed a woman in the chest when she asked him to leave a Kitzmiller residence because of his reportedly unruly behavior at the time.

Rodney Gene Guthrie, 36, Swanton, pleaded not guilty and was exonerated of charges of second-degree assault, malicious destruction of property, disorderly conduct, harassment, telephone misuse, and violation of an ex parte order. Guthrie's charges stemmed from complaints to the sheriff's office by Gloria Friend of Mtn. Lake Park, who claimed that he had assaulted her during the course of an argument and that he had later made harassing phone calls to her while a court order forbidding contact was in effect.

Four individuals were not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia: Christopher Robert Kight, 23, Jeremy Michael Smith, 19, and Keith J. Nightengale, 18, all of Bloomington; and Jason Wayne Winkler, 18, Westernport. The charges stemmed from their January arrest by state troopers who reportedly found them sitting in a car parked along the shoulder of Route 135 in Bloomington smoking marijuana.

DWI/DUI Hearings

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs cases were heard in district court recently.

Delmer Wayne Conrad, 57, Mt. Storm, W.Va., was convicted of DWI after entering a not guilty plea, and handed a probation before judgment (PBJ). He was fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Noel Jason Powell, 28, McHenry, pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $155, handed a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Theodore Luanderson Wakefield, 41, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Anthony Matthew McGee, 27, Accident, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $155, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

An earlier DWI sentence of James Franklin Burdock, 25, Elk Garden, W.Va., was revised to reflect a PBJ.

Mack Gary Hart, 47, Piedmont Mine, W.Va., was found in violation of DWI probation. His probation was revoked and a 30-day sentence was reimposed.

Michael Patrick Bolden, 21, Meyersdale, was not prosecuted on a DWI charge, with the stipulation that he complete 20 hours of community service.

Wisp To Host Nursing Home Admin. Event

Long-term care professionals will learn from national experts in their field when they gather for a major Nursing Home Administrators conference June 7-9 in Western Maryland. "Nursing Home Administrator Update: Administration's Role in Patient Management" will be presented by Allegany College of Maryland at the Wisp Resort in McHenry.

The three-day event, which will yield 10 contact hours of credit for nursing home administrators and 12 contact hours for all other participants, is being coordinated by AC's Institute for Health and Human Services. This AC Center for Continuing Education unit is making a major effort to plan regional-level conferences to help professionals update their knowledge and maintain certification, according to a spokesperson for the college.

Nursing Home Administrator Update, which is intended for nursing home administrators, long-term care supervisors, and nurses, will focus on several topics useful for success in the current health care climate.

These include managed-care favorable contracting, improved communication skills, productivity, and performance levels of the organization and development of an action plan for accountability.

The instructors will be Louis E. Burgess, an expert in business development, human relations, teambuilding, and customer service, and Alan E. Schabes, a lawyer whose practice focuses on health care law, including Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement, and long-term care and residential facilities.

Burgess, chief executive officer of Front Line Advantage, is a nationally recognized speaker and consultant with over 30 years of business experience, including operations, management, and finance. His background includes CEO of a large financial organization, member of boards of directors, and founder of a software development company.

Burgess is an associate of the University of Illinois' College of Education and a faculty member of the American College of Health Care Administrators.

Schabes, a member of the Cleveland law firm of Benesch, Friedlander, Coplan, and Aronoff, has extensive experience in the structuring of relationships among managed-care organizations, long-term care facilities, and primary care physicians. He has spoken nationally on a variety of health care topics to groups including the National Health Lawyers Association, the American College Health Care Administrators, and the American Association of Homes for the Aging.

The conference will begin Sunday, June 7, with a 7:30 p.m. reception. Instructional sessions will start at 8 a.m. Monday, June 8, and conclude at 12:30 p.m. the following day.

Conference planners have applied for 10 contact hours of approval to the National Association of Boards of Examiners for Nursing Home Administrators. Twelve contact hours are available through the American Nurses Association. Other participants will be granted 12 hours by AC.

Tuition, which is substantially discounted for those who register by May 15, includes two nights' lodging at the resort hotel, two days of meals, and the continuing education credits.

For more information, persons may contact Marsha Perlozzo, AC conference coordinator, at 301-784-5534.

Nurse Practitioners And Physician Assistants—Who Are These People?

by Mary Edgerly

Many of us grumble when we hear about managed care and health maintenance organizations (HMOs). We often don't understand the lingo and fear the big insurance companies are "out to get us." However, one positive aspect of our changing health system is its increased recognition of nontraditional health care providers—a trend that promises much for rural health care delivery. While most of us are aware of the role of nurse midwives, an alternative to traditional gynecology and obstetrics, many of us are still confused when we go to a "doctor's" office and are examined by someone called a nurse practitioner or physician assistant. Who trained these people? What do they know? How are they certified to practice?

In fact, nurse practitioners and physician assistants are not the invention of HMOs—they have been around for a long time. The first physician assistant program was established at Duke University Medical Center in 1965, and nurse practitioners have been licensed since 1971. Their expertise is increasingly valued as the cost of medical care soars. They, like physicians, are considered "primary care providers" by many insurance companies but are reimbursed at a lower rate. Yet their value is not only in cost savings.

Let's take the practice of Dr. Margaret Kaiser, an internist in Western Maryland, as an example. In addition to the rounds she makes at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and several area nursing homes, she has an office in Oakland where she sees patients. However, not all patients have appointments with Dr. Kaiser. Often, they see Barbara Monn, a physician assistant who is certified by both the Maryland and West Virginia boards of medicine and nationally certified in surgery and primary care. Monn has a bachelor of science degree from Alderson-Broaddus College in West Virginia and over 17 years of experience as a physician assistant in settings including surgery, neurosurgery, physical medicine and rehabilitation, internal medicine, and pediatrics.

Monn's medical skills and rapport with patients mean that she works in partnership with Dr. Kaiser rather than in a strictly hierarchical relationship. "Some patients ask to see Dr. Kaiser and some ask to see me," stated Monn. "Some alternate."

Monn is licensed to examine patients, take medical histories, diagnose and treat acute and chronic illnesses, handle emergencies, write progress notes, and order lab and other tests. With her certification in surgery, she may assist in the operating room. In the state of Maryland, she cannot prescribe medicine, but 41 states do allow PAs to prescribe.

Monn spends a lot of time with her patients to educate them about their medical conditions. "I'm from Garrett County," she said, "so a lot of them have known me for years. They feel comfortable with me." She also does rounds at the hospitals and nursing homes. Although PAs work autonomously and may be independently located at a satellite site, they must be under the supervision of a physician. "If I have a question about a patient, or a condition is beyond my expertise, I refer the patient to Dr. Kaiser," Monn said.

As a member of the Garrett Medical Group, Dr. Kaiser's practice also encompasses the newly reopened Friendsville Clinic. However, Dr. Kaiser is there only on Thursday mornings, and Dr. Karl Schwalm, the pediatric preceptor, has hours once a week. The rest of the time, patients are seen by Jackie Snelson, a certified registered nurse practitioner. "I have full confidence in Jackie's ability to offer care," said Dr. Kaiser. As for Snelson, she is thrilled to be there. "It's been a dream of mine to practice in Friendsville since the clinic closed a year ago," she said. "I love being here and serving the people in this area."

Snelson is licensed by the state of Maryland to diagnose and treat routine and chronic illnesses, order tests, and prescribe medicine. NPs in Maryland can also have hospital privileges. In Maryland as well as many other states, nurse practitioners are required to have a master's degree in nursing before taking a certification exam in a specialty such as pediatrics, family practice, or women's health. Snelson earned hers in primary care from the University of Maryland School of Nursing and did post-master's work in family practice at West Virginia University. She is dual certified by the American Nurses Credentialing Center as a family nurse practitioner and adult nurse practitioner. NPs in Maryland can have an independent practice, but they must have a collaborative arrangement with a doctor so that cases may be referred as needed.

According to an article published in the Journal of Health Politics, Policy and Law, studies show that one nurse practitioner can increase the productivity of a solo practice physician by 70 percent. As long ago as 1979, the Congressional Budget Office found that "nurse practitioners have performed as well as physicians with respect to patient outcomes, proper diagnosis, management of specified medical conditions, and frequency of patient satisfaction." Findings regarding the efficiency and professionalism of PAs are similar. The 1986 Congressional Office of Technology Assessment report stated that "PAs provide care that is equivalent in quality to the care provided by physicians." A 1994 national Gallup poll found that a majority of Americans would turn to PAs for their medical care.

Physician assistants and nurse practitioners are becoming more plentiful throughout the country, and Western Maryland is no exception. Barbara Monn believes she was the first physician assistant in the area. Now, she knows of several others, and the Western Maryland AHEC has seen an increase in the number of PAs who do clinical rotations in the area. The Nurse Practitioner Caucus, a professional group organized through the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center, currently has 27 members in the region. These NPs work at clinics, doctor's offices, health departments, and hospitals.

In rural areas, utilizing physician assistants and nurse practitioners makes a lot of sense. In Garrett County, at least six physicians' practices include one of these "physician extenders." Because of the difficulty in paying a physician's salary at the Friendsville Clinic, the Garrett Medical Group arranged for a nurse practitioner to give primary care at the site. Access to medical care can be increased in rural and low-income areas by welcoming the high quality, cost-effective, and individualized care given by physician assistants and nurse practitioners. "Because of Barbara Monn's assistance, we can serve many more patients in my office than I could alone," said Dr. Kaiser. "I don't know what I'd do without her." The reopening of the Friendsville Clinic will increase that caseload even more.

Dr. Kaiser recommends that other doctors consider hiring a PA or an NP. "Because of these competent and well-trained professionals, more patients in Garrett County are being given high quality care," she said.

Friendsville Lions Host Zone Meeting With Youth Theme

A zone meeting of area Lions clubs was held recently in Friendsville at the Old Mill Restaurant, with 33 members present. Zone chairman David Beard presided and also made a presentation on the evening's topic, "Commitment to Our Youth."

Reports on each club's activities were given by Deep Creek Lioness president Jane Frawley, Deep Creek Lions first vice president Carl Roberts, Grantsville Lions president Leonard Rauley, Kitzmiller Lions president Ron McKenney, Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions president Jay Bateson, and Friendsville Lions president Barry Frazee.

A progress report on the leader dog program was delivered by Lions vice district governor Al Ward of the Cumberland Lions Club. Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club member Lowell Leitzel won the eve-ning's 50/50 drawing.

Following the zone meeting, the regular meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club was held, with president Barry Frazee presiding. Secretary Ken Metheny read minutes from the board of directors meeting of April 21. The slate of new officers was read, voted on, and approved by all attending members. One new member was voted on and approved by all present.

The next regular meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club will be held on Thursday, May 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Old Mill Restaurant. Every club member is encouraged to attend and participate.

"Our special prayers go out to Lion Lena Lawson for a speedy recovery," a club representative stated afterwards.

Antiques

Cartoon characters have been used to promote products since the 19th century. The Palmer Cox Brownies, comic characters in books and cartoon strips, were among the most successful product "salesmen."

Palmer Cox was born in Quebec in 1840. He went to San Francisco in 1856 and soon was working as an artist, journalist and cartoonist. His first book of cartoons was published in 1874, and he moved to New York in 1875.

The first Brownies story was printed in a magazine in 1883. The Brownie books gradually became more and more popular, and their fame brought fortune to Cox. He wrote more than 20 books before his death in 1924.

The Brownies — Dude, Soldier, Policeman, Sailor, Cowboy, Scotsman, American Indian, Clown, Arab, Turk, Japanese, Eskimo, German and Dutchman — were imaginary little "people." There were no children or women, although Cox did write other stories about "Greenies," who were of both sexes.

The Brownies went fishing, hunting and horseback riding and visited Europe, the Orient, the polar regions, the World's Fair, the White House and other sites.

A Brownies beginning reader's primer was used in many schools.

In the 1930s, a maple sugar company got permission to use the Brownies in its ads. Other companies followed suit, and today collectors can find books and magazine stories plus hundreds of toys and advertising items.

The Brownies appear in ads or packaging for ice cream, carpeting, soft drinks, crackers, cookies, candy, cocoa, coffee, soap, "sick stomach" remedies, salves and painkillers.

Q. I can't believe some of the prices on old gardening books!

A. Vintage gardening books sell for as much as $500. They are collected for their information or for their illustrations.

Before buying a book, make sure all the illustrations are intact. Some people take illustrations from books and frame them.

RAIN CHECKS — I get so annoyed when a certain item is on sale at my local supermarket and it's out of stock. However, I never used to bother getting rain checks because the lines were usually too long.

Now, I take the time to do this. Usually, the next week after the sale, the shelves are fully stocked and I can get up to the maximum number of items for the sale price then. It's worth the wait! Daisy L., Syracuse, N.Y.

CUSHION STOPPER — I have a couch with cushions that were constantly sliding off.

I now use self-adhesive hook-and-loop fastening tape on each cushion and there are no more slipping cushions. Candice W., Westville, N.J.

PATRICIA CORNWELL: FACTS STRANGER THAN FICTION

If you've never heard of Patricia Cornwell — or her fictional heroine, Dr. Kay Scarpetta, Virginia's chief medical examiner — chances are, you will soon. Inspiring raves among her fans, Cornwell is one of the world's highest paid writers, collecting $24 million for her latest three-book deal. Her novels, translated into 22 languages, consistently hit number one on best-seller lists.

Her true story is as good a page turner as one of her novels, beginning in 1963 when her lawyer father walked out on the family to live with his pregnant secretary. Struggling to make ends meet for her three children, her mother had a nervous breakdown and literally left Patsy and her brothers on the doorstep of neighbors, TV evangelist Billy Graham and his wife. The Grahams placed the Daniels children with missionaries just back from Africa.

In May's Biography magazine, Cornwell likens her foster home to something out of Oliver Twist, though brother John recalls the family as strict but good-hearted. At 18, she was hospitalized for depression and anorexia. Upon recovery, she enrolled in Davidson College as an English major, ardently pursuing professor Charles Cornwell, 17 years her senior. By graduation, she was Mrs. Cornwell.

First, she worked on the Charlotte Observer's police beat. When the Cornwells moved to Richmond, she found work at the local morgue, encountering medical examiner Marcella Fiero, whom many consider the model for Scarpetta. Cornwell immersed herself in the world of forensics, divorcing Charles along the way.

Her first stabs at novels featured male detectives. When one editor advised Cornwell to write about the morgue from a female perspective, Kay Scarpetta was born. Scribner's took a gamble and won. But Cornwell's depressions, drinking and paranoia almost took over until she went into rehab. Now her main obsession is murder — the fictional kind.

Economic Value Of Trout Streams Putting New Emphasis On Science

Dr. Keith Eshleman and his colleagues at the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science's Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg are spending more time on both sides of the Eastern Continental Divide here because of renewed economic interest in the health of local streams and rivers.

A portion of the Eastern Continental Divide runs through Garrett County, and any water running down its eastern face could eventually wind up in the Chesapeake Bay. Precipitation falling on its western face may find its way into the Ohio Valley, where it will help make the Mississippi River the mightiest feeder of the Gulf of Mexico.

"We've always needed all the vital information we can gather about how the Appalachian forest interacts with its waters and how that may eventually affect the Chesapeake Bay. But renewed regional interest in what is happening to streams in Allegany and Garrett counties has brought additional attention to our studies," Eshleman said.

Eshleman, a water resources specialist with a doctorate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is studying with his colleagues a range of environmental phenomena, from the impact of acid rain in trout streams to how gypsy moth infestations raise the level of nitrogen in regional waters, and even how modern fire suppression may be changing the very makeup of Appalachian forests.

"We're studying factors that occur in and above the forest and how they affect these waters and everything around them," said Eshleman. "With renewed interest in these streams as an attraction for fishermen and eco-tourists, these bodies of water are not only carriers of materials for important downstream destinations like the bay, they are also valuable assets unto themselves and must be protected as such."

Part of Eshleman's work includes long-term sampling of regional streams to check the effects of acid rainfall. Similar studies in the past have reached conclusions about acidity from rain in regional streams from one or two samplings. But Eshleman and his colleagues are engaging in year-round sampling methods that should deliver reliable data as to how rain from the industrial midwest and the Ohio Valley affects Garrett and Allegany streams.

COLLECTING WATER SAMPLES from a tributary of Herrington Run in Garrett County recently were Dr. Keith Eshleman of Frostburg State University and Katie Meagher. The long-term sampling project is designed to record acidity levels during all types of weather and at various flood stages of local streams. See story for details.

"We're finding that water quality differs dramatically in various weather conditions," Eshleman said. "Samples taken during a dry period can show low levels of acidity and nitrogen. But that same stream on a high flow day may not even be habitable by trout because the natural mechanisms aren't there to handle a big flushing of materials."

The data being collected have taken on new importance locally because Western Maryland's streams and brooks are being heavily promoted by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) as destinations for the nation's flyfishing enthusiasts.

"We've undertaken an initiative which is already paying off in local tourism dollars to nationally market Western Maryland flyfishing for trout," said Gary Yoder of DNR. "Our fisheries are considered world-class and we need to make sure that they stay that way."

It has been through the efforts of Yoder and others that numerous groups of flyfishermen, including the prestigious Anglers Club of New York, choose this region over dozens of other spots in the country for annual expeditions. The attraction of national groups of flyfishermen is considered a sizable economic boon to the region.

"Without the work of the researchers at UMCES' Appalachian Lab, we don't have anything to have an initiative about," Yoder said. "Those scientists are in effect the ones who give us the tools to manage these waters so that the waters will sustain a healthy population of fish that will attract a healthy population of fishermen. A fishery is a wonderful thing unto itself but it is more than just that. It is part of a healthy ecosystem. A poet sees a stream as a mirror, a flyfisherman sees a stream as a window to everything else that is happening in the drainage basin."

Other things may be occurring in the drainage basins of Western Maryland which most people wouldn't notice. These include the possibility that heavy infestations of gypsy moths may do more than damage trees. Initial studies show that the heaviest infestations of the pest may add more than 50 times the normal amount of nitrogen to streams and rivers. Nitrogen is one of the key nutrients that over-fertilizes aquatic life in the bay and its watershed.

And even man's best intentions seem to be altering the face of the Appalachian forest. Eshleman's colleagues at the UMCES Appalachian Laboratory, Drs. Bob Gardner and Steve Seagle, report that modern fire suppression along with gypsy moth feedings favors the survival of the maple tree over the oak, and maple leaves may release more nitrogen when they decompose than do oak leaves.

The broad aim of Eshleman and his colleagues' work is to put together all the variables that affect water quality in a forest.

"What we're looking at is the local and regional picture to see what changes may be occurring there and how those changes are affecting things locally as well as downstream," Eshleman said.

"It's important that someone with know-how keep an eye on the whole ecosystem and operate from a real working model," said Yoder. "Any problems coming up in those forests could mean trouble in the streams. And trouble in the streams will mean trouble for an important part of our environment and economy."

Now Is the Time to Prepare Your Car for Summertime Driving

Sure, everyone knows winter is tough on vehicles, but summer is no day at the beach either. In fact, according to the experts at the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), breakdowns occur most often during the summer season. Summer's heat, dust and stop-and-go traffic can really take a toll.

To help with summertime maintenance, ASE offers the following tips. Some are easy to do; others should be performed only by a skilled auto technician.

Getting started - The best planning guide is your owner's manual. Read it, and follow the manufacturer's recommended service schedules.

Air conditioning - A marginally operating air-conditioning system will fail in hot weather. Have the system examined by a technician who is ASE-certified in air-conditioning repair and service. You'll be doing the environment a favor, too, since poorly maintained air conditioners can leak ozone-depleting chemicals.

Cooling system - The greatest cause of summer breakdowns is overheating. The tightness and condition of drive belts, clamps and hoses should be checked by a pro. The cooling system should be completely flushed and refilled about every 24 months. The level, condition and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically. (A 50-50 mix of antifreeze and water usually is recommended.) Do-it-yourselfers, wait until the engine has cooled before removing the radiator cap. Do not dump old antifreeze/coolant into streams or sewers.

Oil - Change your oil and oil filter as specified in your manual - more often (every 3,000 miles) if you make frequent short trips, plan extended travel with lots of luggage or if you tow a trailer. Many repair shops will accept your used oil; never dump it on the ground or into streams or sewers.

Engine performance - Replace other filters (air, fuel, PCV, etc.) as recommended; change more often in dusty conditions. Have engine driveability problems (hard starts, rough idling, diminished power, etc.) corrected at a good shop with modern testing equipment and ASE-certified technicians. In addition to getting better gas mileage, you'll help lessen air pollution by keeping your engine at peak performance.

Windshield wipers - A dirty windshield causes eye fatigue and can pose a safety hazard. Replace worn blades and keep plenty of windshield-washer solvent on hand to combat insects and road dust.

Tires - Tires should be rotated about every 5,000 miles. Check tire pressures once a month, but let the tires "cool down" first. Examine each tire for tread life, uneven wearing and cupping; check the sidewalls for cuts and nicks. An alignment is warranted if there's uneven tread wear or if your vehicle "pulls" on a flat, level roadway. Don't forget to check your spare and be sure the jack is in good condition. Properly maintained tires last longer, saving you money and reducing the burden at landfills.

Brakes - Brakes should be inspected as recommended in your manual, but if you notice pulsations, grabbing, noises or longer stopping distance, do it sooner. Minor brake problems should be corrected promptly.

Battery - Batteries can fail any time of year, not just in the winter. The only accurate way to detect a weak battery is with professional equipment, but most people can perform routine care: scrape corrosion from posts and cable connections, clean all surfaces, and retighten connections. If battery caps are removable, check the fluid level monthly. Wear protective eye gear and gloves.

Lights - Inspect all lights and bulbs and replace those that are burned out. Periodically clean dirt and insects from all lenses, using a damp rag to prevent scratching.

Emergencies - Ask a technician for suggestions about basic tools to carry. Be sure to include a first-aid kit, flares and a flashlight. Consider buying a car phone.

Finding a good auto technician - To find a good technician, ask friends and associates for recommendations. Check out the reputation of the repair shop with your local consumer group, and look for technicians certified by ASE in the appropriate specialties, like brakes, engine repair, and heating and air conditioning. Shops with ASE-certified technicians often post their technicians' credentials and display the ASE blue-and-white sign.

For a free brochure on summer car care, send a business-size, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ASE, Summer Brochure, Dept. MC-S98, 13505 Dulles Technology Dr., Suite 2, Herndon, Va. 20171-3421.

Pampering The Parents On Mother's Day, Father's Day

Every motorist loves the thought of slipping into a clean, shiny car, one that's spotless, inside and out. You can give your parents that luxurious feeling this Mother's Day and Father's Day with a gift-trip to the local detailer.

The word "detailing" means just what it says: giving attention to every appearance-related detail on the car. If a vehicle looks great inside and out, but the door jam is dirty, that tends to ruin the whole thing. Somebody missed a "detail."

Detailing is a good gift idea for several reasons. First, it's a one-size-fits-all present. Its unisex and multi-generational.

Second, there are different levels of detailing available in a variety of price ranges. Anything from a wash and a wax job to a wall-to-wall cleanup would rate high with most parents.

Finally, this present won't wind up in Mom and Dad's closets with the assorted ties, socks, scarves, and manicure kits from holidays past.

Karen Duncan, president of the Professional Detailers Association, suggests that the first-time customers ask what is included in the detail job they have purchased. Will the upholstery be shampooed and the dash conditioned?

"That's just good consumer sense," she says. "It keeps everybody's expectations the same and helps ensure satisfaction."

Duncan suggest that car owners clean their own cars on a regular basis.

"Even if you don't have it detailed every time, your car needs to be washed at least once a month and more often if possible. Neglect causes small problems to turn into big ones. For example, bumpers aren't going to stay black if they're not regularly conditioned."

Some detail shop customers maintain that this service has actually made them money. Shop owners say people often come to them before they go to the car lot to trade on a new vehicle. They feel that having their car washed, waxed and detailed prior to trading can have a positive effect on its price. Donna Wagner, Director of Operations for the Car Care Council agrees.

"Upgrading a vehicle's appearance greatly enhances its value. When it's time to trade, a clean, well-maintained car may be worth up to twice as much as an identical one that's been neglected," Wagner says.

You Don't Have to Be a Master Mechanic To Make Smart Decisions for Your Car

Everyone can't be a master mechanic, but being an informed consumer can help you make smarter decisions that will prolong your engine's life.

Here are some answers to the questions you have been meaning to ask your mechanic, but haven't gotten around to yet.

How often should I change my oil? There is no single correct answer. According to experts at Kendall Motor Oil, driving habits, the weather, and the age and condition of the car all are considerations when establishing a safe, optimum drain interval.

As a rule of thumb, the oil should be changed every three months or every 3,000 miles. The service interval should never exceed 5,000 miles. Many owner's manuals will allow drain intervals in excess of 5,000 miles under ideal conditions, but very few passenger cars actually are operated under conditions which the car manufacturer would consider ideal. Regular oil changes with a quality oil, like Kendall Superb\R\ Motor Oil, are inexpensive insurance for longer engine life.

Turbo-charged and diesel engines require more frequent oil changes because of the high temperatures that the turbo-charged bearings endure. Check your owner's manual to determine how often an oil change is necessary.

Why do I need to check my oil level between drains? It is imperative that you maintain a correct oil level. Low oil levels can result in increased engine wear and eventual engine failure due to lubrication starvation. Oil reduces friction, acts as a seal, helps cool, and protects against corrosion and wear, as well as helps eliminate many undesirable contaminates that can accumulate in an engine.

Kendall engineers suggest checking your oil every time you fill up your gas tank, particularly if your car is more than five years old or is leaking oil. Maintaining proper fluid levels will prolong the life of your engine.

Changing your car's oil every 3,000 miles is one of the most important things you can do to prolong its life. Regular oil changes with a quality oil, like Kendall Superb\R\ Motor Oil, are inexpensive insurance for longer engine life.

What do the letters and numbers - 5W-30, 15W-40 and 10W-30 - mean in the oil name? This coding found on the front of a motor oil bottle refers to the product's viscosity, or flow rate/thickness of oil.

The 5W or 10W indicates the oil will flow to lubricate critical engine parts at low temperatures, allowing the engine to start quickly in cold weather. The second number, 30, 40 or 50, indicates the oil's ability to keep heavily loaded engine parts separated by an oil film at high temperatures. The higher the number, the thicker the oil.

Do I need to use a different grade oil during different seasons? Probably not. Summertime temperatures and heat from your car's engine can cause motor oil to become thinner, resulting in an overheated automobile. Winter cold can cause your oil to thicken or solidify, preventing the car from starting.

For year-round use during seasonal temperature changes, Kendall engineers recommend a motor oil like Kendall's Superb 100 5W-30 or 10W-30. Multigrade motor oil can adapt to a greater range of temperatures better than single-grade motor oil can. These lubricants provide good flow at start-up, but still maintain thickness at high temperatures.

A Time Bomb Under The Hood?

Contaminated automotive air conditioner refrigerant is a hot topic; many car owners are getting their cars loaded with dangerous mixes of HCs (butane and propane) along with allegedly suitable substitutes for R-12.

Until 1994 all automotive air conditioning (A/C) systems used R-12, a chlorine-based refrigerant, whose trade name is DuPont Freon. Due to environmental concerns many nations have stopped the manufacture and use of R-12 in automotive A/C systems as of January 1, 1996.

A new refrigerant had to be developed, R-134a. We now have two different A/C systems in use, one on pre-'94 vehicles (using R-12) and the new one (using R-134a).

For the vehicle owner, there is no difference in the cooling performance, but there is an important concern about the use of these two refrigerants: they are not interchangeable and should never be mixed.

Despite these caveats, many automotive service shops are finding some strange and dangerous mixes of refrigerants. Since R-12 is no longer made and now is heavily taxed, its price has skyrocketed, leading to the introduction of several questionable substitutes. Some of these are volatile mixes of propane, butane and flammable hydrocarbons. When introduced into the A/C system under pressure they literally create a bomb under the hood.

Since refrigerant is controlled by EPA, few substitutes for R-12 have been listed as acceptable alternatives and none can be used without some flushing and modification to the system.

A retrofit conversion to allow the use of R-134a in older cars may soon be available, but several part changes may need to be done to make it work well. The cost of a retrofit may run from $300 to $500+.

The environmental impact of automotive refrigerant is serious: damage to the plant's ozone layer will take many years to reverse itself. Meanwhile, all vehicle owners can do their part by using only factory recommended refrigerant.

Council Offers Trailer Towing Tips

Trailer towing, whether boats, campers or cargo trailers, are a way of American life. So is the penalty for neglecting the tow vehicle and/or the one behind it.

Car Care Council says millions of dollars are spent each year repairing transmissions that were not prepared for towing. Simple preventive maintenance, which includes changing transmission fluid and filter, often is all that's necessary. For heavier loads, preventive maintenance may include the addition of an auxiliary cooler, necessary because of the heat build-up inside the transmission when pulling a heavy load up a long grade.

The other tip deals with trailer tires and wheel bearings. Because the driver usually cannot feel or hear the warning signs of possible failure until it's too late, the Council recommends close inspection of trailer tires and wheel bearings, especially before towing on a long trip.

Brake Fluid Is Crucial to Your Vehicle's Brakes

You fill the gas tank of your car, light truck or minivan when needed and check and change the oil regularly, but when was the last time you looked at the brake fluid?

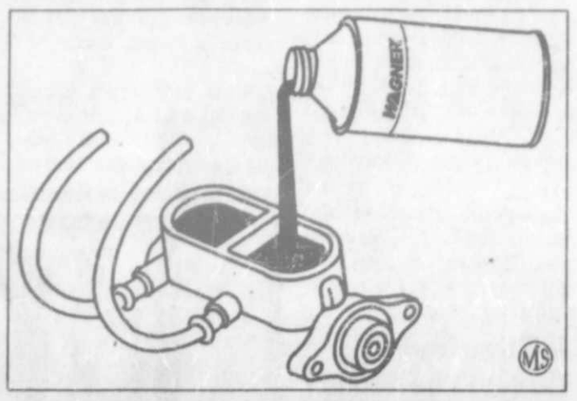
Often overlooked as one of the essential components of your vehicle's braking ability, brake fluid is nonetheless the "lifeblood" of that system. Most vehicle owners fall into the "out of sight, out of mind" mode when it comes to brake fluid, and change it, or at least inspect it, only when they notice a problem with their brakes. Ignoring the fluid until that time, however, can result in costly service bills into the hundreds or thousands of dollars.

The question then becomes, "How often should I change my brake fluid?" The MAP Uniform Inspection Guidelines, followed by service technicians throughout the U.S. and Canada, state that brake systems should be flushed and refilled with the correct brake fluid as specified in the owner's manual. However, in many cases (particularly in domestic vehicles) the manual does not refer to the maintenance of the brake fluid.

"Without a specific recommendation from the manufacturer," says Ned Lineback, senior training specialist for Wagner Brake Products, "car owners should flush and refill their vehicle's brake fluid every two years or every 24,000 miles, whichever comes first."

Lineback says DOT 3 and DOT 4 brake fluids (the most commonly used brake fluids) tend to become saturated with moisture over time. Changing the brake fluid reduces the potential of corrosion damage to the system from moisture.

"Brake fluid is formulated to absorb moisture, control rubber expansion, prevent corrosion and act as a lubricant," he explains. "And, even though the fluid absorbs moisture, it can't continue to absorb it indefinitely."



Adding fluid to the brake system is an easy task and something every car owner can do. Fill the master cylinder to the full mark as noted on the reservoir, or to within 1/4 inch of the top with clean, fresh brake fluid. (Graphic courtesy of Wagner Brake Products)

Lineback says the constant heating and cooling experienced by brakes leads to moisture condensation in the brake system. After one year, the brake fluid of a typical vehicle will contain about two percent water; this grows to about three percent after a year and a half, and seven to eight percent after several years.

"Water contamination lowers the boiling point of the fluid," he says, "and thus increases the danger of vapor pockets in the system, adversely affecting braking performance and accelerating corrosion. Cold weather turns the contaminated fluid thick and sluggish, potentially affecting system operation."

By point of contrast to domestic specifications (or lack of them as the case may be) in their manuals, European auto manufacturers recommend fluid change every two years or 24,000 to 30,000 miles; some recommend every year or 12,000 miles. Similar recommendations are appearing in owner's manuals for Asian imports as well.

A complete flush and refill is something best left to professional mechanics, but adding fluid to the brake system is an easy task and something every car owner can do. Check your owner's manual to determine which DOT grade of brake fluid your car, light truck, sport utility vehicle or minivan requires. Be aware, however, that not all brake fluids are equal; just because two different fluids have DOT 3 grading does not mean you'll get the same results. Higher quality fluids, like Wagner\R\ Premium and Premium Plus, surpass all requirements of DOT 3 specifications for minimum boiling points, lubricity and anticorrosive ability.

To add the fluid, simply remove the cover and diaphragm of the master cylinder (located in the upper right rear of the engine compartment) and add fluid to the full mark as noted on the reservoir, or to within 1/4 inch of the top.

Another thing to remember when buying brake fluid is not to overbuy. Once a can of brake fluid has been opened, its entire contents should be used as soon as possible because it immediately begins to absorb moisture, which degrades its performance. Always add only clean, fresh brake fluid to your vehicle's brake system.

Spring! Student Car Shoppers Soon Will Burst Into Bloom

For many teenagers spring signals the summer job hunt as well as preparation for high school or college, events which can bring about the need for transportation. Often this means used car shopping.

"Whether it's bought from an individual or a car lot, purchasing a used vehicle requires extra steps," explains Donna Wagner, Car Care Council's Director of Operations. "But closer scrutiny helps ensure a better investment. We offer the following guidelines."

First, know your budget and your needs. Until these are addressed every vehicle is a candidate. Because it's so easy to "fall in love" with a car, one must be objective.

If there's a trade-in, know approximately what it's worth. Most libraries and banks have a used car appraisal guide, a valuable negotiating tool. If you're not familiar with the business end of an automobile, do your shopping with someone who is.

Assuming you'll be looking at a number of possibilities, begin with a chart with which you can list each vehicle's description, pros and cons, and owner's phone number.

An evaluation could include a number of items, but don't use one that's too cumbersome. Your first look-over should include the following:

Visual Examination - Open all doors including the hood and trunk. Check for rust, weld marks, or a bent frame. Examine the muffler, tail pipe and exhaust pipe.

Under The Hood - Check fluids. Examine hoses and belts for wear.

Electrical System - Start the engine and check all accessories such as gauges, radio, wipers, etc. one at a time. Check the horn and all lights.

Trunk - Is there a spare tire? Is it usable? Does it have a working jack?

Interior - Badly worn upholstery and carpeting indicate neglect and heavy usage.

Engine - Does it idle smoothly? Is its highway performance OK? Are there any unusual noises?

Drive Train - During road test check smoothness of shifting or unusual noises.

Suspension - Push down on the car's corners, front and back. If it continues to bounce more than one and a half times the shocks may be worn. View the car from a distance, an unlevel car may indicate weak suspension.

Steering - On a straight, level stretch be sure the steering wheel pulls neither to the left nor right. When rounding a corner it should return straight ahead smoothly.

Tires - Examine tread and general condition. On the road test, listen for thumping or whining of faulty tires.

Brakes - Driving between 30-40 mph, with no one behind you, apply the brakes. If they pull in either direction, there's a problem. Apply slight pressure on the brake pedal at a speed of about 5 mph, check for an intermittent surge indicating drums or rotors that may be out of round.

Another factor is odometer mileage, says the Council. Just because a car has high mileage doesn't mean

Air Bag Debate Is On Again, Off Again

To air bag or not to air bag, that is the question.

For the past few years, the debate over whether these safety devices actually do save lives - or take them away - has many consumers confused about the facts.

As of November 1997, air bags have saved the lives of approximately 2,620 drivers and passengers, primarily in moderate and high-speed crashes, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). Conversely, air bags have caused the deaths of 87 people - mainly in low-speed crashes - most of whom were improperly seat belted or not belted at all. But, for those who were properly belted, what went wrong?

It isn't a person s size, age or gender that determines risk, but his or her position in relation to an air bag. Anyone who is close to, or on top of, an air bag as it begins to inflate can be seriously injured or killed.

To avoid injury risk, a driver of any age or size always should wear a seat belt, not only because of the fact that an air bag alone isn't enough to prevent injury or death in the event of an accident, but because driver and passengers move forward during hard braking, bringing them closer to the point where an air bag inflates.

How close is too close? The NHTSA says 10 inches or more from breastbone to the point of an air bag+s deployment is considered safe. If moving or tilting the seat back to gain more distance from the steering wheel prohibits comfortable driving of the car, consider pedal extenders.

Infants riding in rear-facing restraints in the front seat are especially at risk - the baby+s head is too close to the point of an air bag+s deployment. Rule of thumb: children always are safer buckled up in the back seat. If they do sit in front, make sure they don+t lean forward to play with anything on the dashboard.

As of January 19, 1998, consumers have been able to apply for, through the NHTSA, a manual air bag on/off switch, a device that has sparked its own controversy. Critics of the switch predict driver forgetfulness in returning the switch on or off, and some foresee unnecessary legal liability for auto manufacturers and dealers. Advocates cite a list of existing medical conditions, extreme short stature (four feet, six inches or less) and outweighed risk as reasons enough to allow individual drivers to determine for themselves what is safest.

For more information about air bags, seat belts, on/off switches or other transportation issues, call the NHTSA Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

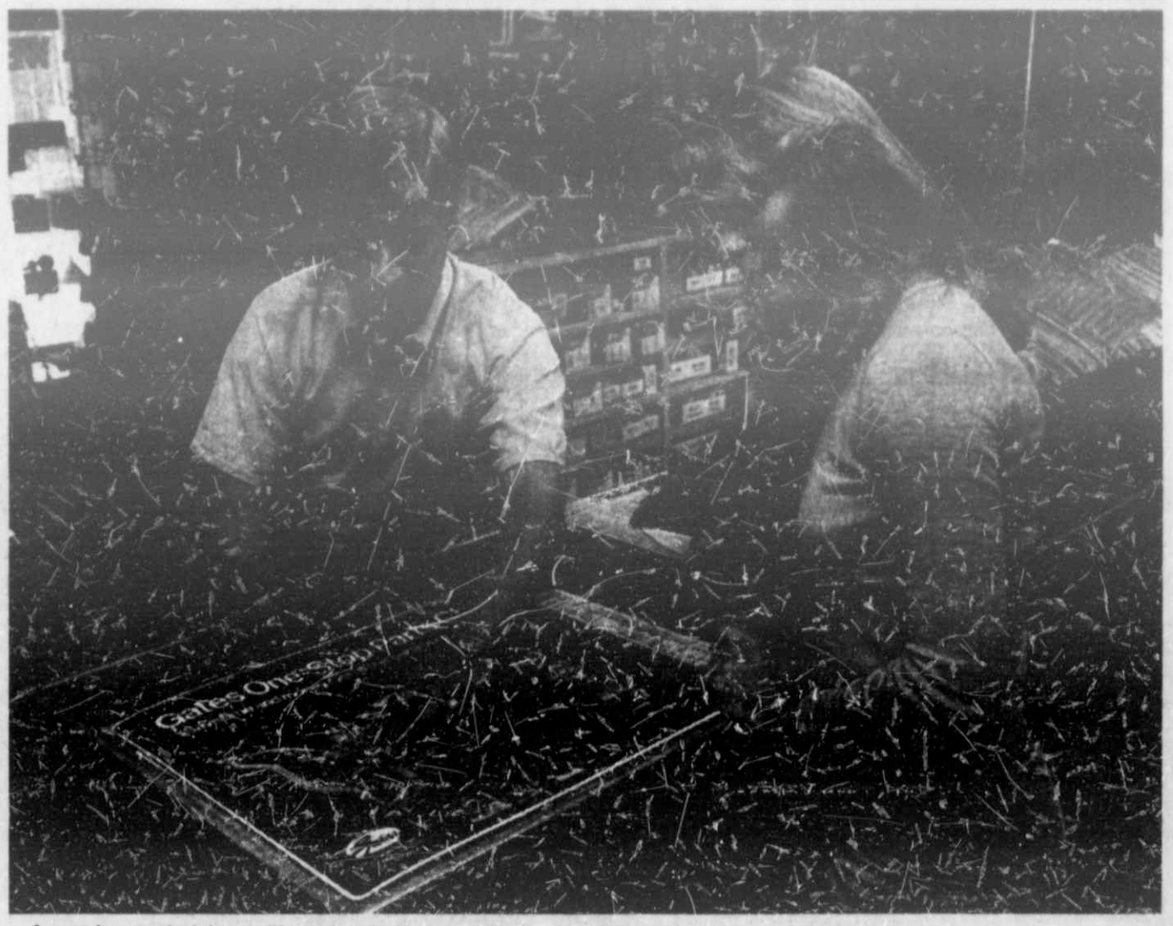
How Female Motorists Can Know More Than the 'Average Joe'



A service technician will work with you to diagnose problems in your car's cooling system and find the proper solution.

Women not only are gaining a larger influence in the purchase of cars, but they are making more decisions about the maintenance and repair of their vehicles.

According to the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), more than 65 percent of customers who take their vehicles to a repair shop for service are women, and some estimate that number at closer to 80 percent.

Periodic service is essential, especially at seasonal changes, but it need not be nerve-wracking. By understanding just a few of the car's basic operations, female motorists - and all motorists - can gain confidence in the recommendations of a competent technician, especially one who will pay close attention to one of the most basic and overlooked operations: the cooling system.

The Gates Rubber Co., a leading manufacturer of engine belts and hoses, explains some of the suggestions you are likely to hear.

In the cooling system, liquid coolant is circulated by the water pump through rubber hoses that carry excess engine heat to the radiator. The heat then is removed by outside air flowing through the radiator. The engine's thermostat controls the temperature and amount of coolant entering the radiator.

Just as the human heart pumps blood throughout the body, the water pump is the heart of the cooling system. The pump is turned by a serpentine belt riding on a pulley attached to other engine accessories.

So, what might your technician recommend?

"Change Your Belts, Ma'am?"

Engine belts are made of elastic rubber compounds and while they are extremely sturdy, even the best belts last an average of only four years. If a belt breaks, the best scenario is that the fan will quit spinning and the coolant will not cool down as efficiently. At worst, the water pump will stop, the coolant will not circulate and, eventually, the engine will overheat.

When your service technician recommends belt replacement, he or she will have checked for heat wear, cracks or other signs of failure - and you can examine the belts yourself for these signs. Do keep in mind that many belts can look new on the outside, yet be close to failure on the inside due to weakened or separated reinforcement cords. If your belts have five years or 50,000 miles of service, they're due for replacement.

"Replace Your Hoses, Ma'am?"

Hose failure can leave you stranded. Like your belts, the rubber in your vehicle's hoses weakens as it ages. Hoses tend to become softer with the passage of time and begin to change shape and crack.

Hoses that look and feel good on the outside may be deteriorating inside, so it's important to have them checked by a professional service technician. The technician also will check connections, which are the metal clamps at the ends of the hoses. Hoses and clamps are essential to the leak-proof transfer of coolant through different parts of the engine. The connections must be secure. If there's a leak, small drops of fluid on the metal parts near the hose or a whitish crust buildup will be visible. Your technician needs either to tighten the clamps or replace them if necessary.

The service tech also will examine the hoses at this time to make sure that the rubber is firm and without bulges. If it feels mushy or appears distorted, he or she will recommend immediate replacement.

If 36,000 miles or three or four years have passed since the last time the coolant hoses were changed, they should be replaced, as the incidence of hose failure rises sharply after the fourth year. Even though a hose may look good from the outside, hoses can fail just as easily from the inside where you can't see.

"Take A Look At That Thermostat, Ma'am?"

If you're getting your belts and hoses checked, you might as well have your service technician check out your vehicle's thermostat as well.

When operating properly, the thermostat keeps the coolant from entering the radiator when the engine is cold, sending it back to the engine instead. When the engine warms up, the thermostat opens to allow the coolant to flow to the radiator, reducing excess engine temperature. As a thermostat gets older, however, its valve can stick and prevent the coolant from flowing to the radiator even when the engine is hot. Eventually, overheating is the result.

Generally, an engine checkup or oil change in the spring is the best time to do a complete cooling-system inspection. Remember - it's better to call your local service center for a checkup than to call a tow truck for an emergency. And, planning your repairs and replacements now always is cheaper than waiting for them to happen in the heat of summer.

Women And Car Repair: A Whole New Attitude

Tradition holds that women defer to men when it comes to purchasing a car or dealing with car repair. However, according to a national survey conducted by the National Automotive Parts Association (NAPA), women are taking more control of their vehicle maintenance decisions.

The NAPA Auto-Attitudes Reports, based on a survey of more than 1,000 consumers nationwide, found that 61% of women took their cars in for tune-ups and 76% got their engine oil changed on a regular basis. When it comes to negotiating price and service, the NAPA report shows that women are no less successful than men. Twenty-three percent of both men and women felt strongly about their ability to negotiate with an automotive technician.

Today's American woman is just as likely to own a vehicle as a man, and almost 60% of women are in today's workforce. "With more women acting as decision-makers on maintenance, we think it's crucial for repair shops to make women feel comfortable with the service they receive," said NAPA President Robert McKenna.

Women definitely feel confident when dealing with an automotive technician. The NAPA survey found that only 16% of women felt nervous about taking their cars to the shop. But, the report also showed that nearly 60% consider car repair a "major hassle." In fact, NAPA found that women would rather fill out their tax returns or go to traffic court than have to take their cars in for repairs.

Trust

However, in addition to the inconvenience of being without a vehicle (63% of American women say they can't live without their cars), trust seems to be a major issue. Nearly half of all women surveyed by NAPA said they turn to a friend for advice on car repair before talking to a automotive technician. And the same number feel they are more likely to get good advice from a hair stylist than from an automotive technician.

"Auto repair has become more expensive and technical because today's onboard computers require extra diagnostic time," said Jim Kiple, NAPA director of technical services. "The associated costs often create some anxiety about reputable service and fair pricing."

Loyalty

As customers, women are far more loyal than men. Comparisons on the NAPA report reveal that, on average, women are about 15% more likely than men to maintain a continuous relationship with their automotive technicians, doctors, dentists, dry cleaners, and hair stylists. Auto technicians ranked fourth in loyalty on this survey, a surprising fact considering Americans spend more on their cars than on anything other than their homes.

The Consumer Price Index shows that Americans spent $30 million more on auto care than health care in 1996, and the average per-household car expenditure was $6,185, with atypical repair bill at $985. Recent automotive industry reports shows that the average age of a personal vehicle is 9.5 years, up from 6.5 years in 1980. This proves cars are being driven well beyond the manufacturers' warranties, and maintenance of these older vehicles is now an important consumer interest.

Consumer Tips

"With a women in a stronger position as automotive consumers, we want to make sure they know how to find a reputable repair shop," said McKenna. NAPA has published guidelines to help people become more educated automotive consumers.

"Rule number one: Find a shop that employs technicians certified in the repair specialty you need," McKenna said. "The next most important thing you can do to protect yourself is to get a service estimate in writing, up front, including parts, labor, expected time of delivery, and all costs."

The NAPA Auto Care Center program is the largest network of independently owned repair facilities in the world and has over 8,000 members nationwide. In order to qualify for membership, business owners must agree to follow a strict code of ethics, employ ASE-certified technicians for any repair services they provide, and guarantee parts and labor through the "NAPA Peace of Mind Warranty" program.

Are You Car Care Savy? Take This Quiz To Find Out

Want to show the car buffs in your neighborhood how much you know about cars? You can bone up with this true-false quiz from the Car Care Council. Six correct is passing, 8 is great and 10 classifies you as an expert.

1. You've always used regular (87 octane) gas in your 3 year old car, but now you can hear it "ping" when you accelerate. It's time to switch to a higher grade of gas.
True _ False _

2. Tires should be inflated to the maximum pressure stated on the sidewall.
True _ False _

3. Your air conditioner keeps blowing fuses. Until a mechanic can check it out, you can install one of a higher rating so long as it does not exceed 35 amps.
True _ False _

4. Your engine has overheated due to a radiator leak. This condition also could damage the transmission.
True _ False _

5. A tire's life may be cut in half when it's out of balance. At 60 mph one ounce out of balance has the effect of a six pound weight on the rim of the wheel.
True _ False _

6. Oil is leaking from one shock absorber. This fluid can be "topped off" by your mechanic until he is able to replace the entire unit.
True _ False _

7. For safe driving on a rainy night, clear vision depends upon just three factors: all lights working, a clean windshield and good windshield wipers.
True _ False _

8. The oxygen sensor is part of your car's air conditioning system.
True _ False _

9. Blue smoke from your car's tailpipe is a sign you may have worn piston rings or valves.
True _ False _

10. Red fluid leaking under your car may be from your transmission.
True _ False _

ANSWERS TO THE CAR CARE QUIZ

1. False. Upgrading fuel generally is an expensive and unsatisfactory remedy for a "pinging" engine. A better investment would be a diagnostic checkup by an experienced technician.

2. False. For long tire life and best gas mileage keep tires inflated as recommended on a sticker whose location will be specified in the owners manual, not on the sidewall of the tire.

3. False. The purpose of a fuse or circuit breaker is to prevent damaging equipment or starting a fire by overloading the circuit. Be sure to correct the cause of the problem before installing a new fuse and use a fuse of the specified amperage rating.

4. True. The automatic transmission is cooled by the engine cooling system. When it overheats, so does the transmission.

5. False. Centrifugal force causes one ounce of weight to become 12 pounds at 60 mph. That not only damages the tire tread, it also accelerates wear of steering and suspension parts.

6. False. Because a shock absorber or strut is sealed, it cannot be refilled. It must be replaced and, for best ride control, shocks should be replaced in pairs.

7. False. Good eyesight is your FIRST requirement for safe driving under any conditions.

8. False. The oxygen sensor is part of the emission control system.

9. True. The blue exhaust smoke comes from burning oil that works past worn piston rings and/or valve guides into the engine. Black smoke is a sign of poor combustion.

10. True. A defective seal is the most common cause of transmission fluid.

How to jump start your car safely

AAA Mid-Atlantic warns that jump-starting a car with a weak battery can be dangerous if proper procedures are not followed. ■ Before attaching booster cables, make sure both cars are in "park" and not touching each other. ■ Turn off the ignitions and all electrical accessories. ■ If the "dead" battery has water cell caps, remove them and place a damp cloth over the openings.

- STEP 1. Connect one end of the positive cable to the positive terminal of the good battery.
- STEP 2. Attach the other end of the positive cable to the positive terminal of the disabled battery.
- STEP 3. Connect one end of the negative cable to the negative terminal of the good battery.
- STEP 4. Attach the other end of the negative cable to a good ground, such as a bolt on the engine or other unpainted, metal surface of the disabled car, as far from the battery as possible.
- START the healthy car's engine and let it run for several minutes before starting the disabled car. To remove the cables, reverse the order above.

it shouldn't be considered. It may be in better condition than one with fewer miles. Owner's manuals emphasize that low mileage cars which have been victims of "stop and go driving" (several trips in one day of 10 miles or less) may fall into the "severe service" category. Not only is this type of driving tough on a vehicle, it requires special servicing the owner may have overlooked.

Ask for service records. Many private owners proudly display their maintenance history books as a selling point. A new car dealer may provide this information if the vehicle originally was purchased and serviced there.

Don't Show 'Em the Money Yet...

When you've narrowed the field and made your final choice, invest in a comprehensive inspection by a qualified technician. If everything is A-OK, you have peace of mind. If there's a problem and you still want the vehicle, you may be able to negotiate repairs and/or a discounted price.

"Finally," says Wagner, "involve your young driver in the entire procedure. Teenagers, especially girls, tend to get left out. They may be included in the looking stage, but when it comes to evaluating the strengths and weaknesses, having the car inspected, studying the warranty, arranging for credit, buying insurance, and signing all the papers, the parents tend to take over."

For helpful tips on vehicle checks send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Department SPE98-XI, 42 Park Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

New Automotive Web Site Geared To Motorists' Needs

Car buffs looking for information ranging from troubleshooting tips to parts availability should click on a new web site at www.bwdautomotive.com.

BWD Automotive Corporation, a vehicle component manufacturer located in Franklin Park, Illinois, takes pride in their innovative, user-friendly service. Loaded with information, this site already has garnered acclaim from auto as well as a national computer magazine featuring top web sites.

"Unlike many manufacturers, we have geared our Internet presence toward the general public as well as technicians and retailers" explains Tim Plank, BWD Brand Manager. "Consumers from around the world already are enjoying our selections on the web."

The most popular area is the Parts Gallery, a collection of the company's products and part numbers, what they fit, and where to find them. This in invaluable information for the do-it-yourselfer as well as the seasoned technician. The company manufactures engine management components for ignition, emission controls, carburetor kits, fuel injection and sensor/wire/cable components. They also produce new and remanufactured clutches, new clutch kits, new water pumps, motor and transmission mounts.

In addition, BWD's Borg-Warner brand wire sets and new clutch components now carry officially licensed NASCAR identification. NASCAR is the fastest growing spectator sport in the world. More on this subject is available in the What is New index. This area's features include recent catalogs, information on the latest components/equipment, and press releases. The BWD site also links its sister companies' web pages such as Beck/Arnley, Raybestos, and Mr. Gasket.

A choice consumer section is Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ), a hot key covering all types of automotive queries. From rough starting engines to dirty air filters, no one is more qualified to answer consumers' car questions than the engineers at BWD.

"FAQ material comes from the general public via the site's Contact Us section. Because this file is changed periodically, there's always something new to see and learn," added Plank.

In Troubleshooting and Maintenance, consumers will benefit from the subsection Things to Know. In this file, users can view a variety of educational material including explanations of what an 02 sensor does and tips on finding a good repair facility.

Clicking on Legislative News brings an up-to-date report on the Environmental Protection Agency as it affects the automotive business.

Surfers seeking a little automotive fun should click on Contest then Auto Quiz. Follow the instructions and answer the five questions on automotive parts and accessories. Information for the test is in different locations throughout the web site. Grand prize winners receive a set of golf clubs and bag.

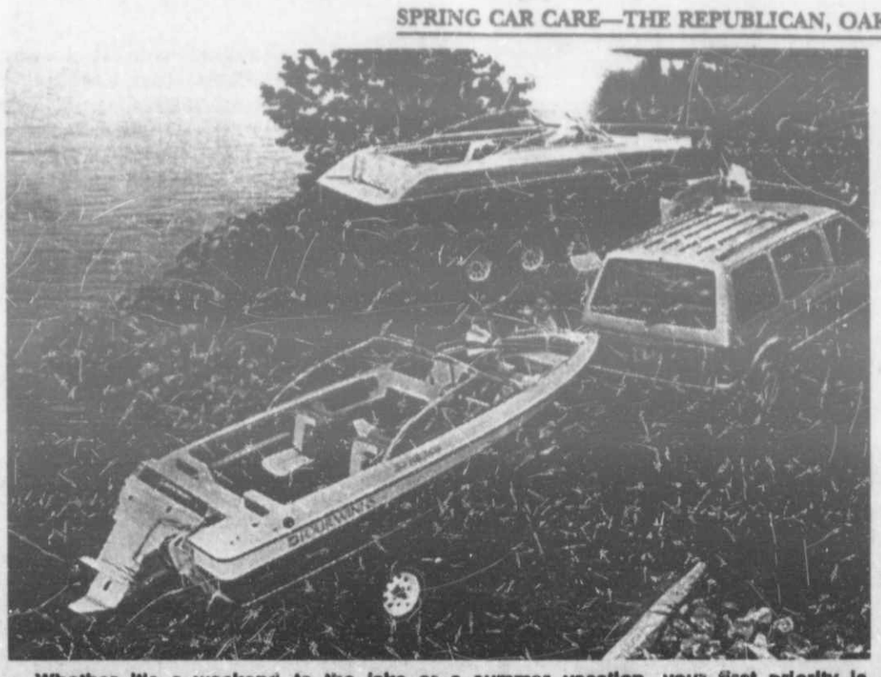
Finally, there are several new pages in the works, including the Technician Locator, Human Resources and the BWD Store, according to Plank.

For people needing to locate an auto repair shop, the Technician Locator section will provide a national directory. Simply enter the area's zip code, address or state and follow the instructions.

The Human Resources area will be an ultra-efficient means of employment research. Updated with company positions available worldwide, this area provides job descriptions and application instructions.

"This section will be a wonderful resource for us," explained Plank. "Instead of advertising a position in a limited market, we'll be able to advertise it globally via our web page. it's a win-win situation for both the company and those seeking employment." The BWD Store features the company's sports apparel, golf equipment and other popular items.

The company invites web browsers to visit them at www.bwdautomotive.com. For those new to the web, there is an informative brochure: Browse the BWD Web Site in 12 Easy Steps. Just mail a stamped, self-addressed envelope to BWD Automotive, Attn: Promotion Coordinator, 11045 Gage Avenue, Franklin Park, IL 60131.



Whether it's a weekend to the lake or a summer vacation, your first priority is getting there. Breakdowns are unpleasant whenever they occur, but especially when you are away from home. Be sure to check fluid levels before you hit the road, including brake fluid, transmission fluid, window-washer fluid, battery water, radiator fluid and motor oil. Moving parts produce friction, and friction produces heat, wear and stress. Eliminating friction with synthetic motor oils, lubes and greases helps gears, bearings and critical engine parts run more smoothly and last longer. For a free catalog detailing the benefits of synthetic lubricants in a wide range of applications, call AMSOIL Inc. at 1-800-777-8491.

You May Want To Keep The Old Car

If car repair bills have infected you with new car fever, "sticker shock therapy" could be a quick cure. Car Care Council suggests that the down payment on a new (or newer) car may more than cover the cost of fixing up the old one. You'll have acquired a car you know from its previous owner (that's you), someone you can trust.

When considering this option, be objective. Visit with a mechanic who can do a comprehensive inspection of the old car. He can compile a list of its mechanical needs and prices to put it back in good shape. Then, sharpening your pencil, figure how much you'll save each month by giving the car a new lease on life.

With proper repair and maintenance the car can be serviceable for another few years, during which time you can be saving toward its replacement. When you're ready to make a deal you'll have a better car to trade.

For more information on this subject, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Car Care Council, Department SS7-XI, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

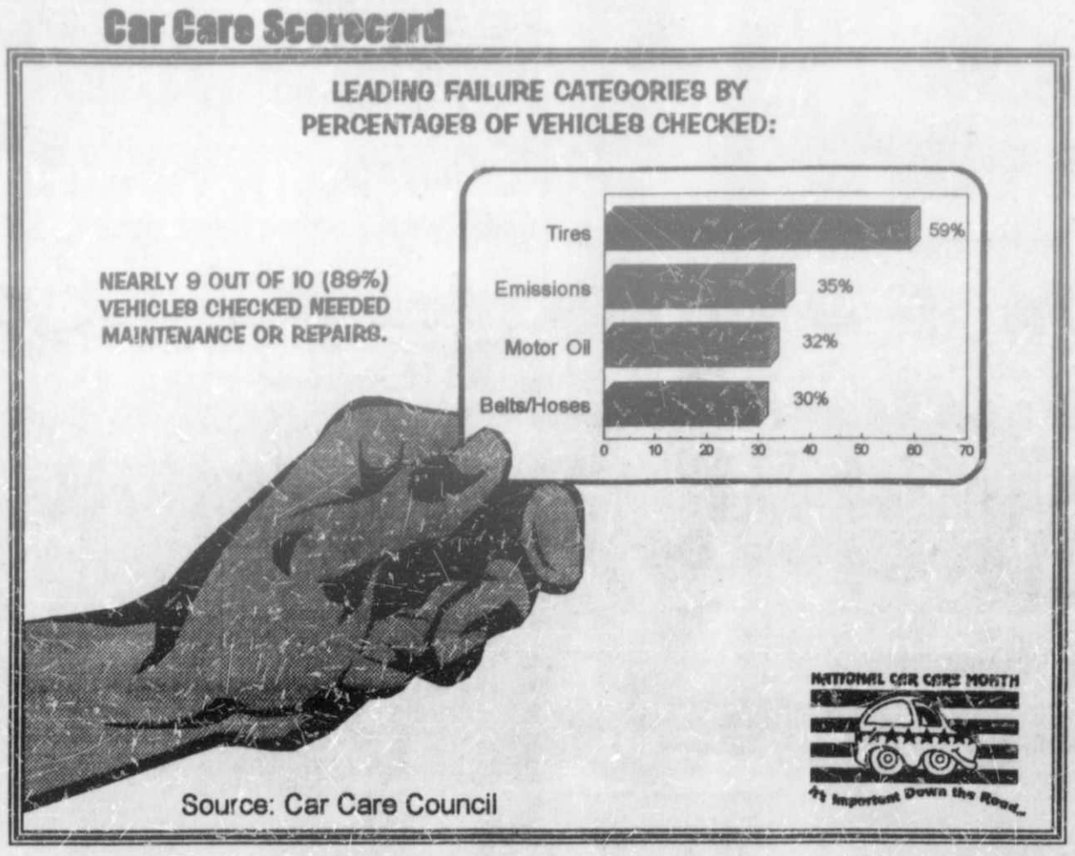
VALVOLINE Motor Oil $1.25 qt.

Car Care Scorecard



Unlike Wine, Motor Oil Does Not Improve With Age

Q: I found a few old cans of motor oil in the garage during spring cleaning. Is it safe to put them in my car? Even though motor oil has a fairly long shelf life, you want to be careful about some of those old cans. The worst case scenario is that they may contain sedimentation due to condensation inside the container. In addition, it is likely that the oil does not satisfy current American Petroleum Institute (API) performance expectations. Today's smaller engines with tighter tolerances have led the API to upgrade the performance standards for motor oil. Motor oil for cars today currently carry an "SJ" rating. For late model, mechanically sound engines, use a high-quality synthetic motor oil and properly dispose of those old cans at either a recycling center or any of your local oil change facilities.

Q: What does motor oil do? While motor oils serve a variety of functions, they primarily are necessary to lubricate and cool the engine. When the engine is at rest, the motor oil sits in the bottom of the engine block in what is called the oil pan. Upon start-up, an oil pump feeds oil from the pan to the oil distribution system, a network of passages, tubes, grooves and holes leading to the engine bearing and other surfaces that need pressurized oil for lubrication. Other parts, like the overhead valve system, receive a carefully controlled quantity of non-pressurized oil through splash or spray. In addition to lubricating and cooling engine parts, motor oil must allow easy starting, protect the engine from corrosion and oxidation, keep the engine clean, form a tight seal between piston rings and cylinder walls, and help the engine use fuel efficiently.

Q: What is the difference between conventional and synthetic motor oil? Conventional lubricants are refined from crude oil, which has thousands of types of molecules. Refining is a process of physically separating the impurities from the oil and further separating the light and heavy components. Because refining separates products by weight, it groups molecules of similar weight and dissimilar structure. The result is a lubricant with a wide assortment of molecules. Some of the substances in crude oil are detrimental to lubrication. Paraffins, for example, are a common conventional oil contaminant that causes motor oil to thicken in cold temperatures.

Synthetic motor oils are made from pure chemicals, not refined crude. Their components are chemically reacted to produce finished products with pre-designed performance characteristics. Because of their molecular uniformity, they excel in reducing friction, which improves fuel efficiency, controls heat and reduces wear. This molecular uniformity also helps synthetics resist thinning in hot temperatures and thickening in cold.

Q: My friend says synthetic oils are better for the environment. I say that improperly disposed synthetic oils aren't really any better. Who's right? You both are right. The environmental benefits of synthetic lubricants are most apparent when you consider their extended drain capabilities. Synthetic compressor oils last eight times longer than their petroleum counterparts. This means eight times less waste oil to dispose of. Synthetic motor oils for cars and light trucks last two to 10 times longer than conventional petroleum, depending on the product and the manufacturer. Fewer oil changes means less waste oil, as well as less container-waste disposal. If oil-change intervals were extended universally, there would be less making its way into our drinking water.

It should be noted that synthetic motor oils still require the same disposal care as traditional petroleum motor oils.

Q: What does the slogan "Change your thinking, not your oil" mean? Changing oil is a hassle. If you were to use a longer-life synthetic motor oil, you could lengthen oil-change intervals. One of the biggest impediments to embracing extended drain intervals is fear. AMSOIL Inc. of Superior, Wis., has accumulated more than 25 years of oil analysis data documenting the long-life protection afforded by high-quality synthetic motor oils.

Q: I know synthetic motor oil is better in winter cold, but what about benefits for people who live in Arizona or South Texas? Do synthetics have any hot weather advantages? Oil volatility is the measure of how susceptible an oil is to boil-off under high heat conditions. Most petroleum oils experience significant boil-off during high temperature engine operation and are expelled into the environment.

The thicker oil left behind contributes to damaging deposits, sticky piston rings and oil blow-by, all contributing to reduced engine life and increased air pollution. Synthetic oils are far more impervious to this kind of degradation. The lower volatility of synthetics is another reason why they are better for the environment than conventional products.

Q: Are there any advantages to conventional petroleum oils? Petroleum-based motor oils do have an initial price advantage over synthetics. In advancing the cost issue, it helps to keep in mind that even the most expensive motor oil is cheaper than engine repairs due to inadequate metal-to-metal protection or general lubricant failure. Synthetics have been proven to give superior year-round protection and performance.

In fact, when motorists evaluate their lubricant costs on a per-year or per-mile basis, rather than on the basis of cost per oil change, synthetic motor oils with extended drain intervals actually will cost less than conventional motor oils.

Q: Where can I get more information about synthetic motor oil? The first API-certified synthetic motor oil in the world was introduced by AMSOIL in 1972. For a free product catalog with comprehensive information on synthetics, call the company at 1-800-777-8491.

"Good Question . . ."

Co-owner of Dan R's Automotive Sales & Service, ASE Certified Auto Parts Specialist and President of the Toledo, OH Chapter of ASA, Cathy is now an editorial contributor to Car Care Council whose purpose is to educate motorists about vehicle maintenance and repair.

by Cathy Reichow

by Cathy Reichow

Q. I don't put many miles on my vehicle, how often should I change my oil?

A. In our shop, we like to see our customers every 3 months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first. An oil change is a very inexpensive protector considering the cost of a replacement engine. This also gets a technician under the hood of your vehicle to look for any future needs or problems that may be developing. You can refer to your owner's manual for the recommended maintenance schedule. Look for both "Severe Service" and "Normal Service" intervals and find what best describes your driving habits. "Severe Service" includes: driving on many short trips, driving in hot weather in stop and go traffic, driving at high speeds in hot weather, and towing a trailer. If you don't drive under any of these conditions, you could use the 6-month or 3,000 mile schedule, whichever comes first. Remember, with proper maintenance, most vehicles will go 100,000 miles or more!

Q. I purchased tires for my 1995 Toyota Camry less than 30,000 miles ago and they are wearing on the edges. Is this a defect in the tire or is something wrong with my car?

A. Uneven tire wear can be caused by a couple of things. Worn suspension and steering components, improper tire inflation or wheel misalignment are some possibilities. The most common cause is worn steering or loose suspension components. When you have worn parts this can also change the vehicle's alignment. Both tire over-inflation and under-inflation can cause uneven wear. For a tire to roll down the road with the least resistance, it must be aligned to the road, parallel to the other three wheels, straight with the chassis and accurately inflated. When you have a front wheel drive vehicle, both the front and rear wheel alignment are adjustable. My suggestion is to take your vehicle to your technician and have your front steering and suspension components checked and then talk to your technician for wheel alignment. An educated technician should be able to tell by the way your tires are wearing what is causing the tire wearing condition.

Q. My windshield has been chipped from a rock that flew off a passing gravel truck. My insurance man says they'll repair it but not replace the windshield. I wonder if a repair is satisfactory or should I insist on a new windshield?

A. Most insurance companies will repair rather than replace when the damage is no bigger than a quarter and not in the line of vision. Benefits of this new repair technology include savings in time and expense. A repair costs about $50 vs. an average $250 for windshield replacement. And there's a lot to be said for preserving the original factory seal around the glass.

Read. Then Recycle.

Don't Take Your Brakes For Granted

Don't take your brakes for granted, reminds the Car Care Council. Consider this: if an emergency were to arise on the Interstate when you're driving 65 miles an hour, chances are you'd travel 70 feet before your foot hit the brake pedal. Then you'd go another 250 feet before stopping, even on a dry road with good tires and brakes. Reason enough, says the Council for a periodic brake inspection by a qualified technician. That's what peace of mind is all about.

For a brochure titled "How To Keep Your Brakes From Letting You Down" send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. SPE98-B, 42 Park Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

THE SUN AND ELEMENTS cause vinyl, rubber and plastic to become dull, harden and crack. Creating a penetrating protective barrier that repels the elements, Armor All® Protectant keeps the surface soft and looking like new.

It's Time to 'Spring Clean' Your Car

Easy Steps to Make It Look Like New

Your car needs spring cleaning, just like your house. Harsh winter weather and road debris are hard on a car, both inside and out. Leaving dirt and grime caked on for any period of time can damage exterior surfaces and ultimately affect the value of your car. So, now that the weather is better and the days are longer, it's time to take some simple steps to make your car look good for summer.

"Once winter is over, it's important to get rid of any corrosion that may have developed," says David DeLeeuw, a scientist for Armor All, the leading producer of car care appearance products. "You need to spend the time to clean the car inside and out so that elements like dirt, grime and salt will not hurt the surfaces. The time you spend now can pay big dividends later in terms of helping your car keep its value from diminishing."

GETTING THE INTERIOR BACK IN SHAPE

Not only do rain, snow and sleet, along with sand and salt, damage a car's exterior surfaces, its interior surfaces are at risk as well. The best way to begin spring cleaning is to thoroughly clean the interior of the car, beginning with the floor. After a few months of winter weather, there is sure to be plenty of grime ground into the floor mats and interior carpeting, so remove all mats and then vacuum the interior, including under the seats. Use Armor All\R\ Multi-Purpose Cleaner, which is specially formulated to safely remove tough ground-in grime on car carpets.

The cleaner can be sprayed directly on plastic floor mats and wiped clean with a damp sponge. On carpeted or fabric surfaces, test it first on an inconspicuous area to check for fading. It also works well on other interior surfaces like the dashboard, door panels and seats.

Applying a protectant is the next step in making a car's interior surface look like new. Armor All\R\ Protectant is a state-of-the-art formulation that builds a tough barrier between a car's vinyl or plastic surfaces and Mother Nature, restoring luster and protecting them as the weather heats up.

During the summer, the interior of a car can reach 240 F. Heat and ultraviolet (UV) light can, over time, cause serious damage to the dashboard and other vinyl and plastic surfaces. To keep your interior looking like new, start applying this protectant now and continue to do so every couple of weeks during the summer. In the long run, you will save money - it can cost up to $1,000 to replace a damaged dashboard.

EXTERIOR MAINTENANCE

After months of abuse, it is important to get a car's exterior surfaces back in tip-top shape. Start by checking the tires for wear, then look under the wheel wells for road debris, which can be sprayed out with a hose. To restore that new look to tires, use Armor All\R\ Tire Foam to clean, shine and protect them in one easy step. Simply spray on and leave to dry. For extra gloss, spray on Armor All\R\ Extreme Tire Shine, which gives tires a wet, shiny look.

Also, it's important to remember that the painted surfaces of a car need special attention and regular maintenance, which will pay off in the long run. It can cost up to $3,000 to repaint a late model car. A thorough wash and wax will bring life back to paint that has been dulled by the elements. Start by washing with Armor All\R\ Car Wash, which is specially formulated to handle road grime. Then, for extra shine and protection, use Armor All\R\ Armor Plate Paint Protectant. Bumper-to-bumper coverage will only take 15 minutes with this convenient spray.

Finally, make it a practice to inspect the windshield wipers. Replace them if there is any sign of wear or deterioration. You're going to be counting on them in the upcoming months and it's good insurance to have them ready to deal with heavy spring rains.

New Invention Cuts Car-Waxing Time in Half

You Probably Use a Painstakingly Slow and Tiring Method!

Car waxing hasn't changed in years. People use sponges, small pieces of cloth or little pads to vigorously rub wax onto their cars. All that strenuous work is hard on your arm and fingertips. That's precisely the problem. Your five fingertips total only about 1 square inch of space. Any pressure you apply, regardless of the size of the pad or sponge, covers a very tiny area. That's why it takes so long to wax your car.

Recently, a company making car wax invented a lightweight, ergonomic tool that uniformly waxes more than six times the area of present methods. The company claims the tool also reduces fatigue. It's called the Kolinsky Speed Waxer. A joystick grip fits into a washable, replaceable, 4-inch-diameter, soft foam pad. It can be used with either hand. Spreading the force over a larger surface has proven to reduce the swirls and finger pressure marks common with regular hand waxing. A more even shine is possible.

Considering it so distinctive, Popular Mechanics awarded the tool its prestigious Design & Engineering Award. Motor Trend already has extolled its virtues twice. Both NBC-TV news and the TV show "Motor Week" highlighted its unique features.

Can't find the Kolinsky Speed Waxer in your local auto store? You can get a kit containing the special grip and two replacement pads for $9.95, plus $3.95 shipping and handling. You'll even receive a free how-to guide containing many car-care tips and two sample tubes of Malm's Carnauba wax and two tubes of polishing cleaner. The kit is claimed to be safe for all paints, including clear coats. The company offers a 30-day money-back guarantee.

Write to Malm Chem. Corp., Box 300, Dept. ME-498, Pound Ridge, NY 10576. Or, visit the company's Web site at http://www.malms.com.

With traditional waxing methods, you only cover a tiny area of the car at a time. That's why it takes so long to wax your car. A new lightweight tool, the Kolinsky Speed Waxer, solves this problem, cutting waxing time in half.

A/C System Retrofitting Offers Best Performance, Best Value

Vehicle air conditioning systems have gone through a lot of changes in the past few years. Many of these changes have been brought on by the fact that R-12, the refrigerant used to keep generations of motorists from roasting in rush hour traffic, is being replaced by a more environmentally benign refrigerant called R-134a.

Carmakers around the world have been using R-134a exclusively in new vehicle air conditioning systems for several years. Leading part suppliers are now advising that failed R-12 systems be converted to use R-134a—when it makes economic sense to do so.

"The question most people ask is: 'Will I be able to keep my vehicle's air conditioner operating at peak cooling performance, at a reasonable price?' The answer is definitely YES!" said Don Casey, Director of Marketing for Everco Temperature Control, a leading supplier to the auto service industry. "Practically every R-12 equipped car or truck can be economically retrofitted to achieve good cooling efficiency with R-134a refrigerant."

According to Casey, if your vehicle is more than five years old and the air conditioner is blowing hot instead of cold, it's time to talk to an ASE certified A/C service professional about your repair options.

"A/C system retrofitting has become a viable option for most people because R-12 costs have skyrocketed in the last year," said Bill Wallace, A/C product manager for Murray Temp Control. "Because of the EPA imposed phaseout, R-12 is now 4 to 5 times as expensive as R-134a refrigerant in many areas, which makes A/C system retrofitting a truly cost-effective option."

Everco, Murray, and other leading replacement A/C parts suppliers have expanded their product lines and enhanced technician training efforts over the past few years to make sure independent repair shops and service garages have the parts and technical support needed to repair or convert R-12 vehicles to use R-134a.

"Either way, there's little room for interpretation," said Everco's Casey. "Treat your air conditioner like any other hi-tech vehicle system and have it professionally serviced," he said. Avoid so-called "drop-in" refrigerants. Unproven refrigerant blends may be dangerous and can cause costly damage to your car's A/C system. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is!

"The days of topping off an A/C system to make it past the hot summer months are over," said Murray Temp's Wallace.

Mini Health Fairs To Mark Seniors' Month

Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging has scheduled three mini health fairs to be held at each of its senior centers during May, which is Older Americans' Month. Each fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. as follows: May 6 at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland; May 7 at Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident; May 14 at Grantsville Senior Center, Grantsville.

The mini fairs are designed to promote preventative health activities and wellness, said Barbara Hornyak of the Agency on Aging. She pointed out that this year's theme for Older Americans' Month is "Living Longer, Growing Stronger In America."

The health fairs resulted from a partnership with the Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach Program, the Vision Group, Rehab Solutions (formerly Allegany Hearing and Speech), and Garrett County Lighthouse Inc.

Screenings offered at the health fairs include hearing, vision, blood pressure, and identifying stress in one's life. Participants will receive a complimentary cookbook, Cooking for One, and a packet containing information on health issues, nutrition, and other topics.

One need not be affiliated with a senior center to attend the health fairs. The Area Agency on Aging encourages anyone age 60 and older to attend the health fair of his or her choice.

For further information, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or toll free at 888-877-8403.

Fike Awarded Honors, Degree

Among the 184 graduates of Auburn University Montgomery during recent commencement exercises was a Garrett County student. Douglas E. Fike, Oakland, was awarded a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He was also named to the dean's list for earning a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale with a minimum of 12 hours of course work.

Perfect Grades Deletes Student From Honor List

The name of a student who earned a spot on the distinguished honor roll for the third grading term at Southern High School was omitted from the list submitted for publication last week, and the reason for the omission was not that there was any question about her academic achievement. The reason the name of Jennifer Sanders, a sophomore, was left off the list is because the school computer that singles out honor students is capable of reading grade percentages up to 99.99 percent. Miss Sanders, however, had a perfect 100 percent in each of her four classes.

"This has never happened before, at least as long as we have been using a computer to identify the honor students," stated Betty Liller, school office manager. "We certainly want to make sure that Jennifer's name is included on the list of distinguished honor students."

Eastern VFD Sets Spaghetti Dinner

The Eastern Garrett VFD will hold an "all you can eat" spaghetti dinner at the fire hall on May 9 from 4 to 8 p.m.

The menu will include tossed salad, spaghetti, bread, coffee and ice tea. The cost of the dinner is $5 for adults, $2.50 for children ages 7-12, and for children 6 and under free.

The ladies' auxiliary will hold a bake sale during the dinner.

GED Test To Be Held At GCC This Saturday

General Equivalency Diploma (GED) test applicants are reminded that the GED test will be held at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College (GCC) on Saturday, May 2, in Rooms 154 and 155, beginning promptly at 8 a.m. Persons taking the test will need to bring an ink pen, two #2 lead pencils, proper identification, and a watch. It will also be necessary to bring a packed lunch. Further information may be obtained by calling Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 with questions or concerns.

Moe Addresses GGBA Members

David Moe, co-president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker Tuesday at the monthly breakfast meeting of the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA).

Moe praised the work that the group has accomplished. "I admire the business association, and what has been done in the municipality," he said.

He also noted the apparent success of the tourist related trades in Grantsville. "Hospitality and tourism are thriving here," he commented. He noted the current expansion of the Penn Alps Restaurant, where the meeting was held, as evidence of that success. He spoke also of the bed and breakfast establishments in the town and the large community park as drawing cards for the area.

Speaking of growth in Garrett County, Moe stated that he sees Grantsville as the part of the county that is most likely to grow. "The Grantsville area is poised to grow significantly," he said.

KIOWA THE LLAMA and her (his?) trainer Miss Yvonne will be among the animal acts of the Roberts Bros. three-ring circus, which is scheduled to be presented in Oakland twice on Friday, May 22, at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. The circus "big top" will be set up at Mid-Towne Plaza just east of Oakland. The performances are being sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association, and tickets are now on sale at the following locations: Water Street Market Place and Decorator's Nook, Treasure Island, Marvin's Men's Wear, Little Expressions, Oakland's Tropical World, Reel Video, and Englander's Pharmacy.

Comment Invited On Creation Of Conservation Farm Option Program

David Doss, state conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Maryland, invites the public to comment on a proposed rule for the creation of an innovative new conservation pilot program, the Conservation Farm Option program.

"The Conservation Farm Option pilot program will offer farmers incentives and cost-share payments to explore new ways to address resource problems in ways that will maximize benefits to the environment and keep farms productive," said Doss. "USDA programs have helped improve natural resources on America's farms and we expect CFO to do the same. NRCS and the USDA Farm Service Agency will administer the pilot program."

The CFO pilot program will provide producers with opportunities to address their resource needs through a single plan. To be eligible for CFO, producers must implement a conservation plan that addresses soil, water, wetlands, or wildlife conservation measures. The CFO pilot program is specifically for producers of wheat, feed rains, cotton, and rice who have a production flexibility contract. Participation is based upon a 10-year contract between the Secretary of Agriculture and the producer.

Authorized under Section 335 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (commonly referred to as the 1996 Farm Bill), the CFO pilot program joins other USDA program that help improve the quality of natural resources in agricultural areas. This new pilot program may include innovative conservation measures and other practices similar to those offered through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program, the Wetland Reserve Program, and the Conservation Reserve Program.

In the near future, USDA will publish a Request For Proposals in the Federal Register. Included in the request will be background information on the legislation, an overview of the program, a description of available funding for fiscal year 1998, a list of the minimum requirements of a proposal, USDA contact persons, a copy of the proposal submission form with guidance for completing the form, and a summary scoring sheet. The proposed rule was published in the April 2, 1998, edition of the Federal Register.

Any individual, organization, or entity eligible for CFO may submit a proposal. Proposals received for fiscal year 1998 will be rated by a USDA interdepartmental team. The team will make its selections from the highest rated proposals.

The deadline for comments is June 1, 1998. They should be addressed to Gary R. Nordstrom, Director, NRCS Conservation Operations Division, P.O. Box 2890, Washington, DC 20013-2890, Attention: CFO. Comments may be faxed to 202-720-1838.

This rule may also be accessed, and comments submitted, on the Internet. Users can access the NRCS homepage at http://www.nrcs.usda.gov. The proposed rule is located on the menu for 1996 Farm Bill Conservation Programs.

The NRCS contact for the proposed rule is Daniel Smith, who may be reached by telephone at 202-720-3524, by fax at 202-720-4265, or e-mail at dan.smith@usda.gov, Attention CFO.

Information about the CFO pilot program is also available at local NRCS offices located in USDA service centers.

Farming In Maryland.....

Farm Bureau Opposes OSHA Farm Change

A proposed change to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's funding bill, which would allow OSHA to conduct investigations following fatal accidents on small farms, could adversely impact farmers and ranchers across the country.

"This could be the biggest change for farm employers since the 1986 immigration reform act, and it won't be a change for the better," said Bryan Little, an American Farm Bureau Federation governmental relations director.

Under current law, OSHA may not conduct any enforcement activity on farms that employ fewer than 10 people or do not maintain a temporary labor camp. Rhode Island Sens. Jack Reed (D) and John Chaffee (R) have proposed to change this law to permit inspections following fatal accidents and allow OSHA officials to create a report on the cause of the accident.

"As a result of new safety standards, like hazard communication, rollover protective structures and grain storage, as well as educational efforts undertaken by Farm Bureau and other organizations, safety on the farm has improved dramatically over the last 25 years," said Little. "This proposal appears to be related to a single regrettable incident in Rhode Island where a teenager was killed in a tractor accident. Unfortunately, accidents are going to happen where you mix people with heavy machines and large animals."

Little questions why the proposal is necessary when local authorities already conduct accident investigations. "No fatal accident is going to occur on a farm where the sheriff and the county coroner don't look into it. Safety in agriculture is not complicated, and serious negligence will be clear to anyone with a little common sense. You don't need someone from Washington to tell you to keep your loose clothing out of an auger or PTO shaft."

Farm Bureau also is concerned that OSHA accident reports could expose producers to new liability concerns. Little noted that the distinction between tractors that are too old to be covered by the RollOver Protection Standard and those that are covered is likely to be lost on an OSHA inspector.

"That inspector's report could say that a tractor rollover fatality could have been prevented by a rollover protective structure, regardless of whether the tractor in question predates the standard, or whether retrofitting the machine would be prohibitively expensive," Little said. "A questionable report also could give fodder to lawyers looking to advance liability or litigation causes, opening producers up to overaggressive prosecution."

Reed and Chaffee recently asked Sen. Arlen Specter (R-Pa.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee overseeing OSHA funding, to change the existing law. Farm Bureau is working to educate Senate offices about the negative effects of this proposed change.

Congress first created this exemption in 1977 for small family farms, and a similar one for other small businesses to help focus OSHA's limited resources on protecting the greatest possible number of employees," Little said. "Nothing has changed in the 21 years since to make this change necessary. Farm Bureau members across America need to make sure the senators know that this change is unwarranted and potentially harmful to farmers and to workplace safety."

U.S. Stocks Of Most Grains Up From Last Year

Corn stocks in all positions on March 1, 1998, totaled 4.94 billion bushels, 10% above a year earlier. Of the total stocks, 2.98 billion bushels were stored on farms, 4% above last year. Off-farm stocks, at 1.96 billion bushels, were 21% above a year earlier. The December-February 1998 indicated disappearance is 2.31 billion bushels, 4% below the disappearance of 2.41 billion bushels during the same period a year earlier.

All wheat stocks March 1, 1998, are estimated at 1.17 billion bushels in all positions, up 42% from March 1, 1997. Stocks on farms are 400 million bushels, up 25% from last March. Off-farm stocks, at 766 million, are up 53%.

Soybeans stored in all positions on March 1, 1998, totaled 1.20 billion bushels, up 14% from holdings last year. On-farm stocks totaled 637 million bushels, up 24% from last March, and accounted for 53% of the March 1, 1998 holdings. Off-farm stocks, at 566 million bushels, were up 4% from the previous year.

Barley stocks in all positions on March 1, 1998, totaled 177 million bushels, up 2% from a year ago. Of the total barley stocks on hand, 79 million bushels were stored on farms, 4% below a year ago. March 1, 1998, off-farm stocks, at 98 million bushels, were 8% above last year. Indicated disappearance during the December-February quarter totaled 68 million bushels, 10% below the same period a year earlier.

Research Bill Awaits Final Senate Approval

Because the Senate has not voted on the agriculture research bill (S. 1150), the race between passage of the conference committee-approved package and final approval of the transportation bill is still on.

At stake is the $1.8 billion in funding for research, crop insurance, food stamps and rural development, which has been allocated by the Farm Bureau-supported research bill. A provision of the Senate budget resolution instead says that money should go to help fund transportation projects, a move Farm Bureau and a growing number of senators oppose.

If the Senate acts on the research package before the transportation bill, the research bill would hold the funding. But if the transportation bill wins the race to the floor, the research money could be lost. That would be bad news for farmers and ranchers, who have not seen an increase in research dollars in 10 years.

The research bill, which would spend $600 million on agricultural research, $600 million on food stamps for legal immigrants, $470 million for crop insurance programs and $100 million on rural development, all over a five-year span, is currently being held from consideration by Sen. Phil Gramm (R-Texas). Gramm objects to the food stamp provisions and all attempts to convince the senior Texas senator to release his hold have failed.

In an attempt to override Gramm's hold, Sens. Tom Harkin (D-Iowa) and Dick Lugar (R-Ind.) recently wrote to Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott (R-Miss.) urging Lott to bring the research package to the floor for a vote. Harkin, the Senate Agriculture Committee's ranking Democrat, and Lugar, the panel's chairman, told Lott how important the research bill is to agriculture.

As approved by the conferees, "this legislation contains important provisions to strengthen agricultural research rural development, crop insurance and nutrition," the senators wrote.

Harkin and Lugar noted that aside from the fully offset monies for research and rural development, the bill contains important reforms to the crop insurance program. Without approval, farmers could soon begin receiving insurance cancellation notices. The law says if the crop insurance program is not fully funded, policies must be canceled, a move Harkin and Lugar say would leave farmers "without adequate risk management protection."

As of press time, Harking and Lugar were joined by nearly 50 other senators in their quest to bring the research package to the floor.

Small Grains Still Ahead Of Schedule

Small grains continued to mature ahead of the five year average as barley headed improved 37 points from the previous week. Barley condition was 2% very poor, 5% poor, 17% fair, 47% good, and 29% excellent. Rye made a major advance this previous week as 48% has been reported as headed. Rye condition was 1% poor, 10% fair, 70% good, and 19% excellent. Winter wheat made a small advance but was still ahead of the previous year and five year average. Winter wheat condition was reported as 2% very poor, 5% poor, 21% fair, 48% good, and 24% excellent.

Field corn was reported as 21% planted for the state. This was slightly ahead of the previous and five year average. Green peas made a significant gain of 29 points and has surpassed its previous year and five year average. Sweet corn plantings made an advance and is on par with the last year average. Last week was a slow week for the other vegetables, as cantaloupes, watermelons, and snap beans made very little progress. Tomatoes, on the other hand, made some important progress and was reported as 40% planted.

As for the fruit crops, peaches bloomed finished up for the state last week. There were some reports of frost damage in the western parts of the state. Apples and strawberries bloomed continue to be well ahead of schedule, as they improved by 11 points and 23 points, respectively. They are both significantly above the previous year and five year averages.

Topsoil moisture was 83% adequate and 17% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 1% short, 85% adequate and 14% surplus. There was an average of 5.5 days suitable for fieldwork for the week ending on April 26.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended April 26 is listed below by item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage and the five year average's percentage, in that order. Development: barley, headed, 80, 43, 26, 24; winter wheat, headed 16, 12, 5, 2; rye, headed 48, 33, 32, 18. Planting progress: field corn 21, 14, 13, 14; sweet corn 25, 13, 25, 21; snap beans 6, 5, 7, 12; green peas 83, 44, 78, 67; tomatoes 40, 13, 19, 23; cantaloupe 9, 8, 8, 14; watermelons 8, 6, 4, 7. Fruit crops Blooming: apples 80, 69, 61, 32; strawberries 58, 35, 40, 36.

Slugs Pose Potential Threat on Emerging Corn

A wet fall, a mild winter, and a wet early spring mean that slug problems in corn are likely to be more troublesome this spring. I talked to a local farmer this week who found hatched slugs already in the field. Corn fields most likely to have slugs are those no-tilled for a number of years and exhibiting an abundance of surface trash and decaying vegetation. This situation obviously provides food, shelter, and optimum environmental conditions for slug development.

Some quick reminders on things to do to minimize slug injury. Don't plant no-till corn under wet soil conditions, which may prevent the seed slot from closing properly. The worst cases of slug damage occur when the seed slot does not close during the planting operation. This allows access and provides a moist, dark refuge for slugs to feed directly on the seed below the soil surface, hollowing out the endosperm and thus preventing germination. This situation is fairly common when bad weather forces growers to plant into land that is not ready. In high risk fields, wait until warmer weather drives these heat sensitive slugs deeper into the soil and allows seedlings to outgrow the feeding injury. I would suggest using trash wheels to remove the surface debris over the seed slot, which allows the press wheels to close the slot more effectively. Use started fertilizer to promote rapid germination.

Currently, there are few options for remedial treatments to control slugs. New formulations of granular metaldehyde bait have been developed for corn, but they are expensive, inconvenient to apply, and inconsistent. Another control option, used primarily as a rescue measure for heavy slug infestations, is a broadcast treatment of 20 gallons per acre of 30% urea-based nitrogen (watered down at a 1:1 ratio) applied at night when the slugs are active on the plants. The rationale here is that the nitrogen acts as a direct irritant to slugs and the cost of the application is partly offset by the added fertility. Results have ranged from no control to better than 90% and most cases of poor control have been attributed to windy conditions, which drastically reduce the activity of slugs at night. If executed properly on calm nights when the slugs are up on the plants, the broadcast treatment of nitrogen is an effective option.

Somerset County Wool Pool Information

Wool has been consigned to Mid-States Wool Growers Cooperative in Columbus, Ohio, and will be weighed and graded in the warehouse. An advance payment will be sent to each consigner several days after the wool has been received in Columbus. The remainder, less marketing costs and a Somerset County Association fee of $2.00, will be sent to you at the end of the year. A second option is selling at current market price. Consignors have a choice of payment for the entire amount within 30 days; price would be based on grade and yield of the wool.

Listed below is the information concerning this year's pool:

Date: Tuesday, June 9, 1998.

Where: Walker's Farm Service, Somerset, Pa.

Time: 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon.

Who: Pool is open to anyone regardless of place of residence.

Procedure: When you shear, keep good, clean wool of one grade separate from that of another grade or quality. Place the wool in clean burlap bags (do not use plastic feed bags) or in clean boxes. Do not tie fleeces. If you do, the twine will have to be removed at the pool.

When you arrive at the pool...

* If your wool is in wool bags, you will be given a free replacement bag for each of yours.

* If your wool is in small burlap bags, it will be loaded without a bag exchange.

* If your wool is in clean boxes, burlap wool bags will be available from the Association at $4.00 each. You must place your wool in the burlap bag.

MDA Announces Funding To Help Protect The Bay

Maryland Department of Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Virts, D.V.M., has announced that Ducks Unlimited Inc. and the Chesapeake Bay Foundation have signed an agreement with the state of Maryland and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide up to $5.5 million in additional cost-share funds over the next five years to help farmers protect environmentally sensitive land along Maryland's streams and rivers. The agreement bolsters the $190 million in funding allocated last fall under the Maryland Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP) to help farmers protect local waterways by offering increased payment to convert environmentally sensitive cropland into vegetative buffers, stream side forests, and wetlands. The additional funding will enable farmers to receive up to 100 percent of the cost to install certain conservation practices to protect water quality in Maryland's streams and rivers.

"This new public-private partnership will make it easier for farmers to balance the desire to participate in environmental protection programs with the need to earn a profit on their land," said Secretary Virts.

"It's a win-win situation for Maryland farmers and the Chesapeake Bay," he added.

Farmers who enroll in the Maryland Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program take riparian lands, certain highly erodible land, or wetlands out of production for up to 15 years, while implementing a range of best management practices (BMPs) to protect natural resources. In exchange, landowners receive annual rental payments for the land, as well as financial and technical assistance to establish approved BMPs to protect water quality.

Under the new agreement with Ducks Unlimited and the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, farmers and other landowners will receive increased cost-share funding to install a variety of highly valued BMPs. Riparian forests buffers and stream fencing will now be cost-shared at up to 100 percent of the eligible costs, highly erodible land adjacent to waterways and vegetative buffers at 95 percent, and wetlands at 75 percent. Additional best management practices will be cost-shared at 87.5 percent, including alternative water sources, animal stream crossings, and diversions. The landowner is responsible for any remaining BMP installation costs.

The agreement with Ducks Unlimited Inc. and the Chesapeake Bay Foundation was made possible through the collective efforts of the Maryland Departments of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the USDA's Farm Service Agency and Natural Resources Conservation Service. The agreement is expected to play a key role in helping Maryland to reach its goal to reforest 600 miles of streams and rivers by the year 2010.

Farmers interested in finding out more about the increased benefits for stream side conservation practices should call or visit their local Soil Conservation District office or USDA Service Center. For more information about the agreement, persons may contact the State Soil Conservation Committee at 410-841-5863.

February Students Of The Month Selected At Northern High School

The Northern High School Student Council and American Trust Bank recently announced the Students of the Month for of February. They are Katie Sizemore, Jeremiah Guard, Tim Umbel, Kara Gilpin, and Matt Fletcher.

Katie Sizemore, a freshman, is the daughter of Jeff and Karen Sizemore of Accident. As a member of the Northern High School Theatre Club, Katie recently performed in the production of "Little Women" and spends her spare time writing poetry and short stories. An active member of her community, Katie is a volunteer at the Ruth Enlow Library and a participant of the Red Cross Water Wings swimming program. She enjoys horseback riding, reading, singing, acting, composing, and writing poetry, and has been honored for her talents with a recent second-place award in the NHS talent show and a first-place award in the River of Words national poetry contest.

Jeremiah Guard, also a freshman, is the son of Dorsey and Wanda Guard of Friendsville. He is a member of Northern's wrestling team and devotes much of his time as a participant of 4-H and St. John's Lutheran Church Youth Group. As a volunteer of the youth wrestling clinic at Friendsville Elementary School, he has been recognized as showing active service to his community. He has also received many other honors, including the 1997 Success in School recognition, Minds in Motion Award, and was the county champion and state runner-up in the 1997 Lawn Tractor Operating contest.

Tim Umbel, a sophomore, is the son of Richard and Mary Ann Umbel of Friendsville. He is a member of the Northern basketball, baseball, and golf teams, and is an active member of the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren. In his spare time, Tim also enjoys fishing and hunting, and along with the Student of the Month recognition, is an honor roll student and a Minds in Motion recipient.

Kara Gilpin, a junior, is the daughter of Ken and Donna Gilpin of Grantsville. Kara is a participant in the Regional Math and Science program, a member of the NHS Mock Trial team, a student athletic trainer, and a junior class officer. She is also an active member of the Cherry Glade Youth Group and Jennings United Methodist Church, and has received additional honors as a Who's Who Among American High School Students and Distinguished Honor Roll student.

Matt Fletcher, a senior, is the son of Melvin and Jo-Ann Fletcher of Frostburg. He is a member of Northern's soccer, basketball, and tennis teams, and attends the First Church of the Nazarene in Cumberland. To show his community support, he played a large roll in the construction of the practice soccer field at Northern. Matt is also an Honor Roll and Who's Who student and plans to attend either Allegany College or Garrett Community College in the fall.

Friendsville Girl Scout Troop 5569 held its meeting on April 24 at the elementary school. Tammy Sines and Debbie DeWitt did a first aid demonstration, Tammy Uphold demonstrated "edible" campfires, and Karen Benedict showed bed role techniques. The girls then performed skits showing what they learned. These demonstrations were to prepare them for their camping trip July 15-17. Their next meeting will be held on Friday, May 8, from 3:30 to 6 p.m. at the school.

LIBRARY NEWS

Recent donations to the Friendsville branch include: copies of Brown's Miscellaneous Writings, donated by Julie Frazee; Young Explorers in the Land Where Jesus Lived; and four easy-reader Christian fiction books by Barbara Davoll titled Hobo Holiday, Problem with Pickles, Fire in the Bramblewood, and Visit from Rudy Beaver, purchased with Children's Fund money from The Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Jack Turney, author of The Wagon Road, will be at the Friendsville Branch this Saturday, May 2, from 10:30 a.m. to noon to autograph his book. The Wagon Road is about life on the farm while growing up in Accident.

SCHOOL NEWS

Friendsville Elementary School's Variety Show was held Tuesday evening, April 21, at the school. Performers ranging from pre-K to 5th grade were: Angie Umbel, Maddi Sisler, and Shayna Kitchen, playing a collection of band music; Holly Wampler, baton routine; Alayna Gaither, tap dance; and a duet performed by Britney Dumire and Heather Groom. Soloists were Jessica Sines, Lizzi Sisler, and Summer Sines. Jimmie Friend sang a song from "Grease" accompanied by Summer Sines in a skit, and Abbi Sisler, Holly Sisler, Ashley Ross, Margaret Mastej, and Nicole Kovach did a "Spice Girls" act.

April 20-24 was known as Reading Week, with the theme being "Reading Makes Me Smile." Every morning during the week, two student readers read a page from a favorite book, to which the rest of the students had the opportunity to guess what the title of the book was. Adult guest readers visited the school each day to read to the classes. The readers who volunteered their time to help promote reading in the school were as follows: County Commissioners Wayne Johnson and Gary Fratz, Dr. Wendell Teets, Assistant Superintendent Al Coviello, Freda Sines of S&S Market, and Frani King representing the Mayor and Town Council. Guest Listener was Charlotte Ghion.

Also during the week, the students celebrated "Turn Off the TV" and the Governor's "Be a Rising Star" Read to Achieve program. Posters were made by the students to be placed around Friendsville. Students also decorated grocery bags for S&S Market to show the books that they have read.

"Spirit Night" was Thursday, April 23, at the Keyser's Ridge McDonald's. The winner of the bike was Angie Umble.

National Secretaries Day was observed April 22, with the faculty and staff honoring Leah Huber with a covered dish dinner, fruit basket, flowers, and cards.

MUSEUM OPENED

The Friend Family Museum will be open this Friday, May 1, from noon until 3 p.m. and every Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday until late fall. Special appointments for other days can be made by contacting Ina Hicks at 301-746-5615. Ina is currently collecting old aprons belonging to the elderly women of the community, deceased or living, to display throughout the museum and library with a picture and short biography of the owner. All donations would be greatly appreciated. Take time this year to visit the museum and see a little bit of history.

FIRE DEPT.

The new administrative officers of the Friendsville Vol. Fire and Rescue Dept. for the 1998 year are as follows: president, Keith Fisher; vice president, Raymond Schroyer; Treasurer, Craig Umbel; and Secretary, Joy Fisher.

The new fire officers for 1998 are: chief, Terry Spear; deputy chief, Jim Friend; and chief engineer, Kenny Harding. The appointed officers are: assistant chiefs, Wayne Anderson and Dave Sines; and the safety officer, Craig Umbel.

The Department will hold its 6th annual ramp dinner this Sunday, May 3, from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. The menu consists of: bean soup, country fried ham, fried potatoes, cornbread muffins, special ramp greens, desserts, coffee and iced tea. Adorable Adoptables

EVERYONE NEEDS SOMEONE TO LOVE - These two homeless hounds at the Garrett County Animal Shelter are no exception, and they are ready to give back the love they receive tenfold. Macey, at the left, is a blonde 3-year old mixed-breed with a little Spitz thrown in, and is described as quiet and well-behaved. The mixed Dalmatian male at the right is approximately 3 months old, a mere pup looking for new parents to pamper. These doggies can be reached at the shelter by calling 301-334-3553.

Local Students Earn Scholarships

THOMAS A. LONG

MICHAEL S. MINNICK

The Maryland Arborist Association has presented President's Scholarships to Allegany College forest technology students Thomas A. Long of Cumberland and Michael S. Minnick of Accident. The Annapolis-based organization awards these scholarships to students in two- or four-year schools who plan careers in arboriculture or urban forestry.

As only two of them are awarded annually in Maryland, both of the President's Scholarships granted this year by the association went to AC students.

Long, who is completing his first year in the associate degree program, is pursuing a career in forestry. A 1992 graduate of Southern Garrett County High School, he is the son of Delmus and Alice Evans, Oakland. He is married to Elizabeth Long, an AC nursing student.

Minnick, a 1996 graduate of Northern Garrett County High School, is completing his second year at AC in pursuit of a career in landscape management. Minnick plans to graduate in fall 1998 and work in horticulture and turf management. He is the son of Steven and Michaela Minnick.

The students were presented their scholarships at a recent meeting of the state arborists' group.

For more information about AC forestry programs or about the Maryland Arborist Association, persons may contact John P. Jastrzembski, AC assistant professor of forestry, at 301-784-5309.

Local Student Presents Project At State Event

Joshua Neubert was one of 12 students from over 100 applicants chosen to present his research at this year's Junior Science and Humanities Symposium sponsored recently by the University of Maryland. Joshua presented his project titled "Determining Orbitals of Asteroid Elements" to an audience of peers and educators from throughout Maryland.

Neubert is an honor student at Northern and has won numerous awards for his academic and extracurricular activities, including varsity letters, Minds in Motion awards, second place in mathematics at the regional science fair, first place finisher in Maryland High School Competition in Mathematics, and grand champion of this year's regional science fair.

Neubert is a member of Northern's soccer and track teams. He is on the school's math team, science bowl team, and academic team, and is a member of Northern's computer club.

Neubert spent eight week's last summer at the Thacher School in Ojai, Calif., and participated in the summer science program sponsored by NASA and several universities. He joined a group of students investigating asteroid orbits and learned how to use advanced asteroidal equipment. He will be traveling to the INTEL International Science Fair on May 9-16 to present his research project in competition with students from around the world.

Neubert resides in Grantsville and is the son of John and Cathy Neubert.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

THE OPERA HOUSE in Oakland was located on the second floor of this building at the corner of Green and Second streets, now the site of American Trust Bank. H.T. Grant was a noted photographer for the B&O Railroad at the time and his studio was on the first floor. The crowd lining the street in this photo was awaiting the start of the 1899 July 4th parade. The two buildings were later occupied by Smouse Grocery and Hinebaugh's Restaurant. This photo is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society and is published courtesy of the Society and The Republican.

Spring Dance Company Concert Slated At FSU

The Frostburg State University Dance Company will present its Spring Dance Concert from Thursday, May 7, through Saturday, May 9, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, May 10, at 3 p.m. in the Drama Theatre of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

Under the artistic direction of Dr. Barry Fisher, FSU assistant professor, the company will perform new works in modern dance, ballet, jazz, and international dance, along with two solos by New York City guest artist Laurence Keigwin.

The dancers will present reconstruction premieres of the Ruth St. Denis and Doris Humphrey 1920 classic "Soaring" and Charles Weidman's 1936 masterpiece "Lynchtown" in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Humphrey-Weidman Dance Company debut.

Featured also will be two new works by Fisher. "Tweedle Dee Dee," a solo for senior company member Connie Fink, will illustrate both the humorous and animated antics and the dancing abilities of a "unique" high school girl. "You Make Me Feel" is a high energy modern-jazz group work set to the music of legendary disco superstar Sylvester.

"SOARING" is the name of this number by the Frostburg State University Dance Company, which will present its spring concert three times next week. (See story for times and other details.) Among the featured performers will be Connie Fink, pictured in the foreground. Choreographers for "Soaring" were Ruth St. Denis and Doris Humphrey. Artistic director for the program, which will feature modern dance, ballet, jazz, and international dance, is Dr. Barry Fisher, FSU assistant professor.

Two student works will be presented by Connie Fink and Leslie Malitz.

Tickets can be reserved at the PAC box office, Monday through Friday, 12 to 2 p.m., or by phone at 301-687-7462. Tickets are also available at the box office prior to the performances. Reserved tickets not claimed at least 30 minutes prior to showtime will be released and sold. For information on available group rates, persons may telephone 301-687-7460. Refreshments will be sold during intermission.

Persons may request ADA accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Open House Set At Grantsville Senior Center

In recognition of its one-year anniversary and Older Americans Month, the Grantsville Senior Center will host an open house on May 5, from 2 to 5 p.m. The center is owned by Garrett County Community Action Committee and operated by the Area Agency on Aging.

A multi-purpose senior center, Grantsville offers such varied activities as crafts, quilting, Bingo, and painting classes. Additionally, the center provides congregate meals to an average of 45 participants three days each week, and home delivered meals to approximately 75 frail elderly who reside in the northern part of the county. The center boasts a "state of the art" kitchen, where an average of 350 meals are prepared weekly.

The Grantsville center is available to agencies, organizations, and individuals requiring space for a special event or meeting. Luncheons and dinners can be arranged. At the open house, the agency will offer informational brochures on use and rental fees for the facility.

"The open house is an opportunity for seniors and their families to learn what the center and the Area Agency on Aging has to offer individuals in their retirement years," stated an agency spokesperson.

GCCAC Program Offers Home Air Leakage Audits

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. is offering home testing to determine areas of air leakage that result in energy losses. These services will be available beginning May 1.

According to Loring Young of the GCCAC, the agency has operated the Maryland State Weatherization Program for over 20 years. "Community Action has the equipment and the expertise to conduct tests for air infiltration and heat duct losses in the home," he said.

There are two facets to the test. In the first segment, a trained technician sets up a blower door test on the home. This procedure permits the technician to identify areas of the house where air is leaking.

The heat ducts are then placed under a negative pressure and the technician is able to determine if there are air losses from the ducts and where they are occuring.

Young explained that once the audit is complete, the homeowner receivers a written report from the technician in which the air loss areas are identified. The homeowner then has the option to make the repairs or to hire a contractor to perform the work.

The home audit can be performed on the whole house or a heating duct test can he conducted separately. The cost of this service is $160 for the complete home test and $100 for the heating duct test only. Reduced rates available to those who are age 60 and over are $125 for the whole house test and $75 for the heating ducts. For households with gross yearly income of $24,000 or less the cost are $125 for the whole house and $75 for air ducts.

For more information or to arrange an appointment, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 149.

GCC Participates In Student Legislature At State House

Three Garrett Community College students and an advisor attended the annual session of the Maryland Student Legislature held last month at the State House in Annapolis. The three-day session is designed to re-create the 90-day General Assembly session of the state legislature each year, as students sit in the senate chamber or the house chamber and argue legislation they themselves have written. The GCC delegation consisted of Evelyn Bittinger, Matia Egen, and Rob Vanderbilt, and advisor Jack DuBose.

Two pieces of legislation were introduced by the GCC delegates. Senator Bittinger introduced a resolution to remove surcharges for ATM cards, which passed through committee but was voted down on the Senate floor. Senator Vanderbilt and Delegate Egan co-sponsored a resolution to raise the high school drop-out age to 18. This resolution was held for the Interim Council in the fall.

According to DuBose, the Maryland Student Legislature provides an excellent opportunity for participants to experience democracy at work.

GCC was the only community college in attendance at the annual session. Other colleges participating were Goucher, Towson, Salisbury State, Frostburg State University, University of Maryland College Park, University of Maryland Baltimore County, Morgan State, and Western Maryland College.

Students at GCC enroll in a one-credit course to prepare for their participation in the Maryland Student Legislature.

Grace Ross, Doris Howell Honored For Work At GC Community Action

Grace Ross

Doris Howell

Garrett County Community Action Inc. has recently honored two women for their work and contributions. Grace Ross was named Staff Person of the Year and Doris Howell was selected Volunteer of the Year.

Ross is employed with the Area Agency on Aging as kitchen manager of the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland. She is responsible for the preparation of both congregate and home delivered meal programs, as well as the overall operation of the kitchen and dining area.

In addition to meals for the senior citizens, Ross and her staff prepare meals for the Head Start program, which is housed in the CAC building.

Over the past two years her responsibilities have greatly increased as a result of the incorporation of home delivered and congregate meal preparations for two other senior centers, in addition to the Mary Browning center.

"Grace always finds a way to be accommodating and more than willing to meet new challenges, even with the limited staff," program director Barbara Hornyak said.

Ross works additional personal hours each week to assure that quality service is delivered to participants of the meal programs, Hornyak explained. She has come into the center on weekends to check equipment or begin preparation of special foods. "Grace graciously agrees to any requests made by her supervisors, such as the preparation of foods for special events planned by the agency. The word 'no' seems not to be in her vocabulary," she added.

Senior meal participants have referred to Ross's "extras" and "special touches." She has been known to go out of her way to help someone, such as personally delivering a meal to a special homebound client, but she never seeks recognition, Hornyak said.

On occasion, she will spend her own lunch break helping senior center program participants complete a fund-raising project such as making a quilt.

Ross also worked as a cook (senior aide) at Rose Terrace, a group model assisted home which accommodates nine frail, elderly residents. Following a brief retirement from work she returned as a cook at the senior center and later became the kitchen manager.

Because of her many years of experience in the food service field, Ross is a valuable resource in the planning of special activities, Hornyak said.

Ross is also a regular volunteer at Garrett Memorial Hospital, with the Hospice program, and at the Humane Society. "Grace is as fond of animals as she is people," a co-worker said.

Doris Howell, chosen as GCCAC Volunteer of the Year, has dedicated more than two decades to serving the Agency on Aging and the county's senior citizens. She has volunteered at the senior nutrition site in Swanton since it opened in 1976.

Although initially volunteering only during the school year, Howell has volunteered 12 hours each week, two days weekly, year-round since 1980. She assists the cook at the nutrition site with meal preparation, service, and clean up.

One of the original volunteers at the Swanton center, Howell helped to make the program the success it is today, Hornyak said.

Swanton was one of the first nutrition sites for Garrett County seniors and was originally completely dependent upon volunteers. Howell, along with other volunteers, assured that the site adhered to established Nutrition Program guidelines. When funds became available to hire paid staff, Howell continued to volunteer, refusing a paid position.

She has also been selected as finalist in the 1998 Volunteer of the Year Award Program sponsored by the Project Meal Foundation and Reynolds Metals. Her selection as a runner-up in this National Award Program has garnered the GCCAC a financial award of $1,000 to help with the Senior Nutrition Program.

Howell is also active in the Swanton community, helping with various activities and fund-raisers at the community center. She volunteers regularly at her church and cares for her great-granddaughter.

MAY BIRD COUNT COMING SOON - Eyes will be peeled during the annual county-wide May Bird Count, slated for Saturday, May 9. Kitchen window volunteers are welcome to count birds gathering at a feeder, as are others who may wish to count birds at a favorite spot. Two birds that may be seen include the yellow warbler, above, a common breeding bird that spends the warmer months in the Garrett County region and winters in Central and South America. The upland sandpiper, right, is rarely seen, but is known to breed in Garrett County hayfields, meadows, and pastures during the warm months, wintering in South America. For further information and/or a count form, interested persons may call the count coordinator, Fran Pope, at 301-334-4908.

Volunteers Sought For Bird Count

The annual county-wide May Bird Count, sponsored by the Maryland Ornithological Society, will be held throughout Garrett County on Saturday, May 9, during the entire 24-hour period (midnight to midnight). Volunteers are needed to help count birds during any portion of the count period and in any part of Garrett County.

"Feeder watchers" are welcome, as are others who may wish to count birds at a favorite spot. Volunteers must let the count coordinator know where they will be counting in order to assure the best coverage of the county and avoid duplication of effort.

To receive further information and/or a count form, interested persons may call the count coordinator, Fran Pope, at 301-334-4908 prior to Wednesday, May 6.

Results of the May Bird Count will appear in Maryland Birdlife, a publication of the Maryland Ornithological Society.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

A joint worship service will be held on Sunday, May 3, at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger at 10 a.m. Churches in the Parish are Emmanuel; St. John's, Meadow Mountain; and Zion, Jennings. Bishop Ralph Dunkin will lead the service and administer Holy Communion. There will be no Sunday School at Emmanuel on that morning.

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Women's Group of Emmanuel will be held at the Bittinger fire hall on Friday, May 1, at 6:30 p.m.

Beulah Moon attended the Talent Jamboree at Rt. 40 Elementary School, where granddaughter Amy performed a dance and grandson Jacob played a trumpet solo. Beulah also attended the Students Art Fair at Garrett Community College on Saturday, where Jacob Moon played in the Festival Concert.

David Buckel, Richmond, was an overnight guest of Beulah Moon. Blair Buckel was also a dinner guest on Thursday. Brad Moon was a weekend visitor of his mother Beulah.

Mel and Steve Presgraves, Bowie, and Doug, June, and Matthew Stemper, Berwyn Heights, visited the Poholskys, Stantons, and Ferne Beachy recently.

Jean Cope, Cumberland, visited friends and relatives in the area on Thursday.

Ruth DiPaolo, also a proud grandmother of 10, attended the Students Art Fair at Garrett Community College on Saturday to see three of them perform in the band concert: Robbie and Blakely Glotfelty and Matthew Bass. Meredith Sussman and Elliot Glotfelty also had art drawings on display.

Holly Hare and her sister Heidi also were performers in the Festival. Holly did a vocalist number and Heidi played several solo flute pieces.

Betty and Ellis Sacra and Margaret Hatcher, Partlow, Va., were guests of Ruth DiPaolo this week. They all went on a bus trip to New Jersey. Also going on the bus trip with them were Lucille Ritter, Cumberland, Dot Sechler, Salisbury, and Elaine and Bobby Jacobs, Midland.

Ruth DiPaolo met her brothers, Donald Buckle, Madison, Va., Jack Buckle, Williamsport, Pa., and Wayne Buckle and wife Wilma, Falls Church, Va., for a brief family reunion at Chambersburg, Pa., last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Excellence Fair and band concert at Northern Middle School were well attended Monday night.

Robbie Glotfelty spent Friday night with the Southerly boys, Landon and Tyler.

Michelle Geis was recently named to Virginia Tech's Honor Program, quite an accomplishment along with being busy as a cheerleader. Ellen Housley recently visited Michelle in Blacksburg, and toured the big attractions there.

Pat and Ann McLister recently moved into their new home in Frederick. Ann's mother, Margaret Wagner, lent a big helping hand by watching grandchildren.

Helen Englar, Westminster, arrived last Sunday to view early wildflowers with her niece, Joan Sussman (especially the blue bells along the Casselman River). She also visited many of her great nieces and nephews. She even went to see the nephews play in their first Little League game, but unfortunately the game was rained out. She spent some time with her brother, Dale Glotfelty, and her son Courtney Englar, who recently moved to Garrett County. She found he was keeping busy planting some blueberry bushes on his farm and taking a course at GCC in forest management and, of course, bird watching.

In the first game of his opening day Little League game, Landon Southerly crossed home plate twice. Way to go, Landon. Now the mothers are trying to remove all the grass and mud stains on their sons' white pants. Any good tips on how to get rid of all the stains since you can't bleach polyester? Now the season is in full swing. Carol Bass, Sheila Southerly, Sally Poholsky, and other new baseball moms need help with the food concession booth, and fast!

The first-of-the-season, famous chicken barbecue dinners will be held on May 9 and continue through the summer on the second Saturday night of each month. Dinners will be served between 4 and 7 o'clock. The meal consists of chicken, cole slaw, baked beans, beverages and dessert, prepared by the firemen and auxiliary. Everything is so delicious. I find that there is nothing better than on a busy haymaking day in the summer to run down to the fire hall and pick up some "to-go meals" and feed the haymaking crew. The August barbecue will be held on Bittinger Picnic Day on the 15th. See you all on the 9th of May.

Ida Reckner was hostess of the April meeting of St. John's WELCA at her home Tuesday afternoon. Members presented Ida with cards and flowers in celebration of her recent 93rd birthday. Ida was leader of the topic, "Resurrection Stories," taken from the Lutheran magazine. The business meeting was presided over by Wanda Reynolds. Eight members and one guest attended.

Wednesday dinner guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty were Jeff and Sheli Gray and daughter, Ashlin, formerly of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Karmen, Chris, and Tony Carey, Frostburg; Linda Oester; Tom, Cheryl, Taylor, and Tim Glotfelty; and Ida Reckner. The Grays recently purchased a home in Hanover, since Jeff will now be stationed with the U.S. Air Force at Fort Meade. Sunday dinner guests were the Tom Glotfelty family and Ida Reckner.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE - To get some ideas about future occupations, 11th grade students from Northern and Southern high schools met with business and professional people from the community to learn about career and employment opportunities. The Mtn. Top Career Expo was held recently at Garrett Community College. Students gather in the theater to hear brief summaries from those who would later conduct discussion and presentations about their work. Following the introductory phase, the students were allowed to register to attend several of the information sessions. Each participant was given a questionnaire to help direct the information gathering. In the photo above left, a career in law enforcement is considered by students listening to Corp. Llewellyn of the Maryland State Police in McHenry. Above right, Emma the grey-hound helped Lyn Quick illustrate the benefits of a career in veterinary medicine to Becky Williams, Bobbie Moats, Amanda Garlitz, and Brian Savage. Avenues of technology were explored by students as Jeffrey Ashby, below, of Financial Computer Support Inc. shared information about his work. About 325 students moved through the hallways of the college from seminar to seminar. Dozens of presenters volunteered their time to help the young men and women of Garrett County prepare to move into the future.

Conference On Children Set For Wednesday

Parents, foster parents, child care workers, social workers, and other professionals are invited to attend the second annual Salem Conference on Children, being offered at Frostburg State University next Wednesday, May 6, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Caregiving and intervention with traumatized children is the topic for the conference, which is being sponsored by Maryland Salem Children's Trust and Pressley Ridge of Western Maryland, in conjunction with Frostburg State University, Garrett Community College, Allegany College of Maryland, and Western Maryland Area Health Education Center.

Pressley Ridge of Western Maryland is a therapeutic foster care agency serving children in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties, with a mission to provide an alternative to institutionalizing seriously emotionally disturbed children. "Our goal is to help the child gain effective family and community living skills through individualized treatment, in the homes of trained professional parents," stated a spokesman for the agency.

The program will include a seminar by Dr. Carlton Munson titled "Caregiving and Intervention with Traumatized Children and Adolescents." This material will assist caregivers and professionals in managing the behavior of children who have suffered physical or sexual abuse, experienced loss, or witnessed traumatic events.

May is Foster Parent Appreciation Month. Pressley Ridge encourages professional parents to attend the May 6 program. For additional information, persons may call 1-800-565-0130.

Jessie L. Davis, 94, Rowlesburg, W.Va., died Thursday, April 23, 1998, in Kingwood, W.Va.

Born March 28, 1904, at Seven Islands, Tucker County, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Charles A. and Rosa (Gower) Loughry. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Clarence E. Davis, in 1968; one daughter, Evelyn Davis; four brothers, Russell Loughry, Clark Loughry, Lawrence Loughry, and Lewis Loughry; and one sister, Annalettie McVicker.

She was a member of the Mt. Sarah United Methodist Church where she had taught the primary Sunday School class. She was also a member of the Rowlesburg Senior Citizens and the VFW Auxiliary to Post 3008 in Rowlesburg. She also wrote the Sinclair Ridge (W.Va.) newsletter for Preston County newspapers for several years.

Survivors include three sons, Leroy Davis, Oakland, the Rev. Orville Davis, Rowlesburg, and Raymond Davis, Buckhannon, W.Va.; three daughters, Rose Marie Frazee and Ada Savage, both of Friendsville, and Gwendolyn Uglow, Kimball, Neb.; one brother, Howard D. Loughry, Baltimore; one sister, Dorothy Connor, LaVergne, Tenn.; 14 grandchildren; 24 great-grandchildren; and six great-great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Browning Funeral Home, Burke Chapel, Rowlesburg, where a service was conducted Sunday, April 26, with the Rev. Ronald Daughtery officiating. Interment was in the Mt. Sarah Cemetery.

VFW Auxiliary to Post 3008 conducted a memorial service Saturday evening at the funeral home.

Donations may be made in her memory to the Mt. Sarah United Methodist Church, Rt. 1, Box 786, Rowlesburg, WV 26425.

DAVID A. FISHER

David A. Fisher, 73, Brooksville, Fla., formerly of Oakland, died Wednesday, April 22, 1998, at his home.

Born Sept. 5, 1924, in Charleston, W.Va., he was the son of the late Dr. Greenberry and Florence Fisher. He was also preceded in death by his first wife, Sue Fisher, and one daughter, Diane Fisher.

A resident of Oakland for more than 25 years, he was the former business owner of Mineral Development Company in Preston County, W.Va., and Oakland Machine Company in Oakland, which he operated from 1967 until 1992.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II, and was Methodist by faith.

Survivors include his second wife, Lois Fisher; one daughter, Regina White, Oakland; four sons, David Fisher and Jeffrey Fisher, both of Nevada, Gregory Fisher, Charlotte, N.C., and David Low, Riverview, Fla.; two stepsons, Craig Springer and Philip Springer, both of Brooksville; and seven grandchildren.

Graveside funeral services were conducted Monday, April 27. Interment was in the Florida National Veterans Cemetery near Brooksville.

ALL PERSONS HAVING OR CLAIMING AN INTEREST IN THE PROPERTY KNOWN AS LOT 23, WINDING RIDGE SUBDIVISION PHASE II.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption from tax sale on the following properties in Garrett County, State of Maryland, sold by Patty Glover, Collector of taxes for the State of Maryland, and the County of Garrett to Plaintiff, Richard D. Cease, the parcels of land described as follows:

Parcel 1: All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 1, containing 33.41 acres, more or less, known as Lot Nos. 7 and 8, The Woodlands Walnut Bottom, and described in deed dated October 3, 1992, and recorded in Liber No. 592, folio 131, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Parcel 2: All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 5, containing 7.06 acres, more or less, known and designated as Lot No. 23, Winding Ridge Subdivision Phase II as recorded on the plat of Winding Ridge Subdivision Phase II, recorded in Plat Book 3, page 86, and described in deed dated December 1, 1990, and recorded in Liber No. 557, folio 503, one of the Land Records of Garrett County.

More than six (6) months have passed since the date of sale and the properties have not been redeemed by any party in interest.

All defendants must file an answer within 60 days of receipt of this notice. Failure to do so may result in a judgment foreclosing the right of redemption. Defendants may redeem said property up until 90 days after the date of this Order of Publication.

The Complaint states among other things that the amount necessary for redemption has not been paid. The sale was on June 13, 1997, and more than six (6) months have passed since that date.

It is there upon this 24th day of April, 1998 that the Circuit Court for Garrett County,

ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in one newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three consecutive weeks, on or before the 15th day of May, 1998, warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court by the 23rd day of June, 1998, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint or thereafter the final judgment will be entered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff to said property of fee simple, title free of all liens and encumbrances.

PUBLIC NOTICES

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT (FONSI #054)

Project Name/Number: Jennings Community Sewage System/WQ97-008-12L.

Project Applicant: Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

Project Location/County: Community of Jennings, Route 495/Garrett County.

Project Cost/Loan/State/Federal: $1,427,914/$120,175/$749,739/$558,000.

Project Description: The proposed project consists of the planning, design and construction of a variable grade gravity (VGS) sewer system along with a wastewater pumping station to serve approximately 60 existing dwelling units within the Jennings Community. Specifically, some 17,000 linear feet of 4-inch pipe, and a wastewater pumping station with a standby generator will be constructed. The wastewater collected from the Jennings Community will be conveyed to the Grantsville Wastewater Treatment Plant for treatment and discharge. These improvements will eliminate failing septic systems in the Jennings Community and raw wastewater discharges into the Casselman River.

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission has applied for financial assistance from the Maryland Department of the Environment's State Revolving Loan Fund Program for the proposed project as described above. In accordance with requirements for complying with the State Environmental Review Procedures (SERP) under COMAR 26.03.11 for such assistance, an Environmental Assessment has been performed by the Department. The Department's review process indicated that either significant adverse environmental impacts would not result from the proposed project or such impacts have been eliminated by making changes in the project. Additionally, the Department has also found the project to be consistent with the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Policy in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1992.27.

Consequently, a preliminary decision not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement has been made. This decision has been made based on a careful review of the Environmental Information Document, prepared by the applicant, and other supporting information. This information and the Environmental Assessment are on file at the Department and additionally, have been made available for public review at the Garrett County Sanitary District, located at 313 E. Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland. Copies of the Environmental Assessment will be made available at cost upon request.

Comments supporting or disagreeing with the above preliminary decisions may be submitted for consideration by writing to:

Mr. Jag Khuman, Engineering Operations Manager
Water Quality Infrastructure Program
Water Management Administration
Maryland Department of Environment
2500 Broening Highway
Baltimore, Maryland 21224

After evaluating any comments received, the Department will make a final decision no sooner than 20 calendar days from the date of this notice. No administrative action will be taken with respect to this proposal during this timeframe.

Water Management Administration

Town of Oakland
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Mayor and Council of Oakland will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND HOUSING NEEDS, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application which the Town of Oakland proposes to submit to the State on or before the May 21, 1998 deadline for same. The hearing will be held at the Municipal Building in Oakland, Maryland at 7:30 P.M., on May 4, 1998.

The Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED).

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

STATE OF MARYLAND
DEPARTMENT OF TRANSORTATION
STATE HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED BIDS for projects listed below will be received by The State Highway Administration in the Bid Room located at its Office on 211 East Madison Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202 until 12 Noon on the date specified below for Bid Opening, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read. The Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) hereby notifies all bidders that in regard to any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this notice and will not be subjected to discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex or national origin in consideration for an award. Minority business enterprises are encouraged to respond to this solicitation.

On Federally assisted projects, the bidder's attention is called to the Standard Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Construction Contract specifications (Executive Order 11246) which is part of the contract proposal. All of these activities shall be done in accordance with Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, as amended.

It is the goal of MDOT that Disadvantaged and/or Minority Business Enterprises participate in all Federal-Aid and State contracts, as applicable. Each contract will contain a specific participation goal.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The award, execution, or notice-to-proceed for the contract listed below may be delayed if additional Federal Highway authorizing legislation has not been enacted by April 30, 1998. The state will attempt to maintain schedules wherever possible but cannot carry the Federal Government's funding responsibilities over an extended period of time.

County: Garrett. Cost of Plans: $15.00. Contract No.: GA6085177. Project Classification: D. Bid Opening Date: May 21, 1998. Funding: State. Description: Resurfacing MD 42 from the north end of Structure #11054 (MP 7.41) to the PA State line (MP 15.06) in Garrett County. Pre-Bid Conference: May 6, 1998 at 10:00 A.M., at the Maryland State Highway Administration's District 6 Office, located at 1251 Vocke Road, LaVale, Maryland.

Minimum wage rates for each Project, if applicable, have been pre-determined by law and are set forth in the invitation for Bids. Bids must be made upon the blank proposal form which, with specifications and plans, will be furnished by the Administration upon application and cash payment noted.

NO REFUND FOR RETURN OF SPECIFICAITONS AND PLANS. Plans may be purchased from the Cashier's Office, 211 E. Madison Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202 (410-545-8490). When material is mailed an additional 10% will be charged for mailing and handling.

In accordance with State Finance and Procurement Title 13, no bid, performance or payment bonds are required for bids less than $100,000.00. However, bids $100,000.00 and above will not be considered unless accompanied by a Certified Check, a Cashier's Check or a Treasurer's Check drawn upon a bank, or a Bid Bond payable to the State of Maryland, or Cash, or Trust Account, or pledge of United States backed securities or State of Maryland Bonds. Special procedures for submitting cash are outlined in COMAR 21.06.07.

Bid Security shall equal at least five percent (5%) of the total amount bid. Also, the successful bidder will be required to supply Payment and Performance Bonds for all Contracts in excess of $100,000.00.

The Administration reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

PERSONAL -- Prayer of the Blessed Virgin. (Never known to fail) Oh most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh star of the sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you. Grateful thanks. KDS. 9-1t*.

Annual Institute On Mental Health, Religion Slated

Developing strategies for preventing family violence and child abuse is the topic for the 14th Annual Institute on Mental Health and Religion, set for May 11 and 12 at the Cumberland Holiday Inn. The featured speaker will be Reverend Marie Fortune, a nationally known author and speaker on the prevention of domestic and sexual violence.

Among the objectives of the institute are to provide information to help break the silence surrounding family violence and to present ideas for implementing prevention programs. The focus of the first day is domestic violence, including strategies for responding to victims and abusers. The second day will concentrate on child abuse and how to best utilize secular and religious resources.

Participants may register for one or both sessions, and the program is open to both professionals and concerned lay people. Continuing education units have been applied for and are pending for nurses, social workers, and psychologists. The program has been approved through the Board of Ordained Ministry of the Baltimore Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Reverend Fortune is the founder and executive director of the Center for the Prevention of Sexual and Domestic Violence in Seattle. The center is an educational ministry that serves as a training resource to religious communities in the United States and Canada.

The author of numerous books on this subject, Reverend Fortune also has developed sexual abuse curricula for children, teenagers, adults, parents, and clergy. She is a graduate of Duke University and received her seminary training at the Yale Divinity School. She was ordained a minister in the United Church of Christ in 1976.

The institute, titled Hidden Betrayals: Religious Perspectives on Family Violence and Abuse, is sponsored by the Family Crisis Resource Center and the Western Maryland Health System. For more information or to register, persons may call the WMHS Center for Counseling Services and Pastoral Care at 301-723-4297.

GRANTSVILLE

The Woodmen of the World met on Monday, April 27, at the lodge hall on Miller Street. A new American flag was raised.

A new flag was presented to Danny Klotz for the Grantsville Cemetery.

A new set of church flags were acquired for the Church of the Brethren and will be presented to members on May 17. The church is located by High Point.

Correspondence was read and voted on. On May 16 there will be a yard sale at the Woodmen hall.

Recognition was give to Patsy Pope, Janis Pope, and James and Lillian Guthrie for attendance at the workshop.

Bonanza tickets were distributed among members for sale. Proceeds from Bonanza will be used to fund the convention in May 1999.

Anyone interested in buying a ticket and was not contacted may call James or Lillian Guthrie at 301-689-9173 or Scott or Janis Pope at 301-729-0110 for a ticket to the Bonanza.

Every member of the Woodmen of the World Lodge has Bonanza tickets to sell.

There will be no May meeting because of Memorial Day Monday. The next meeting will be held in June.

Cruisers Meet At Wildlife Park

Mt. Top Cruisers Club members, family, and friends cruised to the Farmer's Wildlife Club in Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., on Saturday, April 18. Several members came in their special vehicles. Approximately 60 people attended. A 50-50, cake walks, door prizes, and games were included, as well as a piston and lifter toss.

Members practiced judging cars and learned more about this judging system. The judging team decided that this judging method would work well at car shows.

The club noted appreciation to all who made the event a success and all the businesses that donated door prizes.
